Edited by D. MORIER EVANS, Author of the "History of the Commercial Crisis," "Facts, Failures, and Frauds," &c.
The Almanac is attractive and useful, as illustrating the changes and special events of the year; the Diary, carefully arranged for the use of Bankers, Merchants, and Traders, being particularly adapted for private entries and important memoranda; and the Directory contains the whole of the information in connection with the various Banks (Joint and Private, Foreign and Colonial) necessary for the guidance of all interested in financial and mercantile operations. The miscellaneous matter includes the substantial details of the Crisis in the Leather Trade, with the Balance-sheets of the Failed Firms, the French Tariff under the Treaty, the Annual Chronology, Banking and Mercantile Retrospect, List of Failures for the Year, and the Fluctuations in the Funds.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN INVESTMENT.

MR. THOMAS SPARGO, of Nos. 224 and 225, GRESHAM HOUSE, OLD BROAD-STREET, LONDON, E.C., TRANSACTS every description of BUSINESS in the PURCHASE and SALE of SHARES in BANKS, CANALS, RAILWAYS, BRIDGES, INSURANCES, and all other BRITISH and FOREIGN STOCK.
MR. SPARGO has FOR SALE SHARES in ENGLISH MINES paying from 20 to 25 per cent. upon the present price in bi-monthly and quarterly Dividends, as also a number of Shares in good progressive Mines, some of which he specially recommends to the public as sound investments.
MR. SPARGO GIVES ADVICE and ACCURATE INFORMATION as to the position and prospects of all mining undertakings upon application, either personally or by letter, and has published the following, from which those unacquainted with mining can enlighten themselves thereon, viz.:—Statistics and Observations upon the Mines of Devon and Cornwall, for 1859, price 2s. 6d.; ditto for 1860, 2s. 6d.; Physical, Geological, and Parish Map of Cornwall, 10s. 6d.; Geological Maps of various Mining Districts of Cornwall, showing Boundary Lines of every Mine, with the Lodes, Cross-courses, and Elvans traversing each, 2s. 6d. each; and a Relief Model Map of Cornwall, price £5. 5s.

MINES, RAILWAYS, BANK, STEAMSHIP, and INSURANCE SHARES BOUGHT, SOLD, or EXCHANGED.

Capitalists who seek safe and profitable investments, free from risk, should act only upon the soundest information; the market prices of the day are for the most part governed by the immediate supply and demand, together with the operations of speculators without reference to the bona fide merits of the property.
Mines afford a wider range for profit than any other public securities, and pay dividends bi-monthly, varying from 15 to 30 per cent. per annum. Instances frequently occur of young Mines rising in value 400 to 500 per cent. The undersigned devotes special attention to the above, and affords every information to capitalists, and effects purchases or sales upon the best possible terms.

ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY, FOR FIRE, LIFE, AND ANNUITIES, No. 29, LOMBARD-STREET, LONDON, E.C.; AND ROYAL INSURANCE-BUILDINGS, LIVERPOOL.

CAPITAL—TWO MILLIONS.

FIRE BRANCH.

Insurances against Fire are received by the Royal Insurance Company upon property, not only throughout the United Kingdom, but very largely in the Continents of Europe, Asia, America, and Australia; and numerous Agents of the highest mercantile position, in all parts of the globe, place in the hands of the Directors an efficient machinery for the transaction, with peculiar advantages, of Foreign business, and for affording every benefit and facility to Insurers generally.

Notwithstanding the large accessions of business made annually through a long series of years, which obviously increase the difficulty of further advances, yet the fire premiums of the year 1859 rise above those of the preceding year by a larger sum than has been obtained by the increase of any single year since the formation of the Company, excepting the year 1853, disclosing an advance of 50 PER CENT. IN THREE YEARS.

The following figures exhibit the progress of the whole Fire Branch, running over the last ten years:—

	Total Premium received.	Increase of the year above each preceding one.
1850 .....	£ 44,027 10 0	£ 9,557 19 8
1851 .....	76,925 4 2	24,251 18 3
1852 .....	128,459 11 4	15,895 7 0
1853 .....	151,733 9 6	21,672 17 7
1854 .....	196,148 2 6	21,098 17 10
1855 .....	228,914 7 3	32,166 4 9

Placing the Company among the very largest offices in the Kingdom. Indeed, it is believed that there are now only three offices in existence which equal it in Fire revenue.

LIFE BUSINESS.

The Directors desire to call the especial attention of the Proprietors of the LIFE BRANCH of the Establishment.

The ACTUARY'S Report on this subject is accompanied by an Appendix, illustrated by two coloured Diagrams, which make plain to the unprofessional eye the mortality experienced by the "Royal," as indicated by curved lines, which contrast most favourably with the former Averages of mortality, also displayed on the Diagrams.

The Bonus apportioned to the Assured, with participation, amounts to £2 per cent. per annum, to be added to the original sum assured of EVERY PARTICIPATING POLICY effected previously to the 1st of January, 1858, FOR EACH ENTIRE YEAR that it had been in existence since the last appropriation of Bonus thereon, and is ONE OF THE LARGEST BONUSES EVER DECLARED.

The PAID-UP AND INVESTED CAPITAL, including Life Funds, amounts to upwards of £700,000 sterling.

PERCY M. DOVE, Manager and Actuary.
JOHN B. JOHNSTON, Secretary.

for Fire and Life Assurances at Home and Abroad.

Established in 1836. Incorporated by Act of Parliament.

Capital, £1,359,760. Amount of Accumulated Funds on January 31, 1860, £453,675. 19s. 8d.

Office in London—1, MOORGATE-STREET.

LONDON BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

Chairman—WILLIAM MILLER, Esq., M.P. (Messrs. James Miller and Sons, Leith, and Messrs. William Miller and Co., St. Petersburg).
George G. Anderson, Esq. (Messrs. G. and A. Anderson).
Charles Bell, Esq. (Messrs. Thomson, Bonar, and Co.).

Sir Charles R. M'Grigor, Bart. (Messrs. C. R. and W. M'Grigor).

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The Company grants insurances against fire on every description of property at home, in the Colonies and elsewhere.

Foreign Insurances.—The Directors having had all the important places abroad practically surveyed, are enabled to offer unusual advantages as regards rates of premium and conditions; and a discount is allowed to merchants and others effecting their own and correspondents' insurances.

LIFE DEPARTMENT.

The ordinary rates cover residence in all parts of the world distant more than 33 degs. from the Equator.

BONUS YEAR.

The next investigation, for the purpose of declaring a bonus to the policy-holders, will take place on 31st January, 1861, and all policies in the participating class effected prior to that date will share in the profits then to be divided, and will become entitled, in the event of death before the next period of division (1866), to a bonus for every year of their existence. This advantage will not again be attainable until after the lapse of another period of five years, and therefore renders the present an unusually favourable period for joining the Company.

The whole of the profits of this branch are divisible, in terms of the Act of Incorporation, among the insured, the expenses of management being limited to 10 per cent.

As an illustration of the proportion which the additions already made to policies bear to the sums paid by the assured in the shape of premiums, it will be sufficient to state that a policy for £1,000 taken out in 1856, on a life then aged 25, and upon which £503 have been received by the office, has been increased by successive bonus additions, to the sum of £1,351. 1s. 10d., the increase being equal to 70 per cent. on the premiums paid by the assured.

Progress of the Company during the past five years:—

Dec. 29, 1860.—The steamer America took 172,603*l.* in specie from Liverpool for America.

Dec. 31 (Monday).—Bank of England minimum rate of discount raised from 5 to 6 per cent., owing to the drain of gold to America, and to the presumed necessities of the Bank of France. The Joint-Stock Banks and discount houses raised their rates for loans only ½ per cent.

THE BANK OF ENGLAND AND THE BANK OF FRANCE.

WE would direct the attention of our readers to the unfavourable character of the changes shown in the Bank of England return. The principal are an increase of no less than £2,314,111 in the private securities, and a decrease of £1,024,260 in the reserve of notes. These figures afford ample justification of the rise in the Bank rate of discount from 5 to 6 per cent.—a step which was adopted suddenly on Monday last. Many persons are of opinion that it was even needlessly delayed. Apart from the pressure upon the Bank for discounts, and from the continued drain of gold to America—a movement which has hitherto affected the position of the Bank to a far less extent than had been apprehended—the rise in the rate may be regarded as aimed against the Bank of France. The Council of that establishment have, accordingly, been forced to adopt the step which, had sound principles of finance met with due regard, would have been taken by them some weeks ago: they have raised their rate of discount from 4½ to 5½ per cent. It is important that we should not deceive ourselves by looking merely to the gross amount of the coin and bullion in the Bank of France. The amount may seem to be quite adequate to all probable requirements; but the fact is that the great bulk of it consists, as before stated, of silver, the proportion of gold being comparatively small. Now, the Bank of France dare not pay away silver, because, as that metal is at a considerable premium, they would precipitate a “run” for it. Neither can they saddle the Bank of England with any more silver in exchange for gold. Herein consists really the difficulty of the situation. The French Bank, having paid away the bulk of the two millions of gold which they obtained from the Bank of England, will soon want more. Our Bank Directors, bearing this prospect in mind, are acting judiciously on the defensive.

THE AMERICAN SPECIE MOVEMENT AND THE EXCHANGES.

THE theory upon which the bulk of the present specie shipments to the United States proceeds is very plausible, and there are those who believe that the shipments, besides being remunerative, are necessary and highly laudable. The case is this. The New York exchange market is literally gorged with bills on London and the Continent; and, as is always the case when the supply of bills exceeds the demand at par, lower rates are gladly taken. So excessive is the supply of bills in New York that those drawn by bankers on their correspondents in London sell for no more than 104, or 4 dols. 62c. per pound sterling, instead of 4 dols. 84c. when the exchange is at par. These bills of exchange being drawn on parties in the United Kingdom who, it is presumed, will pay them at maturity without reference to the price at which they have been purchased, it is obviously a profitable business to take gold from the Bank of England, consign it to New York, and get returns in these bills on England, which, at 104, leave an apparent margin for expenses and profit of 22 cents, or 11d. sterling on every pound. Hence the large specie shipments that have been made or may be still in progress. The necessary part of the transaction is that, until the whole of the exchange now pressing for buyers in New York has been bought up with sovereigns, there will be a practical suspension of the grain and cotton shipments from New York and the other Atlantic ports to Liverpool. The laudable part is that, as it is in our power to help our American friends by assisting them to get a higher price for their bills upon ourselves, we ought to do so, particularly when, by so doing, we shall in the end reap the benefit. One or other of these reasons, or all combined, are at the bottom of a considerable part of the present specie movement to the United States.

Those of our readers who have an instinctive distrust of all operations which hold out the inducement of enormous profits, will be prepared to hear that the shipments of specie which have been made for the purpose of buying exchange are unsafe and even perilous to those who have made them. What is the state of matters in New York just now? Business of every kind is virtually at a standstill, and by this time it will have been found necessary to put the New England factories upon short working time. A large amount of capital is unemployed in the New York banks, and in the hands of those who at present are apprehensive of a suspension of specie payments, and do not care to trust the banks. It is not, therefore, the want of means that has led to the accumulation of bills on London in the New York exchange market. Nor is it from any apprehension of a crisis here, because the Europa, and later steamers, have dissipated that illusion, and landed a large amount of English specie. Why is it, then, that the New York capitalists, with ample unemployed means in hand (the New York deposits were 83,214,394 dols. on Dec. 15), and with the advantage of knowing the drawers of the bills, refuse to buy them? It arises from an apprehension that, like the leather bills recently afloat among ourselves, the exchange bills may merely represent prospective value. Is it, then, safe that British capitalists, notwithstanding the large apparent profit-margin, should become buyers of bills in which American capitalists have no confidence? The times are critical, and there are persons drawing bills on London upon whom no check can be imposed. It will be enough for us to say that the exchange business in New York is mainly in the hands of the private bankers, who sell bills on London and Paris, and anywhere else, without stint or measure, drawn by themselves at sixty days on their correspondents, and have only to provide for these drafts as they mature. This answers well enough in quiet times, but now that business men in New York may be kept in a state of uncertainty as to what is before them until the 4th of March, they do not care to place more confidence in bills drawn by New York private bankers than in bills drawn by private persons. And it is considered not improbable that these private bankers will, at the moment, to strengthen their position in New York, put more of their own bills upon the market than they would do at another time. Hence another reason also for the New York capitalists letting the exchange alone.

These observations do not in any way apply to the New York banks of issue, these banks doing little or nothing in exchange, and, what they do, being chiefly "sight" drafts, which are at once provided for. And it is but right to observe that several of the New York private bankers are men of high commercial standing. But at such a juncture as the present, our readers should be informed that so long as exchange is drawn in New York on London at sixty days, that exchange has not to be provided for until at least forty days after the drafts have been sold. We may also add, that there is no settled rule of law in the United States on the point whether, in the case of dishonoured drafts, the English holders can reclaim on the par value of the drafts, or at the rate of only 4.44 dols. per pound sterling.

Passing from this digression, and descending to a lower class of exchange bills than those drawn by the New York private bankers, it is only fair to say that at present the bills referred to are not more unsafe than they have always been. We refer to those bills drawn by men of no capital in New York upon men of no capital in England, which bills not unfrequently have the bills of lading attached. The transactions represented by these bills are what are termed "forced," and it not unfrequently turns out when any irregularity occurs that the amounts on the face of these bills exceed to a greater or less extent the actual value of the commodities against which they have been drawn. In fact, the great motive for entering at all into such transactions is the hope of getting something more than mere reimbursement for the actual outlay, and in no previous season has the forcing trade been more extensively carried on than it is at present.

If any confirmation of this unvarnished statement were required, we would ask our readers to turn for a moment to the figures of American trade received by the last steamer. In round numbers, the excess of exports for the year compared with last year is 32,000,000 dols. That excess in round numbers represents only the increased grain shipments for the year, and it is within our knowledge that a large portion of that grain has been sent forward without being drawn for at all; at least so far as the New York exchange market is concerned. Side by side with that statement place the falling off in cotton shipments to the 1st of January, which is estimated at 500,000 bales, and compared with last year there is, therefore, an undrawn value in round numbers, of £5,000,000 in cotton bills. Why, then, we ask, has it been found impossible to clear the bills put upon the exchange market in New York? It is because the bills offered do not represent cotton as they did last year, but what must be called the mere promises of the New York private bankers, and the perhaps vitiated transactions of those who are not sufficiently in credit to draw without attaching bills of lading.

We cannot close these remarks without again calling attention to the absorption of specie now in progress in the Southern States, notwithstanding the strong assurances of the New York newspapers to the contrary. The New York Bank statement of the 15th December, had there been no Southern absorption taking place, would have been influenced by the following presumed arrivals of specie for the week:—

The North Star, from Aspinwall..	..	..	..	£200,000
The New York, from this side ..	..	..	..	10,000
The Europa ..	..	..	..	108,500
The Atlantic ..	..	..	..	149,450
The Etna ..	..	..	..	70,000
The Borussia ..	..	..	..	3,500
				£541,450

Yet, in the face of these large arrivals, the specie held by the New York banks declined 214,393 dols. And it is to be observed that all the gold now going to the Southern States will, in all probability, be hoarded up until the advent of better times. We regret to add that it will be yet unsafe to attach importance to the attempts now being made at compromise.

THE BANKERS' CLEARING HOUSE.

COMPARATIVELY few people are aware that there is, in a court leading out of Lombard-street, an unpretending-looking building, in which a larger amount of monetary transactions is arranged, and satisfactorily settled, in the course of each day, than perhaps in any other building on the face of the globe. This house is called the "Clearing House"—a designation which by no means conveys an idea of what may be passing within its walls. Some notion may be formed of the nature of this business from the fact, that all the cheques put into circulation by merchants and others, in payment for claims on them, and which they have crossed with the name of a banker, and all bills of exchange, accepted by bankers, or made payable at the houses of any of the City bankers, are there settled by the bankers interchanging engagements with each other. The transactions of every day are finally settled at the Bank of England, where each bank keeps an account, by the bankers giving an order to have their account credited or debited, according as the balance on the day's clearing may be for or against them.

This arrangement renders it necessary for every banker to keep a large reserve in the Bank of England, in order to provide for the possible results of each day's operations; and as the Bank of England do not allow interest on deposits, however large the amount, and as the aggregate of the bankers' reserves varies from £2,500,000 to £4,000,000 (it has been as much as £6,000,000), it is evident that the bankers must sustain a considerable loss on the score of interest, which they might save if the amount were available in discounting the bills of their customers. It has been suggested, and with some force, that the balances of the London daily clearing might easily be adjusted in a similar way to that adopted by the banks of Scotland and Ireland—viz., through the instrumentality of Exchequer bills. The London clearing bankers would then receive interest on the Exchequer bills for at least a large portion of the sums which they now have unproductive in the Bank of England. Although the arrangement referred to is a great accommodation, it is still capable of being improved upon. It undoubtedly economises bank-notes to the amount of many millions in the course of the year, besides avoiding the risk attendant upon the carrying about of large sums of money, particularly during the dark winter evenings. To show to what extent the use of bank-notes has been economised, through the operations of the Clearing House, it is only necessary to state that the amount of cheques and bills of exchange settled during one year was £1,900,000,000, or more than double the amount of our National Debt. It is, indeed, scarcely to be credited by the uninitiated, that this enormous amount is settled without the employment of a single bank-note or sovereign. To such an extent has the institution of the Clearing House become entwined with the commerce of the country, that it could not be discontinued without deranging every branch of business.

It is much to be regretted, however, that the bankers do not see the importance of publishing the gross amount of each day's transactions, whether on the side of receiving or paying, which are settled at the Clearing House; such a return would be a valuable addition to the commercial statistics of the country. We should then be able to compare the amount of business done on one day with that done on another, and one month's business with that of another. We should also see in what portion of the year the transactions are the largest, and in what portion they are the smallest. The information would be similar in character to the return of imports and exports issued by the Board of Trade. What is required is, simply the total amount, and not the amount of the transactions of each banker separately. There could, therefore, be no fear of the amount of the daily transactions of any one banker being made known. We could easily prove that great public advantage would result from the publication of such returns. We are in possession of the daily amount of the total transactions and of the balances for the year 1839. These were published in the Appendix to the second Report on Banks of Issue in 1841. From this return Mr. Babbage constructed a paper, which in 1855 he read before the Statistical Society of London, being "An Analysis of the Statistics of the Clearing House during the Year 1839." The interesting nature of the truths which he illustrated from such slender materials shows how much valuable information might be afforded to the public by a return of the kind adverted to. Mr. Babbage says:—"The weekly returns of the Bank of England may perhaps be considered as our economical barometer, and other commercial publications be likened to our instruments; but I believe few will be found of greater importance than the publication of returns from the Clearing House."

The Bankers' Clearing House is governed by a committee of private bankers, consisting of five or six members, and any new bank that desires to participate in the advantages of the Clearing House, must apply for the privilege to the committee. Although so far back as June, 1854, the committee admitted the Metropolitan Joint-Stock Banks to the Clearing House, they have not up to the present time admitted any director or manager of a Joint-Stock Bank to be a member of the committee. This policy savours of undue exclusiveness. We think it would have been not only a courteous but a just and proper Act, if while the doors of the Clearing House were opened to the Joint-Stock Banks, one or more of the managers of those establishments had been added to the committee.

The private bankers were in the habit of stating that the Clearing House was a house exclusively used by themselves, and purely of a private character, and that they had therefore a right to determine who should, and who should not, be permitted to enter. This is true only to a certain extent, for where custom, which in this instance is the same as law, sanctions the validity of payments where no money passes, and permits bankers to pay their debts by an interchange of debts, without making use of any money whatever, the exchange can hardly be considered in the light of private business. In all ordinary law proceedings, when it is necessary to prove the payment of money, the proof must depend upon the act of the money passing from one person to another; but when payment is made by a cheque on a banker, it is only necessary to prove the discharge of it through the clearing.

Similar arguments to these were put forth by the Joint-Stock Banks, in order to show that they were equally entitled to pay their engagements by exchange, and they ultimately succeeded in breaking down the clearing monopoly. The Clearing House is, therefore, no longer a private subscription-room, from which the parties admitted may exclude whomsoever they please, at pleasure. They may exclude improper banking companies, just as the Edinburgh banks refuse to exchange with any bank that is not considered respectable; but they are bound in justice to admit all respectable banks requiring similar accommodation.

It is to the talented late manager and present director of the London and Westminster Bank, Mr. J. W. Gilbert, that the credit of breaking down the monopoly alluded to is justly due. That gentleman agitated the question for years, and having been the first to overcome the deep-rooted prejudices of the private bankers against the introduction of the Metropolitan Joint-Stock Banks, he was finally successful in establishing the right of admission of the Joint-Stock Banks to the Clearing House. Mr. Gilbert, in his "Elements of Banking," thus describes the effect of the exclusion of the Joint-Stock Banks from the Clearing Houses:—"Previously such banks presented all their bills and cheques at the counters of the respective Clearing Banks three times a-day, and received payment in bank-notes. On the other hand each Clearing Banker presented his bills and cheques on the several Joint-Stock Banks at their respective counters, and received payment in bank-notes. To meet the claims made upon them daily by the private banks, the Joint-Stock Banks had to keep in their tills a larger reserve of bank-notes than they would keep were they members of the Clearing House, and on the other hand, each Clearing Banker had also to keep a larger amount of bank-notes to meet the claims made upon him at his counter by the Joint-Stock Banks; but when the Joint-Stock Banks were admitted into the Clearing House these notes were not required by either party, and they remained in the Bank of England."

To show the effect which has been produced by the admission of the Joint-Stock Banks to the Clearing House, in further economising the use of bank-notes, we find that in the year 1853, before their admission, the notes for £200 up to £1,000 issued by the Bank of England amounted to £5,856,000, and that the same denomination of notes issued after their admission amounted only to £3,241,000—a clear proof, if any were wanted, of the shortsightedness of the policy involved in the opposition to the progress of the Joint-Stock Banks. It is gratifying, however, to perceive that, by the mutual co-operation of the two great banking interests, all the prejudice entertained by the private bankers have been removed, and that they have relinquished the stringent action which they adopted on the first introduction of the rival establishments.

THE EXTRAVAGANCE OF MODERN GOVERNMENTS.

FINANCIAL questions appear every day to become a subject of increasing consideration with modern governments. At no previous period has the action of a State been so much influenced by pure finance as it is now. Any attempt to neglect this question is with strict justice stigmatised as not merely imprudent, but ultimately ruinous. A methodical attention is paid to finance, which contrasts singularly with the experience of fifty years ago. For instance, it is not the fashion at present to rush into a war on the chance of its paying itself by contributions levied from conquered provinces, or perhaps in a vague idea that something or other might turn up by which the requisite supplies of all sorts could be provided. The present system is far more practical. The intending belligerents estimate their resources in hand, and, as a final and indispensable preliminary, issue, or attempt to issue, a loan. Financial ability in placing loans has consequently come to be valued in hardly an inferior degree to high military talent. In one sense, indeed, the former quality may be thought more valuable, since it is absolutely necessary to conduct financial operations with tact and skill, while we know that a series of campaigns may be carried on with a singular absence of strategic merit.

It is said that the costliness of the modern system of warfare will prevent anything like the prolonged contests of old times; but it is doubtful whether this can be held a real cause of congratulation. It simply means, that instead of a country being exhausted in ten years, it will be so in two. The result is the same, although in the one case a longer time is taken about it. At all events, the enormous expenditure necessitated by the present system will certainly not be regarded with unmixed admiration by those who will have to pay the bill, namely, posterity. To the present generation, as far as their governors are concerned at least, the question is comparatively immaterial. They have the luxury and excitement of fighting, and dismiss all considerations of cost to their successors. Even in times of peace vast armies are kept up and military preparations are continually being made, all at the expense of long-suffering posterity. It is true that among the great empires of Europe France alone is distinguished by lavish extravagance, but it is from no laudable motive that others, such as Austria, do not rival her in expenditure. The real reason is, that they have arrived at a point towards which France is still hastening—they have got to the end of their credit.

It is held, among all civilised States, that an observance of the full obligations to the public creditor is the first duty of every citizen. This feeling, so just and admirable in itself, has been perverted by the ingenuity of modern despotism. As long as a country appears tolerably flourishing, it can go on borrowing almost without limit. A capitalist knows well that his dividends are always safe, since the non-payment of one is not merely an act of bad faith, but, what is of more importance, destroys the borrowing power of the Government. Scrupulous punctuality is therefore always observed to the very last. Again, the unprecedented progress in wealth made by most modern nations tends greatly to foster the system. Capital is now-a-days manufactured so fast that good investments are constantly being sought. Lending to the Government is naturally a favourite mode of employing savings. Whether the Government fling the money into the sea, or get rid of it in an equally unproductive expenditure on land, is of no consequence to the lender. He had so much capital, which he wanted to exchange for so much annual revenue, and the Government graciously assist him in effecting his object. Both parties are pleased, and neither takes the trouble to think that the whole transaction savours marvellously of a robbery at the expense of unrepresented posterity.

There is one comfort, that this sort of thing cannot go on much longer. Austria has already been brought to a standstill, and other States are in hardly a better plight. France is also galloping on the road to ruin, and the question as to when she will have to come to a stop is merely a matter of calculation. Giving every credit to the Emperor for the evident desire he entertains to carry the nation he rules to the highest point of material prosperity, there is no doubt that his financial policy will overwhelm all the benefits which his measures in another direction may produce. The career of France resembles much that of an embarrassed landed proprietor who spends fifteen thousand a year out of ten, and at the same time prides himself that one thousand out of the five is devoted to the improvement of his estate. Each year brings its fresh loan, only varying in magnitude according as the present state is that of war or peace. It is true that France has the gratification of knowing that she maintains an "imposing attitude," and that she carries out a "magnificent policy;" but these are luxuries which cost money, far beyond the sums paid annually into the treasury. A day may come when the Emperor may appeal for assistance in vain. Striking out a new line in raising loans, he has drawn large supplies from the labouring and trading classes of France by the expedient of opening public subscriptions, and thus borrowing many small amounts from the savings of the little shop-keeper and farmer. This source, however, may, ere long, be exhausted, and then application may have to be made to the great capitalists and loan contractors. Napoleon III. is said, politically speaking, to be fond of fishing in troubled waters; it is not an improbable contingency that he will be required to exhibit his skill in the troubled waters of finance.

It is rather hard upon Englishmen of the present day that they should be obliged to sacrifice a considerable portion of their income, simply because a neighbour chooses for his own pleasure to discount the resources of the future. Unfortunately, however, it is unavoidable. If France deliberately takes an "imposing attitude" we are compelled to adopt a safe one. The position is perhaps more humble, but anyhow obligatory. It is true that we have always the power of raising new loans in peace, and that we might leave to our own posterity the luxury of bewailing conjointly with that of France the extravagance of their forefathers. But for some reason the plan receives in this country little or no favour. The proverb of making both ends meet is evidently exercising too much effect in the backward state of English civilisation. On this point we decline to take a lesson from our neighbours. France, however, must not be surprised, if the load of taxation she compels us to bear, calls forth an occasional groan. To get rid of the evil some hasty individuals have been hardy enough to assert that we had better go to war at once, and have done with it, than to continue a war expenditure in a time of professed peace. On consideration this opinion will be found decidedly wrong. A simple calculation will show that the present rate of expenditure of the French nation will in ten years, with, say, one war, bring things to a crisis. Our outlay during these ten years will be less than that of a war with France, and, humanity apart, it is therefore much better to wait. It is true that the one war may be with ourselves, but of that we must take our chance. Under any circumstances it seems to be better to remain in a quiet state of thoroughly armed neutrality, since with every year we gain a gradual but enormous accession of power by the preponderance of our financial resources over those of self-exhausting France. We have only to be patient a little longer. The time seems not far distant when among the bankrupt exchequers of the aggressive powers of the continent England may hold a supreme and unassailable position.

THE GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY OF CANADA.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "MONEY MARKET REVIEW."

SIR,—The condition of the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada was melancholy when you were good enough to insert my letters; but the recent omission to pay the interest on the first mortgage shows that the climax has been reached. It cannot be expected that the Canadian Legislature will lend £2,500,000 without any prospect of interest thereon for some years, and, pursuant to the Statute 18 Vic., cap. 33, sec. 7, it is enacted that in raising additional capital, "no mortgage bond or issue of new shares under this Act shall affect or impair the priority of the Government's claim for any Government guarantee already given, or hereafter to be given to the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada, or affect or impair or postpone the security by bond or mortgage of any individual upon the said road without his consent in writing." It follows that the security for the expected loan must be a charge paisne to the existing Seven per Cent. Bonds; the only power vested in the Company is to abandon the priority of the share capital, as respects interest, over the present provincial loan of £3,111,500, and consent that the said loan, together with that now solicited, should rank as a charge of £5,667,000, or thereabouts, on the railroad and property of the Company, as to principal and interest, after the Seven per Cent. Debentures, such interest to be at such a rate per cent. as to afford five per cent. per annum as a return for the money advanced, and a further sum as an annual sinking fund, in accordance with the judicious principle declared in 12 Vic., cap. 29, sec. 1, (Canadian Act). I apprehend that all careful readers of the statutes referred to will coincide in the construction put upon them by the three eminent counsel, whose joint opinion has been published; and, unless the claims of their clients shall be discharged promptly, I presume the holders of the first mortgage will assert their rights.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

January 3, 1861.

THE STATE OF TRADE.

(COMPILED FROM NUMEROUS LOCAL REPORTS.)

The accounts from the manufacturing districts this week report rather a quiet condition of business, as usual at this period of the year, when the influence of the holidays has not yet passed away. Upon the whole, trade may be considered steady.

The report from Bradford, dated Thursday, describes a steady demand for wool, at remarkably firm prices. In worsted yarns there do not appear to be any extended operations amongst the export houses. Amongst the home manufacturers the consumption is much diminished, owing chiefly to the absence of demand for America, and a considerable quantity of machinery is idle in consequence, thus materially lessening the demand for yarns. There is great firmness in price, as little or nothing is spun without order. A more hopeful feeling pervades the piece market, and a fair business is passing at present rates amongst the home merchants. Manufacturers are seeking a slight advance in price. Orders for America are still withheld, and where not punctually executed are frequently cancelled. Several circumstances—the still unsettled state of foreign politics, the close of the navigation to the north ports, and the rise in the Bank rate of discount—have combined to act unfavourably upon the market for the Continent. Some rather large orders have been given out for lastings and camlets for China.

At Rochdale the flannel and wool markets have been of a rather quiet character. Prices of goods, however, continue steady, the manufacturers are well employed, and the prospects for the spring trade are of a fair character. The flannel trade of this district for the year 1860 has been one unparalleled as to its extent, and the same may be said as to the aggregate profits.

At Leeds, considering the character of the weather, there has been a fair amount of business in the public cloth-market. As a rule, settling accounts rather than buying goods is the order of the day for the first market or two of the new year.

At Nottingham there is a trifle more doing in some departments of the lace trade, but foreign buyers have for the most part purchased their goods of all descriptions in very small quantities. Home buyers also have operated to only a limited extent. The lacemakers are still very partially employed; much machinery remains standing, manufacturers preferring finishing to order rather than allowing stocks to accumulate. There is not much doing in silk goods. In hosiery, there is still very little, if any, improvement noticeable. Home and foreign buyers have purchased very sparingly, and there is a great deal of distress existing among the operatives.

At Leicester the hosiery trade in most branches continues in a quiet state, but now that the new year is fairly turned, an improvement may soon be expected. The cold weather has been favourable for the clearing out of heavy goods. At Hinckley and other country districts there is very little doing, and many of the town and country hands are totally unemployed. Yarns remain firm, and high prices are quoted for wool.

With regard to the probable course of business in 1861, Messrs. Trueman and Rouse observe:—

"It is perhaps useless to attempt to speculate on the prospects of business for the coming year, exposed as they are to so many contingencies, but the balance seems to be in favour of steady progress in most branches of manufacturing industry, whilst the condition of the people is such as to afford a reasonable expectation that the home consumption of colonial and foreign produce will be maintained on its present scale. The treaty of commerce with France will, there can be no doubt, promote an active interchange of commodities to the mutual advantage of both countries."

The quarterly meetings of the ironmasters will commence next Wednesday (January 9), at Wolverhampton; on Thursday, at Birmingham; on Friday, at Stourbridge; and on Saturday week, the 12th, at Dudley. The preliminary meeting of the members of the trade was held at Dudley on Thursday week last, Mr. Philip Williams in the chair. It was resolved, with one dissentient only, to adhere to the old scale of prices.

The severity of the weather has given a great impetus to the Midland coal trade, and it has been found almost impossible to meet the demand, every load drawn from the pits' mouth being eagerly seized.

At Huddersfield the severity of the weather is acting injuriously for the moment in this way—that it prevents the sale of anything but heavy goods suitable for winter purposes. At the same time, it is doing good in clearing the shelves of the drapers of this class of goods, and thereby rendering them more able and willing to "go into" spring and summer goods by-and-bye. The accounts from Manchester state that the Indian letters are not favourable, and there is little doing either in yarn or cloth for those markets. The letters received from China are somewhat various in their tendency, but there is an active demand for shirtings suitable to the Chinese markets, at rather higher prices. In printing cloths there is little or nothing doing. The home market, as might be expected from the season, is very quiet.

THE UNITED STATES MAILS.—The Bremen left Southampton on Tuesday afternoon, with the United States mail, made up in London on Monday night. She also took out 146 passengers, and specie worth £60,000 from Bremen, and £25,000 from Havre.

Literature.

THE BRITISH ALMANAC of the Society for the Diffusion of Knowledge; and its Companion for 1861. Knight and Co., Fleet-street.

THIS is one of those useful periodicals which greet us on the advent of the New Year. It has now reached the thirty-fourth year of its publication, a fact which is, perhaps, the best possible test of its usefulness. The Almanac, besides the usual monthly notices, contains a Miscellaneous Register, embracing an account of the Members of the Houses of Lords and Commons, all the Public Offices and Institutions, with the names of the principal officers attached to them, &c., &c. The Companion to the Almanac, which was formerly sold as a separate publication, but which is now bound up with it, furnishes most useful information on general subjects connected with Mathematics, Natural Philosophy, Natural History, Chronology, Geography, the Fine Arts, Legislative Statistics, Public Improvements, &c. All these, and many other matters which we have not enumerated, are presented in a manner at once simple, comprehensive, and instructive.

A NEW CHECK JOURNAL; forming a Practical System of Bookkeeping by Double Entry. By George Jackson. Tenth Edition. Effingham Wilson, Royal Exchange.

THE art of bookkeeping is by far too much neglected in the education of the youth of the present day. This, doubtless, arises from the fact that the teachers are themselves too often unacquainted with its practical details. When it is introduced as a branch of scholastic education, the theory of tuition is so much at variance with the practice, that the time occupied by the learner is found to have been almost entirely wasted. The bookkeeping of a merchant differs from that of a tradesman in this point—that his dealings are much more varied and complicated; and, whilst single entry may suit the purpose of a retail trader, or even a banker, merchants would often find their affairs in confusion if they had not, in the system of double entry, an unfailing clue to the appropriation of their capital. The work now before us, for the first time, introduces a new check journal in the principles of double entry, together with the whole system of bookkeeping familiarly explained, forming a complete and practical epitome of the manner in which merchants and traders should keep their accounts. To this is added observations on the most effectual means of preventing and detecting forgery, fraud, error, and embezzlement, both in cash transactions, and in the receipt and delivery of goods. Such information it must be of the utmost importance to every one engaged in commercial pursuits to possess. It may with truth be affirmed that the clear and intelligible manner in which the author treats his subject, must quite supersede the tiresome drudgery attendant upon what is usually termed going through a regular system of bookkeeping.

THE ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY'S ALMANAC FOR 1861.

THIS little work is very artistically done. It comprises, in addition to the information usually found in publications of the kind, a chronicle of the war in Italy during the year 1859, a work of considerable labour. But the most remarkable feature of this Almanac is an elaborate analysis of the experience of the various life offices, in connection with the mortality attaching to the business of the Royal Insurance Company. In a statistical sense the tables of mortality are of much interest; but especial care has been bestowed upon the compilation of two elegant diagrams, illustrating the mortality experienced by various offices. These diagrams have the merit of making clear to unlettered persons information which might otherwise be difficult of comprehension. It only remains to add that the experience of the Royal Insurance Company has been highly successfully.

PARIS, THURSDAY MORNING.—In its daily political review, the Moniteur states that financial events in foreign countries have influenced the French money market in a manner to be regretted, but declares the report that the French Government is under the necessity of having recourse to a new loan to be without any foundation. The Moniteur also states that the amount of Treasury Bonds does not at the present moment exceed 75,000,000fr.

THE Debats publishes a long article on the necessity of French commercial men taking instant advantage of the great opening presented for business in the vast territory of China, now that peace has been concluded. Our contemporary points out that English manufacturers will be certain not to lose a moment in availing themselves of the market thus thrown open to the world.

M. MICHEL CHEVALIER, the well-known political economist, has been just named Grand Officer of the Legion of Honour. This favour has been conferred on M. Chevalier by the Emperor in testimony of his satisfaction for the service rendered by M. Chevalier in the preparation of the Treaty of Commerce with England.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 2.—A new Russian Loan, amounting to 100,000,000 of silver roubles, has been contracted and completely raised by subscription among the merchants and other classes of the inhabitants of Russia.

EXPORTATION OF BARK FROM ALGERIA.—BOARD OF TRADE, WHITEHALL, Dec. 31.—The Right Hon. the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade have received from the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs a copy of a French Imperial Decree, dated the 15th inst., abolishing the prohibition of the export of bark for tanning from Algeria.—Gazette.

FOREIGN OFFICE, Dec. 28.—The Queen has been pleased to approve of Mr. Fairfield as Consul in the Mauritius for his Majesty the Emperor of All the Russias.—Gazette.

MERCANTILE EMBARRASMENTS.

Messrs. William Surridge and Son, provision merchants, of West Smithfield, have stopped payment, with liabilities estimated at £30,000 or £40,000. It is thought in some quarters that the liquidation will not be very unfavourable.

Messrs. Whistler, Dawson, and King, wholesale grocers and colonial produce agents, of Fenchurch-street, have stopped payment. Their liabilities may perhaps range between £20,000 and £25,000.

With reference to the affairs of this house, the following circular has been issued:—

9, Brabant Court, Philpot Lane, 3rd January, 1861.

GENTLEMEN,—Having just discovered that we have sustained a heavy loss through our junior partner, the amount of which we cannot at present ascertain, we have thought it our duty to place our books in the hands of Mr. S. Lovell Price, of Gresham-street, the accountant, that they may be thoroughly investigated. We will communicate further with you as soon as our actual position is ascertained. Meanwhile, we regret to state that we deem it prudent for the interest of our creditors generally, to suspend our payments. Requesting your forbearance,

We are, Gentlemen, yours respectfully, for Whistler, Dawson & King,

G. L. WHISTLER.
THOMAS DAWSON.

Yesterday was announced the stoppage of Messrs. Hadow and Son, of Mincing-lane, in the sugar trade. The liabilities are not believed to be large.

A meeting was held on Wednesday of the creditors of Mr. John Eades, timber and slate merchant, of Millwall. The balance-sheet, prepared by Messrs. Harding, Pulein, and Co., the accountants, estimates the liabilities at £17,261, and the assets at £6,675, showing about 7s. 8d. in the pound. It was mentioned that Mr. Eades has been insolvent about two years, and that his books have been badly kept. Owing to the latter circumstance, no statement accounting for the deficiency could be presented. An opinion was expressed, however, that Mr. Eades has not been aware of his real position. The stock in trade, plant, &c., form the principal asset, being valued at £4,308. Considerable discussion took place with reference to the bad debts (£9,364), which have been spread over a number of years, and are partly due from firms that have been gazetted as bankrupts. The pawning of stock by the insolvent was also referred to, and the necessity of an investigation by a committee was urged. It was ultimately agreed, however, to accept a composition of 6s. 8d. in the pound, secured, payable in instalments extending over six months.

The tone of the mercantile letters from New York exhibits an improvement. The stagnation of trade and nearly entire suspension of the merchants in the Southern States would, however, cause some stoppages in New York. The failure has just been announced of Edward Lambert and Co., with liabilities for more than £200,000, and the liquidation was expected to be bad. Kirkland, Chase, and Co., a large shipping house in Baltimore connected with the coffee trade, had also stopped, with liabilities to the extent of £200,000.

Mines.

FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 4.

Business in the mining market this week has been very dull, as sometimes happens at this period of the year. The inquiries have been limited, and prices, in some instances, are lower.

Business in the mining market to-day was a little more active. There were more inquiries for shares in Wheal Buller, Camborne Vean, Great South Tolgus, and Stray Park. The other transactions were chiefly in Wheal Seton, West Seton, West Caradon, East Rosewarne, and Rosewarne United.

The following prices are reported to us from the Stock Exchange this evening:—

Calvadnack, 6 to 7; Camborne Vean,  $3\frac{3}{4}$  to  $4\frac{1}{4}$ ; Cook's Kitchen, 19 to 19 $\frac{1}{2}$ ; East Basset, 114 to 116; East Caradon,  $11\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$ ; East Carn Brea,  $7\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$ ; Herodsfoot, 33 to 34; Marke Valley, 4 to  $4\frac{1}{2}$ ; North Treskerby,  $31\frac{1}{2}$  to  $32\frac{1}{2}$ ; Providence Mines,  $45\frac{1}{2}$  to  $46\frac{1}{2}$ ; South Caradon,  $302\frac{1}{2}$  to  $307\frac{1}{2}$ ; South Condurrow, 15s. to 20s.; South Frances,  $152\frac{1}{2}$  to  $157\frac{1}{2}$ ; St. Ives Consols, 48 to 50; Stray Park,  $46\frac{1}{2}$  to  $47\frac{1}{2}$ ; Tincroft,  $5\frac{1}{2}$  to  $5\frac{3}{4}$ ; Tolvadden,  $2\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$ ; West Caradon,  $78\frac{1}{2}$  to  $79\frac{1}{2}$ ; West Rose Down,  $4\frac{1}{2}$  to  $4\frac{3}{4}$ ; Wheal Buller, 150 to 160; Wheal Clifford, 200 to 210; Wheal Kitty, Lelant, 13 to 14; Wheal Mary Ann, 19 to 20.

United Mexican Mining Shares have risen greatly, owing to the advices given below. St. John del Rey and Great Northern Copper (South Australia) are also in demand.

The shares of the Labuan Coal Company have experienced a considerable advance, advices having been received confirming the favourable opinion of the mines, and stating that any quantity of coal can be procured at cheap rates. The agent writes:—"I quite agree with the original statement of Mr. Smith, the mining engineer, that the colliery will prove an extraordinarily lucrative adventure, and will supply the whole East with coal." The prospects of the undertaking are also considered to have been much benefited by the conclusion of peace with China, and the consequent probability of a greatly-extended trade.

An ordinary and extraordinary meeting of the Nouveau Monde Mining Company—one of the projects started during the Californian gold mining mania—is called for the 27th January, at Paris, to consider the following points:—"Accounts of the manager, proposal for realising the assets, payment of the debts, measures for the continuation or dissolution of the company, and, in that case, appointment of a liquidator."

The Mariquita and New Granada Mining Company have received advices, from which the following is extracted:—"Santa Anna Mines, for the month of September, cost, 13,603 dols.; returns, 13,106 dols. Marmato Mines, for the month of September, cost, 8,946 dols.; returns, 10,659 dols. Purima Mines, for the month of August, cost, 786 dols.; returns, 1,061 dols."

The United Mexican Mining Association have received despatches from their commissioner, dated Guanajuato, 20th and 22nd Nov., 1860, as follows:—

Mine of Jesus Maria y Jose:—The buscones' sales have considerably decreased from two causes; chiefly that on the approach towards the end of last month of a Government-general noted for his severity, the miners left La Luz in large numbers, and also that the ore is not so good or plentiful as heretofore in the points worked by buscones. The sales have produced in four weeks 12,091.41 dols. But this falling off is more than counterbalanced by the continued improvement in the works of San Pantaleon, from whence exclusively, as I stated in the last report, the ore is extracted for the supply of the haciendas. There are three frentes, all going north, and two contracos. The ley of the ore is from 9 to 22 marcs, and the general appearance such as to give grounds for anticipating that this will prove the most valuable discovery yet made in the mine. The extent of ground as yet untried in this direction is considerable, and would ultimately lead into the mine of La Trinidad, so little explored. In four weeks 1,857 cargas of good ore have been extracted, and sent to the haciendas. The result of the improved ley of the tortas will of course be very favourable; but the full benefit has not been immediately realised. The richer the tortas the more capital is employed in the beneficio. In the article of quicksilver, the quantity now employed in the two haciendas is 17,938 lbs., being more than 6,000 lbs. above that required three months since, and causing, at present high prices, an extra outlay of nearly 6,000 dollars. Also at this season of the year the process of the beneficio is slower, and since the end of last month no silver has been received from the haciendas to meet the general outlay. The exorbitant price of forage, too, still continues; though, with respect to this very important source of outlay, I think we may soon look for diminution. The harvest promises to be much better than was anticipated, and the troops, to whose presence in large numbers the evil is chiefly attributable, are moving towards Mexico. Nov. 22.—The works of San Pantaleon continue excellent, rather improving as the frentes are driven on; they are going north, where there is much untried ground, and from the good quality of the ore (still more important than quantity) the mine may be fairly considered as in a most encouraging state; still I have not at present much surplus funds. The tortas at this season are long at Beneficio, and, therefore, though the value of that under the process is considerable, it is rather slowly converted into cash; more capital, too, is employed on rich than poor ore, chiefly on account of the larger quantity of quicksilver required, the stock of which has been much increased, at the very high price of 95 dols. per quintal; and in order to decrease as much as possible the expenses, I purchase nearly everything required at haciendas and mine for ready money, instead of on long credit, as was usual. I calculate the value of tortas, raspa, and ores at the two haciendas at 77,400 dols. La Trinidad. The fact that good ore has lately appeared in the mine of San Vicente, on the one side of this mine, and that the best ore in Jesus Maria is making towards it on the other, are circumstances of so much interest that it is in contemplation to carry on, in conjunction with Mr. Furber, such works of speculation as may be compatible with the very limited means at my disposal. The extent of future operations will depend on the result and the wishes of the board of directors. Note.—Remittance: One thousand pounds sterling in bills at 60 days' sight, have been received by this packet.

An extraordinary meeting of the St. Denis Consols Mining Company (Limited), is called for the 6th February, "for the purpose of considering a proposition to dissolve and wind up the company."

At North Wheal Exmouth Meeting on Thursday, the accounts showed a debit balance of £522. 17s. 6d. A call of 5s. per share was made.

The severe weather has during the last week few impeded the dressing operations at various mines, and this may affect the returns of ores for a short period.

At the Devon New Copper Mine meeting on Monday, the accounts showed a balance in hand of £1,333, and an excess of assets over liabilities of about £4,000.

At East Wheal Agar meeting on Wednesday the accounts showed a debit balance of £85. 11s. 5d. A call of 10s. per share was made.

The West Tolcarne Mine accounts presented at the meeting on Wednesday showed a balance of liabilities over assets of £1,299. 15s. 2d. A call of 5s. per share was made.

At Charlotte United Mine meeting on Wednesday the accounts showed a credit balance of £23. 1s. 11d. A call of 4s. per share was made. The appointment of Mr. Edward King, as secretary, was confirmed.

The Dale Mine accounts, presented at the meeting on Monday, showed a credit balance of £466.

The half-yearly meeting of the Carysfort Mining Company is called for the 7th inst., at Dublin.

The Foxdale Mines (Isle of Man), on the 22nd Dec., declared a dividend of £1 per share upon the old shares (£2,560), and 12s. per share on 240 new shares.

THE GREAT NORTHERN COPPER MINING COMPANY OF SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

On Thursday the first annual general meeting of the shareholders of this company was held at the London Tavern, at which Charles Bonney, Esq., presided.

The manager (Mr. T. Hancock) having read the advertisement convening the meeting, the report of the directors (which was given in the last number of the MONEY MARKET REVIEW), was taken as read.

The Chairman, previously to moving the adoption of the report and accounts, briefly sketched the proceedings of the company from its formation, during which he stated that, in consequence of some representations which had been made the board had deemed it advisable that one of the company's directors should go to the colony with a view to visit their property, and to set the local committee into active operation, and at the request of his co-directors he (the chairman) had undertaken that duty, and had accordingly visited the colony and the company's property. At that time the colony was suffering from one of the most severe droughts that had occurred since it had been occupied, which accounted for the delay experienced in commencing operations. He found on July 4, that Mr. Finke, who had been despatched to the colony as the company's superintendent, had been at the mines about six days, in which time he had raised 30 tons of ore from a place where a pick had never been struck in the ground before, and he said that in fourteen days more he expected to raise 100 tons, which alone was a complete refutation to the statement that there was no ore to be found on the company's property. He visited the mine in company with Captain A. Phillip, who possessed a reputation as a man of great experience, and his report, as shareholders were already aware, fully confirmed every statement which had been made in the prospectus. He then alluded to a claim which had been made by a brother of one of the vendors to a certain interest in one of the mines included in the deed of purchase, as being, according to the most unequivocal opinion of their legal advisers, totally without any admissible or legal ground, and referred to the fact that when in the colony he had succeeded in obtaining most important concessions from the colonial legislature, in favour of constructing a line of tramway from the port of shipment to the company's mines, if the anticipated large quantities of ore to be raised should render such a step advisable. Having adverted to the fact that he brought home some very rich specimens of ore—and which were not picked samples—that had upon assay yielded, some 82 per cent. for copper, some 51 per cent., the lowest yield being 34 per cent., he concluded by moving the adoption of the report and accounts.

Major Humby, in seconding the resolution, animadverted in severe terms upon the course of conduct pursued by the colonists and interested parties in Adelaide towards the company. He contended, from the official letter of Mr. Dashwood, which appeared in the company's prospectus, they had a right to conclude that what the colonial government did was done in good faith. By the unfair manner in which the company had been treated in South Australia, he was of opinion that the credit of the colony was rather brought into question. From the official letter of Mr. Dashwood (extracts from which he read), they had every reason to expect that they were acting with honourable persons; but they had found that interested persons in the colony had by one subterfuge and another, attempted to depreciate the value of the property which the English public had subscribed their money to develop. With respect to the construction of a tramway, he found by their deed the company had power to make railways, but which would require additional capital to carry out. But before they even contemplated taking upon themselves that expenditure, they must be fully satisfied that there would not be a recurrence of that anomalous and extraordinary conduct which had been already manifested. He firmly protested against undertaking any extensive new works until the board could ensure the propriety against any such wild representations on the part of some of the interested colonists. Having referred to the letters of Mr. Hart and Mr. Hughes, he considered that, without using any harsher terms, their company had been most disgracefully treated, and in future he thought the English public would accept with diffidence any South Australian securities. Upon that official letter of Mr. Dashwood, the public had taken up the whole of the shares in something like four days, and had it been required, four times the amount would have been subscribed; and, under those circumstances, he could not refrain from expressing his opinion that they had been most shamefully treated.

In answer to questions it was mentioned that the distance from the mines to Port Augusta is by road about 114 miles. The ordinary means of carriage are by bullock drays, and the contract price for the conveyance of ore is £5 10s. per ton. It was suggested that a traction engine might be sent out, and it appears that the directors have already had this step under consideration.

The resolution, after a short discussion, was carried unanimously.

The sum of £250 was voted to Mr. Bonney for the remuneration of his services in going out to Australia, his absence from England having been nearly six months.

The auditors being re-appointed, cordial votes of thanks to the chairman, directors, and manager, brought the proceedings to a close.

THE GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY COMPANY OF CANADA.

The following is a report just issued by the London directors of this Company. To it are appended reports from Mr. Blackwell, the managing director; Mr. Shanly, the general manager; and Mr. Mackenzie, the locomotive superintendent:

"The London directors of the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada, in referring to the annexed report of Mr. Blackwell, the managing director, of Mr. Shanly, the general manager, and of Mr. Mackenzie, the locomotive superintendent, for the details of the operations of the company in Canada, avail themselves of this opportunity to state shortly to the bondholders and shareholders the present financial position of the company. All are already aware of the inability of the directors to raise the £1,500,000 money as authorised by the shareholders at their meetings in London and Canada last spring, which sum was required, together with the calculated proceeds of then existing assets, to relieve the company from pressing liabilities; to defray the expense of additional rolling stock, sidings, and station accommodation necessary to work the line efficiently, and to meet during the current year the claims for interest on the bonded debt. As stated in the report of the London directors of 27th October last, the requirements, including the unpaid arrears of interest on bonds up to the present time, and after allowance for the depreciated value of assets unsold to liquidate existing engagements, amount in London in round numbers to £1,706,000, in Canada to £350,000, to which must be added, in order to place the road and rolling stock in efficient condition £500,000—making a total of £2,556,000. When the London directors were convinced of the impossibility of obtaining in England, on any terms, the necessary funds for working the line with efficiency, economy, and success, they immediately called the attention of their colleagues in Canada to the necessity of applying any surplus receipts of traffic beyond working expenses in the mode specified by the Acts of the Canadian Parliament. The Canadian direction took, as was its duty, legal advice as to the proper application of such traffic receipts; and in conformity with legal authority in Canada, which, however, is at variance with high legal opinions in England, employed the surplus, beyond what is considered in this country as strictly 'working expenses,' in meeting pressing claims for past expenditure in rolling stock fuel and stores, the settlement of which claims was deemed necessary to prevent the stoppage of the road. There has not been a sufficient surplus of income over working expenses (in which all legal authorities both in England and Canada unite to class the rents of existing leases) during this current half year, to meet the payment of the interest due on the 1st of January, 1861, on the First Preference Bonds; and the absence of all remittances from Canada for this or for any other object forces upon the directors the painful necessity of leaving the interest due on the 1st of January in abeyance, pending the existing financial struggles of the company. All these facts combine to press upon all interested in the existence of the Grand Trunk Road, whether in Canada or England, the urgent necessity of providing promptly the means of preserving the undertaking from the ruinous confusion which must arise from the want of money and of credit, and from the conflict of various claims and protracted litigation; and for that purpose, as the shareholders are aware, the Canadian Board of Directors memorialised, last summer, the Government to take the present condition of the company into its early consideration, for the purpose of devising some plan by which the interests of all concerned, whether in England or Canada, might be protected from destruction. The directors in London deem it to be their duty on this occasion to refer to that memorial, on account of the misconception by a portion of the Canadian press of the motives which dictated that address to the Government. It would be as absurd as false to pretend that the directors were not guided in that step by the wish to save the capital invested in England in the undertaking from total loss; but it is equally incorrect to suppose that they wished to impose any additional burden upon the people of Canada. The directors have as little the desire, as the right, to dictate or suggest any particular measure to the Canadian Legislature; but they believe that the relief prayed for, to restore the credit of this company, might be afforded without any increase of the taxation of the Canadian people, or any permanent addition to the debt of the province. The directors would most willingly have avoided, if possible, any further appeal for legislative interference, and for that purpose would have recommended the shareholders to submit even to onerous conditions, had there been means of raising the money required from the resources or credit of the company; but all efforts for that object having been exhausted in vain, they venture to ask the Canadian people calmly to consider whether their interests are not so far identified with those of the company as to desire the continued operation of the road and its further development; to meet the growing wants of the province, or whether it is preferable, by the refusal of all further assistance to re-establish the credit of the company, which may cost the province nothing, but which may add incalculably to its further wealth and prosperity, to leave this undertaking in a state of doubtful existence, and of most limited efficiency; and by its said failure to check the influx of British capital into the province for future public works, and for the further development of its future resources. It is unnecessary to pause for a moment to explain that a direction, overwhelmed by an enormous floating debt, and met at every moment by discredit and litigation, cannot, economically or efficiently, deal either with the local wants of the province, or secure for it that transit trade with the Western States which has always proved a source of increasing gain to the mercantile, producing, and labouring population of the countries through which it passes. The directors, therefore, concur in the opinion recently expressed in the report of the London committee of bondholders, that the obviously prudent course is to await the calm decision of the Canadian people through their Legislature, after the result of the provincial commission of inquiry, and afterwards to appoint an English commission of investigation into the management in Canada and the future prospects of the company. In the meantime, they venture to suggest the propriety of united action on the part of all classes of bondholders and shareholders, and the abstinence from legal proceedings, which they fear may injure all, to the permanent benefit of none; and for that purpose recommend the appointment of a select committee to confer with the directors as to their choice of the commissioners to be hereafter nominated for the inquiry in Canada, and also to obtain preliminary information from the officials who are at present in England, and are able to furnish such information as to the details and mode of keeping the accounts in Canada.

MR. LINDSAY'S MISSION TO THE UNITED STATES.—Before his departure for home, Mr. Lindsay sent the following letter to the Philadelphia Board of Trade:—"New York, Nov. 21, 1860. My dear Sir,—I met the committee of the Chamber of Commerce here, as you will perceive by the reports which appear in the newspapers of this day. I may state that I have agreed with your government on all the six points named (as also signals at sea), which will be sent by your government to the government of Great Britain by the mail of next week, and I doubt not will be ratified by international treaty within two months from the present time. My visit, therefore, is likely to produce results of vast importance to both countries.—I am, yours, W. S. LINDSAY."

THE GREEK INTEREST.—WHAT IT IS, AND HOW IT BEHAVED DURING THE PANIC.—But few of the Greek houses fell during the panic, and those that did were small or unimportant. This was, indeed, extraordinary, as their transactions then were, as they always are, enormous. This was owing to the ready assistance they give to each other; no Greek house that ought to go on, or can possibly stand, being allowed to fall. The Greeks in England are really a wonderful people.—What will they be when all Greece is restored to them? How largely and successfully they trade. How opulent they grow. See them on 'Change, they muster in such numbers they nearly fill that end of the quadrangle under the grasshopper; it must have been to them Mr. Punch facetiously alluded, as keeping the grasshopper up in his place, there being no "green blades" below him. Their commercial growth has been within the last fifty years, and it spreads so fast that they must soon turn the corners of their end of the Exchange, and proceed up the side "walks." The seniors of two or three of the first Greek houses settling here, in a Greek sense, are still living, and some are millionaires. They were the pioneers of the whole. Corn dealing appears to run in the Greek grain; the commercial management of it grows with their growth; from this trade they are gradually ousting the Quakers. I know no other cause to assign for the almost total extinction of the Quaker on 'Change. I do not think that I have seen any of the firm of Thee, Thou, and Co., there, more than twice in my time, and had I competed for the prize Essay upon the Decline of Quakerism, I should have attributed it, among the males at least, to "The growing influence of the Greeks in the Corn Market." Much has been and is still said against the Greeks. No flock is without its black and shabby sheep; and I fearlessly assert that there are men among them who clasp the hand of honour as warmly and as firmly as the choicest spirits of our mixed but great commercial community. Their management of the credit system is perfect. Their young men are drafted from country to country, town to town, and house to house, to acquire a knowledge of the language, habits, and customs of their peoples. English merchants, look to this! it is the secret of their growing trade, the dwarfing of yours. With respect to their dealings, I have always found them honourable, straightforward, and kind and trusting where they believe they may safely place their confidence. They are keenly alive to their own interest (taking great pains to ascertain where it lies)—who is not?—in close communication and open discussion of the various interests of merchants, one with another, they prevent losses falling upon them as a body, and are by this commercial freemasonry rapidly advancing in prosperity, wealth, and influence. They have the Russian trade; they are taking a firm footing in the East Indian, and will, if I mistake not, hold a large portion of it, as they work for less profits than the English, and conduct it upon the same principles as their Russian, viz., that one year of great profits, which in the cycle of trade is sure to come, will cover and leave a profit upon five or seven years of unprofitable or bad trading.—From "SMASH: A Sketch of the Times." The drain upon the Bank's resources has been severe. The increase in the private securities is very heavy, and, although nearly one-half of the sum borrowed was virtually relogged as deposits, the reserve of notes has been drawn down to the extent of more than a million. This drain quite accounts for the rise in the rate of discount. The exchange of bullion with the Bank of France is drawing to a close, £1,644,110 of silver bullion having now been received.

THE MONEY MARKET.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 4.

The movements in the money market this week have been important. Last week's Bank return pointed unmistakably to a rise in the rate of discount. The pressure for money at the Bank proving even more severe than is usual at this period of the year, a Court of Directors was held on Monday morning, and soon after eleven o'clock it was announced that the minimum had been raised from 5 per cent., at which it was fixed on the 29th November, to 6.

On Wednesday the effect was seen in the announcement that the Bank of France have raised their rate from  $4\frac{1}{2}$  to  $5\frac{1}{2}$  per cent.

To-day we learn by telegraph that the charge at the Bank of Belgium has been advanced from 3 to 4 per cent.

Since Wednesday, to which day our Bank return extends, the demand upon that establishment has somewhat moderated. It is still, however, active, and in the general market no business is done below 6 to  $6\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. The market, in fact, is by no means settled, as no one feels confident that the highest point has yet been reached.

The numerous bills which fell due to-day (the 4th) appear to have been tolerably well met.

The demand for money in the Stock Exchange has been active at  $5\frac{1}{2}$  to 6 per cent. on Government securities,

The dividends will be payable to the public on Wednesday next, the 9th, when a large amount of advances must be repaid to the Bank.

The Lombard-street discount houses and the National Discount Company have raised their rates from 4 to  $4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. for money at call, and from  $4\frac{1}{2}$  to 5 per cent. at a few days' notice. The London Joint-Stock Banks have also raised their rates for deposits from 4 to  $4\frac{1}{2}$ . The London and Westminster Bank, however, give only  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. for sums below £500, whilst the Commercial allow 5 on old deposits. It will be noticed that the old plan of allowing 1 per cent. below the Bank rate of discount, no matter to how high a point it might be moved, is now abandoned.

With the exception of Vienna and Turin, where the rates are comparatively high, the value of money on the Continent remains low. Subjoined are the rates current in the principal cities:—

	Bank.	Market.		Bank.	Market.
Paris ..	$5\frac{1}{2}$	5	Amsterdam ..	3	3
Berlin ..	$3\frac{1}{2}$	$3\frac{1}{2}$	Brussels ..	4	4
Hamburg...	$2\frac{1}{2}$	$2\frac{1}{2}$	Turin ..	5	5
Frankfort ..	3	3	Vienna ..	6	—

Since our last report, the America has sailed for the United States with £162,000 in specie, the Edinburgh with £106,000, and the Canadian with £13,000, making a total of £281,000. The aggregate sent since the 28th of November is £1,842,000.

The Cunard steamer on Saturday, for New York direct, is expected to take a further amount of specie for America.

The steamer Pera, which left this day, took £154,376 in specie, of which £8,168 is gold, and the rest silver. Subjoined are the particulars, viz.:—For Calcutta, silver, £73,490, and gold, £65; Shanghai, silver, £67,883; Hong Kong, silver, £4,735; Madras, gold, £7,103; Singapore, gold, £1,000; and for Malta, silver, £100.

THE BULLION MARKET.

With reference to the movements in bullion and in the Indian Government paper, Messrs. Pixley, Abell, and Langley, report as follows:—

GOLD.—During the past week there has been considerable activity in our market for gold. The exports to America still continue, the following vessels having sailed:—The Glasgow, with £88,443; the Nova Scotian, with £500; the America, with £162,603; and the Edinburgh, with £106,000. The total sum that has now been sent reaches nearly £2,000,000, almost the whole of which has been in sovereigns; and the steamer leaving Liverpool on Saturday will also take out a further amount. The Atrato has taken £3,500 to the West Indies; the Pera £8,168 to the East; and a sum of £44,000, which was withdrawn from the Bank, has been sent to Spain. The arrivals have been the Seine, with £78,000, from the West Indies; the Great Britain, with £474,000, from Melbourne; and the Magdalena, with £29,331, from the Brazils. The greater part of these amounts have been purchased, partly for exportation and partly for refining purposes, and it is not unlikely that a portion thereof may eventually be sent to the Bank when refined. Owing to the large amount being on the market at once, a sum of £56,000 was sent into the Bank, and some difficulty was experienced in placing the remainder, a slight reduction in price having been submitted to. The following statements of the imports of gold from Australia and America, during the past three years, may be of interest to our readers:—

From Australia ..	£9,725,108	£9,830,944	£6,659,590
From America ..	5,304,896	14,560,062	8,677,294
The export of gold to the East Indies and China during the same periods is also shown. A remarkable increase is exhibited:—
	1858.	1859.	1860.
From London ..	£168,305	£788,270	£1,612,900
From Mediterranean Ports	165,230	142,144	765,138

SILVER.—The Seine has brought £320,000 from the West Indies; this amount will not be deliverable for a few days, and being so large will doubtless influence the price, unless Bombay letters should contain orders to some extent. We quote the price at 61½d. to 61¾d., but with little business doing at present. The Pera takes £146,208 to the East Indies, and the Atrato £900 to the West Indies.

MEXICAN DOLLARS.—Owing to the cessation of the demand for China, Dollars have declined considerably in price, and those brought by the Atrato, after having been some time on hand, have been sold at 61¾d. per oz., being a fall of ½d. per oz.; there is not much demand even at this price, and if any larger amounts should arrive, a further depreciation in value may be looked for.

EXCHANGE ON INDIA is the same as at date of our last. For Bank Drafts on Bombay and Calcutta at 60 days' sight the rate is 2s. to 2s. 0½d. Bills with Documents, 1s. 11¾d. to 12d.

INDIA GOVERNMENT LOAN NOTES are quiet, but quotations are purely nominal—if anything, lower. We quote Five-and-a-Half per Cents. 100 to 101, and Five per Cents. 94 to 95. The variations during the past year have amounted to fully 5 per cent. in these Securities. In the early part of the year Five-and-a-Half per Cents. touched 105½, and since that period till now there has been a gradual and steady fall, ending in the prices above named.

The report of Messrs. Haggard and Co., dated this day, is as follows:—

Since the date of our last circular our market has been much more animated, both imports and exports having been on rather a large scale. The principal feature of interest has been a considerable fall in the price of Mexican dollars.

With the exception of £92,000 sold to the Bank of England, the whole of the gold by the Great Britain has been purchased privately; it is expected, however, that a considerable portion will find its way to the Bank after being refined.

There has been a fair business doing in bar silver for the China mail, but the market is again flat, and a further reduction in price may be looked for; the bars by the Seine are not yet sold.

Mexican dollars have become very flat, and those by the Atrato have been sold at a reduction of ½d. per oz. from the last price; we quote them nominally 5s. 1¾d. per oz., with little demand.

THE EXCHANGES.

The foreign exchanges this week have experienced a moderate improvement in consequence of the rise in the value of money here.

A NEW INDIAN LOAN.

A rumour prevailed this afternoon that an Indian Government Loan of three millions will not be delayed more than a few days.

THE FINANCES OF INDIA.

The revenue accounts from India are stated to be so far satisfactory that there is no probability of any aid being required beyond the £3,000,000 which the President of the India Council is at present empowered to raise. It is also said (observes the Times) that the necessity for that addition to the debt will be attributable almost solely to the inability of several of the railway companies to obtain at present any further funds on their Five per Cent. Debentures.

THE CAPE OF GOOD HOPE LOAN.

Tenders were received this day by the Agents-General for the Crown Colonies for £150,000 of Cape of Good Hope Government Six per Cent. Debentures, bearing interest from 1st instant. The total amount applied for was upwards of £500,000, at rates ranging from 103 to 107. The minimum was fixed at 106; but, as the sums tendered at and above that rate did not reach £150,000, the whole of the debentures were not disposed of. It is understood that the unallotted portion will be offered to the highest tenders at the minimum price.

RUSSIAN FINANCE.

The telegraphic statement that Russia has just contracted a home loan of 100,000,000 roubles is understood merely to mean a continuation of the measures for consolidating the existing floating obligations of that empire. The payments for the loan are, doubtless, to be made in the existing paper, which will thereby be funded.

TRADE BETWEEN FRANCE AND AMERICA.

It is of some importance to remember (observes a contemporary) that a considerable pressure will be put upon France, as well as upon ourselves, by the crisis in America. That country is one of the best customers that France possesses. During the last few weeks the American orders for French manufactures and other goods have rapidly slackened. They have now virtually ceased, and many previously given have been countermanded. America is the better able to dispense with any further supply, during her existing embarrassments, because many of the articles which she is in the habit of importing from France are of a luxurious character. The position will therefore be that France must go on importing from America the raw materials of manufacture, as well as bread-stuffs, which she cannot do without, whilst America declines for the present to take her goods in return. This is a state of things which deserves the serious attention of the Directors of the Bank of France, as it constitutes an additional element of difficulty for them.

AFFAIRS IN AMERICA.

The steamer Asia brings improved prices for stocks from New York, under date of the 18th ult. Later telegrams, to the 19th, report a fresh improvement, which is attributed to the presumed arrival out of the steamer Atlantic, which left England with £149,450 in gold on the 5th December, when the money market here was calm, at 5 per cent., and Consols were rising. It appears, however, that the exchange at New York remains very dull; the latest despatches quote it at only 103½ to 104 for bankers' bills.

AMERICAN POLITICS.

The position of political affairs in America is noticed as follows by Messrs. Seyton and Wainwright, of New York:—

We can note no change of importance in the political aspect of the country. The secession of South Carolina is generally regarded as certain to be voted by the State Convention on the 17th inst., but the details of the scheme for erecting her into a separate nation are not yet elaborated. The secession movement in the other cotton states will probably be less precipitate than in South Carolina. If, as seems probable, the resignation of the Secretary of the Treasury be followed by that of other members of the Cabinet, the settlement of the question between North and South, peaceably or otherwise, may be commenced, and possibly effected before the inauguration of Mr. Lincoln.

AFFAIRS IN HAVANNAH.

The letters from Havannah report that the Spanish Bank had been authorised to issue 4,000,000 dols. in new bonds, and much relief to the mercantile community was expected. The sugar market was unchanged. The new crop was coming in. The stock was 40,000 boxes.

THE RUSSO-CHINESE TELEGRAPH.

An explanation has been received of the mode in which news from Peking reaches St. Petersburg. The recent speedy telegrams regarding the Chinese treaty were transmitted, it appears, in the usual way. The Russians have a regular courier system from Peking, with relay horses, and the despatches are delivered up to the first telegraph-office in connection with St. Petersburg which the bearer can reach. The route is via Mongolia, Kiakhita, and Irkutsk, and the common mail reaches the latter place within sixteen days of its departure from Peking. From Irkutsk to St. Petersburg seventeen days are required to the telegraph-office at Casan.

ENTERPRISE IN THE RIVER PLATE.

The advices received this morning state that Messrs. E. Lumb & Co. had offered to the Government of Buenos Ayres a contract for the construction of a railway southwards as far as Chascomus, or as much further as might be required, on the same terms as the contract for the San Fernando line was granted—viz., a guarantee of seven per cent. The Government had brought forward a new measure, authorising them to conclude a contract for the construction of a submarine telegraph from Buenos Ayres to Montevideo, guaranteeing six per cent. upon a capital of 150,000 dols. silver for 20 years, for which also the contracting party is to have the monopoly of submarine telegraphy between those points.

MEXICAN BONDS.

The following unsatisfactory memorandum is from the Committee of Mexican Bondholders:—

The Committee of Mexican Bondholders have received advices from Mr. Whitehead, dated Mexico, the 28th November last. A good deal of correspondence had taken place on the seizure of the 17th November, but without altering the state of the case. Mr. Mathew was at Jalapa, where he has been joined by the American, Prussian, and French ministers, and also by Captain Aldham, who has again come to Vera Cruz with instructions to endeavour to get the payments there again put into train. Politics defied all comprehension; neither victories nor defeats seemed, as yet, to have any effect in bringing matters to a termination. It is, however, said the constitutionalists are advancing gradually from all sides on the capital, which has been declared in a state of siege. The agents in Tampico, Messrs. Jolly and Co., remit 1,549 dols. by this packet for the dividend fund here.

Mexican advices received via the United States, state that of the amount of specie seized at the British Consulate, 250,000 dols. had already been expended in defence of the city against the Liberals who were besieging it. An expedition of 1,000 men visited Puebla from Mexico, and returned to that city, taking away the sacred vases, ornaments, and jewels belonging to the churches, and valued at 1,000,000 dols. The clergy had given their consent to this spoliation. General Marquez, who had sallied out with 3,000 men from the capital to relieve Guadalupe, was attacked by a detachment of the Liberal forces and completely routed, losing all his artillery and baggage. He owed his own safety to the fleetness of his horse. The Juarez Government had issued decrees calling a Congress, and ordering that, from the 1st of April, 1861, all the duties established by the ordinance of maritime custom-houses, decreed in 1856, shall be paid on delivery; the half of these duties to be paid in hard money, and the other half in draughts upon the city of Mexico, drawn at sight, in such sums and to the order of such persons as may be required by the collector.

The private advices from Mexico, received via the United States, state that Juarez has issued a decree for the congressional elections to be held on the third Sunday in the present month. The Congress is to assemble, if not at the capital, at some convenient point to be named by the Government. It was said that General Robles (of the Miramon party) had resigned his post as president ad interim, and that Laras and Sagaceta, two of Miramon's ministers, have also resigned. The attack on the city of Mexico was expected to be made about the 15th of December, when, it is said, the liberal general will be able to array in line 35,000 men and 200 pieces of artillery. Juarez has raised a loan of 600,000 dols. for the army besieging the capital, to whom a large quantity of arms have also been forwarded from Vera Cruz.

The Committee of Mexican Bondholders have submitted to Dr. Phillimore the case of the seizure of the funds of the bondholders in the city of Mexico, on the 17th of November last; and in reply to questions as to their legal rights with reference to this occurrence, and as to what it might be competent for them to do here and in Mexico in vindication of those rights, and to secure full and speedy redress, they have received from him the following opinion, which shows that any measure of reprisal against the authors of the outrage will be legally justifiable:—

It appears to me that the act of the de facto Government of Mexico in seizing, as stated, the money severed from the public funds, and deposited by legal authority with the trustee of the British Bondholders, is an act of robbery effected by violence. It does not occur to me that the moral or legal complexion of the act is in any way altered if the whole money had been deposited at a private banker's in Mexico, or if it had been paid to the credit of the different individual bondholders in various different banks, or if it had been placed on board a British merchant ship in a Mexican port, and had been from any of these places of deposit forcibly taken away by the armed hand of the existing or de facto government.

It would be in any of these cases equally an act of shameful plunder, unworthy of any society but that which subsists among brigands.

This act of wrong and rapine, of which private British subjects have been made the victims, assumes, moreover, the public character of an offence against the Majesty of Great Britain from the insult offered to the dwelling and seal of office of her legation.

I venture to express an opinion that this is not the case of the authority of a government being invoked—though it might legitimately be so invoked—to protect its subject against the bad faith of a foreign state—passively unjust, so to speak, in not paying the debts contracted by its public authority with those subjects—it is something more, and something different—it is the case of a government besought by its subjects to obtain redress for an active outrage and violent robbery; if subjects abroad have ever a right to call for the protection of their Government surely it must be in such an instance as this.

I am not sufficiently apprised of the present state of the Mexican Republic to know whether there is any object upon which reprisals by British ships of war can be exercised; but if there be, the British Government would unquestionably be fully authorised by international law in exercising forthwith this lawful means of redress.

For a much less offence was this right successfully exerted by Great Britain against the Two Sicilies in 1840, and against Greece in 18— So long as this de facto government is suffered to exist, the consent of the subjects of it is legally bound up with it, and they, as well as it, must be responsible to foreign nations for its misconduct.

I do not think that the Commissioner of the Bondholders at Mexico can do more than he has done to protect their rights in making a solemn and well authenticated protest on their behalf at the time when the wrong was done.

Dec. 28, 1860.

ROBERT PHILLIMORE.

DEPOSITS ON RAILWAY AND OTHER BILLS.

By the 15th inst. the deposit of 10 per cent. must be lodged on the capital of the railway and other public projects which are applying for parliamentary powers during the coming session. As the capital is estimated at between £6,000,000, and £7,000,000, £600,000 or £700,000 will be required. The deposit may be made either in money, government stock, or Exchequer Bills. The firmness of the latter securities, which to-day were quoted 4s. dis. to par, in face of the demand for money, is attributed to purchases for this purpose. No effect is yet produced upon the money market, because the deposit need not be lodged until the 15th.

The supply of English Government Three per Cent. Stock as well as of Exchequer Bills, is being diminished by some considerable withdrawals on account of this deposit. It is of course more advantageous to deposit stock than money, as in the latter case the interest will be lost for, perhaps, six or seven months.

THE REGENT'S CANAL COMPANY.

We have this day received a copy of the prospectus of the Regent's Canal Company. This undertaking is very respectfully constituted, and its object is of much public interest and utility. It is formed in accordance with a resolution passed at a special meeting of the Regent's Canal Company on the 5th ultimo. It was then decided that a new capital of £650,000 shall be raised in order to deepen and enlarge their basin at Limehouse, to make a new entrance lock to it, and a steamboat pier upon the Thames, and to construct a railway along the line of the canal from Maiden Lane to Limehouse. It is a very important feature that, of the surface land required for the main line of railway, about one-half is already the property of the company. The population of the districts to be traversed is dense, and the passenger and goods' traffic will probably be extremely large.

RAILWAYS.

The Brighton Railway traffic returns show this week an increase of £1,167; the South-Eastern, a decrease of £174; the London and North-Western, a decrease of £6,011; the Great Western, an increase of £460; the Great Northern, an increase of £2,116; the London and South Western, an increase of £563; the Eastern Counties, an increase of £1,296; the Midland, an increase of £4,390; the Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire, an increase of £868; the North Eastern, an increase of £4,049; and the Lancashire and Yorkshire, an increase of £1,257.

The traffic receipts of the Great Western Railway of Canada for the week ending Dec. 14 were £8,355 sterling, being £992 more than in the corresponding week of last year.

The traffic on the 748 miles of the South Austrian line of the Lombardo-Venetian Railway Company for the week ending December 22 was £34,218, being £9,177 more than in the corresponding week of 1859 on 687 miles; and that on the Lombardo-Venetian line, £4,266, showing a decrease of £843.

The traffic receipts of the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada, for the week ending December 8, were £14,556 sterling, being £3,910 more than for the corresponding week of last year. The gross receipts from the 1st July last have been £328,047 sterling, being £82,853 more than last year.

It is notified that the balance of the amount to be raised by the Scinde Railway Company by debentures having on Monday been paid to the credit of the Secretary of State for India, no further applications for debentures can be received.

The London directors of the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada on Monday issued an important report, which will be found in another column.

At the meeting of the Grand Trunk of Canada Railway on Wednesday, it was resolved, after a long discussion, to appoint a committee of seven—viz., two first preference bondholders, one second ditto, two ordinary bondholders, and two shareholders (with power to add to their number), to confer with the Board for the purpose of sending a committee to Canada, and to consider generally the affairs of the company. The parties named were Messrs. Crawford, M.P., Newmarch, Wheeler, Evans, Arnold, Smith, and Hartridge. The committee will also report upon a plan which has been proposed to provide the line with adequate rolling stock, and for the extrication of the undertaking from its financial difficulties, and likewise upon the existing agreement with the Great Western of Canada.

The half-yearly meeting of the Brighton Railway Company is convened for the 28th instant, and will be made special, to authorise the cancellation of all unissued shares and stock, and the creation of fresh securities.

The fourth call of £3 is to be paid on the shares in the Cape Town Railway and Dock Company by the 31st inst.

Advices from Christiania state that the traffic of the Norwegian Trunk Railway, of which one-half the capital is held in England, is steadily recovering from the check caused by the disastrous floods in the spring, and that the current receipts now show an increase over the corresponding period of 1859, which was the best year since the line has been opened. To meet the last payment of the Five per Cent. Preference interest the receipts were 5,000 dols. short, but this deficiency has since been fully made up.

BANKS.

A special meeting of proprietors of the Union Bank of Australia is called for the 14th inst., when a dividend is to be declared.

The tenth ordinary general meeting of shareholders in the City Bank is called for the 15th inst., when a dividend is to be declared.

The half-yearly meeting of the Colonial Bank was held on Wednesday; Mr. C. Marryat in the chair. There was no discussion beyond a few remarks congratulating the shareholders on the prosperity of the company, and stating that the directors considered it preferable to add to the stability of the bank by a large appropriation to the reserve rather than to increase the present dividend of 10 per cent. per annum. The following satisfactory report was carried unanimously:—

The following statement of the debts and assets of the corporation on the 30th of June, 1860, and of the net profit made during the half-year then ending, is laid before the proprietors in pursuance of the provisions of the charter:—

DEBTS.		£	s.	d.
Circulation	...	283,420	10	10
Deposits, bills payable, and other liabilities	...	1,552,270	1	10
Paid-up capital	...	500,000	0	0
Reserved fund	...	68,896	5	8
Net profit	...	37,044	12	1
		£2,441,631	10	5
ASSETS.		£	s.	d.
Specie	...	215,854	15	2
Due to the bank in the colonies on bills discounted and purchased, including those past due	...	1,065,775	9	0
Due to the bank in the colonies on current accounts	...	45,084	14	5
Due to the bank in London on bills remitted, cash at bankers, &c.	...	1,110,174	9	6
Bank premises and furniture in London and the colonies	...	4,742	2	4
		£2,441,631	10

To the above satisfactory statement the directors have only to add that their latest advices from the branches show that the business was going on prosperously. They therefore recommend that out of the net profit, amounting, after providing for Income-tax and for bad and doubtful debts, to 37,044l. 12s. 1d., a dividend be made of 5 per cent. for the half-year ending the 30th of June, 1860, being at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum, which will require 25,000l., leaving 12,044l. 12s. 1d. to be added to the reserved fund, which will then amount to 80,940l.

The affairs of the Liverpool Banking Company have just been completely wound up, after unremitting and gratuitous labour on the part of the directors since the bank stopped thirteen years ago. The last dividend returned to the proprietors makes altogether within a fraction of £3. 10s. returned per share out of the £10 paid upon the shares of the concern.

ASSURANCE COMPANIES.

The Colonial Life Assurance Company's Almanac, which is one of the neatest and most instructive publications of the kind that have come under our notice, comprises, in addition to a large amount of information of colonial and general interest, a resumé of the remarkable progress achieved by the company. Its operations have within a few years acquired a great extension. The annual revenue has risen from £11,742 in 1848, to £108,938 in 1860; and the accumulated fund, which was only £15,266 in 1848, now amounts to £378,057. The rate of mortality has been low—a fact which attests the care that presides over the management, particularly when it is considered that the company's operations extend to every quarter of the globe.

At the annual general meeting of the Alliance Marine Assurance Company on Wednesday a bonus of £4 per share was declared in addition to the annual interest of 6 per cent.

OTHER PUBLIC COMPANIES.

The allotment of shares in the Great Kanawha Company (Limited) was made on Wednesday. We understood that, in order to meet the suggestions from influential quarters at the formation of the company, the vendor has agreed to convey this valuable freehold estate of 85,000 acres in fee simple and free from all encumbrance, taking about half the amount of purchase-money in shares of the company, and the balance, according to the success of the enterprise, in from five to ten years. This plan is far more advantageous to the shareholders than that originally proposed, by which the vendor was to receive at once £50,000 in cash, and £20,000 in bonds. The alteration accords with the reputation of the members of the board as practical men of business. We understand that they intend to dispatch forthwith a thoroughly competent English agent to commence the full development of the estate.

A considerable fall has taken place in London Dock Stock on the publication of the accounts of the past half-year, showing the balance on the 30th of November to have been £186,632, or £14,231 less than at the corresponding period of 1859. The revenue returns appear to have diminished £19,790, while the reduction in expenses has been only £3,295.

At the half-yearly meeting of the London Dock Company, held to-day, a dividend of £1. 2s. 6d. per cent. for the half-year was declared, in accordance with the recommendation of the directors.

It is stated that the whole of the "A," or unguaranteed portion of the capital of the East India and London Shipping Company (Limited) amounting to £100,000, has been taken.

We are informed that the Oriental Bank Corporation have been appointed the bankers in India of the East India and London Shipping Company (Limited).

The ordinary general meeting of the National Discount Company is called for the 23rd January.

At the first general meeting of the London and Mediterranean Steam Navigation Company, held on Monday, the directors' report (which has already been summarised in the MONEY MARKET REVIEW), was unanimously adopted after various explanations respecting the accounts had been received as satisfactory.

The United Kingdom Electric Telegraph Company, which is rapidly perfecting its system, has secured the services of Mr. W. Andrews as general manager and secretary. Mr. Andrews has been connected with telegraph companies about eight years, at one time as general and commercial manager, and for some years as engineer of the Submarine Company.

The half-yearly meeting of the Australian Trust Company is called for the 30th inst.

The liquidators of the Eastern Archipelago Company have called a meeting of the shareholders for the 15th instant, when they will submit an account showing the progress made in the winding-up.

In the case of the British, Colonial, and Foreign Sugar Company, winding up in the Court of Chancery, a dividend of 5s. in the pound is now payable to the creditors at the offices of Messrs. Harding, Pulein, and Co.

Creditors of the Australasian Land and Emigration Company (Limited) are required to prove their claims in the Court of Bankruptcy on the 9th of January.

Vice-Chancellor Kindersley proposes on the 17th January to settle the list of contributories of the Great Western Coal Company.

THE BOMBAY MAIL.

The Bombay Mail, via Marseilles, will be delivered in London on Monday morning.

INTEREST AND DIVIDENDS.

Messrs. Baring Brothers and Co., and Glyn, Mills, and Co., advertise the half-yearly interest on Canadian Consolidated Five per Cent. Stock.

Messrs. Dent, Palmer, and Co. announce the half-yearly dividend on South Carolina Bonds.

The new sheets of coupons for the Buenos Ayres Sterling Six per Cent. Bonds are now in course of delivery by Messrs. Baring Brothers and Co.

The warrants for the half-year's interest on the shares in the Great Southern of India Railway Company were forwarded to the proprietors on Monday, and are now payable at the Union Bank of London. The interest on the mortgage bonds of the company is also now payable.

The interest is announced on Grand Russian Railroad Shares.

Messrs. Baring Brothers also announce the dividend due the 12th inst. on Buenos Ayres Sterling Six per Cent. Bonds. The particulars are at the same time published of bonds of this loan to the amount of £3,500 which have been purchased and cancelled under the first operation of the sinking fund. The numbers are further published of 138 bonds, representing £33,000, of the Buenos Ayres Three per Cent. Loan, which have been voluntarily purchased by the Government and cancelled. The Government are acting very wisely, for, by an expenditure of £10,000, they cancel more than three times that amount of debt.

The dividends are advertised on Wilmington and Raleigh Railroad Bonds.

THE STOCK AND SHARE MARKETS.

The English funds have this week experienced several slight variations, but Consols closed this evening precisely the same as on last Friday, viz., at 92½ to ½ ex div. for the 10th January. The price touched this morning 92½ to ½, but relapsed in the afternoon, upon a rumour that an Indian loan of three millions is likely to be launched in a few days.

The official list of to-day's actual business in the English Funds, Exchequer Bills, and Indian Government Securities, is annexed:—

Three per Cent. Consols, for account (Jan. 10), 92½, ½, ¾, ½, ex. div.; Three per Cents. Reduced, 92½, ½; New Three per Cents., 92½, ½; Thirty Years Annuities, expiring in April, 1885, 16 3-16ths; Bank Stock, 233; India Five per Cent. Stock, for account, 101½ ex. div.; ditto Four per Cent. Debentures, 1858, 96½; ditto Bonds, 10s., 6s. dis.; and Exchequer Bills, par, 3s., dis.

British Railway Stocks have been, upon the whole, extremely well supported. Midland stock has again been in extraordinary request, and has risen 1½ per cent., the demand to close speculative sales continuing.

Great-Northern, Caledonian, North-Eastern, and South-Eastern, are all in favour. Bond fide holders rarely sell on the eve of the declaration of the dividends.

The following shows the closing prices of the principal British Railway Stocks to-day, and the result of the week's variations. The share list in detail will be found in another column:—

In the Foreign Stock Market business has been unusually quiet, and very little change has occurred in prices. In nearly all instances they may be considered the same as on last Friday. Mexican Bonds left off to-day at 21½ to ¾; the Turkish Loan of 1854 at 70½ to 71, and that of 1858 at 56¾ to 57.

The sales recorded in the Foreign Stock Market to-day were as follows:—

Dutch Four per Cent. Certificates, 100½, 101; Brazilian Four-and-a-Half per Cents., 1860, 86½; Buenos Ayres Six per Cents., 96¾; Mexican Three per Cents., for account, 21½; New Granada Active, 15; Portuguese Three per Cents., 1856, 1857, and 1859, 44, ½, ex div.; ditto for account, 44, ex div.; Russian Four-and-a-Half per Cents., 92½, ¾, 93, ½, ex div.; Spanish Three per Cents., 49½, 48½; ditto, New Deferred Three per Cents., 40½, ex div.; the Committee's Certificates, 5½; Turkish Six per Cents., 1854, for account, 70½; ditto Six per Cents., 1858, 56½; ditto, for account, 57, ½; ditto £100 bonds, 58½; Venezuela Three per Cents., for account, 20½, 21.

The shares of the East India and London Shipping Company were quoted to-day ¾ to ½.

The Piedmontese Home Five and Three per Cents. were on Wednesday placed on the Stock Exchange official list.

Scottish Australian Investment Stock, which has risen 6 or 7 per cent. during the last month, is firm at 136 to 141, being scarce in the market.

Atlantic and Great Western Railway Bonds have been dealt in on the Stock Exchange at 77.

AMERICAN SECURITIES.

The accounts from New York refer to a feature which is not without encouragement to the holders of American securities here. It appears that there is a decided scarcity of many kinds of stock for immediate delivery—so much so that the execution of some of the English orders to buy has been attended with considerable difficulty. Purchases in some instances can be effected more cheaply for delivery sixty days hence than for cash. This circumstance denotes that the present depressed position of American securities is in no small degree the result of speculations for the fall.

With reference to the market for American Securities, Messrs. D. Bell, Son, and Co. report as follows:—

The market for American Securities remains without change.

The report of Mr. E. F. Satterthwaite is annexed:—

The market in London for American Securities has been very steady during the past week; quotations are almost without alteration; the tendency is, however, towards improvement. Illinois Shares and Erie Shares are very firm, closing buyers at 28½ discount and 35 respectively.

Summarising the last advices from New York, the same authority has the following:—

Per Asia, we have advices from New York to the 19th; the receipt of specie already to hand and certainty of more to follow, had imparted much ease to the market for exchange, though rates were little altered. The larger orders received for Illinois and Erie Shares, had caused the former to advance 6 per cent., and the latter 4 per cent.; other Railroad Shares were steady, at half to one per cent. above the quotations of the previous week.

In Railroad Bonds there was no change, except in Illinois construction, which were firm at 89½.

State Stocks were lower, particularly those of Southern States. Ohio has withdrawn her proposals for a loan to redeem the Bonds falling due 1st January, 1861, and then redeemable at the pleasure of the State. The interest on the old Bonds will continue to be paid as heretofore.

The Erie Company announce to pay the last arrear of Third Mortgage Bond interest on 20th December.

Our correspondents write:—"Politics are as misty as when we last wrote. We regard it as a foregone conclusion that South Carolina will vote herself out of the Union this week, and the Gulf States look and talk as if they meant to follow before the 4th of March. There is trouble ahead, but the situation is greatly aggravated by the deplorable indecision of the President. It is impossible to foresee the result, and speculation for either issue,—secession or compromise, will be gone into according to individual ideas of probabilities."

The London agents of the Illinois Central Railway Company on Wednesday received the following advices from the Chairman of the Executive Committee at New York:—

(Copy.)

Office of the Illinois Central Railroad Company,
New York, December 18, 1860.

Gentlemen,—The earnings for the second week of December were—

	Dols.
Against same time in 1859 .. .. .	54,478
	51,247 82
Gain .. .. .	3,230 18

The collections in the Land-office for this month have been .. 35,000

Sales for this month .. .. . 65,000

The business altogether is very satisfactory, considering the general unfavourable state of business operations.

The block in getting funds from the west still continues. Facilities increase to shipments of produce hence. The difficulties in exchanges with the interior will decrease. The receiving houses here have had their hands full, and the shipments east have latterly been for account of parties who want to get their funds here, and not as a matter of regular business.

As far as this company is concerned, we see, we think, a fair prospect of business before us for the winter, and when the navigation by the lakes opens there can be no doubt of an active employment of our means.

There is a greatly increased economy in the operations in Illinois, and yet no running down of either the road or its appurtenances.

Mr. Osborn is at Chicago, and his attention is being employed in endeavouring to get our funds here without the great loss entailed by the present heavy rate of exchange; 10 to 11 per cent. is the nominal rate, but our funds could not be got here at either of these rates, as only small amounts can be had unless at extravagant prices.—Yours, &c.,

(Signed)

THOS. E. WALKER,

Chairman Executive Committee.

Messrs. Robert Benson and Co., London.

The New York Central Railway report for the fiscal year, ending September 30th, 1860, is published, showing a net surplus for the year, after paying all expenses, interest, and 6 per cent. dividend, of 77,862 dols. The amount charged to construction account is 265,381 dols. The report also states that considerable amounts, properly chargeable to construction account, are included in the transportation expenses for the year. The net earnings applicable to dividends amount to 6,324 per cent. On the amount of the capital stock 6 per cent. dividend has been paid during this year.

The Receiver of the New York and Erie Railroad advertises in New York that he would pay the September coupons of the Third Mortgage Bonds, on the 20th December. This will leave only the back interest on the fourth and fifth mortgages unpaid.

DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.

With reference to the notification respecting the dissolution of partnership of the firm of Bruce, Wilkinson, and Co., billbrokers, we are requested to state that the firm of "Bruce and Co." will carry on business on the old premises in Abchurch-lane, and that Mr. Wilkinson will carry on business independently at No. 29, Nicholas-lane.

SHIPPING DISASTERS.

Several important shipping disasters are reported. Advices were received at Lloyd's on Tuesday of the wreck, near Boulogne, of the ship Ardville, from Macao to London, with 546,700lbs. of tea and other cargo on board. The Sourisquois, from Bombay to London, has been wrecked near the same place. The American ship Golden Star, which has been lost on the Irish coast, while on the voyage from Mobile to Liverpool, had on board about £30,000 worth of cotton.

A NEW PAPER FOR THE CAPE.

The increasing prospects of the South African Colonies is evidenced by the profits of the import and export trade as indicated in the Colonial returns, and in the Board of Trade tables. So many Colonies are now forming there, British Kaffaria having just been declared independent, that every publication connected with those colonies becomes of interest. The Cape and Natal News has long summarised the Colonial intelligence to British readers, and is now about to issue a special outward edition of intelligence for the Colonists. The emigration is now becoming extensive for the Cape and Natal; 1,750 souls left last year, besides private passengers, and no less than 11 ships cleared from London for the Cape last month.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

The ships Scotia, Earl of Hardwicke, and Tudor, have been taken up to carry stores to Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay, respectively.

The Admiralty will receive tenders on the 17th inst. for the supply of 3,000 quarters of wheat.

The Produce and other Markets.

COLONIAL PRODUCE.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 4.

The produce markets, which opened on the 1st inst., have been rather freely supplied, and the sales have gone off flatly, in most cases at prices in favour of the buyers. Of sugar the sales have been very large, and although a fall of 1s. to 1s. 6d. was submitted to upon most kinds, the buyers have not purchased readily, and at to-day's auctions considerable quantities were bought in. Sales of coffee have chiefly comprised low and middling kinds of Plantation Ceylon, which have declined 1s. to 1s. 6d., while the Native sorts are also about 1s. lower. There is very little inquiry for rice on the spot, but several floating cargoes of soft-grain descriptions have been sold. Pimento shows a fall of fully ½d. to ¾d. per lb. from the late highest point. Saltpetre has given way about 1s. per cwt. The tea market remains unsettled, pending the approaching large public sales on the 9th inst.

THE TALLOW TRADE.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 4.

The market opened for the year quietly, with 57s. 6d. as the quotation for Y.C. on the spot, and for the first few days a desire on the part of some holders to realise, resulted in a decline of 3d. per cwt., but on business being fairly resumed, a good steady demand for consumption was experienced until the middle of January, prices gradually advancing in the interim 9d. to 1s. This improvement was followed by a quietude that evinced much caution on the part of consumers, while the course of speculation became comparatively quiet, and for a short time the tendency was to lower prices, without, however, any decline of note being established, but towards the close of that month more steadiness prevailed, and notwithstanding 975 casks stranded tallow were brought to auction on the 27th (for sale without reserve), holders generally evinced more firmness, and at the end of January we find 59s. was the current price. Imports from the commencement of the year having been very moderate stocks in the aggregate were much reduced, and as the Moscow speculators were then the principal holders, quotations were further enhanced in the early part of February, when 60s. 6d. ruled. The improvement, we should observe, was, to a great extent, created by a scarcity of stock at the outports that concentrated a bona fide demand here; but on its being known in the middle of that month that the Government had proposed that the duty should be abolished, the market became unsettled. Apart, however, from that disturbing cause, a subsequent dullness existed in consequence of the lessened requirements of consumers, the high prices then current clearly indicating that their effect was to lessen consumption, but as the available stock then on hand was small, no decline of moment was submitted to up to the end of February, when we find 60s. was current. Throughout March increasing dullness prevailed. The consumption not only showed a falling off, but proved unusually small for the time of year. Our home production was much pressed for sale at low comparative prices; in fact, a general feeling of distrust was manifested, which resulted in gradual concessions on the part of holders of Y.C., and at the close of March 57s. 3d. was the quoted value.

During the first week in April prices further receded to 56s., and, notwithstanding a subsequent slight and temporary reaction, the tendency may be said to have been downward throughout that month, the closing price being 55s. 6d. Advices being received early in May from St. Petersburg, that the navigation was open, caused greater depression, which was increased at one period by a pressure of our home productions, while quotations current for forward delivery of Y.C. being lower than those ruling for Tallow on the spot, showed a feeling of distrust on the part of importers. Pending this state of things, prices declined uninterruptedly until nearly the end of May, when we find 52s. 3d. was the quoted price for Y.C. More steadiness prevailed in the early part of June, and notwithstanding some slight and temporary fluctuations that ultimately resulted in 52s. being current, the tendency may be said to have been upward; in fact, confidence then appeared as likely to be restored. This better feeling, we should observe, was created by the assimilation of prices for Tallow on the spot, with those current for forward delivery, while those then ruling exhibited a decline of 8s. 6d. on the extreme price current in February. Our home production was found to be not only deficient in quantity, but also in quality, and there appeared every prospect of a continued scarcity throughout the country. The comparative high price for Palm and Cocoa-nut Oils were also regarded as being in favour of Tallow. These concurrent features, with the fact of imports for some time previous having been of moderate extent, resulted in a fair amount of business, as well as more firmness on the part of holders, and at the close of June we find 53s. was not only current for Y.C. on the spot, but also for forward delivery up to the end of the year.

Throughout July much steadiness prevailed, with a fair business doing for the time of year, quotations having ranged from 53s. 3d. at the commencement, to 52s. 9d. at the close of that month. At this period of the year our home production usually rules cheaper than the foreign article, but owing to its then general scarcity we find prices were fully 2s. per cwt. higher than Y.C. Imports during that month were rather large, and being followed by others of good extent in August—and at a time when the warm temperature greatly restricts the consumption—much dullness prevailed during the greater part of that month, and prices of Y.C., on the spot, receded to 51s. (the lowest point of the year). In our weekly report, of the 17th of that month, we stated:—"Taking a prospective view, there may be said to be no new feature of a bona fide character to warrant an expectation that lower prices will permanently rule."—The sequel proved that opinion to have been well founded, for, from that period the tendency was to improvement, and despite a large and increasing stock in September, prices almost uninterruptedly advanced, and at the close of that month Y.C. was quoted 53s. per cwt. The weekly deliveries since the 1st June, had shewn a comparative increase, the aggregate for those four months showing an excess of 9,413 casks, when compared with those in the corresponding period of 1859; in fact, the market then appeared to be in a sound and healthy position, and there was every prospect of a large and increasing business being transacted during the autumn and winter months.

Early in October the market became very excited, and in our weekly report of the 12th of that month, we had to record an advance of 4s. 9d. to 5s. 3d. per cwt., Y.C. being then quoted 59s. This advance, we should observe, resulted from speculative operations, not only in this market, but also in that at St. Petersburg. Some slight and temporary fluctuations followed, but towards the close of October speculation again became very rife, and at the commencement of November quotations for Y.C. had advanced to 61s. 6d. to 61s. 9d. being the highest point of the year. From that period the market may be said to have been unsettled. The weekly deliveries, prior to these violent fluctuations, had shown a comparative increase, and (as noted above) there was every prospect of a sound and healthy business being transacted. All that had hitherto appeared promising and beneficial to the best interests of all engaged in bona fide trade soon passed away, in fact, recent as then was the period when the market became disturbed, the worst effects of a system, alike hurtful and destructive, were soon visible; the ordinary channels of demand immediately became impeded, consumers having found that the progress of trade had been much interrupted. This altered state of things at once created a general feeling of distrust. Since then the weekly deliveries have not only shown a comparative decrease, but have been unusually small for the time of year: and notwithstanding a temporary advance, influenced by speculation, in the middle of November, the course of prices may be said to have been downward from that period. During the past month much dullness existed, and the market closed for the year with the following quotations for Y. C.:—viz., 60s. for fine tallow on the spot; 60s. for delivery in January to March; 59s. for April to June; 58s. 6d. for July to September, and 57s. 6d. per cwt. for October to December.

It will be seen by the foregoing synopsis that 61s 9d. has been the highest, and 51s. the lowest prices current during the past year, against 60s. 6d., the maximum, and 51s. the minimum in 1859, and 56s. and 48s. respectively in 1858. Quotations current for Y. C. at the close of the past three years were 60s. in 1860; 57s. 9d. in 1859; and 51s. in 1858; while the stock on hand at those respective periods were 72,626 casks at the close of 1860; against 44,856 casks at the same period of 1859, and 32,181 casks in 1858, which statistics clearly show the present anomalous position of the market.

The following shews the Import and Delivery of ALL KINDS of Tallow for the past three years:—

MONTHLY DELIVERY OF TALLOW.
Total for the year, casks...	130,969	82,370	84,913
MONTHLY IMPORT OF TALLOW.
Total for the year, casks...	103,831	95,767	113,500

The deliveries during the months of June, July, August, and September were greatly in excess of those in the corresponding months of 1859, which resulted chiefly from the then scarcity of our home production, and from prices then current being much below the average for the year. Not only have the deliveries decreased during the past two months, but they have been comparatively less at other periods of the year when prices have ruled high. Despite these facts, which may be regarded as natural results, it is somewhat difficult to make many influential persons believe, or, at all events, to acknowledge, that high prices do not lessen consumption. That such is the result there can be no question, the more particularly so when there is no bona fide foundation for the present high rates now ruling, created as they are by a system that, if continued, cannot fail to prove, as we have repeatedly pointed out, most injurious to the best interests of all those engaged in the trade, as well as certain and most serious loss to the supporters.

To take a prospective view with any degree of correctness, would not only be a difficult task, but, firmly as the stock is held, be simply hyperbolic, defying, as it most assuredly does, the best judgments of the market. It appears to us that the only rational course that presents itself, is to advance that the same cause that has hitherto placed the market in its present anomalous position, not only still exists, but will possibly continue for some time hence. One thing is, however, certain, that should the present high rates rule, the present stock will, in all probability, be found equal to the consumption to the end of the year. At the same time, notwithstanding the ability hitherto shown by the monopolists to support their position, it must be borne in mind that their difficulties have not only been increasing, but, that as time progresses, they will prove still more formidable, and will, we think, convince them of the utter fallacy of attempting in these days to coerce a market by the monopoly of an article for which so many substitutes can be found to supply its place.—Furnished by Messrs. Culverwell, Brooks, & Co., Brokers.

THE LONDON FREIGHT MARKET.

The position of our chief markets is without alteration since last week. A hopeful tone, however, is pretty prevalent.

East India Charters are confined to a few leading sorts. Calcutta, £45; Madras, £41 to £42; Bombay, £38; Pointe de Galle, £43; King George's Sound, £44. Homewards very little offers—Moulmein, 90s.; Akyab, Rangoon, or Bassein, 70s., for ships well on the way; Calcutta, 60s., &c.

The berth freights are fairly sustained, at 60s. for Calcutta, Bombay, and Madras, and for Australia, 85s. to 95s., according to size.

Quebec is named at 35s.; Pugwash, Miramichi, and Tatmagouche, 90s.; Richibucto, 92s. 6d., for spring; Montreal, 8s. 6d., grain. From Danzig and Memel, 11s. to 18s. are named as probable for first open water, but we have not heard of transactions completed in these trades.

The Council of India repeat the advertisement for the telegraph standards to Bombay, Madras, and Calcutta. The Admiralty advertise about 1,020 tons for shipment, whereof 500 tons is powder for Malta, and 390 naval stores for Hong Kong. The Emigration Commissioners give notice that ship room is required for 45 emigrants to Port Natal.

To the Mediterranean the same dullness continues which has characterised this market for the last few weeks. Orders are not numerous, and ships not difficult to procure.

The West India business is steady, but there is no advance.—Furnished by Messrs. Thomas Sharer and Co.

LIVERPOOL COTTON MARKET.

LIVERPOOL, FRIDAY MORNING, JANUARY 4.

Owing to the rise in the value of money, and to the influence of the holidays, the market this week has exhibited less firmness, and quotations in some instances present a reduction of  $\frac{1}{2}$ d. per lb., compared with those current on Friday last.

[BY ELECTRIC TELEGRAPH.]

LIVERPOOL, FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 4.

The market shows no further variation. 5,000 bales were sold to-day, including 500 on speculation and for exportation; there have been no imports to-day. The sales of the three days amount to only 22,890 bales, of which 1,640 were taken on speculation, and 1,760 for exportation, and the imports of the week to 5,994 bales.

THE METAL MARKET.

The sudden rise in the rate of discount has once more unsettled the metal market. The business done this week has been unimportant, and nearly all metals have a drooping tendency.

Welsh Bars continue to be held firmly, but the demand has slackened; Rails are quiet, at £5. 5s. to £5. 10s.; Staffordshire Iron is still neglected, and prices are irregular; Scotch Pig Iron has given way to 49s. 9d. cash, at which the market closes quiet.

Very little business has been done in Copper this week; both buyers and sellers are looking on. Burra and Kapunda could be bought at £103; Rio Tinto, which is scarce, might be placed at £95; Chili has been done at £90 in Liverpool; English is dull, and second-hand lots can be bought  $\frac{1}{2}$ d. per lb. for manufactured, under official prices.

Tin is dull, and fine quality of Straits has changed hands at £130 on the spot and afloat. There are sellers of Banca here at £134, without buyers. The Dutch Market is quiet at 78d. English Tin is unaltered, but the demand has fallen off.

Tin Plates are almost unsaleable, and we see no prospects of improvement until the American affairs are more settled.

The Lead Market has not changed since our last report.

Spelter has been very dull, and the price has fallen fully 7s. 6d. per ton. After one or two transactions at £19. 5s., the market closes with sellers at this figure, but no buyers. Spelter in Hull is obtainable at £19 without any demand.

In Swedish Iron and Steel there is no alteration.—Furnished by Messrs. Von Dadelzen and North.

THE LEATHER AND HIDE TRADE. THE GREAT FAILURES.

We cannot dismiss our retrospect of the year 1860, without a more distinct reference to the disasters which it has witnessed, and which will long make it memorable in the trade. That so gigantic an amount of commercial rottenness should have existed, and have carried so bold a front for so long a period, may well have surprised those unconnected with the leather and hide trades, and have obtained for these trades generally an unenviable notoriety, when to those within their sphere the disclosures excited the utmost astonishment. Since the publication of the proceedings in the Court of Bankruptcy, the only wonder is that the catastrophe did not occur earlier. It is, however, important to remember, as we stated in our circular of August last, that of the enormous aggregate of the liabilities of the firms that suspended payment, a very small proportion was due in the trade, and that the monied interest are the principal losers. We avail ourselves also of the present opportunity to contradict the evidence that has been given, more or less directly stating that the custom of the trade is represented in the practices that the evidence in bankruptcy has disclosed. That the parties concerned may have had transactions analogous to other leather factors, we do not dispute; but that the system that has been pursued of propping up houses that have been brought to hopeless insolvency by a course of excessive overtrading has any representative in any dealings in the leather and hide trade outside the circle of the firms that have failed, we most positively deny. We believe, on the contrary, that the trade in general is in a sound and healthy state, and that the relations of the manufacturers and factors are of an independent and legitimate nature. We hope, however, that the lessons which these disgraceful disclosures are calculated to teach will not be forgotten, and that a system which will give to capital and fair dealing their rightful position, will be scrupulously followed; we may then anticipate great advantage from the removal of so much undue competition from all departments of the leather and hide trade.—Furnished by Messrs. T. J. and T. Powell.

THE PROSPECTS OF OUR MANUFACTURES.

The following remarks, which we extract from the Manchester circular of Messrs. George Fraser, Son, and Co., will be perused with interest. They furnish an intelligent and comprehensive view of the principal conditions, both as regards home and foreign affairs, bearing upon our manufacturing progress:—

The year has closed with considerable buoyancy, with light stocks of most of our leading staples, and so far as the East is concerned, with brighter prospects than have existed for several months previously. On the other hand, however, there is cause for some misgivings as to the future course of business, and its profitability to the manufacturing industry of this district. The American difficulties are producing unfavourable effects in many ways. First, as respects the supply of cotton, whilst much anxiety exists as to the extent of the future growth, and will continue to increase should the secession of the South actually take place or become more imminent, the present year's crop is being retarded in coming to market. The large stock of cotton held in Liverpool about the middle of last year has rapidly run down until now the excess of stock held is only 100,000 bales more than at the corresponding period of the previous year, and this excess is more than swept off by the decreased comparative quantity on the water. This state of affairs has temporarily rendered cotton a very speculative article at Liverpool, where its price has risen nearly  $\frac{1}{2}$ d. per lb. during the last ten days. Simultaneously with this advance at Liverpool, a considerable fall in price, causing great loss to the planters, has taken place in America; but which loss is of comparatively little gain to the importer, owing to the depreciation in exchange. Next, as respects orders for British manufactures, the political excitement is acting most prejudicially in postponing or entirely stopping them. And lastly, as respects finance matters, considerable confusion exists. Already the shipments of specie to America during the month of December have reached the large sum of £1,600,000, and they seem likely to continue. The demand for money at the Bank of England was very active all last week, and the weekly return showed a decrease in its bullion of over half a million sterling. Consequently, at a special meeting, yesterday, the minimum rate of discount was put up to 6 per cent., being the point reached temporarily during the month of November, but likely now to be maintained for probably a considerably longer period, as the causes which have necessitated the present advance are less abnormal, and seem likely to remain in force for a considerable time to come. For, in addition to the derangement of business with the United States, and the drain of specie which it has occasioned, the demand for money is likely to continue large from the necessities for loans on the part of so many foreign Governments, and from the enormous military expenditure throughout Europe. Then, again, the prospect of a war between Austria and Italy during the present year seems rather to increase than to be passing away, and Italy itself remains still in a very unsettled condition. Revolution itself seems not unlikely to break out within the Austrian dominions, and the finances of that empire are in a deplorable state. At home, too, the results of the late harvest are much more unfavourable than was hoped for a few months ago, for the deficiency in the wheat crop is very great, and we shall consequently be more dependent on foreign importations than was anticipated. So that, despite the present activity of our market, our general prospects are less encouraging than they were a twelvemonth ago, whilst, as respects the profitability of spinning and manufacturing, the future looks considerably less hopeful, owing to the existing position and to the future prospects of the raw material.

SITTINGBOURNE AND SHEERNESS RAILWAY.—A special meeting of the proprietors was held on Wednesday, at the offices, 51, King William-street, City; Mr. L. S. Magnus in the chair. A resolution was agreed to authorising the directors to borrow £13,000, in accordance with the company's Increase of Capital Act, 1859, on mortgage or bond, at such rates of interest, at such times, and generally in such manner as the directors might deem fit and determine. This was the only business, and the meeting adjourned.

The Corn Trade.

GENERAL REMARKS.

LONDON, FRIDAY AFTERNOON, JANUARY 4.

The imports into the United Kingdom of foreign grain continue to decrease. The quantity imported this week is only at about half the rate of the preceding four weeks, and must be expected to go on falling off during the winter months. The United States of America, which have been the largest shippers up to this time, have lately slackened—partly owing to financial causes—partly because the winter stopped canal navigation. The supply at seaboard of grain and flour from the west during winter must be small—the high transit rates by railway preventing an active trade; and the stock of wheat in New York on the 1st of January was computed at less than 500,000 qrs., and about 700,000 brls. of flour; this quantity only would be available for exportation till the re-opening of canal navigation next May, allowing in the interim the consumption of New York to be supplied by rail. Turning from over the Atlantic to the Baltic, as the next largest corn shipper, we find that navigation there is now winter bound, and although some of the lower Baltic ports continue shipping some corn, over the ice, at a great expense, yet the quantity in the aggregate is of little consequence. France exported largely last month, but the rise in the export duty at Nantes has stopped one of its widest outlets, and the increased wants of Italy will drain Marseilles of any surplus, so that the imports into the United Kingdom of grain from France can only be on a limited scale. In Egypt, the wants of Syria have had to be satisfied—besides, the season of grain shipments may be considered as nearly past—and only stray cargoes can now be expected from Alexandria till next harvest. The Sea of Azov has been frozen for some weeks, and Odessa, according to telegrams dated two days ago, is also icebound. Independent of this interruption, however, stocks of produce at Odessa have dwindled into comparatively so small a compass, that the quantity likely to be shipped from that spot for the United Kingdom up to May next must be inconsiderable—all the more so, as Italy has lately been in the market, buying up largely. The Danube is still open to navigation, but owing to wet weather, the supply of produce from the interior has been for some time past so scanty, that stocks at Galatz and Ilbrail are likely to prove insufficient, even to load those vessels now in port, awaiting their turn to get in cargoes.

The supply of home-grown wheat continues at the reduced rate characteristic of this season, while the quantity of barley is maintained on about the same scale as in preceding weeks. The supply of oats continues also small, compared with preceding seasons. The latest official returns of the quantity of grain sold in England and Wales were as follows:—Wheat, 70,203 qrs. at 54s.; barley, 61,277 qrs. at 39s. 7d.; oats, 13,474 qrs., at 22s. 6d. The stocks of old corn in farmers' hands may be considered, commercially, as completely cleared. The stock of new corn, suitable for use, is probably a third less than the quantity held a year ago. The bulk of the corn, being of indifferent quality, and not fit for keeping over another year, will probably be used up before next harvest. The stock of old English corn in millers' hands is also generally low, and in some parts of the country completely used up. It is remarkable that a large portion of the foreign grain, especially American sorts, continues to be largely consumed in the corn-producing English agricultural districts.

The British corn-trade has ruled very firm this week, though not active. Wheat has been generally held for an advance of 1s. per qr. Flour is also rather dearer. Barley is firm, and in some markets 1s. per qr. dearer. Oats are also held for higher prices, and in some instances 6d. per qr. dearer. Maize—prices are firmly supported, and arrived cargoes inquired after, but northerly winds keeps still out the expected arrivals. Beans and peas are firmly maintained.

IN MARK-LANE TO-DAY the attendance of the trade was fair, and the tone firm, but quiet.

WHEAT—English, in small supply; and good samples fetched last Monday's prices.

Foreign—quiet, at last Monday's rates.

Flour—slow sale, at last Monday's currency; Norfolk, 42s. to 43s. per 280lbs.

BARLEY—firmly maintained, upon last Monday's rates.

OATS—rather dearer.

BEANS and PEAS in improved demand; firm.

AGRICULTURAL REPORT.—Although the frost has been one of such severity, we never remember less injury done; the heavy fall of snow that preceded it having proved a great protection to the turnip crop, as well as to the young wheat plants, where it is up, and it is now as fresh and green as it was before the frost began. We have now reached the end of the year 1860, and so far as agriculture is concerned, it has been anything but a prosperous one. The wet summer and want of sun caused a late and very deficient harvest; and, although some would insist (in spite of the strongest evidence to the contrary) that the last was nearly an average crop, the deficiency, both in quantity and quality, has now been so certainly ascertained, that even the most sanguine are obliged to confess that they had taken a much too favourable view of the probable yield. The greatest deficiency is upon the clay soils. We have heard of numerous instances where the crop has not yielded more than from eight to twelve bushels an acre, and many farms will not average more than twenty bushels. We feel convinced that prices must be higher. The immense importations we have had since harvest have gone into consumption, and there must be a material falling off in the arrivals of foreign grain for the next three or four months, and consequently a greater demand for English.—Brighton Gazette.

ADDITIONAL MAILS FOR CUBA.—In addition to the regular mail which is forwarded to Cuba by the West India packet of the 2nd of each month, mails for Havana and St. Jago de Cuba will in future be made up at this office for despatch by the packet leaving Southampton on the 17th of each month, to be conveyed by British packet as far as St. Thomas, and thence by a Spanish steamer, which, it is understood, sails from St. Thomas about the 1st or 2nd of every month, after the arrival at that port of the packet from England, and the owners of which have offered to convey these mails to their destination. All letters, &c., for Cuba will be forwarded by the West India mail packet of the 2nd or 17th of the month, according as they may be posted in time for conveyance by either packet.—By command of the Postmaster-General, ROWLAND HILL, Secretary.—General Post-office, Dec. 28.

THE FINANCIAL SHIFTS OF AUSTRIA.—Vienna, Friday, Dec. 28.—The official Wiener Zeitung contains two Imperial decrees:—The first orders that, in view of the present extraordinary state of things, the forced currency of bank-notes (zwangsgeld) in Lombardo-Venetia shall be maintained. The second orders that the payment of the interest of the National Loan shall be effected in bank-notes with the corresponding agio. The decrees are preceded by two reports of the Minister of Finance, stating the motives for proposing these measures.

IMPROVEMENT OF LIMEHOUSE BASIN AND NEW STEAM BOAT PIER. RAILWAY FROM MAIDEN LANE TO LIMEHOUSE, WITH BRANCHES.

Capital, £650,000, in 65,000 Shares of £10 each.

ENGINEER-IN-CHIEF—John Fowler, Esq.
 ASSISTANT ENGINEER—Edwin Thomas, Esq.

The Regent's Canal Company intend to apply to Parliament, in the ensuing Session, for an Act to enable them to raise a New Capital of £650,000, in order to deepen and enlarge their Basin at Limehouse, and to make a new Entrance Lock to the Basin, a Steam Boat Pier upon the Thames, and a Railway along the line of the Canal from Maiden Lane to Limehouse.

The trade of the Company's Basin at Limehouse has been increasing for many years past; and additional accommodation and conveniences are urgently needed. It is intended to construct a new Entrance Lock from the Thames, calculated to admit steam and other vessels of from 2,000 to 3,000 tons burthen, to deepen the Basin, and to enlarge the area for waterway and for warehouses. The Company have already in their possession about five-and-a-half acres of land applicable to these purposes. The estimated expense of these works is £130,000.

The length of the main line of the proposed Railway, including short junctions with the Great Northern and Blackwall (to be constructed at the expense of those Companies, under arrangements with them), will be 5½ miles. It will pass (with two lines of rails), on the towing path side of the Canal, through the northern and eastern parts of the Metropolis to the Blackwall terminus in Fenchurch Street, and thus accommodate the densely-populated districts of Somers Town, King's Cross, White Conduit Fields, Pentonville, the City Road, Hoxton, De Beauvoir Town, Kingsland, Dalston, Bethnal Green, Mile End, and Limehouse, as well as steam-boat passengers at Limehouse, within about two miles from London Bridge; all those places will also be brought into direct communication with the heart of the City.

By other short junction lines, which may be constructed at the cost of the respective Railway Companies, the proposed Railway will be connected with the Great Northern Railway Goods Depot at Agar Town; with the Midland Railway Company's Station, now constructing on land adjacent to the Great Northern Station; and with the Eastern Counties main line. The new line will thus provide a THROUGH communication for the heavy traffic of all these Railways north of the Thames with their several Depots on the Blackwall Line at or near the Minories, together with the various Docks, the Company's Limehouse Basin, and the River-side, and it will also afford the shortest and best communication for their passenger traffic to the heart of the City.

The Company's Canal and Towing-path, formed between 1813 and 1817, through what was then meadow land, occupies much more surface than is required for the navigation. Out of the whole surface-land required for the main line of railway (excluding the stations), about one-half is already the property of the Company. Almost all the additional land required adjoins the sides of the Company's property, and therefore there will be but few cases of compensation for severance. The line of Canal provides the means of carriage of all the materials for the Railway to the very spot at which they are required for use. The total cost of the main line, with the Great Northern and Blackwall Junctions and Stations, is estimated at £520,000, being an average of £90,000 per mile; whilst the North London Railway, which pays 5 per cent. on its original capital, cost more than £120,000 per mile; the Metropolitan Railway will cost not less than £250,000 per mile; and the Blackwall Railway cost even a larger sum.

The traffic on the proposed Railway will be of a class and character similar to that on the Blackwall and North London Railways. Assuming the number of passengers carried on the Regent's Canal Railway to be only one-half the number carried on the North London Railway (or say 3,000,000 per annum), and taking the Goods Traffic and the Inland Coal Traffic at a proportionate amount, it is estimated by an experienced traffic manager that the net income of the line would be £51,746 per annum (or say £1,000 per week), which would afford an ample per centage on the outlay; but it may safely be assumed that the passenger traffic will at least equal that on the North London Railway, in which case the profits will be very large; for not only does the line, for its entire length, pass through a denser population, but it materially shortens the distance to the City for all traffic coming off the great trunk lines.

The Capital of £650,000, required for the improvement of the Limehouse Basin and for the Railway, is to be raised by new shares; and the holders of the existing 27,018 Canal Shares are to receive a Preference Dividend out of the earnings of the Canal, Basin and Railway combined, as the consideration for making over all their property to the proprietors of the new capital. That property consists of—

1. The Regent's Canal and Hertford Union Canal and Towing-paths, City Road Basin, Limehouse Basin, a portion of the Limehouse Cut communicating with the River Lee, and the Brent Reservoir at Hendon, covering upwards of 240 acres of freehold land.
2. The Freehold Wharfs and very valuable buildings thereon at the City Road Basin, leased at ground rents, and covering 18½ acres, to the rack rents of which the Company will be entitled on the falling in of the building leases; other Freehold Wharfs along the line of both Canals, and adjoining the Limehouse Basin and Limehouse Cut, and Freehold Land and Property adjoining the Brent Reservoir.
3. Surplus Freehold Land and Buildings at Limehouse, available for the extension of the Basin, and covering 5½ acres.
4. Water Rents for the use of water for steam engines and manufacturing purposes along the line of Canal, now producing £1,700 a year, and annually increasing.

Subject to a debt of £96,000.

The increase of the tonnage of the Canals and Basins for the year ending Michaelmas, 1860, was 33,126 tons, and the increase for the same period in the gross tolls was £6,253; and in the total net earnings £7,871. The net income divided amongst the proprietors, after appropriating 5 per cent. to the reserved fund was £34,563. The tolls have been increased since April last; and, according to the ratio of the present net produce of the increased toll, the net earnings of the Company will produce a net yearly dividend of full 30s. per share, clear of Income-tax, after adding 5 per cent. to the reserved fund.

The Preference Dividend to the Proprietors of the 27,018 Canal Shares for the transfer to the Subscribers of the new Capital of all the Company's property, including all the surplus lands available for the main line of Railway, and for the extension of the Limehouse Basin, and for abandoning to them all the future increase in its earnings, is to be 30s. per share for the year following that in which the Act receives the Royal Assent; 35s. for the second year, and 40s. for the third, and all following years in perpetuity. After such preferential payments, the entire net profits of the Canal and Railway combined, will be divisible amongst the Proprietors of the new Capital, until they shall have reached 8 per cent. per annum upon such new Capital, and all surplus profits beyond 8 per cent. per annum are to be divided rateably between the Canal Shareholders and the Proprietors of the new Capital.

Prospectus and Plans (with Forms of Application for Shares) may be obtained from the Company's Secretary, Edmund Leonsrd Snee, Esq., at the Company's Office, No. 20, Macclesfield-street North, City Road Basin; and from Thomas Fenn, Esq., Broker, No. 3, Royal Exchange Buildings.

A deposit of £1 per Share is to be paid to the Company's Treasurer, William Banbury, Esq., at Messrs. Fuller, Banbury and Co., Lombard-street, on all applications for Shares, which must be made on or before the 12th inst. The Canal Shareholders are entitled to a preference in the allotment of Shares, and the Deposit on all Shares not allotted will be returned.

THE EAST INDIA & LONDON SHIPPING COMPANY (Limited).

Capital £300,000, in 30,000 Shares of £10 each, to be divided into two series, viz.:—£100,000 in Shares marked A, which guarantee to take no dividend until £200,000, in Shares marked B, have been paid a preferential dividend at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum; after which the A Shares to be entitled to receive any surplus up to 10 per cent. The profits beyond this to be divided rateably between each series.

£1 per Share to be paid on application, £1. 10s. on allotment, and the remaining £7. 10s. in calls at intervals of not less than three months.

TEMPORARY OFFICES—9, MINING-LANE, LONDON.

The Directors of the EAST INDIA AND LONDON SHIPPING COMPANY (Limited) have succeeded in purchasing the auxiliary screw steamships Golden Fleece, Jason, Queen of the South, Lady Jocelyn, Calcutta, Indiana, and Hydaspes, at about one-third of their cost, for the purpose of opening a MONTHLY COMMUNICATION between LONDON, MADRAS, and CALCUTTA.

The want of a direct first-class auxiliary steam line to India, especially for families and invalids, has been long known and felt, and such a line must command a sure trade for both passengers and cargo; ample proof of which is rendered in the following document, signed by the principal East India merchants, banking firms, exporters and importers, colonial brokers, wholesale warehousemen, manufacturers and shippers, and others interested in East Indian commerce and intercourse:—

(COPY.)

"We, the undersigned merchants and others, interested in commercial intercourse with the East Indies, consider that regular monthly communication, out and home, with Madras and Calcutta, by such first-class auxiliary steam clipper ships as were formerly employed in conveying goods and passengers on that route, has now become indispensable to the trade between London and the East.

MR. PIKE'S ANNUAL CIRCULAR.

MR. JOHN ROBERT PIKE begs to tender his warmest thanks to the numerous patrons and friends who have favoured him with commissions during the year 1860. To many it has been a period of varied success in speculation, although, on the whole, a satisfactory balance of profit has been realised. Looking at the courses of other branches of speculative enterprise during the last twelve months, the comparative firmness which has characterised the Mine Share Market is highly encouraging. Usually speaking, the prices of mine shares fluctuate with the value of money and the necessary staples of consumption, affected at the same time by the soundness or otherwise of trade, conditions which, during the period under review, have been sensibly modified. We have had disasters in trade, complicated international politics, money dear almost to panic point, and convulsions rather than variations in other share markets; but, through all, the demand for British mines, both for investment and speculation, has been, all things considered, remarkably good. As a matter of course, copper shares have fluctuated with the variations in the standard, which is a principle unquestionably sound, and beneficial alike to the investor and speculator, apart altogether from the fluctuations in prices consequent on the usual accident of supply and demand.

In some quarters it might be construed as rudeness even to offer any advice to the investing public on the management of their own affairs, but speculation in mining property is of such an exceptional character as to warrant him, at the risk of displacing a few, in making his long experience in some measure available for the benefit of the many. He has addressed the public interested in mines, both through the medium of the newspaper press and in printed books on this subject. For years he has in this way been warning and advising, and now, at the commencement of another year, he would impress upon the minds of investors a few very ordinary, but in practice very valuable, truisms:—

1.—Never speculate without careful and diligent inquiry. The answer to this may be that no persons but those heretofore of reason ever do; to which he would reply, assuming the correctness of the hypothesis, that a frightfully large number of the investing public must be in that lamentable mental condition.

2.—The prices at which shares may be negotiated on 'Change is no guide whatever to the intrinsic value of the mines represented. Then how comes it, says the sceptic, that men, confessedly knowing better, should every day of their lives give more for shares than they are really worth? To which he would answer, that there are both values fictitious and values real. By the former the members of a guild may be benefited, but the latter can alone satisfy the investor who specifically exchanges money for an equivalent value.

3.—Seek the assistance of a reliable agent, a course which is perfectly consistent with the full exercise of personal judgment. In negotiating the purchase or sale of mine shares, the services of a respectable and competent agent are indispensable. Any person of average intelligence, after a very slight acquaintance with the forms of the House, can properly conduct the business of a client in railway stock or Government securities; but to creditably conduct a negotiation in mine shares an amount of special knowledge on the part of the agent is necessary, which can only be acquired by long experience from actual observation in mining matters.

4.—Having selected an agent, be influenced by his advice until you discover it is no longer reliable. To neglect of this rule alone may be traced a large percentage of losses in mining transactions. Excessive acquisitiveness, when placed against the judgment of an agent, usually triumphs, and the result, in too many instances, is either gain deferred or serious loss. Apropos of this is the old saying, that "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush."

The reiteration of the foregoing, if productive of little good, cannot in any case do harm. Long experience has convinced him of their soundness, an opinion which he feels convinced the most respectable mine share agents will unhesitatingly endorse.

As regards local mining connection, he has much pleasure in announcing that this branch of his business has been greatly extended. His long residence as a sharebroker in Cornwall has enabled him to establish a network of correspondents, by whom he is kept well advised of any change of importance in the mines of Cornwall and Devon, as well as those in the northern districts. The information thus derived is now, as heretofore, at all times at the service of his clients.

To one new feature, however, he begs respectfully to direct public attention—viz., the selection "of a set of six mines, three dividend and three progressive, for speculation and investment in the year 1861." In this task he has been aided by some of the best practical miners in Cornwall. In the choice of these mines no expense nor labour has been spared, and so strong is his personal faith in the selection that, if called upon at the time of purchase so paying or receiving one-half of either profit or loss on the transaction, whilst an uniform charge of one guinea will be made to the public on application, either by letter or personally, for the desired information.

Mr. PIKE continues to buy and sell for the fortnightly and monthly accounts, on receiving a remittance of 25 per cent. on the current market prices, as a deposit to cover risk. In conclusion, Mr. PIKE begs to assure his friends that all communications respecting business will meet with the same attention as heretofore, and to state that his facilities for negotiating shares in British, Foreign, and Colonial Mines remain unimpaired.

MR. ## MINES, RAILWAYS, BANK, STEAMSHIP, and INSURANCE SHARES BOUGHT, SOLD, or EXCHANGED.

Capitalists who seek safe and profitable investments, free from risk, should act only upon the soundest information; the market prices of the day are for the most part governed by the immediate supply and demand, together with the operations of speculators without reference to the bona fide merits of the property.

Mines afford a wider range for profit than any other public securities, and pay dividends bi-monthly, varying from 15 to 30 per cent. per annum. Instances frequently occur of young Mines rising in value 400 to 500 per cent. The undersigned devotes special attention to the above, and affords every information to capitalists, and effects purchases or sales upon the best possible terms.

ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY, FOR FIRE, LIFE, AND ANNUITIES, No. 29, LOMBARD-STREET, LONDON, E.C.; AND ROYAL INSURANCE-BUILDINGS, LIVERPOOL.

CAPITAL—TWO MILLIONS.

FIRE BRANCH.

Insurances against Fire are received by the Royal Insurance Company upon property, not only throughout the United Kingdom, but very largely in the Continents of Europe, Asia, America, and Australia; and numerous Agents of the highest mercantile position, in all parts of the globe, place in the hands of the Directors an efficient machinery for the transaction, with peculiar advantages, of Foreign business, and for affording every benefit and facility to Insurers generally.

Notwithstanding the large accessions of business made annually through a long series of years, which obviously increase the difficulty of further advances, yet the fire premiums of the year 1859 rise above those of the preceding year by a larger sum than has been obtained by the increase of any single year since the formation of the Company, excepting the year 1853, disclosing an advance of 50 PER CENT. IN THREE YEARS.

The following figures exhibit the progress of the whole Fire Branch, running over the last ten years:—

	Total Premium received.	Increase of the year above each preceding one.
1850 .....	£ 44,027 10 0	£ 9,557 19 8
1852 .....	76,925 4 2	24,251 18 3
1854 .....	128,459 11 4	15,895 7 0
1856 .....	151,733 9 6	21,672 17 7
1858 .....	196,148 2 6	21,098 17 10
1859 .....	228,914 7 3	32,166 4 9

Placing the Company among the very largest offices in the Kingdom. Indeed, it is believed that there are now only three offices in existence which equal it in Fire revenue.

JAN. 11.—The monthly return of the Bank of France, to Jan. 10, shows a decrease of £3,285,000 in the bullion (now £13,987,000); an increase of £2,760,000 in the discounts; and an increase of £1,270,000 in the notes in circulation (now £1,156,000).

THE CAUSES OF THE PRESENT DISTURBANCE IN THE MONEY MARKET.

THE movements in the Money Market this week have been of a character to arrest public attention. The rise in the rate of discount of the Bank of England from 6 to 7 per cent., which took place on Monday last, and the advance in the rate of the Bank of France from  $5\frac{1}{2}$  to 7 per cent., which occurred on Tuesday, combined with the continued flow of gold to America, are events of no common character. They have at length induced a general recognition of the gravity of the present situation, even by those who have hitherto made light of the numerous adverse features which have been steadily developing themselves for months past. It may be useful to glance at the principal causes which have so powerfully affected the market, and thrown many loosely-based calculations out of joint.

In the first place, as we are all by this time aware, the harvest of 1860 was one of the worst on record, owing partly to the deficiency in quantity, and partly to the extremely defective quality of the grain, the latter resulting from the extraordinarily unfavourable condition of the weather whilst it was being gathered in. A very large importation of good foreign grain and flour has been thereby rendered indispensable, were it only for the purpose of mixing. We believe sincerely that a great deal of mischief has been caused by the injudicious course pursued by a portion of the public press. Almost at the very time when our produce was absolutely rotting upon the land through the continued damp—when correspondents were writing up to say that the hops were rotting upon the poles, and when country clergymen—a class very likely to be conversant with the real position of affairs—were showing how seriously they regarded it by agitating for the appointment of a day of national humiliation and prayer—influential organs of the press circulated the most highly-coloured and incorrect statements relative to the yield of the harvest, and even derided the warnings which had been given in many quarters. Correct information is the very life-blood of commerce, and every trader who feels himself overtaken by the present monetary disturbance has cause to complain of the conduct by which those salutary and well-founded warnings were for months almost silenced.

The second great cause of agitation in the Money Market is the financial condition of France. Unsoundness is, unhappily, the normal characteristic of affairs in that country. The French Government knew well that the harvest, like that in England, was a partial failure. It proved its knowledge by throwing open the ports in the face of considerable home opposition. Yet, although it was also aware that a drain of specie—the inevitable sequel to a bad harvest—was setting in, it refused to adopt remedial measures. More than this: it is believed to have actually opposed their adoption. Public opinion can hardly be wrong in charging upon official interference the mischievous delay which occurred in raising the rate of discount of the Bank of France, after the drain had acquired unmistakable proportions. There was not—nor has there been up to the present hour—any check to the lavish expenditure of which the Government has persistently set the example. Neither at home nor abroad is there any sign of reform in French expenditure. Whilst the country is being heavily pressed upon for the means of payment for food, the cost of court pomp and public works exceeds all that has ever been known in history, ancient or modern. The monarchs of France in the eighteenth century may have been marvels of extravagance—monsters of oppression, resulting, in a little while, in the awful retribution of torrents of blood—but they could not show the Imperial rent-roll of the third Napoleon. More than seventy millions sterling is now the amount of Government income from one source or another, and it all goes, together with the proceeds of the usual large annual loan. Contrasted with this state of things, the luxury of Imperial Rome is fairly outdone.

There is, we have said, no sign of reform in France. The system of expenditure cannot, indeed, be speedily altered when it has reached its present point. The Government boasts hundreds of thousands of claqueurs, and, when it needs support in some course of policy not in harmony with the real interests of the country, it cannot dispense with their sweet voices. Of course, they must all be paid. We can understand a heavy outlay on the army, on the navy, and on the court, but how happens it that the Ministry of the Interior costs nearly six-and-a-half millions sterling per annum? There is no other explanation than the one already suggested.

Even when large amounts of specie were being sent abroad for corn, for the raw materials of manufacture (the importation of which has been greatly accelerated during the last few months by the reduction in the French tariff), for the maintenance of the large expeditions in Rome, Syria, and China, and for the heavy commitments of the nation in foreign public undertakings, particularly in Austrian, German, Italian, and Spanish railways, the Government and the Bank of France have, to use a vulgar phrase, kept the pipe constantly running. Instead of discouraging every kind of foreign expenditure, they have winked at M. Mirès' experiment upon the credulity of the population. They did their best to deceive the public by preventing that natural rise in the value of money which would have been at once a remedy, safeguard, and warning. The Bank of France persevered, as long as they could, in buying gold here at a premium. True, it flowed out of their hands as fast as it reached them, but, meanwhile, the public mind was kept serene, and a semblance of solidity was maintained. At last, when the fears of the Bank of England were aroused, and the rate of discount here was raised to 6 per cent., the Bank of France, with characteristic ingenuity, adopted a step which, for some weeks, gave them a new lease of the public confidence. Their stock of gold being seriously deficient, although they were better supplied with silver, they arranged with the Bank of England for an exchange of £2,000,000 of the latter against a like amount of the former metal. It was perfectly evident, as we pointed out at the time, that this measure could be only a palliative. It was clear that all the elements of disturbance remained in full force, and that the mere exchange could not add really to the resources of either establishment. The transaction would not, of itself, afford the means of paying for a single quarter of corn or bale of cotton, or for the maintenance of a single soldier now carried, fed, and equipped abroad at great expense. If, therefore, financial experience was to count for anything at all, it warned us that the Bank of France would be assisted through its difficulty just as long as the supply in question lasted, and no longer. But this truth was too plain to be palatable. The arrangement between the two Banks was strangely represented here as an absolute rectification of the whole disturbance. It was not surprising that the Bank of France should view the supply as a kind of godsend, and go on calmly paying it away; but it was really surprising that the directors of our Bank should have lowered the rate of discount from 6 to 5 per cent., in the face of the increasing gloom reported from America. This step is now shown more clearly than ever to have been a mistake. It engendered a false confidence, the effect of which is seen in the present disappointment. Moreover, it encouraged the Bank of France to persevere in a hand-to-mouth and improvident course during an interval of breathing time which it was most important should be seized for the enforcement of radical remedies.

The third great cause of the crisis in our Money Market is the political and financial convulsion in the United States. The effect of this, in unhinging our market, has been greatly aggravated by the fact that it has overtaken us at a moment when we have no choice but to import food very largely from that country. We have frequently cited both the English and American statistics of trade between the two countries. They all point one way. They show a greatly increased importation of American produce into Great Britain, and a great diminution in the American demand for our commodities. They prove, in effect, that the ordinary course of trade between the two countries has been practically reversed. The establishment of an adverse balance has been facilitated by the fact that, whilst the American markets for breadstuffs, cotton, and other produce, as well as for public securities, were falling heavily, the English markets for all those articles were rising. America has been realising her assets. We have been the buyers, and although our capability of paying is unquestionable, it is very inconvenient to be called upon to pay so much at once, pressed as we are from so many quarters. There are people who, in the face of all the teaching of facts, maintain that England does not owe, and has not owed, any balance to America. Surely, it is sufficient to point to the shipments of gold from this side. These have already amounted to nearly £2,400,000 since the 28th of November, and are still continued. Hitherto the gold sent has not produced by any means so good an effect in America as had been anticipated. Owing to the distrust which prevails there, the supply has been absorbed in a great variety of channels. Some, no doubt, has been hoarded. Another portion has been swallowed up in the mere interchanges between one part of the Union and another; for, owing to the present lack of faith in the political and commercial stability of the country, the whole of the delicate machinery of paper interchanges, as between the North and the South, and the North and the West, and even between one State and another, and one town and another, has been destroyed. Consequently the community revert to the more primitive system of specie payments. The effect of this alteration in absorbing specie needs no demonstration. And this is one reason why the gold which has flowed into the United States from Europe and from California has hitherto, to a great extent, disappeared, instead of being stored up in the sight of the world in the great central repository—New York—and operating as an incentive to confidence. These points are worthy of notice, because America will continue to force gold from us— if necessary, by offering us her goods at low prices—until confidence has been so far re-established that a remedial action sets in. It is to our interest, therefore, as regards the prospect of relief from our own growing embarrassments, that the gold sent out should impart the largest possible degree of relief. The delay which occurs in re-coining the gold at the American Mint, owing to the pressure of business at that establishment also helps to account for the smallness of the effect as yet produced.

From the commercial point of view, the most hopeful indications at the moment are the increased firmness of the exchange at New York, and the rise which (as alluded to in our City Article) has taken place in the prices of public securities there. That rise is chiefly occasioned, it is true, by English purchases, but the effect produced warrants a belief that, unless new causes of distrust arise, there will be less inducement for our capitalists to buy securities in America, or for American capitalists to send them over for sale here. For some kinds of securities the New York market is actually above the London one. It is fair to infer, therefore, that we shall not send out much more gold for this particular purpose.

In considering the balance of trade, as between America and England, we must not leave out of the account the sums due to us periodically as interest on our American investments. Years ago the aggregate of these was estimated at £80,000,000 sterling. The interest on this sum, taken at 5 per cent., would be £4,000,000 per annum. It is, perhaps, scarcely an exaggeration to reckon that in this present month, when the bulk of the half-yearly dividends fall due, America has to pay us a million and a-half sterling. She owes us a financial tribute, which forms a not inconsiderable set-off against the large purchases that we have lately made from her.

THE BANK OF FRANCE AND THE BANK OF ENGLAND.

THE monthly return of the French Bank, a summary of which was received by telegraph yesterday, has been looked for with much interest, as being likely to cast fresh light upon the financial condition of France. The return extends to Thursday last (the 10th instant). The changes shown are, in every point, quite as unfavourable as had been anticipated. The principal are as follows, in sterling money:—

Coin and bullion	...	Decrease.....	£3,285,000
Bills discounted	...	Increase .....	2,760,000
Notes in circulation	...	Increase .....	1,270,000
Treasury deposits	...	Decrease.....	2,075,000
Private deposits	...	Increase .....	693,000
Advances on public securities...	...	Decrease.....	90,000

It may be useful to glance a few months back, and to trace the progress of the decline in the coin and bullion. The return dated the 13th September last showed a decrease of £720,000; the return of the 11th October a decrease of £2,840,000; the return of the 8th November a decrease of £1,000,000; the return of the 13th December a decrease of £80,000; whilst the one now published presents a decrease of £3,285,000. The falling off, therefore, within the last five months, amounts to no less than £7,925,000. It is a serious feature that the drain, which had greatly slackened during the latter half of November and the first half of December, has now become extraordinarily active. The total amount of coin and bullion on the 13th December was £17,272,000. It is now reduced to £13,987,000.

But the withdrawals of bullion are not the only adverse feature presented by the Bank of France returns. Notwithstanding the rapid rise in the rate of discount, the amount of bills discounted by the Bank has increased £2,760,000; and, as the Treasury deposits have, at the same time, been drawn down to the extent of more than £2,000,000 (owing partly to the payment of the dividends on the Three per Cent. Rentes), there is, by the return before us, an increase of £1,270,000 in the notes in circulation. Now, it needs no demonstration that this increase in the liabilities of the Bank at the moment when its specie reserve is being so heavily trenched upon, is unsound and even unsafe. The Bank appears to have discounted far too freely. Had it interposed more restrictions it would have kept its note circulation better under control. This consideration is the more important, because it is beyond question that the large discount facilities granted have contributed directly to the efflux of gold. Bills are sent in for discount by the very firms which are engaged in transmitting bullion to foreign countries. The Bank of France thus, to some extent, provides a weapon to be used against itself. We are quite aware that, if France owes a balance to foreign countries, she must discharge it, and, if need be, in hard cash; but there is no necessity for her absolutely to facilitate the drain upon her.

In permitting an increase of £1,270,000 in the note circulation simultaneously with a decrease of £3,285,000 in the coin and bullion, the Bank of France is "burning the candle at both ends." The total note circulation, which on the 13th Dec. was £29,886,000, has now reached the unprecedented amount of £31,150,000; whilst the coin and bullion, which on the 13th Dec. were £17,272,000, are now, as above stated, only £13,987,000. The disproportion is serious. Let us contrast the position of the Bank of France in this respect with that of the Bank of England. The Bank of England, by last night's return, holds £12,175,386 of coin and bullion as against £20,453,800 of notes in circulation. We are justified in concluding, therefore, that the excess in the note issues of the Bank of France constitutes a great aggravation of the existing difficulty. It is a symptom of bad, unsound banking; and there seems ground to believe that political exigencies—perhaps the very finger of the Government—are at the root of the error.

In face of this plain evidence as to the serious character of the drain upon the Bank of France, and bearing in mind that the deficiency in the stock of gold held by that establishment will, probably, soon force it to make fresh draughts upon our bullion reserves, it is evident that, anxiously as we may look for signs of relief to the money market, none are yet apparent. The position of the Bank of England is relatively strong; but it is the grand object of the directors to keep it so; and, with this view, they will not hesitate to raise the rate of discount still further, if they are again pressed upon heavily either by America or France. Much may depend upon the character of the advices next week from the former country, for America, be it remembered, is at present prompting a drain upon France, as well as upon ourselves.

THE THREATENED SECESSION IN THE UNITED STATES.

SOUTHERN secession, unless peacefully effected, raises a new and serious question which it will be well to consider in advance. It is the question, which has been so long a bugbear—what will be the influence of secession on the supply of cotton? Should Mr. Lincoln determine to coerce the South—and his Western antecedents lead irresistibly to the conclusion that he will attempt to do so—his first measure will be a blockade of the cotton ports of the South. The seceding States will have no claim to any portion of the American navy; and the North, having monopolised the carrying trade of the Southern seaboard, it is practically in possession of the whole American mercantile marine. The Southern States are therefore at the mercy of the Northern States on the coast, and an effective blockade would prevent the exportation of cotton until the question of secession has been determined.

Fortunately, should matters come to this, there are grounds for believing that cotton would still come forward in considerable quantities, and that the cultivation would be but little interfered with even were an appeal to arms to be made. Supposing the blockade of the Southern ports, the first question that suggests itself is whether it would be made good, according to the law of nations, by a sufficient force. Now, this is simply impossible. In the first place Mr. Lincoln would not have a sufficient force at his command, and his great naval arsenals would be in the possession of the seceding States. He would, therefore, be without the means of arming private vessels, and it would be easy for British ships to elude the blockading vessels and to take merchandise to the Southern States and bring returns in cotton. In the second place a blockade of the Southern ports would imply a cessation of cotton shipments in the usual way to the New England factories. Some expedient would therefore require to be devised, and the Maryland, Virginia, and Kentucky railways would to some extent be made available. Suppose they were not, it is within the knowledge of our readers, that cotton shipments have been made from the Mississippi river, across the State of Illinois, to the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada, which has safely and expeditiously carried the bales to Portland in the State of Maine. Here, then, is another channel by which the wants of the New England cotton spinners and our own might be supplied, and it is possible that a disputed secession of the Southern States might be productive of considerable advantage to the shareholders of the Grand Trunk Railway. Thus the threatening aspect of a blockade of the Southern ports by Mr. Lincoln loses a good deal of its terrors when closely looked at.

But we have said that even were an appeal to arms to take place, there are grounds for believing that the supply of cotton would not be seriously curtailed. It is not generally considered that some of the American States cover, singly, quite as great an area as the United Kingdom; while the population of all the States together is not greater than the population of the United Kingdom. To what conclusion does this lead? Speaking generally, the Southern States have far less than one-half of the population spread over seven times the area of the United Kingdom, and that large proportion of the population who are slaves are in little groups far more widely scattered than the shepherds in the most deserted districts of the Scottish Highlands. An appeal to arms would only disturb casual groups of them; and the knowledge of what was in progress would be kept carefully and successfully from them. The growth and supply of cotton cannot, therefore, in the nature of things, be greatly checked. Manchester, then, need not fall into a fit of terror.

But will the Americans fight at all, and by force of arms prevent the Cotton States from seceding, if secede they must? It is very doubtful if they will, no matter what the Western fighting proclivities of Mr. Lincoln may be. The Americans fought well during the historic struggle, but with the recollection of Bunker's Hill fresh in their memories, what was the feature that marked the progress of the war of 1812? Fighting was at a discount, and money-making in the ascendant. Nearly one half of the American people protested against their peaceful money-making avocations being disturbed, and communicated with the British Admiral on the station, that a separate peace might be concluded for themselves. That was in 1812, and it is an important fact to keep in view at the present time. Since then, where has the fighting of the Americans been? Have they become more averse to trade? To their credit be it said no nation has shed less blood, no nation has shown a greater indisposition to shed blood, and none is so ill provided for the exigencies of war. To those best acquainted with America it is inconceivable that a people who have devoted their lives to the single purpose of making money, and who, were secession to take place, would still be left with ample scope for their exertions, can change their habits and associations, and make the sacrifices which the coercion of the South would necessarily involve.

What is more likely than fighting is, that the money-making North will surprise the world before long with an act of degradation. It is possible that any reparation short of the absolute setting aside of the Constitution and the rejection of Mr. Lincoln may be made by the North to the South, in order that present differences may be healed. But in the highest interests of humanity, not less than in the interests of commerce, it is to be hoped that the South will persevere in their defiant attitude. So long as the Union lasts slavery will continue, and an enormous territory, possessed of great resources, will remain undeveloped. It is not the alleged grievances involved in the personal liberty bills passed by the Northern States that the South really cares for. What it wants is the end of the miserable system of protection to American manufactures, which is likely to be strengthened by the accession of Mr. Lincoln. The South also wants to be brought into direct communication with Liverpool and the other ports of Europe, and if foiled in its efforts the interests of trade will suffer.

There is but one inference from these reflections, and that is, that we should begin to look with greater cheerfulness upon the secession movement. It is gratifying to observe that, whatever may be the issue in the United States, our export trade to that country is in a healthy state, and that, for once, all our shipments are well secured.

THE DEFECTIVE RETURNS OF THE BANK OF ENGLAND.

In our last impression we suggested the importance of having a return of the amount of the daily business carried on at the Bankers' Clearing House. We would now draw attention to the defective character of the weekly returns issued by the Bank of England, which contain far too little information as to its real condition. This important corporation is by law invested with great and important powers, and on this account, if for no other, the public are entitled to the fullest information as to its condition. We have only to place in juxtaposition the return of the Bank of England and that of the Bank of France, to perceive the deficiency of the information conveyed in the one, and its full and explicit character as given in the other. This difference is the more surprising when we take into consideration that the Bank of France is to no small extent supervised by a despotic government, which appoints the governor and deputy-governor, and doubtless has a veto on the appointment of directors. Yet, with all these drawbacks to liberty of action, the Bank of France issues a monthly report, comprising all that can be desired in the way of information. On the other hand, the Bank of England is a corporation wholly distinct from, and independent of, the State, with its governor, deputy-governor, and directors chosen annually by the stockholders. Its shortcomings are, therefore, the more to be wondered at. When the desirableness of its publishing a weekly statement of its affairs was first suggested, many objections were raised, the principal being, that such a return might affect the price of the stock. This sensitiveness on the part of the directors was at that time perhaps excusable, seeing that at all the periodical meetings of the stockholders the governor invariably declined, we may say refused, to give any information touching the state of the Bank's affairs. To such an extent was this silent system carried that it was the custom, and we believe is so still, for the solicitor to the Bank to attend every meeting of the court of proprietors in order to give his opinion, when required, as to the propriety of answering any question that may be put to the governor respecting the transactions carried on in any department. Such being the practice adopted by the directors towards their co-partners, it was no wonder that objections were raised to furnishing the public with any explicit information.

But many changes have taken place since the first statement of the affairs of the Bank was issued—changes in every branch of industry, in agriculture, manufactures, commerce, and navigation. These changes have indeed been so rapid and extensive as to make it no reflection upon the Bank of England if we say that what might have been adequate to former transactions is no longer sufficient. From the fact of the Bank of England being banker to the State, and the sole bank of issue for the metropolis, the amount of profit it makes from these sources should unquestionably be officially published.

We are informed by no mean authority, a late Governor of the Bank, that the amount paid by the Government to the Bank for the management of the national debt is at the rate of £340 per million for the first six hundred millions, and £300 per million for the remainder. By its monopoly as the sole metropolitan bank of issue, the Bank derives a gross income of £458,000. In the banking department a charge is made to such of the customers as do not keep any remunerative balance, the charge varying according to the amount of the work required to be done. Where, however, a customer keeps an average balance of £500, no charge is made. Of this balance the Bank keeps in reserve £100, and if it could lend out the £400, at—say 6 per cent. interest—it would realise an annual profit of £24. Supposing that there were 5,000 such accounts, which we believe is under the real number, the amount of profit would be £120,000 per annum. This profit is irrespective of that derived from the ordinary deposit accounts, which number about 4,000. The total amount of this item is not at present made separately known. The Bank issues annually on an average Bank post-bills at seven days' sight amounting to £8,000,000, which are forwarded to all parts of the world, and as it receives value for each bill at the time it is issued the profit from this source must be large.

If these figures are correct—which we have no reason to doubt, for we have taken them from an official source—surely a corporation endowed with such important functions and deriving such large profits for doing the public business ought to render some better account of its affairs than that now furnished, especially when it is borne in mind that the whole of the revenue of the United Kingdom arising from the receipts of Customs, Excise, Post-office, taxes, stamps, &c., &c., no matter whether received in London, Cornwall, the Hebrides, or Galway, finds its way almost immediately to the Bank. The Bank thus receives on an average £1,000,000 per week throughout the year.

We think we have said enough to justify us, on public grounds, in urging the present directors of the Bank of England to take a more enlarged view of the question than that taken by their predecessors. An institution which obtains the important and exclusive privilege not only of issuing promissory notes payable to bearer on demand, but of securing its partners against any liability beyond the amount of its joint-stock capital or general fund, owes a good deal by way of return. And it is a well-established fact, that where the affairs of a public institution are conducted wisely and prudently it need fear no danger from publicity. Should the course suggested be adopted, which it might be without applying to Parliament, we feel persuaded that most if not all the Joint-Stock Banks would follow the example and render similarly explicit returns, in lieu of those at present issued, which have long been considered by the mercantile public as unsatisfactory, and in some instances absolutely unintelligible.

GRAIN FROM CALIFORNIA.

SEVERAL cargoes of grain are now on their way from California to this country, which have been shipped at prices that, according to our present rates, will leave a large profit. This fact shows that high prices here have the effect of levying contributions on the corn stores of every land, however distant. There is no doubt as to our being fed, because there is no doubt as to our ability to pay. Were prices here to rise much higher, grain could be imported from Scinde, where, in former years, it has lain and rotted in the interior in immense quantities, from the want of the means of transport. The establishment of railway communication will gradually do much to correct this waste, to turn the natural advantages of every country to the best account, and to equalise prices throughout the world. Railways are, indeed, identified with civilisation and progress.

THE NATIONAL DEBT.

THE following figures, which we extract from a contemporary, show the rise and progress of the National Debt. They may be accepted as substantially accurate. From 1691 to 1856 there were sixty-seven years of war and ninety-eight of peace, and the cost of these wars is shown by the following table:—

	Cost.
1691 War with France, six years, to the peace of Ryswick, in 1697 ...	£11,392,925
1702 War of the Spanish Succession, eleven years to the peace of Utrecht, in 1713 ...	22,147,367
1718 War with Spain, three years, to 1721 ...	14,025,424
1739 War of Right of Search with Spain, three years, to 1742 ...	5,233,440
1742 War of the Austrian Succession, six years, to the peace of Aix-la-Chapelle, in 1748 ...	23,964,809
1756 War, the Seven Years' War, to the peace in 1763 ...	58,141,024
1775 War with America, eight years, to the peace in 1783 ...	105,001,820
1793 War with France, nine years, to the peace of Amiens, in 1802 ...	283,778,574
1803 War with France, second Revolutionary War, twelve years, to the peace in 1815 ...	313,306,253
1854 War with Russia, two years, to the peace in 1856 ...	32,893,203
1859 Ditto, further cost of ditto ...	29,863,035

Cost of wars from 1691 to 1856—165 years ... £905,747,874

The amount expended on these wars was £905,747,874, which, with interest, £298,121,183, makes a total of £1,113,869,057 for the last 165 years.

The subjoined table shows the amount of the National Debt at the most remarkable epochs, with the annual interest paid thereon:—

WAR AND PEACE.				National Debt.	Interest.
1691	War with France	...	...	£3,130,000	£232,000
1697	Peace of Ryswick	...	...	14,522,925	1,322,519
1702	War of the Spanish Succession	...	...	12,522,480	1,215,324
1713	Peace of Utrecht	...	...	34,699,847	3,004,287
1718	War with Spain	...	...	40,379,684	2,965,839
1721	Peace	...	...	54,405,108	2,855,380

1742	War of the Austrian Succession	...	...	51,847,323	2,157,136

1756	War—The Seven Years' War	...	...	74,575,025	2,753,566
1763	Peace	...	...	132,716,049	5,032,733
1775	War with America	...	...	126,842,811	4,763,519
1783	Peace	...	...	231,843,631	9,065,585
1793	War with France, first Revolutionary War	...	...	247,874,434	9,711,238
1802	Peace of Amiens	...	...	537,653,008	20,268,551
1803	War with France, second Revolutionary War	...	...	547,732,796	20,812,962
1815	Peace	...	...	861,039,049	32,645,618
1854	War with Russia	...	...	775,215,519	27,363,889
1856	Peace	...	...	808,108,722	28,550,039
1859	Peace	...	...	805,078,554	28,204,299

It will be seen from this statement that, since the peace of 1815, both the amount and the annual charge of the National Debt have diminished.

A comparison of our own experience with that of France during the last forty-five years, and particularly during the last ten years, suggests the most gloomy forebodings as to the gulf towards which she is hurrying. In 1851 the amount of the French National Debt was about £213,000,000 sterling. It is believed to be now about £356,000,000.

AGITATION FOR REDUCTION OF THE NATIONAL EXPENDITURE.

THE following communication to the Premier is being circulated for signature amongst Liberal members of the House of Commons. It marks the commencement of an agitation for a reduction in the present enormous amount of the National Expenditure. This is a topic which will, ere long, force itself upon the attention of Parliament. The present scale of expenditure is far too heavy to be borne permanently. The pioneers in any movement of the kind usually have to bear all the brunt of the struggle, and get little thanks; but we do not doubt that the intimate connection which this question has upon the welfare of every member of the community, especially in the present trying times, will soon gain for it the requisite amount of attention:—

TO THE RIGHT HON. VISCOUNT PALMERSTON, FIRST LORD OF THE TREASURY.

My Lord,—We feel it our duty, as members of the Liberal party in the House of Commons, who have generally supported your Government, respectfully to express to you the anxious concern with which we view the present state of the public expenditure, and to request for the subject the very serious consideration of the Government in preparing the estimates for the next session.

We cannot but hope that the enormous expenditure of the current financial year was forced upon the Government against their will by an unhappy combination of circumstances. Its amount, however, was so far beyond what has ever been known when the country was not engaged in a European war, that a great responsibility will rest on the Government and the House of Commons if it should not be materially reduced at the earliest opportunity.

The foreign relations of the country at the close of the year are such as to encourage a reasonable confidence in the maintenance of peace. The war with China is at an end. The Italian revolutions appear to be issuing in the establishment of the constitutional rule of Victor Emmanuel over the Peninsula, whilst the neutrality which has been observed by England is acknowledged both at home and abroad to have been the policy of wisdom. Above all, our relations with France have become decidedly amicable, having obtained the guarantee of a Commercial Treaty favourable to the interests of both countries, and being made still more friendly by the abolition, on the part of the Emperor, of the passport system in France, especially on behalf of the subjects of her Majesty.

Under these circumstances the country will naturally expect a considerable reduction of our warlike establishments from the extraordinary scale of the present year.

We would also invite attention to the civil and miscellaneous expenditure of the country, which has for many years been in course of rapid and extraordinary increase, until it has reached an amount which loudly demands revision and retrenchment.

We are convinced that retrenchment will prove the truest policy of the Government as the only method of meeting the financial exigencies of the State, satisfying the expectations of Parliament, conciliating the good opinion of the commercial and monied interests, allaying the dissatisfaction of the taxpayers, and preventing the loud outcry which would inevitably arise in case of another unfavourable harvest or any check to the public prosperity.

We are compelled to say that we should view an expenditure for the coming year approaching that of the current year with great regret and disapprobation; and we believe that that would be the feelings of our constituents and of the country at large.

We have therefore thought it right to offer these suggestions in a friendly spirit to your Lordship, and we trust they may not be thought unworthy to receive the serious consideration of the Government.—We are, my lord, your lordship's most obedient servants.

Amongst the signatures already obtained are those of Sir James Duke, Mr. R. W. Crawford, Mr. Baines, Mr. Bristow, Mr. Buxton, Mr. Crossley, Mr. Ewing, Mr. S. Gurney, Mr. R. Hanbury, Mr. Mellor, Mr. Pilkington, Sir J. Shelley, Colonel Sykes, and Mr. J. A. Turner.

BRAZILIAN RAILWAYS.—THE OPTION OF CONVERSION.

THE Brazilian Diario newspaper gives an account of the opening of the second section of the Pernambuco Railway with the full consent of the Government. We understand that the company's despatches are entirely confirmatory of this fact, and that they report very favourably of the prospects of traffic. These despatches come down to the 15th ult.

The Brazilian advices also remove the doubt which had been somewhat strangely raised by the Brazilian minister here as to whether the Government would mete out one measure to the shareholders in the Pernambuco Railway Company and another to the shareholders in the other railway companies. The accounts state that the Government have consented to receive the shares of the Pernambuco Company fully paid up for an equivalent amount of Six per Cent. Home Stock, and that a considerable number of shares have been actually thus transferred. It likewise appears that the price of the local Six per Cent. Stock continued to be maintained at par. The announcement is satisfactory for several reasons. It affords one more proof of the good faith of the Government. It will also teach the shareholders not to despond if they have further occasion to notice the antagonistic attitude which seems to be habitually assumed by the Brazilian minister in London towards the Pernambuco Railway Board, of which he is himself a member, and for whose actions he is therefore himself responsible. The announcement, finally, is satisfactory, as really obviating the causes of the prolonged depreciation of the Pernambuco and other Brazilian railway shares in the market. It is absurd that an article should be at a heavy discount here when par can be obtained for it in Brazil. A considerable further amount of Pernambuco Railway shares were sent out by last Monday's packet, with a view to conversion.

As the shareholders in the Brazilian railways generally do not seem to understand the option which is now presented to them, nor the mode in which to avail themselves of it, it may be useful to reproduce here the following explanatory letter, which was received last month by the Bahia Railway Company from the Brazilian Minister in London:—

Dear Sir,—In reference to the announcement which I made to you personally on the 7th inst., I transmit to you a copy of the provision of the law, No. 1,083, of 22nd August, 1860, relative to the conversion, at the option of the proprietors, of the shares of your company into Four-and-a-Half per Cent. Foreign Bonds of the Empire, or into Six per Cent. Domestic Debt at par.

Having made arrangements with Messrs. N. M. Rothschild and Sons, the financial agents of the Imperial Government, to carry out this conversion into Four-and-a-Half per Cent. Bonds, I have to request that you will notify to the shareholders of your company, that Messrs. Rothschild will receive from those who may desire to avail themselves of this law, applications for the conversion of their shares into Four-and-a-Half per Cent. Bonds at par, with coupons attached for the payment of the interest thereon half-yearly, on the 1st of June and 1st of December, in London.

These applications must be accompanied by deeds of transfer of their shares to the Brazilian Government, and by the payment to Messrs. Rothschild of the balance remaining at the date of the application unpaid on the shares, which balance at this date is £10 per share.

The accumulated interest on the shares converted, and on the stock for which they are to be exchanged, up to the date of the application, will have to be accounted for by both parties to the operation. Messrs. Rothschild will, with all practicable expedition, after receipt of deeds of transfer and the balance, deliver to the applicants such bonds.

In cases where the proprietors desire to convert their shares into the Six per Cent. Domestic Debt, you will be pleased to transfer, on their application, the shares to the Brazilian Register. On the receipt from you of the transference of the shares to the Brazilian Government, and of the certificates of the shares, I will forward those documents to the Imperial Treasury, where the proprietors, through their agents, will have to pay the balance of capital remaining uncalled, and will receive the equivalent of £20 a share, in Six per Cent. Stock of the Internal Debt of the Empire.—I have the honour to be, dear sir, yours truly,

(Signed)

C. MOREIRA.

John Samuel, Esq., Chairman of the Bahia and San Francisco Railway Company.

It is stated (says the Times of Thursday) that a further quantity of ten thousand shares of the Pernambuco Railway have been transmitted to Brazil for conversion into six per cent. home bonds, which, at the date of the last advices, were still maintained at about par.

FINANCIAL AFFAIRS IN AMERICA.

THE latest financial intelligence from New York is subjoined. The details afforded attest the disorganised state of the market:—

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, DEC. 28, 6 P.M.

The award of the United States Treasury notes at Washington to-day proves how fatal the secession doctrine has been to our national credit. Five millions of dollars' worth of Treasury notes were offered for sale; only 2,500,000 dols. were bid for at any price, and these were only bid for on the condition that the notes should bear an average rate of interest of 12 per cent. per annum. We understand that up to four P.M. last evening, the hour at which the last deposit on account of the loan could be made, only about 420,000 dols. were bid for, at various rates of interest.

This was less than will be required to pay the interest on the Government debt due the 1st proximo. Alarmed at the prospect of a default in the payment of interest on the national debt, Mr. Cisco communicated with some leading bankers and bank managers, and laid the facts before them. Mr. Vail, cashier of the Bank of Commerce, took up the matter warmly, and, finding himself seconded by other patriotic citizens, succeeded in making up a purse of a million and a-half, which was tendered to the Government this morning by telegraph, at 12 per cent. per annum. This sum will suffice to pay the January interest on the public debt. As soon as it was known that the Bank of Commerce had tendered, several other parties in Wall-street sent on bids at various rates of interest, from 12 to 36 per cent., thus swelling the aggregate of the bids to nearly 2,500,000 dols.

The amount of money offering to-day on call is far in excess of the wants of the street. First-class paper goes more easily; but the rate is still 1 per cent. a month. There has been a light business done in foreign exchange to-day; rates are rather firmer—say 103½ to ¼ for the best mercantile bills, and 104 to 105 for bankers.

The stock market continues inactive and stubborn. There is no stock pressing for sale, and there are no orders in the market. Erie continues to be taken for foreign account; also Illinois Central. As a general rule, the Stock Exchange is lifeless.

The last advices cited by the Times are a little more cheerful than the above, though bearing precisely the same date. They are as follows:—

At New York there was an easier feeling in money matters. Some choice lists of prime paper were done on the 28th at 10 to 12 per cent., and the range might be quoted from the former figure up to 16 and 18 per cent. per annum. On call the supply was in excess of the wants of borrowers, at from 5½ to 7 per cent. The specie movement was exciting much attention. Coin was pouring into New York from all sides. The receipts since the 15th inst. exceed 7,000,000 dols. Considerable parcels of specie were being sent to New Orleans and other cities south, but this drain, inconsiderable as it was, would probably soon cease. There was little doing in foreign exchange, and the market was quite firm at former quotations:—On London, 60 days' bankers' bills, 103½ to 104½; ditto, commercial bills, 102 to 103; ditto, with bills of lading, 101 to 102; ditto, southern and Canada Bank bills, 102 to 103.

The stock market had been without animation, and the dealings for the most part had been of a retail character. On the 27th, contrary to general expectation, the news of the evacuation of Fort Moultrie had a rather beneficial effect, the impression being that the step was a wise one on the part of the Government.

Alluding to the produce markets the New York Shipping and Commercial List says:—

With the exception of the produce markets, which are quite active and buoyant under the encouraging aspect of the foreign advices, the week and the year close upon as dull a condition of general trade as can well be imagined. It would be some compensation if the prospects of the spring trade were less dismal than they are; but as it is, so it is.

THE GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY OF CANADA.

The following correspondence relates to the long-delayed report of the committee of inquiry of the Great Western Railway Company of Canada. From the concluding letter, which is dated the [20th Dec., it will be seen that the term fixed for the issue of the report has now expired:—

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "MONEY MARKET REVIEW."

Sir,—As the period at which the report of the committee of inquiry of the Great Western Railway of Canada may be expected has become a question of general importance, I beg to forward you for publication copy of correspondence between the secretary to the company and myself in reply to a numerously and influentially signed requisition to the directors, copy of which I annex. Upon receipt of the communication from the company it was determined to await the expiry of the time fixed.—I am, sir, your obedient servant,

WM. LANCE.

26, Throgmorton-street, London, E. C., Jan. 8.

(Copy.)

We, the undersigned, shareholders of the Great Western Railway of Canada, are of opinion that the value of our property is greatly depreciated by the delay of the report of the committee of investigation appointed April 4, 1860; and we request that the directors of the Great Western Railway of Canada will call a special general meeting of shareholders, and invite the members of the committee of investigation to meet the shareholders on that occasion, then to report, verbally or in writing, upon the information they have already obtained, and submit to the shareholders the propriety of continuing their investigation.

London, Dec. 19.

Great Western Railway of Canada, Gresham-house,
Old Broad-street, London, Dec. 31.

Dear Sir,—Christmas-time has rather interfered with our regular weekly board-meetings, but having seen the chairman, I laid before him your letter of the 26th inst., together with the request, addressed by a considerable number of shareholders to the directors, on the subject of the report of the committee of investigation. The chairman desires me to send you copy of a requisition received from several members of the London Stock Exchange, on the same subject, together with copy of my letter to the chairman of the committee, Dec. 19, and the reply of Messrs. Coleman, Turquand, Youngs, and Co., of Dec. 20, which you will perhaps be so good as to communicate to those gentlemen who have signed the present requisition.—I am, dear sir, yours truly,

William Lance, Esq., 26, Throgmorton-street.

MEMORIAL FROM MEMBERS OF THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

We, the undersigned, shareholders of the Great Western Railway of Canada, considering that the delay of the committee of investigation in publishing their reports is injurious to the interests of the shareholders, request that the directors will hold a special public meeting to enable a resolution to be passed to the effect—"That unless the report be published within a certain specified time, the powers granted to the committee at the last general meeting be withdrawn."

Great Western Railway of Canada, Gresham-house,
Old Broad-street, London, Dec. 19.

Dear Sir,—I am directed by the board to send you a copy of a requisition received this day from members of the Stock Exchange, and I am further desired to ask you if you can yet fix any time within which the report of the committee of investigation will be ready for issue.—I am, dear sir, your obedient servant,

Dear Sir,—We are requested on behalf of the committee of investigation to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 19th instant, addressed to their chairman, and enclosing copy of a requisition to the directors, which you state was received yesterday from members of the Stock Exchange, and to inform you, in reply, that the committee believe they will be in a position to issue the report within three weeks of this date.—We are, dear sir, yours truly,

THE STATE OF TRADE.

(COMPILED FROM NUMEROUS LOCAL REPORTS.)

THE accounts from the manufacturing districts continue to report some dulness, which would be more marked but for the magnitude of the orders in hand in the cotton and some other branches. The iron interest is much depressed.

From Manchester we learn that the business for India and China is on a very limited scale, and where there has been any change in prices it has been rather in favour of buyers. The same remarks apply to goods suitable to the Levant trade. Printing cloths are very much depressed, and lower in price. Telegrams from Calcutta up to the 11th and 12th of December, speak of an improved state of affairs there, and an advance on the current sorts of goods—say 2d. to 3d. per piece on shirtings—but the accounts do not show results which cover purchases here, and consequently they have not led to much business in this market. In the yarn market there is scarcely anything doing. It is flat in all departments, but prices are not quotably lower, owing to the strength imparted to the market by the contracts still unfinished. It is only where spinners are without orders, or are coming out of contract, that there is any change, and in such cases buyers can obtain some advantage. The advance of the rate of discount to 7 per cent. in France, after that by the Bank of England, has not created much surprise, and there is no alarm or excitement; but the commercial community are evidently making up their minds to observe more caution. The news from the United States has naturally produced a more profound sensation at Manchester than anything else. Messrs. John Slagg and Co. report:—"The demand for nearly all kinds of goods has been suddenly checked by the advance in the Bank rate of discount. Buyers stand aloof to watch the effect; and, as producers are on the whole pretty well engaged, they are indifferent about selling, and there is, consequently, little or nothing doing to-day. We make no change in our quotations, as there is nothing doing to test them."

At Leeds there has been a limited attendance of merchants and manufacturers at the cloth-halls, and the tone of the market was of an inanimate character. Very little inquiry existed, and only a small quantity of cloth, consisting principally of materials suitable for the spring season, was cleared out. The increased stringency of the money market induces great caution, and there is no disposition to speculate. The operatives employed in the manufacture of woollen cloth, and in most other branches of industry carried on in this town and district, have no scarcity of work, but such, unfortunately, is not the case in every department of trade, and the present severe weather is beginning to cause a good deal of at least temporary privation and suffering.

At Rochdale the flannel trade is still in a brisk condition, and prices both of wool and products continue firm.

At Leicester there has been very little doing in the hosiery trade, few orders are being received, and, indeed, not much is expected to be done for some weeks. In Loughborough and the country districts trade is flat, and many of the operatives both in Leicester and the neighbourhood are unemployed. Yarns hold up in price, but are not much in demand. The wool market is firm.

At Nottingham there is very little alteration in the state of the lace trade; the improvement, if any, is of a very gradual character. A slight movement is perceptible in the fancy trade, and there is expected to be a better demand for all sorts of goods shortly. There is a good deal of distress amongst the operatives, as nothing is made except to order, or what is really saleable. In hosiery there is no improvement perceptible; numbers of hands are being discharged, and a good deal of machinery is at a stand.

The accounts from Wolverhampton state that the usual quarterly series of the assemblies of the ironmasters of this district for the current quarter commenced in Wolverhampton on Wednesday afternoon. The attendance was the smallest ever witnessed, and the business transacted was nominal. Sales of pig-iron might in all probability have been effected if very low prices had been accepted; but the pig-masters evinced no disposition to press sales on those terms, though it was admitted that stocks are increasing rapidly, and that unless furnaces are blown out, and the make reduced, there is no chance of prices maintaining even their present low range. The transactions in finished iron were also moderate. The exporting firms are doing very little in Staffordshire iron at this moment, and home consumers buy nothing beyond their immediate requirements. The trade has been dull enough for a long time; the advance in the rate of discount has very much increased the depression, and the tone of the meeting was unquestionably a desponding one; in fact the January quarter-day in 1858 was not more unsatisfactory than the present one. The coal trade alone is prosperous; and up to this time the old canal has been kept open, which is very much attributable to the quantity of hot water flowing into it from the various works along its banks.

Accounts from Birmingham, dated Thursday, state that the second meeting of the ironmongers of the district for this quarter was held there on that afternoon. The attendance was less than the average; and it is many years since there was a quarter-day in which there was so small an amount of business done. The few makers of the very best brands of finished iron continue to command the trade price; makers of inferior qualities find it difficult to sell at any price, and such transactions as did take place must have been at very low rates, so great was the indisposition on the part of consumers to enter into engagements of any kind. The general tone of the assembly was that of despondency. At many of the works operations will soon be stopped, consequent on the difficulty of obtaining material, the canals, with one exception, being frozen up. The pig-masters are suffering most from the present depression; but the iron trade in this district in every branch of it is almost as bad as it can be.

The number of furnaces in the South Staffordshire district is 193; in Shropshire, 32; Forest of Dean, 8; North Staffordshire, 31; Northumberland and Durham, 98; Lancashire and Cumberland, 23; Yorkshire, 20; Northamptonshire, 4; Wiltshire, 5; Derbyshire, 24; South Wales, 203; North Wales, 15; making a total of 656, or, including 175 in Scotland, 831. Of these, 563 furnaces are now in blast, and the annual production is estimated at 4,560,300 tons. Stocks having largely accumulated, the trade is depressed.

THE INDIAN FINANCES.

In a paper issued by the Financial Department of the Indian Government, dated Fort William, November 19, 1860, it is stated the Governor-General in Council has lately had before him the sketch estimates for the current year 1860-61. These documents have generally been found in former years to represent a close approximation to the actual financial results of the years to which they relate. They have been prepared this season with unusual care, and they foreshadow a result somewhat less unfavourable than had been anticipated from returns and calculations which have been for some time before the public; but they show more clearly than ever the imperative necessity which exists for the most active and sustained exertion to enforce economy in all branches of the administration, in order to bring the current expenditure of the State within its income. The total income of the Government of India for the year 1860-61, from all sources, exclusive of Income-tax, is estimated in round numbers at £38,140,000; Income-tax, at £1,000,000, giving a total income from every source of £39,140,000. The expenditure in India is estimated at £38,430,000; that in England, according to the latest information received here, at £6,983,000, giving a total expenditure by the Indian Government in India and in England of £45,413,000, thus leaving a deficit of income, as compared with expenditure, of not less than £6,273,000, which must be met for the time by drawing on the balances in the Government treasuries. This deficit is equal to more than 16 per cent. on the total expected income from all sources, including taxes only lately introduced, and the produce of which is, therefore, a matter of extreme uncertainty. As compared with the income from permanent sources (i.e., exclusive of Income-tax, which is imposed for only a definite period), the deficit would be nearly 16½ per cent.

OUR TRADE WITH FRANCE AND CHINA.

Glancing at the course of trade in connection with France and China, Messrs. Du Fay and Co., of Manchester, observe:—

"We said in the opening part of our report that the French Treaty and Peace with China are the most important events of 1860. At present, extravagant notions seem, however, to be entertained by our manufacturers on both subjects. The commercial intercourse with France will be gradually developed, and at the beginning unimportant as regards this particular district. The French are a frugal and industrious people who will run a close competition with producers on this side; their manufacturers have hitherto supplied their own population of 36 millions with textile fabrics, while they have, at the same time, exported to distant quarters and to their own colonies.

"The peace concluded with China has led to some demand, although it had been anticipated and purchases effected in anticipation—there are two points which will check sanguine expectation as to a very large trade with China. The poverty of the people, and the little faith which can be placed in the Government, when British forces are withdrawn offer no security to the commerce with the interior, which will have to be carried on at the risk of merchants even if they act in perfect unison with the Treaty.

"We have been painfully impressed with the descriptions of decay and poverty met with at Peking; we forego, however, to express any opinion until we are better informed on that subject—all reliable accounts of the condition of the mass of the people will be read with great interest."

TRANSFER OF RAILWAY PROPERTY.—The sale of the Limerick and Castle Connell Railway to the Great Southern and Western Company of Ireland was on Saturday last agreed to by the directors of the former line.

The Corn Trade.

GENERAL REMARKS.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 11.

The weather in the United Kingdom continued wintery throughout the last se'nnight. The frost has been intense to a degree rarely witnessed in this latitude.

Agricultural field-work remains suspended, the ground being partially covered with snow, and generally frozen as hard as granite, and, therefore, unfit for ploughing or sowing. Wheat sowing is in a very backward state. In some parts of the country only half the ground intended for seed has been as yet worked—in other parts one-third remains unsown. The prospects of the next harvest are not favourable. What effect the frost will have on the autumn-sown wheat plants remains to be ascertained.

The supply of home-grown wheat brought forward this week has been only at about the same low rate as throughout the season, thereby proving two facts, viz.—the almost complete exhaustion of old wheat-stocks, and the deficiency in the new crop. The supply of barley shows this week a considerable falling off compared with preceding weeks, while the quantity of oats continues about the same as previously, but is still considerably below the figure returned in previous seasons. The latest official returns of the quantity of grain sold in England and Wales are as follows:—Wheat, 68,130 qrs. at 56s. 3d.; barley, 82,384 qrs. at 40s. 3d.; oats, 13,397 qrs. at 22s. 6d. per qr.

The imports of foreign grain into the United Kingdom have slightly increased upon those of the preceding week, which were the smallest for some months past. The largest imports of wheat and flour continue from the United States of America. The next largest shipments of wheat have been imported from the Baltic ports and the South of Europe. The imports of barley and oats are moderate, and those of maize continue very small.

The British corn-trade has exhibited this week little animation. The severe frost (although it favours threshing, and improves the condition of the new crop) in conjunction with the interrupted inland communication, together with the difficulty of working grain ex-ship, and the high discount-rate—impose additional caution on buyers, who now generally confine their purchases to immediate wants. As for speculation, there has not been any, worth speaking, for many months past. The losses experienced in former years have prevented this. The course of prices this week has been various. In some markets the quotations of wheat and flour have been firmly maintained, and even 1s. per quarter dearer, while, in others, it has been necessary to accede to a reduction of 1s. per quarter in order to effect sales. Holders generally appear disposed to maintain present grain-prices, in view of the falling off in the foreign grain imports, and the deficiency in the English new crop. These facts are all the more important to note, in face of the enormous bread consumption now going on—increased by the extraordinary severity of the weather. The same remarks apply to flour. Barley, oats, and other feeding stuffs are in active demand at full prices. Maize—the present price being rather too high for feeding purposes, the demand has been rather slack for some time past. Beans and peas have been in increased demand, owing to the severe weather, and have been firmly supported in price.

IN MARK-LANE TO-DAY the attendance of the trade was very small. The tone, however, was firm, but quiet. Business continues impeded by the difficulty of working upon the river.

WHEAT—English, in small supply; and held firmly upon last Monday's prices.

Foreign—firm, at last Monday's rates.

FLOUR—quiet, at last Monday's currency; Norfolk, 42s. to 43s. per 280lbs.

BARLEY—firmly maintained, upon last Monday's rates.

OATS—unaltered, at last Monday's advance.

BEANS and PEAS in improved demand; firm.

LIVERPOOL COTTON MARKET.

LIVERPOOL, FRIDAY MORNING, JANUARY 11.

This market opened with a better feeling on Monday, but it was at once checked by the receipt of a telegram from London announcing an advance in the minimum rate of discount from 6 to 7 per cent.; the sales were consequently not more than 8,000 bales. On Tuesday and Wednesday the market was again very quiet, and the sales were respectively 4,000 and 9,000 bales. The result of these operations was a fractional reduction in American descriptions. On the whole, however, the market exhibited much general steadiness. Yesterday renewed activity was observable, the sales realising 25,000 bales, and any reduction in prices previously established was recovered, so that the rates may now be considered the same as those fixed on Friday last.

[BY ELECTRIC TELEGRAPH.]

LIVERPOOL, FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 11.

An active demand has prevailed to-day, and the sales have comprised 20,000 bales, including 10,000 on speculation and for exportation; very full rates have been obtained. The quotations of fair cotton show no change from Friday last. The imports to-day are 11,374 bales. The sales of the week have reached 59,420 bales, of which 8,540 were taken on speculation, and 3,770 for exportation, and the imports 61,090 bales. The stock now stands at 540,300 bales.

THE lawsuit at the instance of the liquidators of the Western Bank of Scotland, against former directors, has again been brought before the Court of Session, and made the subject of a debate of forty hours altogether, before Lord Ordinary Kinloch, on certain preliminary questions of relevancy. The defenders have, in the readjusted record, been reduced from 19 to 14.

THE FRENCH DUTY ON OIL SEEDS.—The following is an extract from a Marseilles letter:—"The decree which diminishes the duty on oil seeds imported by foreign vessels and suppresses it almost entirely for French bottoms, has been most favourably received here. For the last two years our seed oil manufacturers have been scarcely able to hold their ground against the English competitors who frequent our market. Several, indeed, had been compelled to close their establishments. The oil-cake trade, which has assumed considerable importance in Languedoc, will now become still more extensive, owing to the abundant supplies of seed obtained from abroad."

THE NEW BRONZE COINAGE.—The new bronze coinage is now largely in circulation, and seems to have given general satisfaction. The credit of the rapidity with which it has been produced is entirely due to the contractors, Messrs. Boulton and Watt, of the Soho Mint, at Birmingham, where the work is carried on. The total quantity to be made by them in the course of the next two years and a-half is stated to amount to 1,800 tons—a speed which involves the striking of 400,000 pieces per day on an average during the whole time.—Times.

The above return, compared with that for the previous week, shows the following changes:—

Total Reserve (Notes and Coin) in Banking } Department .. .. .	6,196,586	..	Decrease 419,658

There is nothing of an alarming character in these changes. The coin and bullion continue to decline, as was to be expected from the demand for America; but the movement is not of a character beyond control. The smallness of the diminution occasioned in the reserve by the payment of the dividends, which commenced on Wednesday (to the evening of which day this return extends) is a favourable feature. The Bank, however, are now liable for an unusually large amount of private deposits. The source whence the large increase in the Government Securities held by the Bank has been derived is not to be explained at the moment. There has been some special operation which has not yet transpired.

THE MONEY MARKET.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 11.

The value of money is still rising. The financial movements this week have been highly important. On Monday the Bank of England raised their minimum rate of discount from 6 per cent., at which it was fixed on the previous Monday, to 7. It had not been generally expected that this step would be adopted so soon. Accordingly it produced considerable sensation. It is seen that there is once more a struggle for bullion between the three greatest money markets in the world—those of England, France, and America; and in face of the exorbitant rates now current in the latter country, and of the undoubted necessities of the Bank of France, it is feared that further strong action will be required here before the end desired can be achieved. The news from America is supposed to have had chief influence in the Bank parlour. The apprehended secession of South Carolina is now a fact. But, so far as we are concerned, the immediate financial feature of the American advices is, that the exchange at New York, which had risen to 105 under the effect of the receipt of the £620,000 in specie by the Persia, and other arrivals, has relapsed to 104½ at the date of the latest accounts, although the bulk of the sums sent from this side had then arrived out. There seems to be no prospect of any real slackening of the drain from this side until accounts of a decidedly more favourable character come forward. It is of no avail for us to decline to recognise the fact that, as long as the value of money at New York remains at 12 per cent., and the exchange decidedly against us—as long, in fact, as America can afford to bid much higher for capital than we can—it will continue to flow out in the form most useful for her to receive, and least convenient for us to part with.

The Bank of France on Tuesday adopted a measure which is without parallel in the history of the institution. They raised the rate of discount 1½ per cent. in one day. Their charge, which was advanced from 4½ to 5½ per cent. on the 2nd inst., is raised to 7, or the same as that of the Bank of England. This decision implies that the council are determined at present to follow a correct principle. It is only by a sound policy that the contingency of a suspension of specie payments can be avoided. Upon these grounds the news was received here with satisfaction, notwithstanding the prospect of competition against our Bank for gold which it develops. The fact that both Banks are now carrying out a conservative action must tend to promote confidence.

Upwards of £300,000 of the silver received from the Bank of France was withdrawn from the Bank of England yesterday; the bulk of it goes to Bombay by the steamer of to-morrow.

In some quarters it was apprehended that the Bank of England rate would be raised again at the weekly Court yesterday (Thursday), but no alteration occurred. In refraining from further action, the Bank directors were probably actuated by a wish to avoid exciting unnecessary uneasiness. Should the American advices next week indicate a prolongation of the present drain, the rate can be raised on any day.

The demand at the discount-office at the Bank, both yesterday and to-day, has been more active than is usual so soon after the payment of the dividends. This is owing to the circumstance that many other establishments are by no means anxious to do business at present, and that the rates, apart from exceptional instances, are not generally below 7 per cent. It is observed, however, as an indication of the general opinion that the present disturbance will not be of prolonged duration, that six months bills are in more favour than usual.

Amid the anxiety which the unsettled condition of the money market naturally occasions, it is very gratifying to observe that confidence in the general soundness of our trade remains unimpaired.

The payment of the dividends commenced on Wednesday at the Bank.

In the Stock Exchange the rate for short loans on English Government Securities to-day was 5 to 5½ per cent.

The Lombard-street discount houses and the National Discount Company, on Tuesday, raised their rates for money at call from 4½ to 5 per cent. and for money at notice from 5 to 5½ per cent. The Joint-Stock Banks have determined to allow 5, instead of 4½ per cent., except that the London and Westminster give only 4 for sums below £500. It is doubted if any addition will be made to these rates, even in the event of a fresh rise in the Bank of England rate of discount.

It is worthy of remark that, at the moment when rumours of another Indian Government loan are afloat, the East Indian Railway Company are in the market for £1,500,000, the Madras Railway Company for £1,194,000, and the Cape of Good Hope Government agents have just received biddings for £150,000.

A telegram received this afternoon announces that the National Bank of Turin has raised its rate of discount to 7 per cent.

It is expected that the value of money in the other continental markets will rise.

About £100,000 in refined gold ex the Great Britain from Melbourne was on Tuesday sent into the Bank.

The drain of gold to America continues without intermission. Since our last report, the Asia has sailed for the United States with £330,000 in specie, the Teutonia with £70,000, the City of Washington with £107,000, the Arago with £12,600 (besides £60,000 from Havre), and the North Briton with £2,250; making an aggregate of £2,365,000 during the past six weeks.

Yesterday £100,000 in sovereigns was taken from the Bank for exportation. The principal portion was for America, but about £40,000 is understood to be destined for Canada, where the banks may be desirous of strengthening their position, in view of the disturbance southwards. The withdrawals to-day consisted of 20,000 sovereigns and £20,000 in bars.

The Ellora, which is to sail to-morrow, will take £365,027 in silver, and £16,360 in gold for Bombay.

Intelligence has been received from Melbourne of the departure of the following gold ships, viz.:—The Wellesley, with 32,854 oz.; the Stratheden, with 49,040 oz.; the Essex, with 14,845 oz.; and the Champion of the Seas, with 9,154 oz. The aggregate is 105,893 ounces, worth £424,000. The Roxburgh Castle, with £167,000, reported by the previous mail, is also at sea; she has now been out 86 days. The aggregate afloat is, therefore, £591,000, being below the average.

It is stated that a remittance of £160,000 in gold has just been made from Constantinople by the steamer to Marseilles, a portion of which is probably on English account.

THE BULLION MARKET.

With reference to the movements in bullion and in the Indian Government paper, Messrs. Pixley, Abell, and Langley, report as follows:—

GOLD.—We mentioned in our last circular of the 3rd inst. the probability of the shipment of sovereigns to New York still continuing, and the past week has witnessed the sailing of the Canadian, with £13,000; the Asia, with £330,000; the Teutonia, with £70,000; the City of Washington, with £107,000; the Arago, with £12,600; and the North Briton, with £2,250. In addition to those amounts about £50,000 has been withdrawn from the Bank to-day, and further sums may yet be sent by the steamer leaving on Saturday next; the total now sent exceeds £2,415,000. £100,000 of the gold ex Great Britain having been refined, has been sent into the Bank of England. The Magdalena takes £3,087 to the Brazils, and the Ellora will take some bar gold to Bombay.

SILVER.—The bar silver, per Seine, has been sold at 61½d. per ounce standard, and at this price there has been a fair demand for the steamer to Bombay of the 12th inst., which vessel will take out about £350,000. The Magdalena has taken £19,000 to the Brazils.

MEXICAN DOLLARS.—There has not been any demand during the past week, prices are rather weak, and but little will be doing until the arrival of the mail from China, which may be now expected in a day or two.

EXCHANGE on India prior to the rise in the Bank's rate to 7 per cent, was rather firmer, but since then has relaxed to our quotations of last week. 60 days' sight Bank Drafts on Bombay and Calcutta are 2s. to 2s. 0½d. Bills with Documents, 1s. 11½d. to 1s. 11¼d.

INDIA GOVERNMENT LOAN NOTES.—There is little or nothing doing in these securities, and prices are nominal. Five-and-a-Half per Cents. at 100 to 101, and Five per Cents. 94 to 95; Four per Cents. 78 to 80.

The report of Messrs. Haggard and Co., dated this day, is as follows:—

Since our last circular our market has shown some activity; the principal feature has again been an increased demand for gold for America.

There have been no imports of importance.

The exports include the Asia, with £330,000; the Teutonia, with £70,000; the Arago, with £12,600; the City of Washington, with £107,000; all to New York; the Magdalena, to the Brazils, with £22,000; and the North Britain, for New York, with £2,250.

Of the gold by the Great Britain, a further sum of £100,000 has been sold to the Bank (after being refined); for France there is little or no demand. Some small amounts have, however, been sent to Spain. The Niagara, which sails on Saturday for New York, will take a large amount in sovereigns; and some moderate amounts of gold will be sent by the steamer of the 12th to Bombay.

There has been a considerable business in bar silver for Bombay, although several orders have been cancelled, owing to the sudden rise in the rate of discount at the Bank. About £400,000 is expected to be shipped by the steamer of the 12th.

Mexican dollars are excessively dull, and prices are quite nominal.

The whole of the £2,000,000 silver, to be received by the Bank of England from the Bank of France, has now arrived.

THE EXCHANGES.

A general and decided improvement has occurred in the Foreign Exchanges, in consequence of the rise in the value of money here. As an indication, however, of a tendency to distrust, it is observed that the rates in several instances are irregular. Subjoined is our usual list:—

AFFAIRS IN AMERICA.

The next Cunard steamer from New York will be the Persia, with dates to the 2nd of January. Her business accounts, however, will reach only to the 31st of December, New Year's Day being always a general holiday in that city. As a solemn fast was appointed for the 4th, the business of the first week of the year will be limited.

By the arrival of the steamer Bohemian from Portland (U.S.) at Londonderry, intelligence has been received from New York to the 29th December. On that day the exchange on London was 104½. The effect of the large supplies of gold sent from this side has, therefore, been far less decided than had been anticipated. The prices of stocks come quoted at an improvement. It is of some importance to notice that the marked difference lately observed between the prices of American securities here and those current in New York has now been effaced. Recently New York and Erie Railway shares were quoted here at 36, and at New York at 24. Now, the price comes from New York at 37½ (or equal to about 36 here), whilst the London quotation is 32. The American market is now, therefore, the higher. There is, consequently, less prospect now of large supplies of shares being sent over from America. These considerations are calculated to encourage holders.

MADRAS RAILWAY LOAN.

The directors of the Madras Railway Company notify that the Secretary of State for India having authorised them to raise the sum of £1,000,000 on debentures not convertible into stock, they are prepared to comply with applications to that extent for debentures at par, bearing interest at 5 per cent. per annum. The payment of the principal and interest is guaranteed by the Secretary of State for India in Council. The debentures will be for five years from the 1st January, 1861, and renewable at the option of the holder for a second term of five years. The directors will also receive applications for the limited amount, £194,000, which remains to be allotted of the previous debenture loan of £1,000,000, convertible into stock of the company.

NEW RAILWAYS.

It is said that the new lines now to come before Parliament propose to raise nearly £7,000,000 for their execution.

THE PROJECTED TURKISH LOAN.

The subscription to M. Mirè's Turkish Loan was closed, both in Paris and London, on Saturday last. There has evidently been no response to it on the part of the English public. The announcement in Paris that the unsubscribed balance of the amount offered will be taken by an association of bankers is regarded as merely a device to cover the virtual failure of the project.

THE TURKISH LOAN OF 1858.

The Minister of Finance (says the Constantinople Correspondent of the Times) has intimated that he will be prepared, in the course of a few days, to remit to the Ottoman Bank in London £172,000, to be paid, together with £34,000 already sent, into the Bank of England on the 1st of February next. These two sums make up the amount required on the 1st of March for payment of the interest and portion of the sinking fund, which will then be due on the 1858 loan.

BUENOS AYRES BONDS.

The last packet from Brazil has brought authority to Messrs. Baring and Co. to divide the £500 Buenos Ayres Six per Cent. Bonds into Bonds of £100 each. The large size of the bonds has always interfered with their ready absorption by the public. The present measure, therefore, being likely to extend the sphere of investment, is highly judicious.

THE ANGLO-AUSTRIAN LOANS.

The particulars are published of a large number of bonds of the Austrian Five per Cent. Loans of 1852 and 1859, which were drawn on the 2nd inst. for redemption.

THE IMPROVEMENT IN THE FINANCES OF SPAIN.

The Madrid journals of the 1st publish a report of a committee of the Chamber of Deputies proposing the acceptance of the budget for 1861 presented by the Government. It estimates the ordinary expenses at 1,932,474,305 reals, the ordinary receipts at 1,938,680,000 reals; the extraordinary expenses at 418,275,232 reals, and the extraordinary receipts at the same sum.

Fresh evidence of the improvement in the Spanish finances is afforded by the announcement that measures are about to be taken for the gradual reduction of the amount of the Consolidated and Deferred Three per Cent. debts, which are currently quoted in this market. On the 31st inst. biddings will take place at Madrid. The amount assigned for this amortisation is 7,112,344 reals (say £71,000) to be applied, in equal moieties, to the extinction of the Old and Deferred Three per Cents., both home and foreign. The money is derived from the sales of the state and town corporation property. English holders may present their tenders until the 23rd inst., at the Spanish Financial Commission in London.

Another auction of the foreign redeemable (Passive) debt of Spain will take place at Madrid on the 29th inst. The sum assigned for the purpose is 1,472,020 reals.

THE PORTUGUESE DEBT.

Notice is issued by the Portuguese financial agent in London that he is ready to take charge of any bonds of the foreign debt the holders of which may be desirous of converting them into internal stock.

THE NEW SILVER MINES.

Accounts from San Francisco to the 9th of November show that highly sanguine expectations are still entertained of the result shortly to be derived from the Washoe Silver Mines. A respectable and cautious merchant, who had hitherto looked with doubt on all the statements regarding them, now writes that the testimony which has reached him on the subject leaves little room for disbelief. It is averred that the quantity exceeds, both in extent and richness, all previous mining experience. "Persons perfectly conversant," it is stated, "with the mines of Mexico and Peru say that there can be no comparison between these and the Washoe mines, and the main trouble at present seems to be that the ore is too rich, and therefore too difficult of reduction."

PROPOSED BOMBAY DOCKS.

A memorial has been extensively signed by London merchants, ship-owners, and others, in favour of the establishment of a system of wet and dry docks and warehouses at Bombay.

THE LONDON AND NORTH-WESTERN RAILWAY.

It is understood that the Marquis of Chandos has resigned the post of chairman of the London and North-Western Railway Company.

RAILWAY TRAFFIC.

The present severe weather will probably interfere with traffic on many lines; but, on the other hand, the railways will derive considerable benefit from the coal trade. The demand for coal is at present extraordinarily active, and as all the canals are frozen, the traffic will be turned on to the railways.

The traffic returns on our home railways this week are much less favourable than of late, owing chiefly, no doubt, to the severity of the weather. The South-Eastern return shows an increase of £114; the Brighton a decrease of £555; the London and North-Western, a decrease of £870; the Eastern Counties, a decrease of £1,484; the Great Northern, a decrease of £1,848; the Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire, a decrease of £1,011; the Lancashire and Yorkshire, an increase of £2,045; the Midland, an increase of £130; the North-Eastern, an increase of £1,353; the Great Western, a decrease of £142; the London and South-Western, an increase of £791; and the Caledonian, an increase of £1,073.

The traffic receipts of the Great Western Railway of Canada, for the week ending December 21, were £7,574 sterling, being £61 more than in the corresponding week of last year.

The traffic receipts of the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada, for the week ending December 22, were £12,780 sterling, being £972 more than for the corresponding week of last year. The gross receipts from the 1st July last have been £354,529 sterling, being £35,620 more than last year.

RAILWAYS.

The Great Southern of India Railway Company have issued the following statement, which describes the satisfactory progress of the works:—

A detailed report of the state of the works on the 30th September last has been received from Mr. Carr, the company's engineer-in-chief. From this it appears that there is still considerable difficulty in getting a sufficient supply of labour, but the progress of the works had been steady and satisfactory, so much so as to draw from the Government consulting engineer a most favourable report, upon which the Governor in Council passed the following minute:—"The Government have to express their satisfaction at the progress made in the works of the Great Southern of India Railway, which Captain Johnston considers to be most satisfactory and highly creditable to the engineer department." One-half of the brickwork had been completed, five-eighths of the earthwork, twelve miles of fencing. Eight miles of permanent way were laid, and 50,000 cubic yards of ballast were in place. Great care has been taken to keep down the cost as much as possible, and no exceptional local circumstances have been allowed to interfere with the uniform tariff of wages adopted. The iron girders sent out to be used in those situations where brick or stone were inapplicable were being fixed on the piers previously prepared for them. Four locomotive engines had been safely landed, and one was ready to commence running with permanent way materials and ballast. It is proposed to open the first section for traffic in May next, and the whole line from Negapatam to Trichinopoly in September. The staff was reported to be all in good health.

The annexed circular has just been issued by the Midland Railway Company:—

I am instructed to inform you that the directors are prepared to receive tenders for the unissued portion of the Midland Company's £6 Preference Shares (guaranteed  $4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. dividend in perpetuity) at £6. 2s. 6d. per share; the first half-year's dividend will be due on 30th June next, payable with the other dividends on 2nd September. The directors cannot bind themselves to allot the whole number asked for, as that must depend on the total of the applications. Applications (in the form annexed) stating the number of shares required may be made to me on or before the 15th instant, and the money to be paid on or before the 26th instant. —I am, yours faithfully, G. N. BROWNE, Secretary.
Derby, Jan. 7, 1861.

The half-yearly meeting of the Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire Railway Company is called for the 23rd instant at Manchester, and will be made special, to approve an agreement for traffic arrangements entered into with the Great Northern Railway Company.

BANKS.

The half-yearly meeting of shareholders in the Unity Joint-Stock Bank is called for the 25th inst.

We are officially informed to-day that the Directors of the Union Bank of Australia have resolved to declare a dividend of 12 per cent. per annum, at the meeting of proprietors, on Monday next.

The directors of the London and South African Bank announce a call of £3 per share, payable on the 4th Feb., and another of £3 payable on the 4th of March. These sums, with the £4 already paid, will complete the moiety (£200,000) of the present capital, which, by the stipulations of the royal charter, must be paid before the corporation can commence banking business.

The depreciation in the shares of the London and South African Bank might be considered anomalous (observes a contemporary) did it not furnish an illustration of the frequent caprices of the stock market. This undertaking has been established under the most satisfactory auspices possible. The board is most respectably constituted, and, in fact, includes seven of the largest Cape merchants in London. This means that the men who are to conduct the affairs of the bank are practically acquainted with the whole details of the trade—with its advantages and disadvantages. Who, therefore, can be so well qualified to secure the former and avoid the latter? The prospects of the bank in the colony appear to be excellent. Mr. Barry, who lately went out, describes the field for business there as exceeding all expectations. The usury laws at the Cape have been repealed, and money now commands there 8 or 9 per cent., a value commensurate to the rate of profit on the business of the colony. The charter has been obtained, and, though delays occurred in the process of getting it, they were unavoidable. The document, in fact, was sealed at the first Privy Council that was held after the receipt of the opinion of the governor of the colony upon the matter. An unusual degree of economy is understood to have been observed in the establishment of the undertaking, as may be inferred from the fact that the whole of the expenses, including those connected with getting the charter, do not exceed about 4s. per £20 share. The real cause of the depreciation of the shares is doubtless the accruing calls; but it was well known that no colonial bank can commence business until one-half of its capital has been paid up. Why any person should embark in an undertaking of this kind without inquiring into its plain conditions—or why, having embarked in it, he should sell out simply because those conditions are enforced—are questions which are more easily raised than answered. When the stipulated amount of calls has been paid and the bank has commenced operations, the concern will probably rank at a very different level in the market. Most of the other colonial banks now at high premiums, have passed, at the outset, through a similar ordeal, arising from the imprudence of a few persons, who take shares known to be liable to calls without intending or being able to meet them. Their punishment is that they are obliged to sell at a sacrifice quite unwarranted by the intrinsic position of the undertaking.

ASSURANCE COMPANIES.

A general meeting of proprietors of the Law Life Assurance Society is called for the 2nd February.

The half-yearly dividend to the 31st ult., at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, is announced as now payable to the shareholders in the amalgamated Albert and Medical Life Assurance Company.

OTHER PUBLIC COMPANIES.

At the half-yearly meeting of the East and West India Dock Company, held to-day, a dividend of 3 per cent. for the six months was declared.

The meeting of the Commercial Dock Company also took place to-day; the dividend declared was  $2\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. for the half-year.

A general meeting of the Mercantile Discount Company (Limited) is called for the 24th inst., and will be made extraordinary, to consider the expediency of a voluntary winding-up.

The half-yearly meeting of the Scottish Australian Investment Company is called for the 25th inst.

The annual meeting of the North British Australasian Company is called for the 22nd inst., when a dividend is to be declared.

We are requested to state that the Hon. Arthur Kinnaid, M.P., has joined the Board of the Trust and Agency Company of Australasia.

The settlement of the list of contributories of the Patent Wood or Fibrous Slab Company (Limited) is to be proceeded with in the Court of Bankruptcy on the 31st inst.

THE SHERRY TRADE.

According to a despatch from Cadiz, the total shipment of sherry to all parts for the year 1860 was 51,860 butts, against 45,916 in 1859, 28,729 in 1858, and 50,707 in 1857. The largest exporters were Gonzalez, Dubosc, and Co., 4,033 butts, and Mr. F. W. Cosens, 3,947 butts.

THE TRANSFER BOOKS.

The regular re-opening of the books for Consols will take place on Friday, the 18th inst., and those for the Three-and-a-Half per Cents., Two-and-a-Half per Cents., New Five per Cent. Annuities, expiring in Jan., 1880, India Stock, and the India Five per Cent. Stock (1859), on Thursday, the 17th.

THE AUSTRALIAN AND EASTERN MAILS.

The mails from Australia, Calcutta, and China will be delivered in London to-morrow (Saturday).

INTEREST AND DIVIDENDS.

The half-yearly dividend is advertised on Namure and Liege Railway preference shares.

THE PARIS BOURSE.

At Paris to-day the 3 per Cent. Rentes opened at 67 and closed at 67 $\frac{25}{100}$ , for money and 67 $\frac{20}{100}$  for the account, being  $\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{1}{4}$  per cent. higher than yesterday.

THE STOCK AND SHARE MARKETS.

The English funds were rather severely prejudiced early in the week by the rise in the rate of discount at the Bank of England followed by the similar movement at the Bank of France. Consols, which closed last Friday at 92 $\frac{3}{4}$  to  $\frac{1}{2}$  ex div. for the 10th Jan., fell on Tuesday to 91½ to 3. There has since, however, been a partial recovery, the corrective action pursued by the two Banks being regarded with satisfaction. Consols closed this afternoon at 91½ to 3 for money, and 92 "sellers" for the new account (7th Feb.) The reduction since last Friday is nearly ¾ per cent. Yesterday was settling day; the supply of stock was ample, and the "continuation" ranged from 5-16ths to ¾ per cent.

The official list of to-day's actual business in the English Funds, Exchequer Bills, and Indian Government Securities, is annexed:—

Three per Cent. Consols, for money, 91½, ¾, ¾; ditto for account (Feb. 7), 92; Three per Cents. Reduced, 91½, ¾, ¾; New Three per Cents., 91½, ¾, ¾; Thirty Years' Annuities, expiring in April, 1855, 16½; Bank Stock, 234, 232; India Stock, 219; ditto Five per Cent. Stock, 1859, 100½; ditto Four per Cent. Debentures, 1858, 95½, ¾, 96; Five per Cent. "enfaced" Rupee Paper, 94; and Exchequer Bills, 2s., 5s., 1s., 5s., dis.

Exchequer Bills were firm early in the week at 3s. dis. to par, being preferred to stock or money as a medium of deposit upon the capital of the Railway and other Bills now before Parliament. The aggregate to be lodged by the 15th inst. is between £700,000 and £800,000. To-day, however, a decline occurred to 5s. to 2s. dis.

The Indian Five per Cent. Rupee Paper was quoted to-day 94 to 95; the Five and-a-Half per Cent., 100 to 101; the Five per Cent. stock of 1859, 100½ to 7, and India Bonds, 12s. to 7s. dis., showing a fall of 2s.

In the Foreign Stock Market the fluctuations have been chiefly observable in Turkish Bonds. The closing prices to-day were ½ per cent. below those of last Friday. Mexican Bonds remain heavy. Sardinian and Spanish have fallen. Spanish Passive Bonds, which were lately quoted 22 to 23, have fallen to 18 to 20, being offered on French account. These operations are said to be connected with the stoppage of a German house in Paris.

The nominal closing quotations of the principal Foreign Stocks this afternoon are given below:—

British Railway Stocks exhibit, in most instances, a considerable fall. This department has been prejudiced by the less favourable character of the traffic returns published this week. There is, however, as above stated, an exceptional explanation of the decrease. Fears of sales of pawned stock have contributed to the prevailing depression. Nevertheless, it is evident that bona fide holders are indisposed to sell on the eve of the declaration of the railway dividends.

The following shows the closing prices of the principal British Railway Stocks to-day, and the result of the week's variations. The share list in detail will be found in another column:—

Lombardo-Venetian Railway Shares have shown some depression. The closing price to-day was 1½ to 1½ dis., being about 5s. lower than on last Friday. American Railway Securities have also given way, notwithstanding the rise at New York. Illinois Central shares left off to-day at 32½ to 32 dis.; and New York and Erie at 32 to 33. Canadian Railway Shares have fallen considerably, Great Western of Canada closed to-day at 10½ to 5—a fall of 10s. since last Friday; and Grand Trunk Stock at 22 to 1½—a fall of 2 or 3 per cent.

The market for Bank shares is very well supported, in anticipation of the forthcoming half-yearly statements. The shares of the Bank of London are firm, at an improvement, a favourable impression prevailing with regard to the progress of the business of this establishment.

Colonial Government securities have shared in the general depression of the Stock Exchange. Canada New Brunswick and Nova Scotia Bonds have chiefly suffered.

The closing quotations for shares in new undertakings to-day were as follow:—Ocean Marine Insurance, 3½ to 4½ prem.; Thames and Mersey Marine, 1 3-16 to 1 5-16 prem.; Universal Marine Insurance, 1½ to 1½ prem.; London and Provincial Marine, ½ dis to par.; East India Irrigation, ¼ to ½ dis.; East India and London Shipping, ¾ to ¾ prem.

With reference to the market for American Securities, Messrs. D. Bell, Son, and Co. report as follows:—

The report of Mr. E. F. Satterthwaite, dated Wednesday, is subjoined:

Since our last, the market for American securities in London has suffered a considerable relapse, States' Stocks and Railroad Bonds being so difficult to sell, that quotations became quite nominal. Illinois shares declined to 34 discount, and Erie to 30½, but have recovered this afternoon to 31½ and 32½ discount per share respectively. New York Central remain heavy at 74 to 76. The tone of the market has been much improved, by telegram received from New York, with prices to the 29th ult., Illinois being then 69, Erie 37, and New York Central 75½.

The advices from New York are summarised by Mr. Satterthwaite as under:—

Per Europa, we have advices from New York to the 24th ult., at which date, notwithstanding the secession of South Carolina, the Stock market was exceedingly firm. Illinois shares had advanced during the week from 63½ to 68½; and Erie shares from 30 to 38. Railroad Bonds were all much firmer. Michigan Central Bonds being 95, and Erie Third Mortgage 85, ex the September coupon; but, perhaps, under existing circumstances, the most remarkable feature is the advance in United States Five per Cent., 1874, from 90 to 95; this would seem to indicate a degree of confidence in the future greater than the excitement then going on would appear to warrant. Exchange still remained low, the quotation not being better than 103 to 105, this is somewhat extraordinary, considering the large influx of specie, amounting in the week to 4,944,500 dols.

With regard to the annual statement of the New York and Erie Railroad Company, the same authority has the following:—

Above, we give the figures of the annual account of the Erie Railroad, together with the receiver's account from the date of his taking office, to September 30th, 1860—13½ months. These figures now have an especial interest, as so large a portion of the Erie capital is held in this country. It is very satisfactory to find that the net earnings have been sufficient to pay the interest on all the mortgage debt and rent of leased roads, and leave a surplus of 310,818 dols., which would have been applied to payment of interest on the unsecured Bonds, had there not been arrears of mortgage interest to pay besides 741,510 dols. of debts incurred prior to appointment of receiver.

The receipts per mile, reckoning the dollar at 4s. 1d., have been £2,140, and the working expenses, £1,385; this last item shows conclusively that the receiver has not committed the grave error of running down the road to make a good show of light working expenses. From the present rate of increase, the receipts for 1861 seem likely to amount to 6,000,000 dols., which, if realised, will enable the Company to pay the Mortgage and Preference Stock interest, and leave a dividend for the shareholder.

It must be very gratifying to the Third Mortgage Bondholders to find their position so assured. At the present price of 80 per cent., they yield to the investor nearly 8 per cent. interest, and we consider they are the safest and cheapest American railroad security now to be had.

The London agents of the Illinois Central Railway Company on Monday received the following despatch from the chairman of the Executive Committee at New York:—

Office of the Illinois Central Railroad Company,
New York, Dec. 22, 1860.

Gentlemen,—The secession of South Carolina has caused a very slight decline in the stock market, and very little general excitement here, the expectation of her course having previously had its effect on the prices.

The accounts from Illinois are favourable as regards traffic; the present week will, we hope, show as well, or nearly so, as the last.

Exchange at Chicago continues at 10 per cent., and upwards, premium on New York.

We cannot look for the same activity in the Land-office in the winter months as in the autumn; at the same time there is a fair business doing in collections and sales, and such will probably continue during the winter.

By the next steamer we shall no doubt be able to give you the third week's result.—Yours truly,

(Signed) THOMAS E. WALKER,
Chairman Ex. Committee.

Messrs. Robert Benson and Co., London,

N.B.—Subsequent telegrams, up to date December 27, report a rise. Shares quoted at 68.

London, Jan. 7, 1861.

The following further report was received on Tuesday:—

Office of the Illinois Central Railroad Company,
New York, December 24, 1860.

Gentlemen,—Since my respects of the 18th we have advices from Illinois of an increasing traffic to the South. There are many buyers of corn on our line, and the daily shipments to Cairo are in excess of our hopes earlier in the month. There is cold weather and a low stage of water in the Mississippi, all of which help the traffic South; while the roads in Northern Illinois are doing very little business. The gain in traffic the second week was 7,230 dols. 18c., in lieu of 3,230 dols. 18c., as reported by telegraph. The Land Commissioner has many letters, asking for information touching our lands, from parties who think of moving west in the spring. Some of these are from the Southern States.

The sales to the 21st were 110,000 dols.; the collections, 52,000 dols. The census returns of Illinois are nearly complete. The gain in the 49 counties touched by our road has been 142 per cent. since 1850, having increased from 335,598 to 814,891 in population. Thus 479,293 have been added to our numbers. The State has 102 counties. In the other 53 counties, which had 515,872 persons in 1850, there are now 904,605, a gain of 77 per cent. The whole State has now a population of 1,719,496. These figures are still subject to corrections in the department at Washington, but are sufficiently correct for our Government.

It is quite apparent, and generally admitted in Illinois, that the corn crop will exceed the earlier estimates, and not fall short of 140,000,000 of bushels, and that there is still a large stock of wheat in the country for sale—probably 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 bushels; thus the 1860 crop of wheat was fully 35,000,000 of bushels.—I am, &c.,

(Signed) THOS. E. WALKER,
Chairman Executive Committee.

Messrs. Robert Benson and Co., London.

The advices received to-day are as follows:—

Office of the Illinois Central Railroad,
New York, 29th Dec., 1860.

Gentlemen,—We have steady cold weather; at the North-West there is much snow and ice; this is favourable for our winter traffic, which promises to exceed that of any previous winter. The third week gave 54,054 dols. 50c. against 48,371 dols. 25c., a gain of 5,682 dols. 55c. In the Land department the collections to the 24th were 53,800 dols., the sales 125,180 dols. At this inclement period of the year the demand for land is remarkable. The advices from your corn markets point to an active resumption of business at Chicago in the spring. The supply of Indian Corn in Illinois may be stated as inexhaustible; we know of actual purchases and payments for corn in the field at eighty bushels to the acre. The quantity which can go forward from Chicago must unfortunately be confined to the capacity of the tonnage upon the North-Western lakes, which was far below the requirements of the last season.—Very respectfully yours,

(Signed) THOMAS E. WALKER,
Chairman Executive Committee.

Messrs. Robert Benson & Co., London.

P.S.—We have the following telegram from Chicago this morning:—"Sales this day (28th) five thousand dollars; collections, nine thousand dollars.—J. W. Foster."—(Signed) T. E. W.

It is notified that the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company, having profited by the low rate of exchange in America to remit funds for the payment of the dividend due the 1st April next on their Six per Cent. Sterling Bonds, have instructed their London agents to pay the dividend, less discount at the Bank rate, to such holders as may be desirous of receiving it in advance.

MERCANTILE EMBARRASMENTS.

At the adjourned meeting, on Monday, of the creditors of Mr. F. H. Schroder, sugar refiner, the balance-sheet presented by Mr. C. F. Kemp, the accountant, stated the liabilities at £25,390, and the assets at £11,117. This statement shows about 8s. 10d. in the pound. When Mr. Schroder commenced business in 1854, his capital amounted to £4,559, and his operations have since been carried on at a great loss, while his drawings of late have become larger. The liabilities have been increased by the stoppage of Messrs. J. and E. Williams and Messrs. Whistler, Dawson, and King, and bills to a large amount have still to mature. The insolvent was not prepared to offer any composition, his friends not being willing to come forward, owing to the present state of the sugar market. No accommodation bill transactions have been carried on, but a creditor expressed himself strongly with reference to Mr. Schroder's conduct in pledging goods recently obtained on credit. He dwelt upon the evils of this system, which he urged ought to be checked by every available means. With this object he proposed to move a resolution in favour of placing the estate in the Court of Bankruptcy, and intimated that this step would meet with the full concurrence of several firms whose views he had ascertained. Two or three creditors argued, however, that this course would greatly prejudice the estate; and Mr. Lawrence, the solicitor, said that the dividend would probably be reduced thereby to 5s. in the pound. Ultimately the following resolution was adopted:—"That, in acceding to the proposal to wind up this estate under inspection, the creditors express their strong disapprobation of Mr. Schroder's conduct in having pledged goods very recently purchased on credit at a time when, as it appears by the statement laid before the creditors, he was insolvent to a large extent."

A preliminary meeting of the creditors of Messrs. Whistler, Dawson, and King, wholesale grocers and colonial produce agents, was held on Monday, when an approximate statement of affairs, showing liabilities amounting to £19,170, and assets to £11,009, was produced by Mr. S. Lowell Price, the accountant. The discussion had reference principally to the irregularities of the junior partner (King), and it was eventually agreed to adjourn, to allow the accountant to ascertain their extent. In accordance with an expressed wish, the partners agreed to sign a declaration of insolvency, to be acted upon after the adjourned meeting, if thought necessary. It is believed that the estate will ultimately be placed in the Court of Bankruptcy.

A meeting of creditors of Mr. W. H. Surridge (Surridge and Son), wholesale cheesemonger and provision agent, who stopped about a week back, was held on Wednesday, when the statement presented by Messrs. Honey, Humphreys, and Honey, the accountants, showed liabilities £40,121, and assets £39,294. The balance-sheet, however, furnished only a general view of the estate, and the assets are not expected to realise the sum at which they are stated. It is roughly estimated that the book debts will yield about 10s. in the pound, causing a deficiency of about £14,000. The stock of provisions, on the other hand, is taken at cost price, and by some creditors is expected to bring more. There have been no accommodation transactions. Mr. Surridge did not appear to have regularly taken stock, but a year and a-half ago he considered he had a surplus of about £5,000. An offer was made of a composition of 12s. in the pound, payable in instalments extending over a year, but the creditors generally being of opinion that this sum was insufficient, it was subsequently increased to 13s., the last instalment of 2s. to be secured.

A meeting took place on Thursday of the creditors of Messrs. Holdworth and Co., sugar refiners, who stopped payment on the 13th of last month. The balance sheet presented by Mr. J. C. Clarke, the accountant, showed direct liabilities to the amount of £15,000, and assets £3,500. The liabilities on bills receivable are £9,000, but the whole of these are expected to be paid, and consequently will not rank upon the estate. The firm commenced business in July, 1857, with a capital of £7,000 and a further sum of £5,000 was brought into the concern.

nine months afterwards. On the trading during the interval of about three and a-half years £22,000 has been lost, whilst the partners' drawings are stated at the moderate sum of £1,100. The trading was stigmatised as reckless by a creditor present, who urged that the firm ought to have stopped long ago. The advisability of placing the estate in the Court of Bankruptcy was advocated by this gentleman, but, after further discussion, a resolution was passed appointing a committee of investigation, which is to report to an adjourned meeting.

Mr. William Hancock, timber merchant, of Millwall, who recently failed, having made an assignment of his property, no meeting of his creditors will take place. Mr. Hancock's direct liabilities are not more than about £10,000, while his assets show 10s. or 12s. in the pound.

In the Bankruptcy Court on Monday, in reference to the case of a leather merchant named Gibbs, Mr. Commissioner Goulburn gave a wholesome denunciation of the entire system of accommodation paper, and awarded the following sentence:—"The certificate of the bankrupt would be suspended for twelve months. When granted, it would be of the third class only, and protection would be granted for six months, to be renewed at the end of that period unless cause should be shown to the contrary."

In the Bankruptcy Court on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, the examination in the case of Messrs. Laurence, Mortimore, and Schrader was continued. It was adjourned on Friday until the 23rd inst.

It is stated that Messrs. John and George Rennie, the engineers, who in 1849 effected a composition with their creditors of 8s. in the pound, are now honourably liquidating the balance in full.

In some of the advices from New York the failure of five mercantile firms is mentioned, but their names do not appear to have transpired publicly. It is stated, however, in the New York Times that one of the heaviest of the Spanish-American houses in the city in the Cuba trade had been compelled to suspend, after considerable efforts had been made by their friends to carry them through the crisis, and also that another firm in the same trade, of less importance, was known to be in difficulty.

With regard to the New York accounts, the Times says:—"The failure of Sprague, Mann, and Co., of Boston, for 50,000 dols., and Mora, Brothers, Navarre and Co., had been announced."

Mines.

FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 11.

THE market for British Mining stocks this week has been dull. The inquiries have been by no means numerous, and in many instances a reduction in prices has occurred.

Last week's rise in United Mexican Mining shares has not been supported. St. John del Rey and Linares have also given way. Colonial descriptions are tolerably well supported.

The half-yearly meeting of the United Mexican Mining Association is called for the 30th inst.

The half-yearly meeting of the Cobre Copper Mining Association is called for the 28th inst.

The second general meeting of the Casara Lead Mining Company is called for the 14th inst.

On Monday an extraordinary general meeting of the shareholders of the St. John's United Copper and Lead Mining Company, Newfoundland, was held; C. P. Berkeley, Esq., in the chair. The chairman said the object of the present meeting was to further consider the reports received with reference to the Turk's Head and English Ridge Mines, and an amended offer which had been made for their sale to the company, and to determine as to the desirability of accepting or refusing that offer. The meeting had also to receive the report of the committee of shareholders appointed at the last meeting for the purpose of investigating the company's affairs. The most material business being the reception of the report of the committee of investigation, he would ask that it be submitted to the meeting. It then appeared that the three gentlemen forming that committee—viz., Messrs. Adron, Jones, and Tietdiens—had not acted conjointly in the matter, but had each prepared a separate report, which were respectively submitted. As regards the prospects of the company, at the same time testifying to the correctness of the balance-sheet presented at the last meeting, two were of a favourable character, but the other was totally different, alleging that some irregularities had been committed by the directors. A long and angry discussion ensued, which resulted in an adjournment for the purpose of giving the directors an opportunity of replying; previous to which Mr. Tietdiens (one of the committee of investigation) entered a protest against all the company's proceedings, upon the ground that they are null and void, from the fact that the affairs have been administered by directors not legally qualified. The chairman having, in strong terms, totally dissented from that opinion, the meeting was adjourned.

At Trevoole Mine meeting, on the 1st inst., the accounts showed a debit balance of £1,398. 10s. 6d. A call of £1. 7s. 3d. per share was made.

Great Wheal Martha, on the 29th ult., made a call of 5s. per share.

The Cwm Erfin Mine accounts, presented at the meeting on the 27th ult., showed a credit balance of £1,476. 6s. 4d. The profit on the six months' working was £1,890. 1s. 3d. A dividend of 15s. per share (£650. 5s.) was declared.

Wheal Bassett and Grylls, on the 31st ult., made a call of 10s. per share.

The Wheal Prosper accounts, presented at the meeting on the 31st ult., showed a debit balance of £1,151. 8s. 11d. A call of £1 per share was made.

A general meeting of the Merlyn Mining Company was held on the 8th inst., when the statement of accounts showed a balance of liabilities over assets of £129. 1s. 10d. A call of 1s. per share was made.

At West Bryn Gwiof Mine meeting on Wednesday the accounts showed a credit balance of £430.

At Silver Rake Mine meeting on Wednesday the accounts showed a credit balance of £455.

At Old Tolgus United Mine meeting, on Thursday, the accounts showed a debit balance of £1,330. A call of £2. per share was made.

The North Minera Mine accounts, presented at the meeting, on Thursday, showed a credit balance of £536. A call of 2s. 6d. per share was made upon the new shares.

At East Agar Mine meeting a call of 10s. per share was made.

The South Frances Mine accounts, presented at the meeting of shareholders, showed a balance in hand of £2,508. 6s. 3d. The profits on the two months' working was £415. 3s. 9d.

Wendron Consols on the 2nd instant declared a dividend of £1 per share.

With reference to North Buller Mine, Mr. Peter Watson's Mining Circular of this evening says:—

This mine has not made any discovery to notice during the past year. The engine-shaft is down to the 100, and a cross-cut driving to cut a large tin lode, which is supposed to have formed a junction with the elvan course. The mine has recently been inspected by several agents, and a strong opinion given as to a productive lode being met with in the 100: the end must be close to the lode. The amount of water coming from the end makes it very slow and difficult to drive, the engine working 10 strokes per minute to keep the water. The mine adjoins East Basset to the south, and Wheal Uny to the north. About £16,000 has already been expended—a little more patience and perseverance may show something good.

At a sale of copper ore held at Swansea on Tuesday, 2,102 tons were sold for £31,346. 11s. The following amounts were realised:—

The Produce and other Markets.

COLONIAL PRODUCE.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 11.

The Colonial Produce Markets remain inactive, and with farther liberal supplies offering, prices have again declined in several cases during the week. At the public sales of Sugar a general reduction of 6d. to 1s. has been accepted, but the demand showed some slight improvement to-day. The Coffee market is quiet, Plantation Ceylon being rather cheaper; while middling to good East India descriptions have not found purchasers at the former value. Three floating cargoes of soft grain Rice have sold at 11s. 6d. and 11s. 9d. per cwt. Bengal Salt-petre sold by private contract at 1s. 6d. to 2s. 6d. per cwt. decline. The Spice sales have gone off without animation, and White Pepper must be quoted ½d. per lb. cheaper; Black barely maintains previous rates. The Tea Trade have been chiefly engaged by the large public sales, which passed off without spirit, a moderate proportion of the quantity submitted finding buyers, and most kinds of Congou were lower. A good demand has mostly prevailed for Cotton, and business, comprising 3,100 bales, has been done at firm and rather stiffer prices. Rum still continues dull.

THE TALLOW TRADE.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 11.

The Tallow Market opened for the year steadily, with a tendency to firmness, and on business being fairly resumed, a good demand for consumption was experienced, which resulted in an advance of 6d. per cwt. for Y. C. on the spot, and 3d. to 6d. for delivery in January to March. It would appear, however, that, considering the extreme dullness that existed throughout December, the wants of consumers have been comparatively limited, the more particularly so, if—as has recently been stated with much confidence by parties who well know the position of the market—our home supply is scarce. If that is so, it is at least evidence of the general depression that has prevailed, since the deliveries of the foreign article in the past month were only 4,824 casks, against 8,081 casks in December, 1859; and 9,814 casks in the same period of 1858.

During the past two days much quietude has existed, and to-day increasing heaviness has prevailed, the following being current quotations for Y. C., viz.: 59s. 6d. to 59s. 9d. for fine tallow on the spot; 59s. 6d. "sellers" for delivery in January to March; 58s. 6d. for April to June, and 57s. 6d. per cwt. "buyers" for October to December.

The imports since Monday up to last evening have been 355 casks. The deliveries have been 1,010 casks, and the present stock of all kinds is 71,977 casks, being a decrease of 649 casks, when compared with the quantity on hand on the 31st ultimo.

Town Melted has been held firmly during the week, at the quotation of 59s. 3d. per cwt. net. To-day "the Letter price" has been unaltered, from 61s. 9d.—or say 59s. 3d. per cwt. net.

The Public Sales to-day resulted as follows:—

P. Y. C.—25 casks stranded tallow, and more or less coal-damaged, were offered without any allowance for damage or wet, and realised at 56s. 9d. to 58s. 3d. per cwt., as in quality and condition, with 6 lbs. draft at landing weights.

Odessa.—237 casks beef tallow, of good average quality, were entirely neglected, notwithstanding moderate comparative prices would have been accepted, and the whole were passed for want of a better offer than 57s. 6d. per cwt.

North American.—23 casks, received via Havre, of middling to fair quality, having elicited no reasonable offer, were all bought in at 58s. 6d. per cwt.

Australian proved in fair request, and as the sales progressed prices slightly advanced. Of 490 casks offered, 376 casks were sold as follows:—Beef, extra fine, 58s. 3d. to 58s. 6d.; fine to very fine, 57s. 3d. to 58s.; middling to good, 57s. to 57s. 6d.; rather dark, 56s. to 56s. 6d.; dark, 55s. to 55s. 3d.; very dark, 53s.; inferior and very wet, 50s. to 50s. 3d. per cwt. The portion bought-in was fine quality and reserved for 58s. per cwt.

East India.—The quantity offered was large (507 packages) and much in excess of the probable requirements of consumers. 284 cases found buyers at 58s. 3d. (one lot 59s. 6d.) for good; 57s. (one lot 57s. 3d.) for mixed colours, but good body, being very cheap; and 55s. 3d. to 56s. per cwt. for middling and rather doubtful. The portion bought in was chiefly held for higher prices.

Cocoa Nut Oil.—This market continues dull, with a tendency to lower prices. Of 214 casks Cochin of fair quality, only about 36 hogsheads found buyers at 54s. 6d. 181 casks Ceylon were entirely neglected and bought in at 52s. 6d. to 53s. 225 casks Sydney sold comparatively cheap, and at a decline of about 2s. per cwt. on late rates. The following were the rates obtained: 50s. to 51s. for fair to good; 48s. 6d. to 50s. for rather dark to middling; and 47s. to 48s. 3d. per cwt. for dark and rather foul; less 2½ per cent. discount.

Palm Oil continues in limited request. Holders generally of fine quality, however, are firm at 47s., which price consumers are not disposed to pay, and of 692 casks offered, only about 50 casks were sold, at 46s. to 46s. 3d. for fine Lagos; 45s. to 45s. 9d. for fair to good; and 44s. per cwt. for rather middling quality.

Palm Nut Oil.—Of 11 casks offered, 8 were sold, at 41s. to 41s. 3d. per cwt. for good quality, the remainder being dark, and bought in at 41s. per cwt.

South American Horse Grease.—To effect sales of this article lower prices had to be accepted; 19 pipes, really good, brought 41s. 6d. (one lot, 41s. 9d.), and 110 cases mixed quality, 40s. per cwt.

Lard.—10 barrels Portugal, of good quality, were fairly competed for, and realised 56s. 6d. to 57s. per cwt.—Furnished by Messrs. Culverwell, Brooks, & Co. Brokers.

THE LONDON FREIGHT MARKET.

Business has been restricted during the week, owing principally to the tightness of the money market.

There is scarcely any change to note in quotations, excepting, perhaps, berth ships hence to India and the Colonies, which are now worth, say £5 per ton for small ships to Australia. For Bombay and Calcutta 42s. 6d. per ton, dead weight. Coal [Freights are without alteration: Aden, £50; Bombay, £38; Kurrachee, £40; Pointe de Galle or Madras, £42; Singapore, £40. Homewards—Moulmein, 90s.; Rice ports for this season, 70s.; Calcutta, 60s.; Abroad, last mail quotes Calcutta, firm, at 82s. 6d.; Bombay, 52s. 6d.; Colombo, 70s. coffee, in casks; Cochin, 70s. oil. West India quotations include 50s. to 52s. 6d. Havana, or 70s. to 72s. 6d. out and home; Jamaica, 67s. 6d. to 70s.; Belize, 57s. 6d.; Patook, 65s.

The Indian Council, besides 50,000 telegraph standards for Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay, have a barge for Kurrachee (121 tons), asphalt, tar, and a pair of engines and boilers (122 tons) for Madras.

Mediterranean rates are quoted as before.

The American and Canadian rates comprise 35s. Quebec; 90s. Pugwash, Miramichi, &c.; 92s. 6d. Richibucto; Montreal, 8s. 6d. for grain; New York, 7s. 9d. Trade is likely to be disorganised by the secession movement.

From the West Coast 65s. guano, and thither 35s. coals, 55s. coke, not north of Callao.

In the Baltic trade a ship has been done for spring from Danzig to Liverpool at 19s.; for the East Coast coal ports, 14s. to 15s.; London, 17s. to 18s.; Memel to Cape Good Hope, £7.

The Admiralty ask for tonnage to convey 1,774 tons of stores, whereof 1,411 tons are for Malta, chiefly ordnance stores.

The severe frost is interfering with the navigation of the Thames, it being full of large blocks of ice.—Furnished by Messrs. Thomas Sharer and Co.

THE METAL MARKET.

The prostrate condition of the metal trade still continues, and little or no business has been reported this week. Prices of all articles tend downwards. Welsh Bars.—Prices are nominally maintained, but orders very scarce. Staffordshire Iron.—The reports of the quarterly meeting held this week are very depressing. Scotch Pig Iron has fallen to 49s. Copper.—No alteration in nominal prices, but to effect sales a decline must be submitted to. The standard of ores has fallen £5 per ton. Tin.—English reduced is quoted £4 per ton; Foreign is very dull, and lower; Straits offered at £128 per ton, and Banca at £133. Tin Plates are unsaleable, particularly sorts suitable for America. Lead and Spelter are very dull; the latter is lower, and forced sales are reported at £18. 5s.—Furnished by Messrs. von Dadelszen and North.

LEATHER AND HIDES.—A better feeling has pervaded the leather trade since the commencement of the new year, and more business has been done at former prices. The severe weather suspends in a great measure fresh supplies coming forward, and the stocks on hand, consequently, are lessened. Best English butts of 20 lbs. and upwards have met considerable inquiry. In hides there have not been many transactions, except at the public sale of the 10th, when more business was done than was anticipated, particularly in Australian hides and East India kips, at fully former quotations. Market hides remain unaltered.—Furnished by Messrs. T. J. and T. Powell.

Offices.—No. 34, Great Winchester-street, E.C.

The Company was completely registered in January, 1859, and was formed for the purpose of importing a substance called Asphaltum or Chapapote, found in large quantities in the island of Cuba, and which contains oil and other valuable articles of commerce.

Prior to the formation of the Company, the original promoters expended large sums in testing the value of the material, and when satisfied upon that point, arranged for the purchase of the mines. This purchase was made for £50,000 in shares fully paid up, which have been appropriated to the late proprietors and promoters of the undertaking, but such shares do not participate in any dividend until the other shareholders have received a preference dividend of 5 per cent. per share per annum.

Of the remaining £10,000 of capital, £6 per share (or £30,000) has been called up and paid, and until recently it was thought that the remaining £20,000 would have been fully sufficient for the profitable development of the Company. The Directors were, however, strongly advised to become the purchasers of another large property in Cuba, consisting of a mine (in full work, and situate only about three or four hundred yards from a railway station), and extensive and valuable plant for making and refining oil. Attached to the refinery is a wharf situated in the Bay of Havana.

In the purchase was also included the exclusive privilege of making oil in the islands of Cuba and Porto Rico, but as that privilege would expire in the year 1863, application was made and this monopoly granted for a term of 15 years, now to run.

The owners of the last-mentioned property have expended upon it within the last three or four years between £60,000 and £70,000, but not possessing sufficient knowledge with reference to the manufacture of oil, disposed of the concern to this Company for the sum of £22,300; and with a view to working this property, and more fully developing the Company, it has been thought desirable to increase the capital.

The Company is at present possessed of extensive works at Millwall, which have been for some time past in full operation. The oil and other products are highly appreciated, and command a ready sale; but as the existing plant is not capable of producing more than 7,000 gallons of oil per week, it will be necessary to increase the works in order to meet the daily increasing demand.

The subjoined statement of the profits to be derived from the undertaking, deduced from the experience of actual workings, is based upon a calculation of the highest price of labour and raw material, and the lowest value of the manufactured articles.

Statement of Weekly Expenditure and Receipts in the working of Fifty Stills now in operation at the Company's Works, Millwall.

Equal to £21,924. 10s. per annum, or nearly 22 per cent. on the present entire capital of the Company, derived from the manufacture of oil, &c., at the Millwall Works alone.

Other sources of income are not taken into account in the foregoing estimate, among which may be stated the profit to be derived from the sale of the raw material.

No estimate is made of the profit of making oil in Cuba; but as the works there, after making some unimportant and not very expensive alterations, can in all probability be made to produce at least some five or six thousand gallons per week, it may fairly be concluded that the profits will be considerable, as the consumption of oil in the island is very large, it appearing by the Custom-house return for 1857, that the value of oil and other articles imported for burning purposes was between £200,000 and £300,000.

The Directors are of opinion that the sum of 12s. per share now proposed to be paid will be ample for the efficient working of the undertaking; but should it hereafter be deemed advisable to call up any further portion of the capital, the amount of such call at any one time will not exceed 4s. per share, and three months' notice at least will be given before payment is required.

Copies of Prospectuses and any other information may be obtained on application to Messrs. SHORE and KIRK, Sharebrokers, Red Lion-street, Manchester.

ABRIDGED PROSPECTUS.

To receive in England money on deposit at a fixed rate of interest, secured by debenture bonds, and to invest such money, together with the paid-up capital, on mortgage of freehold property in Australasia, where the ordinary rate of interest is much higher than in England. Advances will be made on first-class improved freehold estates only, except where required for improvements, when a satisfactory report from the Company's Surveyor has been received. Under no circumstances will the Company lend on any but a first mortgage, nor at any time in excess of one-half of the estimated selling value.

To invest money on mortgage of real estate, rates, tolls, assessments, and other approved securities in these colonies for persons seeking a higher rate of interest than can be safely obtained in England.

To collect rents and other property, on commission, for absentees; thus providing an agency free from the risks now frequently incurred, where an individual is employed.

To transact in the United Kingdom and elsewhere the financial and other agency business of the Governments, Municipalities, Public Bodies, and Joint-Stock Companies of these colonies; and also to effect the sale in England of colonial shares and other securities; as affording the most reliable channel of authentic information regarding the value of such property.

Applications for shares may be sent to the Bankers, to the Brokers, or to the Manager at the Offices of the Company (where also full prospectuses and forms of application can be obtained); they must in all cases be accompanied by a payment of 10s. per share on the number applied for. If no allotment be made, the money so paid will be returned in full.

MINES, RAILWAYS, BANK, STEAMSHIP, and INSURANCE SHARES BOUGHT, SOLD, or EXCHANGED.

Capitalists who seek safe and profitable investments, free from risk, should act only upon the soundest information; the market prices of the day are for the most part governed by the immediate supply and demand, together with the operations of speculators without reference to the bona fide merits of the property.

Mines afford a wider range for profit than any other public securities, and pay dividends bi-monthly, varying from 15 to 30 per cent. per annum. Instances frequently occur of young Mines rising in value 400 to 500 per cent. The undersigned devotes special attention to the above, and affords every information to capitalists, and effects purchases or sales upon the best possible terms.

ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY, FOR FIRE, LIFE, AND ANNUITIES, No. 29, LOMBARD-STREET, LONDON, E.C.; AND ROYAL INSURANCE-BUILDINGS, LIVERPOOL.

CAPITAL—TWO MILLIONS.

FIRE BRANCH.

Notwithstanding the large accessions of business made annually through a long series of years, which obviously increase the difficulty of further advances, yet the fire premiums of the year 1859 rise above those of the preceding year by a larger sum than has been obtained by the increase of any single year since the formation of the Company, excepting the year 1853, disclosing an advance of 50 PER CENT. IN THREE YEARS.

The following figures exhibit the progress of the whole Fire Branch, running over the last ten years:—

	Total Premium received.	Increase of the year above each preceding one.
1850 .....	£ 44,027 10 0	£ 9,557 19 8
1852 .....	76,925 4 2	24,251 18 3
1854 .....	128,459 11 4	15,895 7 0
1856 .....	151,733 9 6	21,672 17 7
1858 .....	196,148 2 6	21,098 17 10
1859 .....	228,914 7 3	32,166 4 9

Placing the Company among the very largest offices in the Kingdom. Indeed, it is believed that there are now only three offices in existence which equal it in Fire revenue.

LIFE BUSINESS.

The Bonus apportioned to the Assured, with participation, amounts to £2 per cent. per annum, to be added to the original sum assured of EVERY PARTICIPATING POLICY effected previously to the 1st of January, 1858, FOR EACH ENTIRE YEAR that it had been in existence since the last appropriation of Bonus thereon, and is ONE OF THE LARGEST BONUSES EVER DECLARED.

The PAID-UP and INVESTED CAPITAL, including Life Funds, amounts to upwards of £700,000 sterling.

Actuary—PETER HARDY, Esq., F.R.S.

This Corporation has granted Assurances on Lives for a period exceeding one hundred and thirty years, having issued its first policy on the 7th June, 1721.

Two-thirds, or 66 per cent. of the entire profits are given to the Assured.

Policies may be opened under any of the following plans, viz.:—
At a low rate of premium, without participation in profits, or at a somewhat higher rate, entitling the assured, either after the first five years, to an annual abatement of premium for the remainder of life, or, after payment of the first premium, to a participation in the ensuing Quinquennial Bonus.

The high character which this ancient Corporation has maintained during nearly a century and a-half, secures to the public a full and faithful declaration of profits.

The Corporation bears the whole expenses of management, thus giving to the Assured, conjoined with the protection afforded by its Corporate Fund, advantages equal to those of any system of Mutual Assurance.

All Policies are issued Free from Stamp Duty, or from charge of any description whatever, beyond the Premium.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION OF AMERICA.

AMID the gloom which is impressed by each arrival from America, a gloom which is now beginning to affect large branches of our trade, and is inducing that most pernicious kind of fear—a vague fear—it is important that we should not lose sight of such reassuring signs as are presented in the latest American accounts. It is only in a commercial and financial sense that the political disruption in America—the term United States is no longer applicable—can hurt us. Let us examine, then, if some features have not arisen during the last fortnight of a character to preserve our interests here from the contagion of blind alarm.

It is becoming more generally recognised that the monetary pressure in America is now drawing to an end. There may be a secession of the South from the North, a complete disruption of the Union, and even an armed conflict between the two parties; but in no event that we can foresee, short of that extreme contingency which few people expect—a long and desolating civil war—is it possible that the American money market can be reduced to the straits lately witnessed. In any financial difficulty the worst of the pressure is always experienced at first. The period of panic is that when the community are suddenly overtaken by some unforeseen calamity, or by the heavy shadow which precedes it, the operation of which is sometimes worse than the calamity itself. The period of panic is that when all ordinary calculations are suddenly dislocated, or when their speedy dislocation is threatened. People are caught with too large paper engagements—with inadequate reserves. What is true of merchants is true of bankers; and, when merchants and bankers all set to work together to gather in their resources in an available form, no matter at what sacrifice, the entire community are driven to act upon one policy—that of restriction. Every individual wishes to make his position secure; no one wishes to lend at the moment. When all are borrowers and none lenders, the value of money becomes exorbitant, even upon the most undoubted securities, whilst those of a lower order can scarcely be negotiated at any price. It was under the influence of this state of things that the rate of discount at New York lately rose to 18 or 20 per cent. for the best bills, and to 30 per cent. for second or third class, and that the exchange on London fell to 100. There were no buyers of bills on London, or, in fact, of any other commodity.

But this desperate phase of the American money market is past. The excessive pressure brought its corrective and remedy. As a result of all this eager bidding for money, the wants of the American community have been supplied. Capital will always flow to the market that offers relatively the highest price for it. The Americans offered their produce and securities upon temptingly low terms, and we availed ourselves of their necessities to some extent. Part of the two millions and three-quarters sterling in gold which we have sent out has unquestionably gone to pick up bargains in America. Amongst those bargains may be included the bills drawn upon ourselves, and which we practically discharge in New York, instead of in the usual place—namely, here. It is a perfectly legitimate operation, and a safe one, provided the names attached to the bills will bear scrutiny. So far as this operation has been carried, we are virtually meeting our engagements to America before they are due. It is a course which has entailed considerable inconvenience upon us, as a nation, but the convenience to America has been so vastly greater that the business will pay us uncommonly well.

What has been done by England has been done by other nations. France, Germany, the rest of the Continent of Europe, even Cuba and South America, have all had a pressure put upon them. Streams of gold from every quarter are converging upon one centre—New York. There can be but one result. The pressure in the money market there will soon be at an end. The New York bank returns last published show an increase equal to nearly £600,000 in the specie. This is but a foretaste of what will follow. It must be remembered that the recent excessive demand for specie in America, under which nearly all the banks in the South and West succumbed, was caused merely by apprehension. The stock of specie was as large as that held for some time past, and which the public had apparently considered adequate to all requirements. At least, this is to be inferred from the circumstance of there having been no “run” for it. But suddenly the fear arose that there would be a disturbance, and that, as usually happens at such times, the specie reserves in the banks would be heavily trenched upon. This fear is infectious, and itself brings about the very result apprehended. Each holder of bank-notes looks suspiciously at his neighbour, and hastens to forestall him in getting his paper cashed, till the banks can no longer meet the strain, and are shut up.

Now, had it been believed generally that the banks could discharge in specie the entire amount of their notes that could be spared from circulation and presented at the counter, there would have been no “run” upon them, and no stoppage of payment. This consideration, at the present moment, will have a powerful effect in promoting the already rapid accumulation of specie in New York—the great financial centre. It is seen that the banks are now getting strong in their “specie line,” and that a vast foreign supply is pouring in, in addition to that from California. Accordingly, few persons will want specie. The existing amount will be left unmolested in New York, and the bulk of the in-coming supplies will be stored up likewise. There will, it is true, be some absorption both in the South and West. The heavy depreciation in the notes of the banks in those quarters will tempt many purchases of them. But it is highly probable that these purchases will be made, to a great extent, with the specie on the spot, which will come out of a thousand holes and corners, now that the immediate financial alarm has passed over.

Every consideration, therefore, points to an impending glut of gold in New York, and to a proportionate fall in the value of money there. The rate of discount for the best bills, recently 18 to 20 per cent., has already gone down to 9, and is still falling. The process cannot be arrested. It is the inevitable effect of the law of supply and demand. A little while, and surely we may argue that it will give some impulse to the exchange in a sense favourable to England. The Americans will, ere long, become tired of letting us buy from them at low prices their bills upon ourselves. They will make the operation less advantageous for us, and less tempting to us, by buying or holding those bills themselves, and then the exchange will rise, and the shipments of gold from this country will diminish.

We drew attention last week to the favourable influence that must be exercised upon the exchange, by the obligation under which America lies of paying an enormous sum this very month as interest on her securities held in this country. If we take also into account the large sum in specie already sent to America from our ports in less than two months, with regard to which it is unnecessary to observe that the more we pay now, the less we shall have to pay hereafter;—if we consider, too, the large number of markets which have been laid under contribution in order to relieve America; and if we recollect, finally, that that nation, as a rule, owes large balances to Europe, which she defrays out of her Californian gold, we shall find fresh reason to entertain a hopeful view with regard to American finance, whatever we may think of American politics. The pressure upon our gold reserves for that quarter cannot, according to reasonable calculations, go on much longer upon its present scale; and the faster gold accumulates in America, and the faster the value of money there falls, the sooner will a check be given to the shipments from this side.

We think we have shown that, even in the event of a fratricidal war between the North and the South, the vital financial questions at issue have already been to a considerable extent solved, and in a reassuring sense. The time of American danger—we still keep to the commercial view—was that prior to the arrival of relief. But relief has now arrived out, and in the most tangible form. Any wholesale prostration of credit in America is now very improbable. Is not that country, in fact, teeming with natural wealth, actually gathered into her storehouses? Her last harvest was the finest ever known. She is, therefore, rich in produce, and is becoming rich in gold. We conclude that the gold will, to use a common phrase, “beat everything else,” and that the progress of the American money market towards ease will be absolutely promoted by the continuance of the political turmoil—for this means a continued check to trade, a reduced amount of commercial paper afloat, and a diminished demand for the means of cashing that paper.

Whether the drain of specie to America will slacken sufficiently soon to obviate the prospect of a further rise in the rate of discount at the Bank of England is a question which may be discussed in a less confident tone.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION OF FRANCE.

In the preceding article we have confined ourselves to the consideration of the financial pressure put upon us by America. But we are also pressed upon from another side—namely, from France. In many quarters the fear of what France may do, in order to make our capital available for her extrication from her pressing difficulties, is greater than the fear of what America can do. France is nearer at hand. The bulk of the exchange business, not merely between the Continent and England, but between the Continent, England, and America—in short, the bulk of the exchange business of the world—is conducted through London and Paris. There are many ways of attracting capital temporarily to a locality where it is urgently wanted, as long as these great financial ramifications exist. Houses on the Continent can either sell securities here, and draw money from us, or buy up the bills on this country existing on the Continent; or, thirdly, they can create such paper to a large amount, send it over here for discount, and get gold from us. The Bank of France has before now put this power into operation, to our great inconvenience. It may, if pressed, do so again. It has lost fully £8,000,000 sterling of gold within five months. This fact attests sufficiently the serious character of the drain upon it. It is urged in some quarters that the present is a time for hope; that the rise in the rate of discount of the Bank of France to 7 per cent.—a point equal to our own—denotes a return to correct principles; and that a check will soon be given to the foreign drain. But those who entertain this view seem to lose sight of the fact that the financial errors committed by France—her extravagance and undue greediness for foreign investments—date from years back, whilst her adoption of a sounder policy is of very recent occurrence. She has been engaged for years in sowing the seeds of difficulty, and has delayed reformation until a time when, owing to the occurrence of a very deficient harvest, it was impossible to continue in the old path any longer. The combination of adverse circumstances being now serious, it will probably be found that even the rise in the value of money in France to 7 per cent. will not speedily arrest the draught upon her specie reserves.

There is another circumstance which, as we have before pointed out, promotes the efflux of gold from the French Bank, and practically counteracts the remedial steps which it has adopted. We allude to the error—the complete violation of banking principles—which is involved in the Bank's permitting the note circulation to expand at the very time when the specie, upon which the notes are based, is being drained away. The Bank does not curtail its note issues by restricting its discounts, through a weak fear of troubling trade. It does not call in notes by throwing out railway securities, upon which it has made advances, because it fears to embarrass the railway companies, whose works must be kept going. Finally, it does not adopt the expedient of calling in the loans which it has made on Government securities, because to do so would throw down the price of the Rentes—a matter upon which the Government are morbidly sensitive. We hear shrewd observers extract comfort from the fact that, whilst the rate of discount at the Bank of France is 7 per cent., the best bills are negotiable in Paris in the open market as low as 5 per cent. But this merely illustrates the way in which, by the expansion of its note circulation, the Bank permits its late restrictive action to be rendered of no avail.

The Bank of France is now casting about in every part of Europe for the means of relief. Characteristically, it is seeking rather for a palliative than for a real remedy. It does not take the best measures for correcting the foreign drain, but is endeavouring to convert its silver into gold, in order that it may be able to go on paying it away. It is known to be now buying gold—probably with silver—in Belgium, Germany, and other places. According to a rumour circulated yesterday, it is negotiating with the Bank of Russia, with a view to procure a million sterling of gold against a like amount of silver. If these endeavours be successful, the French Bank may still maintain its ground, and give us breathing time to recover from the strain to which we are now subjected by America. But, in the contrary event, there will be no alternative but that of a suspension of specie payments by the Bank of France. Lamentable though the effects of such a step would be upon the best interests of the country, we have too good an opinion of the ingenuity of the Government and its scribes not to believe that it would be shown—on paper—to be one of the best possible steps for the advancement of the Empire, and for the carrying out of those “missionary” ideas which have long proved a stumbling-block in its path, and a serious obstacle to tranquillity in every neighbouring state.

SOME REASONS FOR THINKING THAT THE AMERICAN EXCHANGE WILL IMPROVE.

ALTHOUGH a fierce struggle now appears to be almost inevitable in the United States, its effects have been in some measure discounted already, and it is gratifying to perceive that the embarrassing commercial complications of the past few weeks, consequent on the election of Mr. Lincoln, are at length subsiding. Influences are now at work which, unless counteracted, will gradually tend to restore the exchanges to a point less unlike their normal state. First of all it will be remembered that the derangement in the exchanges was contemporaneous with the threatening attitude of South Carolina. The moment that the idea of secession and the more improbable contingency of a resort to repudiation of debts was conjured up, the New York private bankers, in whose hands the exchange business chiefly rests, put a large quantity of their paper upon the exchange market, with the view of preparing themselves for the demands that might be made upon them; and, the quantity of produce paper being at the same time large, the rate of exchange was necessarily beaten down in order that the bankers on the one hand might get possession of funds in a legitimate kind of way, and that the produce dealers on the other hand might be reimbursed for the shipments of cotton, grain, and provisions, made by them to this country. To the satisfying of the wants of both parties, the shipments of gold made from England must have contributed in no small degree; but it is a reassuring consideration that the New York private bankers have had no occasion to make use of the funds with which they provided themselves. The apparently necessary consequence is that the New York bankers will, within the next week or two, provide in London for their own drafts sold at sixty days, and they will do so probably by clearing the New York exchange market of the produce paper still unsold. The exchange, therefore, can scarcely fail to be restored before long to a less unsatisfactory point; although, in the absence of the usual purchases of American merchants in our markets at the present season, which is unquestionably a serious feature, the upward movement in the exchange, for some time to come, must be to some extent restrained.

A few weeks ago it appeared probable that throughout the winter the shipments of breadstuffs from New York and the other Atlantic ports would be continued on the liberal scale with which we have been for some time familiar, but, after the shipments of the present month, we are not likely to have any further considerable supplies of American grain until next June. In one respect this is to be regretted, because a slackening in the supplies of grain leads to the disagreeable inference of higher prices here, but it is to be taken into account that, so long as we were receiving grain from America at the liberal rate lately experienced, there was little prospect of the exchanges being rectified. It may be hoped that, on the resumption of the American grain trade next June the existing difficulties in America will be settled, and that our grain receipts will then be more nearly balanced—though, perhaps, not quite so—by the regular trade exports. Why there should be a marked slackening of the American grain shipments can be made very clear. The available American supplies are from ten to twelve hundred miles inland, and the usual channels of communication, namely, the Lakes and the Erie Canal, are now frozen; but there was some hope that large quantities of wheat would be sent to the mills and converted into flour, and in that form sent by railway to the seaboard, and afterwards shipped to Liverpool. The failures among the receivers, who would have been the medium of this winter traffic, and the general distrust that now prevails, have, however, checked the disposition to send flour from the Western to the Eastern States; and at the moment the prospect is that of a decided falling off in the grain shipments within the next few weeks. The recent published statements made by the Committee of the New York Corn Exchange—which are reliable—leave us in little doubt on this point. The receipts of flour for the week ending the 24th December had fallen off to 16,100 barrels, and the wheat and corn receipts to 7,000 bushels. For the week ending 26th November—a month before—the receipts were 155,400 barrels flour, 1,218,100 bushels wheat, and 187,000 bushels corn: a comparison that needs no comment. The stocks of flour and grain in New York on the 27th December were as follows:—

STOCK OF FLOUR IN NEW YORK, DEC. 27.
1858. Barrels.	...	1859. Barrels.	...	1860. Barrels.	...
721,541	...	917,529	...	671,000	...
STOCK OF GRAIN IN NEW YORK, DEC. 27.
	1858. Bushels.	1859. Bushels.		1860. Bushels.
Wheat	1,211,312	1,915,388	...	3,535,741	...
Corn	669,690	79,400	...	2,712,100	...
Rye	43,500	30,500	...	26,400	...
Barley	807,416	868,795	...	169,574	...
Oats	560,200	1,567,100	...	490,790	...
Total	3,292,118	4,461,183	...	6,934,605	...

The increase is confined to wheat and Indian corn.

When it is considered that the consumption of New York is fully 65,000 barrels of flour weekly, and that the British North American Provinces, the West India Islands, and the Continent of Europe are buyers in New York besides ourselves, it is evident that a greatly diminished quantity of American grain will fall to our share until next June unless the receipts at New York rise considerably above the usual winter level of 16,000 barrels of flour weekly.

If we turn to the cotton trade, we are led also to the conclusion, that we have now got through some of our difficulties with the United States. A considerable proportion of the specie shipments made from Liverpool during the past few weeks must have been destined for the purchase of cotton. Cotton, it is needless to say, purchased by specie sent out from Liverpool will not be represented by bills of exchange in the New York exchange market, and that market will therefore be relieved from a proportionate amount of bills which in the regular course of trade would have been placed upon it. And it is well known that a considerable quantity of cotton has come forward recently from New Orleans and other Southern ports without being drawn for at all, in consequence of the adverse state of the exchange; a circumstance pointing to the same conclusion that the exchange market will before long be relieved.

With regard to cotton, the question arises whether it is wise for our cotton-spinners to raise the price of cotton in the United States to a speculative point against themselves. The United States cannot consume their own cotton, but it must be sent to Liverpool for sale, and why not wait until it comes? Last week we endeavoured to show that even were the Southern seaboard to be blockaded by the few ships at the disposal of Mr. Lincoln, after the 4th of March, the production of cotton need not be very seriously curtailed.

Manchester should, therefore, be calm, wait the course of events, and buy cotton as cheaply as possible. The prospects of the cotton trade are, it must be admitted, sufficiently involved in doubt to render it very undesirable for any party here to endeavour to excite alarm. The essentially commercial character and tendencies of the American people form a strong guarantee that a mania for destruction of property and for rooting up the seeds of commercial wealth will not rage for long.

THE RETURNS OF THE BANK OF FRANCE AND BANK OF ENGLAND CONTRASTED.

IN resuming the subject of the contrast between the returns issued by the Bank of France and those issued by the Bank of England, as bearing upon the question of the amount of information required from the latter, in order that the public may know its real position, we propose, in the first place, to glance at the last return of the Bank of France, especially as the present condition of that establishment is attracting so large a share of public attention. This return, which was issued on the 10th instant, furnishes on the credit side the particulars of twenty different items of its business. They comprise an item which we have never seen in the accounts of any other bank, either in this country or elsewhere. Whilst giving the amount of the bills discounted, the Bank also furnishes the amount of the bills overdue and unpaid. This is a species of information which it would be well for all banks to publish, for by this means the public may be kept acquainted not only with the amount of the mercantile securities held, on which the bank has advanced money, but also with the amount of losses sustained in that branch of its business. We may observe, too, that in addition to the monthly report of the proceedings of the Bank of France, the proprietors meet once a year, when the Governor reads a report of the operations of the Bank for the past year, in which a full and elaborate account is given of the nature of the business carried on, what new connections have been formed, the changes in the rate of interest, and the profits made by the bank, together with a lucid description of the operations of all the branch banks.

It appears by the return recently issued, that the capital of the Bank of France is 182,500,000*fr.*, or £7,300,000 sterling, fully paid up, and that it has a reserve fund of 22,105,750*fr.*, or £884,230, the note circulation being 778,905,427*fr.*, or £31,156,217. It has in deposit belonging to the Treasury 82,183,061*fr.*, or £3,287,322, and of deposits belonging to the mercantile classes, customers of the Bank, and of its branches, 207,600,475*fr.*, or £8,304,019, with sundry other items, amounting together to 20,000,000*fr.*, or £800,000. The whole of these deposits are payable on demand.

Now let us see, on the other side of the account, what the Bank has as a set off against its liabilities. The first item of assets is the cash in the Bank and its branches, which amounts to 349,670,674*fr.*, or £13,986,827. The amount of bills discounted by the Bank and its branches is 608,596,977*fr.*, or £24,343,879. The advances on French public securities are 39,624,700*fr.*, or £1,584,988; on the security of railways, 76,363,700*fr.*, or £3,054,548; on Credit Foncier and branch bank scrip, 995,600*fr.*, or £39,824; advances to the State under the agreement of January 30, 1848, and in Government Stock, "not disposable," 47,980,750*fr.*, or £1,919,230. The Bank also possesses 53,708,840*fr.*, or £2,148,353 of Government Stock, "disposable," and, under the item of Rentes immobilisées (law of June, 1857), 100,000,000*fr.*, or £4,000,000. The other items on the credit side of the account consist of the value of the Bank premises, landed property of the branch banks, &c.

In examining the several items above enumerated, it will appear that, irrespective of the cash in hand, amounting to £13,986,827 sterling, the Bank has only 53,708,840*fr.*, or £2,148,353, convertible into cash to discharge obligations payable on demand amounting to £44,431,788. As the notes of the Bank of France are the only description of paper money recognised by the State and allowed to circulate throughout the whole of the Empire, and are payable to bearer on demand at the head-office in Paris, or any of its branches, we cannot help being struck at first sight with the perilous position in which it is placed by locking up so large an amount of its funds in unconvertible securities, and by permitting so excessive an issue of bank-notes.

On the occasion of the last renewal of the exclusive privileges of the Bank of France, in 1857, the legislature imposed certain conditions—among others the following:—"The Bank of France may, if circumstances require it, raise the rate of discount and the interest on its advances above 6 per cent; the profits which the Bank may make from the exercise of this privilege, shall be deducted from the sums annually divided among the shareholders, and shall be added to the capital."

We have now to advert to the published return of the condition of the Bank of England, which, as we have before stated, it is very desirable should go more into detail. The basis of the prosperity of a bank is credit, and that credit will continue and grow so long as the public have confidence in the honour, integrity and solvency of the parties connected with the bank. This confidence can only be arrived at through publicity of the accounts. The following form, if adopted, would convey as much information as the public could reasonably desire to possess. It would not be necessary to interfere with the return of the issue department of the bank, for that speaks for itself; it is only as regards the banking department that more information is required:—

It may be said that all this information is more than the public have a right to expect; but where extraordinary trust is imposed and large profits are awarded, to the exclusion of all competitors, the nation has a right to look for the fullest information, in order that it may be able to come to a right judgment as to how far the parties so endowed are worthy of the confidence reposed in them. The value of information such as the above would be of the greatest possible advantage to the depositors and customers of the bank, to the note-holders, who may be considered creditors of the bank, as well as to the public in general; for they would be kept acquainted with the variations in the amount of bills discounted and also of those dishonoured. They would also know what portion of their deposits were lent out on the security of railways and other public enterprises. Such information, instead of lessening, would, if possible, increase the confidence of the public in the stability of the Bank, without in the remotest degree trenching upon its privileges. This is an age of progress and of inquiry, and what would suffice twenty years ago will not suffice now.

RAILWAY DIVIDENDS.

It is officially announced that the directors of the London, Brighton, and South Coast Railway Company, having had the accounts for the past half-year submitted to them, have decided upon recommending the payment of a dividend for the half-year of £3. 10*s.* per cent. on the consolidated stock of the company, making the total dividend for the year amount to 6 per cent.

This dividend is not considered very satisfactory, being merely at the same rate as last year, although the receipts have increased considerably.

The report of the directors of the Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire Railway has been issued. The accounts of the half-year show a total revenue from all sources of £359,528. 9*s.* 7*d.*, a total expenditure of £188,137. 1*s.* 9*d.*, and a balance of net profit of £171,391. 7*s.* 10*d.* The debenture and other interest charges, the canal annuities, the dividend on preference shares, &c., &c., make a total charge against the above net balance of £172,056. 9*s.* 11*d.* of £141,555. 2*s.* 3*d.*, and leave £30,501. 7*s.* 8*d.* available. A dividend on the ordinary stock at the rate of £1. 10*s.* per cent. per annum will absorb £29,397. 15*s.*, and leave a balance of £1,103. 12*s.* 8*d.* It is intimated that the rumoured combination of two of the larger railway companies has rendered necessary a discussion which is still proceeding between this company and its allies, in reference to such arrangements as may best protect the interests of the proprietors, and tend to the development of the resources of the undertakings. Should these discussions lead to any new arrangement, they will be reported without delay to the proprietors.

NEWSPAPER STATISTICS.—From the Newspaper Press Directory for 1861 we extract the following on the present position of the Newspaper Press:—"There are now published in the United Kingdom 1,102 newspapers, distributed as follows:—England, 791; Wales, 28; Scotland, 138; Ireland, 132; and the British Isles, 13. Of these there are 39 daily papers published in England, 8 in Scotland, 12 in Ireland, and 2 in the British Isles. On reference to preceding editions of this useful Directory, we find the following interesting facts, viz., that in 1821 there were published in the United Kingdom 267 journals; in 1831 295; in 1841, 472; in 1851, 563; but in 1861 there are now established and circulated 1,102 papers, showing that an extraordinary impulse has been given to every description of newspaper enterprise. The magazines now in course of publication, including the quarterly reviews, number 481."

THE STATE OF TRADE.

(COMPILED FROM NUMEROUS LOCAL REPORTS.)

THE accounts received this week from most of the manufacturing districts report increased dullness. Except in certain localities, it cannot be said that absolute depression exists, but there is an almost general slackening of enterprise. In some districts the falling off in the demand for America is rather severely felt.

The accounts from Manchester state that the yarn market has been very strong in consequence of the activity at Liverpool in cotton, and spinners have been demanding  $\frac{1}{4}$ d. per lb. advance upon the rates of last week. Any seller able to take Friday's rates might have sold heavily, but the advance stops business. The demand was very general, from all markets home and foreign, at previous rates, but there has not been much business done at the advance. The rise in cotton and yarns has not been responded to at all by manufacturers or by purchasers of manufactured goods. There is nothing in the accounts from India to encourage buyers in the present state of the market. In other branches of the cloth trade there is but little doing. Printing cloths and domestics are quiet, without change in prices. The sellers of these goods and of T-cloths have tried in some cases to obtain a small advance, but not with much success. Messrs. John Slagg and Co. report:—"Since our last report cotton and yarns have advanced  $\frac{1}{4}$ d. to  $\frac{1}{2}$ d. per lb., and to-day manufacturers are asking a similar advance on all descriptions of goods, but succeed in only a very few instances, and for small quantities. At last week's rates, however, a considerable business could be done, buyers being willing to go on at the extreme prices then current."

At Rochdale the market has been rather flat, there being no great demand for either flannels or wool, and the tone of the trade is scarcely so good as of late, the unsettled state of America being one of the causes. The manufacturers continue, however, in fair employ, and stocks are not large for the season of the year. There is a good demand for Yorkshire low and heavy goods, the manufacturers of which are very busy; some of them, indeed, working overtime. Prices in general are firm.

At Leeds, all things considered, there has been a fair market in the cloth-halls for woollen fabrics, chiefly in light goods and mixtures. The tone of the trade was moderately cheerful. The prospect of a protracted winter is rather checking the sale of goods for the spring in the home trade, while the threatening aspect of affairs in the United States is doing the same in the foreign trade.

From Bradford the report, dated Thursday, states that no change has arisen this week in any branch of the trade, and things are as flat, or more so, than they have yet been. There is very little doing in wool, and the sales of the week are very small. Prices are not quotably lower for any class. There is no improved demand for yarns for export. The ports continue frozen, causing any orders received to be delayed in execution. Spinners act with caution, holding very little stock, and buying only what they require. There are a great number of frames idle. There is an average attendance of buyers in the piece market, but their purchases are limited to immediate requirements. Now that milder weather has come the merchants will find a market for their spring goods, but with so many pieces made for America and thrown upon this market, this favourable change will not be felt for some time by our manufacturers.

At Huddersfield there has been a very quiet market, the attendance of buyers having been small. No doubt the severity of the weather has a tendency to restrict the sale of everything at present, except winter goods, but this circumstance will tell in favour of the general trade by and by. Prices remain about the same.

At Leicester there is very little doing in the hosiery trade, business generally remaining in a very quiet state. Manufacturers hold off producing, except to order, and, consequently, many of the workpeople are unemployed. At Loughborough and all the other hosiery districts business is extremely dull.

At Nottingham the lace trade is still dull in most branches. Now, however, that January is half over, business will probably take a favourable turn, as we are now arriving at a period when trade generally begins to revive. The fancy trade continues without much change, some fair orders having been executed during the past fortnight. A great deal of labour is unemployed, stocks being kept down as much as practicable. In hosiery there is, at present, but very little change noticeable. In some branches rather more is doing, but, as a whole, business is very depressed; indeed, there has not been so much distress among both the lace-makers and framework-knitters for a number of years past.

At Birmingham trade is characterised by much languor; the number of the unemployed is increasing, and many other of the artisans are not making more than three or four days.

The Staffordshire trades are, for the most part, depressed; many of the works will be stopped soon from want of material, consequent on the stoppage of the canals, much inconvenience, on that account, having already been experienced.

THE MEMORIAL TO LORD PALMERSTON.—The letter to Lord Palmerston on the reduction of the National Expenditure, which we published in our last impression, has already received the signatures of upwards of one hundred members of Parliament, and many additions are confidently expected.

THE DIVISION OF LARGE BONDS INTO SMALL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "MONEY MARKET REVIEW."

SIR,—As it appears that the Government of Buenos Ayres will authorise the exchange of their bonds (for £500 each) for new obligations of smaller denomination, it occurs to me to suggest, through your influential journal, that an application should be made for a like optional conversion of the £500 Indian Government Debentures of 1858 and 1859, provided the Act of Parliament will permit of such variation. The expense, of course, should be borne by parties availing themselves of the option.

I presume that by this change the prices would approximate to those of India Bonds much more nearly than is the case at present; and the concession ought to be made readily, as the pending loan must tend to depreciate all Indian Securities in some degree.—I am, sir, your obedient servant,

BANK MEETINGS.

LONDON AND WESTMINSTER BANK.

The annual general meeting of the proprietors of the London and Westminster Bank was held on Wednesday, Jan. 16, at their house in Lothbury; Alderman DAVID SALOMONS, M.P., in the chair.

The following was the half-yearly report of the directors, read by the general manager and secretary, Mr. EWINGS:—

"The directors have to report that—after making ample provision for all bad and doubtful debts, paying the Income-tax, setting apart £2,000 towards the buildings of the bank, and presenting a gratuity of 10 per cent. on their salaries to all the officers of the establishment—the net profits of the bank for the last half-year amount to £112,816. 7s. 8d. This sum, added to £11,222. 1s. 2d., the unappropriated balance of the preceding half-year, will amount to £124,038. 8s. 10d. Out of this amount the directors have paid the interest on the rest or surplus fund, at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, and they now declare a dividend to the shareholders at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, and by way of further dividend out of the profits a bonus of 7 per cent. on the paid-up capital. After these payments are made, there will be a balance of £18,913. 8s. 10d., and the directors recommend that the sum of £7,972. 0s. 5d. be applied in total liquidation of the alterations and repairs at the City office, and at the Westminster and Marylebone branches, and that the remainder, £10,941. 8s. 5d., be carried to the profit and loss account of the current year. The vacancy in the direction, occasioned by the death of the late Charles Gibbes, Esq., has been filled up by the nomination of William Wallace, Esq., subject to the confirmation of the present meeting. The directors who retire by rotation are William Haigh, Esq., Joseph Esdaile, Esq., and James William Gilbert, Esq., F.R.S., all of whom, being eligible, offer themselves for re-election.

"Dr.—To proprietors for paid-up capital, £1,000,000; to amount due by the bank on deposits, circular notes, &c., £12,484,454. 12s. 11d.; to rest or surplus fund, £205,000; to balance of profit and loss account, Jan. 30, 1860, £11,222. 1s. 2d.; to net profits of the past half-year, £112,816. 7s. 8d.—£13,813,493. 1s. 9d. Cr.—By Government Stock, Exchequer Bills, and India Bonds, £1,682,334. 13s. 1d.; by other securities, including bills discounted, loans to customers, &c., £11,107,559. 10s. 3d.; by cash in hand, £1,023,548. 18s. 5d.—£13,813,493. 1s. 9d.

"Profit and Loss.—Dr.:—To total expenditure of the seven establishments, including rent, taxes, salaries, stationery, &c., with a gratuity of 10 per cent. on their salaries to the officers of the establishment, £38,296. 6s. 8d. To amount set apart towards the building of the Bank, £2,000. To amount added to rest or surplus fund by interest thereon at 5 per cent. per annum, £5,125; payment of the dividend now declared, at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum for the last half-year on the paid-up capital of £1,000,000, £30,000; to bonus of 7 per cent. on the capital, £70,000; balance of profit and loss account, £18,913. 8s. 10d.—£164,334. 15s. 6d. "Rest or surplus fund.—Dr.: Present amount, £210,125. Cr.: Amount on the 1st July, 1860, £205,000; by interest on ditto at five per cent. per annum, £5,125; total, £210,125.

"The dividend and bonus (without deduction of Income-tax) will be in course of payment on Monday, the 21st instant."

The CHAIRMAN said he had great pleasure in moving the adoption of this report, and as there were in it several points of interest, he had a few observations to make. In the first place, with regard to the great source of their profit, the deposits, the proprietors would see by this report that the deposits had amounted to nearly twelve millions and a half. This very large amount was made up almost wholly of deposits on current account, with some other items; and it presented an increase of about £1,300,000 over the last year; the amount of deposits now being above half a million more than it was last July. The effect of enabling persons to bring their money to be employed safely by this bank, and to be returned to them with a fair rate of interest calculated according to the present condition of the money market, when money was so much in demand, was naturally to attract this amount of capital to the London and Westminster Bank, by which it was made to circulate securely and beneficially for the public. The directors had been enabled, during the past year, by the high rates allowed for money, to realise a profit from which dividends and bonus could be paid amounting to 20 per cent. altogether, which was more than they had ever been able to do before. As the result of their operations in working the proprietors' capital for the year now concluded, they had been able to return to each original shareholder one-fifth part of his subscribed capital. He (the chairman) hoped the proprietors would think that this was a pretty fair return for their capital entrusted to the directors' management and care. (Cheers.) Last year, indeed, at the period corresponding to this, they paid a dividend of 10 per cent. for the half year, which had just then concluded, but the dividend for the preceding half-year was then only 8 per cent., so that the whole amount of that year's dividends was 18 per cent., and in the year now terminated the dividends amounted to 20 per cent. Having accumulated, over and above this amount of profit, a balance of £18,900, to go towards the commencement of the present half-year, the directors thought it best to write off a sum of £8,000 for the repair of all the buildings, and for the cost of such alterations as had been found necessary, so that all their house property, whether freehold or leasehold, might be held as without any incumbrance upon it. After this deduction from the balance, they would still be able to carry forward about £11,000 to the account of the current half-year, since it was always an agreeable and satisfactory thing, whether in good or bad times, to have a nest-egg which they might lay by, and which might perhaps help to produce them an additional rate of dividend in the next half-yearly account. Now, the proprietors were of course all aware that the past year had not been without some drawbacks to its commercial prosperity. When he last had the pleasure of meeting them, in July, it was just at the time when those large failures in the leather trade occurred, which had since been the subject of so much discussion; and the directors then stated that they had thought it prudent to reserve, out of the profits of that half-year, the sum of £10,000, to meet any contingent losses that might arise from those failures, particularly in a district where the London and Westminster Bank had a large branch—the borough of Southwark. He was now happy to say, that their anticipations as to the limited amount of losses that might arise from those leather transactions, had so far been realised, that the sum of £10,000 referred to had proved more than amply sufficient to cover them. (Cheers.) The directors and managers of this bank might indeed take some credit to themselves in saying that the expected loss to be sustained by this bank, from those astounding failures which had shown such a reckless abuse of commercial credit, was little more than £5,000. And he must remark, in passing, that while the directors themselves were responsible to the proprietors for all the proceedings of this establishment, and while they did take credit to themselves for their active superintendence of all its affairs, some credit was yet due to the excellent manager of the Borough branch, Mr. Withers, and also to Mr. Higley, the very excellent and able manager of the town discount business, at their chief establishment in the City; but he would take a later opportunity, when the vote of thanks to the officers of the bank was moved, to descant more fully upon their merits. Perhaps he ought to say, in order to avoid any misconception, since the name of this bank has been mentioned in those examinations in the Bankruptcy Court, which had been protracted, necessarily, to such an unusual length, that this bank had itself lost nothing in the way of discount. (Cheers.) It was due to their manager, and it was to the credit of the establishment altogether, to make this statement. There had been losses sustained in the Borough by houses which kept cash with this bank, but they, of course, by the nature of their business, had to pass bills under acceptance, some of which were drawn on Messrs. Streatfeild and Laurence; but otherwise, or in the way of discount, their bank had not been amongst the establishments which had furnished, or which had been applied to for those “teaspoons” or other accommodations that were so much spoken of in reference to the late unfortunate transactions. (Cheers.) Setting aside all occasion for boasting, it was the duty of the directors there, as elsewhere, for the honour of trade and for the sake of the public, to denounce in the strongest terms such gross abuses of public confidence and credit as had been recently exhibited in those cases. (Applause.) There was another matter of public interest to which he would direct attention. Whether we were now entering on troublous political times or not was what no one could say; but there could be no doubt that we were passing into a period in which more than ordinary care would be required in all commercial transactions. The troubles on the continent, the political divisions in America, and the bad harvest we had got, had created such a drain on the bullion of the country, in consequence of which the rates of the Bank of England were now high. The directors of the London and Westminster Bank, having had the experience of a somewhat similar emergency in 1857, would not be worthy of the confidence of their proprietors if they did not now show that they had gained some wisdom by that experience. They had now therefore endeavoured to correct the system of 1857, by not continuing applying to such extraordinary times the same rates allowed in receiving money on deposit that they had been in the habit of allowing in times of ordinary commercial facility. With a view to determine this question, a meeting of the joint stock banks took place, which this bank took the lead in calling; and for the interest of this bank and of all the other banks, a measure was suggested, which had been ratified by public opinion, and happily carried into effect. It was considered that, at a time when the Bank of England was resorting to extraordinary rates of discount for the purpose of protecting its bullion, the London and Westminster, and other banks should not, in receiving money on deposit, tread too closely upon those rates which the Bank of England fixed for its discounts. The directors had therefore fixed those new rates of interest on deposit which, he was happy to say, had received the sanction of the press and of public opinion, as being just to all their depositors, and a fair bargain for the banks, which had to bear all the brunt of stormy times; and it could not afterwards be said of them, in any case, that they had pushed forward to receive the money of all sorts of people, by offering to pay more for it than it was really worth. One other matter, which had occurred that very day, he would just allude to. The directors had voted £150 to be sent to the various metropolitan police offices, with a view to contribute a little towards mitigating the distress that now prevailed. (Cheers.) They felt that this great bank, making money as it did by means of trade, should do something in its corporate capacity, along with its neighbours, to relieve the distress caused by a stoppage of so many trades in this extraordinary weather; and he was glad to find that they had acted according to the wish of the proprietors. In conclusion, he was ready to answer any questions about the accounts, for there were no secrets in the management of this bank, which by prudence and judgment would continue, as he hoped, to deserve the confidence of the public, as one of the great establishments of the country. (Cheers.)

The resolution for adopting the report having been seconded,

Mr. T. H. SMITH said he would make one or two remarks. The directors had thought it right to set aside £8,000 to cover various items of outlay or expenditure on the buildings of the bank and its branches. He was happy to see they were thus able, after providing for the very satisfactory dividend now proposed, as well as for an increased reserve, to render their buildings free from debt. The building in which they were met was freehold; but he would venture to ask whether any of the other buildings were freehold, or were they all leasehold?

The CHAIRMAN would most readily answer that inquiry, and tell the proprietors, as nearly as he could, their condition with regard to buildings. That house in Lothbury, in order that it might be adapted to their present large business, had within the last ten years undergone two very expensive alterations to make it more commodious, and to give plenty of room for their customers, and breathing space for their clerks. They might see the great hall below, and a place underneath for keeping securities in, had been provided. These premises were suitable to their purpose, spacious, and healthy; yet so well had the money been husbanded which was laid out upon them, that what the City office had cost altogether was £51,000. The house was a freehold, and nearly £16,000 or £17,000 had been laid out in repairs or alterations. It now stood in their books as an asset of the value of £30,000, but its real value was very much greater, and he presumed that if it should ever come to be sold, it might even realise as much as the large building formerly belonging to Mr. Moxhay in Threadneedle-street, and now occupied by the Bank of London and other establishments, which was said to have realised £75,000. The building of the Westminster Branch was also a freehold, and had cost, with alterations, he believed, £18,000 or £20,000; it stood in their books as an asset of £11,000. The Bloomsbury branch was a crown leasehold; it had been rebuilt and made one of the best arranged places in the country; it had cost £21,000, and stood now at £9,500. The Marylebone branch in Stafford-place was a copyhold, and had cost £3,000. The Temple-bar premises were a recent purchase, which had cost them £21,000, and was put down as an asset of £18,500. The directors had been writing off £2,000 in the half-year for repairs or alterations of the buildings, but on this occasion, as they were doing so exceedingly well, they thought it better to propose that £8,000 should at once be written off from that account. There were two other branch buildings, one in Whitechapel and the other in Southwark, which were leaseholds, occupied at a rent, and there was no account due for repairs and alterations to them. The Southwark building was a good one, but required enlargement to accommodate the increased business, and the directors had therefore recently purchased a portion of the hotel adjoining it. They would either be able, with the sum written off on this account, and with the £2,000 to be applied to repairs and alterations this half-year, to pay off the whole amount on all their buildings, or else they would ask the proprietors for an additional vote to pay it off, in some year of extraordinary prosperity.

The report was then unanimously adopted.

A resolution was next passed, electing Mr. Wallace to fill the vacancy in the board of directors.

Mr. WALLACE briefly returned thanks, saying that with the high position of this bank any mercantile man in the City of London would be proud to take part in the administration of its affairs.

The three retiring directors, Messrs. Haigh, Esdaile, and Gilbert, were re-elected.

Mr. T. H. SMITH, after thanking the Chairman for the way in which he had answered the question, moved a vote of thanks to him for presiding with so much ability and courtesy at that meeting, and for his exertions to advance the prosperity of the bank.

The CHAIRMAN, in acknowledging this compliment, bore testimony to the high merits of the new general manager, Mr. Ewings, the successor to Mr. Gilbert in that office, and a gentleman who had, in all respects, fulfilled the expectations with which the directors transferred him thither from the Bloomsbury branch, previously conducted with so much success by him. He also called attention particularly to the manner in which Mr. Higley, at the City office, had discharged his onerous duties, with such constant attention, urbanity, and knowledge of commercial business. Mr. Higley had entered the house as a junior clerk, and had well earned his promotion. The same might be said of Mr. Withers, the manager of the Southwark branch, and Mr. Weldon, manager of the St. James's-square branch, who had given satisfaction in every way. A more attentive, respectable, and gentlemanly body of men than the officers of this bank generally were, could not be found. They were excellent servants, while the directors, he believed, were also good masters. The usual custom had been observed this year in granting them 10 per cent. on their salaries, and he now moved that thanks be given to the general manager, branch managers, the secretary, and other officers, for their zealous devotion to the service. (Cheers.)

Mr. EWINGS said he was much gratified now, after his first year in office as general manager, to acknowledge, for himself and the other officers of the establishment, the kind notice here taken of them.

A vote of thanks to the directors having been moved and passed by acclamation, the meeting separated.

CITY BANK.

The half-yearly meeting of the shareholders was held on Tuesday, January 15, at the London Tavern; Sir R. W. CARDEN in the chair.

The secretary (Mr. C. J. WORTH) read the report and balance-sheet (which will be found in our advertisement columns).

The CHAIRMAN, in moving the adoption of the report and balance-sheet, said the accounts showed a continuous prosperous condition of the bank. The profits of the last half-year exceeded by several thousand pounds those of any previous half-year. The item of £24,548 for current expenses, bad debts, &c., included the loss occasioned by the failure of Messrs. Streatfeild and Mortimore. At the last meeting he said it was calculated the loss would be about eight or nine thousand pounds. But at that time the directors thought they were dealing with honourable and unfortunate traders. They had no idea that they were dealing with unscrupulous traders; he might almost say reckless and dishonest, because what had taken place showed that they were indeed both reckless and dishonest. (Hear.) Happily for the character of the English merchant, such conduct was very rare. When the failure of Messrs. Streatfeild and Mortimore took place, the directors, having bills with not only their names, but several others, indorsed upon them, all thought that they would have a fair and honest dividend out of the estate. But when they found that men issued bills with indorsements and acceptances while they well knew that they were themselves the only parties answerable for those bills, the acceptances and indorsements being mere matters of accommodation, he must say such conduct was so dishonest that the directors could not suppose that they had such men to deal with. (Hear, hear.) He said this to account for there being a much larger loss than they had expected. That loss the Board now estimated at £17,000, and the bad debts of the half-year, including that amount, were only £17,250. Except this there was nothing that was not matter for congratulation. The conduct of these men had been so bad that he hoped this session of Parliament would not pass—and, indeed, he did not think it would—without that which was now only a moral fraud being made a criminal fraud, so that men who had been guilty of such improprieties and such dishonesty might find themselves in their proper place—namely, at Newgate. (Cheers.) As regarded the retrospect of the past year, it was remarkable that there had been no less than eleven fluctuations in the Bank of England rate of interest, to which he might add that during that period this country had paid £22,800,000 for food imported from abroad. That was, he might remark, the only joint-stock bank which had no branch, and perhaps this was an advantage, inasmuch as it enabled the directors to devote their whole time and energies to the development of the business in a central position. (Hear, hear.)

The motion having been seconded by Mr. BELL, was, without any discussion, unanimously agreed to, after which the dividend recommended was declared.

On the motion of Mr. Alderman ABBISS, thanks were then voted to the chairman and directors.

A similar compliment was also paid to the manager, Mr. White, and to the auditors, after which the meeting separated.

UNION BANK OF LONDON.

The half-yearly meeting of proprietors was held on Wednesday the 16th Jan., at the bank premises, in Princes-street, Mr. LAURIE in the chair.

The SECRETARY (Mr. H. Newmarch) read the report and the balance sheet (which are given in our advertisement columns).

The CHAIRMAN said that by the authority of the directors he had to declare a dividend on the half-year of 12s. per share, clear of Income-tax, and payable on and after the 21st inst. As this was the first half of the financial year the report was brief. The directors certainly viewed the report, as he hoped the proprietors did, with unmixed satisfaction. (Hear, hear.) The increase of business during the six months, both at the head office, and at all the branches, was of a most satisfactory description, and he never presented accounts with greater confidence in the severity with which all the expenses were dealt with, and that the net hard balance put before them had been fully and fairly earned. The balance for the whole year of 1860 was £127,000, which was a satisfactory proof of the confidence of the public in the bank, and that was also shown by the amount of their liabilities and assets. They now exceeded £11,000,000, which was the largest amount ever shown by the bank except in the first half-year of 1857, which was a period of unusual commercial development. It must also be satisfactory that after payment of the dividend they were able to carry forward over £30,000, which was a good security for the next dividend. But they hoped to be even more successful in the next half-year than they were in this, and if that were so, half of the amount which was debited to capital account by the resolution of last year would be written off. No doubt great caution would be required, as they were living in exceptional times, both with regard to the state of foreign politics and the uncertain condition of the money market. They believed that easy times were best for those who dealt in money, and that they found their best markets when their customers were prosperous. The directors had no communication to make with regard to any further amount recovered on account of the Pullinger frauds, but they were not without hope that more would be recovered. As the matter was in a state of uncertainty, however, it was not desirable to go further into details. The proprietors were aware that certain Chancery proceedings were taken against them by a shareholder, and that an injunction was asked for to restrain them from making the dividend which the proprietors received. But that injunction having been dissolved a communication took place between the solicitors on both sides, and the matter was arranged. An intimation was given that it was not the desire of the shareholder in question to harass his brother proprietors, and they on their side agreed to the payment of costs. Although they had no doubt as to the result of the legal proceedings, they on the advice of their solicitor thought it better to put an end to the matter in this way than to remain in Chancery. (Hear, hear.) He might say that they had entirely escaped from contracting any bad debts during the last six months. (Hear, hear.) This was a gratifying circumstance, and it was due to the care and caution of the manager and of his brother directors. (Hear, hear.) It only remained for him further to say that they had to regret the retirement of Mr. Scott Binny from the Board, and the cause of that retirement. (Hear, hear.) Mr. Binny was with them for ten years, and he brought to their aid great colonial experience. He was therefore a great loss; but they did what they could to repair it by the election of Mr. Gilchrist, who also possessed great colonial experience and influence. He was happy to say that Sir Peter Laurie was well, but he did not think it advisable at his advanced age to come out in such weather. (Hear, hear.) He had now to move that the report be agreed to.

Mr. FARQUHAR seconded the motion.

Mr. HISLOP said, it struck him from the prosperity of their affairs, as disclosed by the report, that £600,000 capital was sufficient to work the concern in a most profitable manner. It seemed to him that they should as soon as possible proceed to create a reserve fund, and with that view he was disposed to move that £25,000 out of the £30,000 carried forward should be at once applied to create such a fund.

Mr. FITZGERALD did not agree in the view expressed by Mr. Hislop, that £600,000 was enough to work the concern. He therefore thought the directors were right in applying the £30,000 to the working of the concern.

The CHAIRMAN said this sum was carried forward as a balance to the next half-year. At the July meeting it would be the duty of the directors to submit a proposal for the appropriation of the money, and it would be for the proprietors to deal with it as they thought fit. (Hear, hear.) No proprietor could be more anxious than himself for the accumulation of such a reserve fund as would be becoming and creditable to the bank, and he wished to remark that it was to the accumulation of such a reserve fund that they were indebted for the comparative immunity which they experienced under the recent trial they passed through. It was therefore a matter of primary importance to them.

Mr. HISLOP said that under these circumstances he would not press his motion.

The report was then agreed to, and a dividend of 12s. per share (equivalent to 10 per cent. on £720,000) declared.

In reply to a question,

The CHAIRMAN said that the premises in Chancery-lane were advantageously let, and that Dickson's was now amalgamated with the Union Bank.

On the motion of Mr. ANDERTON, seconded by Mr. MAXWELL, a vote of thanks was passed on the directors, which was acknowledged by the CHAIRMAN.

A similar compliment was paid to Mr. Scrimgeour, the general manager, and the other managers and officers of the bank.

Mr. SCRIMGEOUR said he had often stood there on similar occasions, and never felt anything but hearty gratification till the last meeting. The kind expression of the proprietors' thanks was therefore the more grateful to him now. (Hear, hear.) In the last six months he believed they had gone through the labour of six years, but he and the other officers of the company had the satisfaction of witnessing the reward of their untiring diligence in the prosperous state of the affairs of the bank, and the same diligence would be shown till they stood in the same position as they did this time last year. (Cheers.)

The meeting then separated.

COMMERCIAL BANK OF LONDON.

The half-yearly meeting of the shareholders was held on Tuesday, Jan. 15, at the Bank, Lothbury; Mr. CHOWNE in the chair.

The MANAGER (Mr. Cutbill) read the report and balance-sheet (which are given in our advertisement columns).

The CHAIRMAN, in proposing the adoption of the report, had little to add to his mere formal motion, beyond congratulating his brother proprietors on their gradually growing prosperity. They had gone through some difficulties, but the fact that he was now able to announce a dividend of 8 per cent. showed that these difficulties were being surmounted. He should not trouble them further, but was quite ready to answer questions.

Mr. HODGKINSON seconded the motion.

Mr. FISHER was anxious to know why the Commercial did not improve in the matter of dividend. He did not see why they should not have as good a share of public confidence as any of their neighbours.

The CHAIRMAN regretted that the Bank did not get on faster, but it was getting on; and Mr. Fisher must remember that they had had as much to go through as any bank in London. Any man must know that the slightest imputation cast on a business like theirs must inflict an injury which it took time to repair. All he could say was that the directors were using their best exertions, and he felt convinced that if the shareholders only put shoulder to shoulder the Commercial Bank would soon hold a foremost position.

Mr. JAMES CLAY said that the answer to Mr. Fisher's question of why the Bank did not get on, was that it did get on. In two years they had risen from a six to an eight per cent. dividend, and affairs were still progressing.

After some further conversation of an unimportant nature the report and balance-sheet were adopted, and a dividend at the rate of eight per cent. per annum agreed to.

The proceedings terminated with a vote of thanks to the board and manager, and one of condolence to Mr. M. Hunter on a recent domestic bereavement.

BANK OF LONDON.

The half-yearly meeting of proprietors was held on Thursday, Jan. 17, at the London Tavern; Sir J. SHELLEY, M.P., in the chair.

The report which was read will be found in our advertisement columns. It was of a favourable character.

A PROPRIETOR said he wished to know, before the report was moved, how it was that they got the amount of £4,812. 16s. mentioned in the accounts.

The CHAIRMAN said that was the amount which they received under the decree of the Master of the Rolls in the case of Mr. Tyrrell; and he might add that that amount remained unappropriated till the time within which the defendant could appeal had expired. That was the entire sum for which the decree had been obtained, but there was a further sum of £475 for which they had security. That sum would, however, be subject to deduction for costs. He now begged leave to move that the report be adopted, and he had little to add to the facts and figures which it contained. The liabilities and assets showed an increase of £100,000 upon the accounts of last year, but it was right to say that that did not represent the progress the Bank had made, because they had a public account which was subject to great fluctuation, and which stood considerably lower this half-year than at the corresponding period of last year. That deficiency was made up by the increase of the legitimate business of the bank. On the last occasion he congratulated the proprietors on the fact that they made a larger profit on that than on any previous half-year: but the accounts now presented showed that they made larger profits on this than even on the previous half-year, notwithstanding the circumstance which must be patent and present to the minds of all connected with the trade of the city as marking that period—the great losses arising out of failures in the leather trade. With regard to that, they were aware that on a former occasion they wrote off £4,000, and they had now written off £8,674, making altogether £12,674 for bad debts. They paid a dividend of £15,000, and they had £11,000 to spare. This state of things must be a matter of considerable gratification to the proprietors. With regard to those failures he believed he might say, as a member of the Legislature, that Parliament would be disposed to pass a measure to put an end to such proceedings, and he hoped and trusted that Government would bring in a bill this year which would enable persons to prosecute and punish those men who brought such a slur on the merchants of the City of this country. (Hear, hear.) With regard to the question which had been already asked, when the time within which an appeal could be brought had expired, the directors would consider how they could best apportion that money. With regard to the reserve fund, let him remind the meeting that that fund was, on January last, brought up to £12,000. It is now brought forward at £27,000, and they added again to that amount, making it altogether £31,000. (Hear, hear.) He thought he was bound to point out that this sum of £31,000 was entirely provided out of profits—not out of shares or anything else, but direct profits. (Hear, hear.) The directors thought it important to have a good and sufficient reserve fund, in order that the public might have confidence in the bank. (Hear, hear.) It had now arrived at such a sum, that he anticipated before long they might reward themselves for their self-denial, and have the gratification of distributing an increased dividend amongst the shareholders. (Hear, hear.) But he hoped the shareholders would agree with the directors in the opinion that it was above all things desirable to have a good reserve fund, because nothing was more calculated to ensure the confidence of the public. (Hear, hear.) The bad debts, with the exception of the horrid affair in the leather trade, were a mere nothing, and were all amply provided for in the sum he had already mentioned. He believed there was no other point on which it was necessary for him to trespass on their attention, and, therefore, he begged to move that the report be received and adopted.

Mr. FRITH, deputy chairman, in seconding the report, said that the directors when they discovered the frauds committed by some of their customers engaged in the leather trade, and whom he must characterise as great delinquents, resolved to assist in every possible way those who were engaged in exposing those frauds. Their manager was therefore examined in the Bankruptcy Court, and he believed the clear, open, and truthful evidence given by him had a great effect upon the public mind, and he must congratulate Mr. Marshall on the testimony he gave. (Hear, hear.) There was an impression in some quarters that the slang terms used in the Bankruptcy Court were used by Mr. Marshall, but he had the emphatic denial of Mr. Marshall on that point, and these terms were the coinage of the bankrupt's own brain. (Hear, hear.) He hoped it was unnecessary for him further to disclaim the use of any such terms by their manager. They as bankers dealt in bills, and they held a number of those belonging to the failed firms, but considering that they had current accounts with the bank, and considering how high Streatfield and Co. stood in public estimation, he thought they would agree with him that no ordinary caution could prevent the losses which they in common with others sustained. Their loss was less than that of others, but still they thought it to be their duty to go further than others did to expose the frauds. The bankruptcy laws have been much complained of for many years, and he hoped they were now about to be remedied. (Hear, hear.) He trusted that the Court of Bankruptcy would never sully its records by giving a certificate to those delinquents, enabling them with enlarged experience to continue their fraudulent practices. He hoped they would be punished as they deserved, for as monetary transactions must depend on the honour and integrity of the persons with whom they dealt, it was requisite that those who disregarded those principles should be adequately punished. He thought that those who came forward as they had done to expose such conduct deserved public respect. (Hear, hear.) As the chairman had already pointed out, the provision for bad debts had been amply and justly made. The only regrettable matter they had to deplore was the retardation of an increased dividend, but he hoped they might soon look forward to that increase. (Hear, hear.) If leading commercial men could be brought to recognise the necessity of establishing as a principle, from which they would never swerve, that in all cases where irregular trading, and not misfortune, was the cause of the failure, the most searching investigation would be made, and the utmost punishment the laws allowed awarded, great benefit would in his opinion follow. There was little doubt the extreme reluctance manifested by men of business to identify themselves with such proceedings, however urgently they might be demanded, was one great reason why such cases so frequently occurred. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. LAMB, one of the auditors, said that the accounts laid before the meeting presented the real and exact state of their affairs, and he thought they had every reason to congratulate themselves on the position presented by the bank that day. Notwithstanding all they had gone through, they held a position that promised highly for the future, and credit he thought was due to the manager for bringing them to that position. As one of their new officers who had gone into the accounts very fully indeed, he thought it would be gratifying to them to hear this statement from him. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. ASTE said that, as an auditor, he was satisfied with the state of the accounts upon the whole. The failure in the leather trade tended to reduce their profits somewhat, but it was evident they were in a progressing state. The Bank of London was determined from the beginning to act honourably and consistently in all their dealings. Like all new establishments they met with losses, as other traders did. The failures in the leather trade were disgraceful, but still he did not think that the whole trade should be condemned for the acts of a certain clique in that trade. (Hear, hear.) These failures had caused him to give great attention to the manner in which the debts had been treated, and the amount of loss which was likely to accrue from them to the bank, and he came to the conclusion that ample provision had been made for the bad debts, and that they would amount to what the directors in committee had valued them at. He thought they would be negligent of their duty if they did not express their approbation of the bold and fearless manner in which the directors came forward to expose these as they did other frauds; for this was not the first time that they had had to do so; and it must be regarded as a proof that honourable, straightforward men were at the head of their establishment. (Hear, hear.)

The motion was then adopted, and a dividend of 5 per cent., free of Income-tax, declared payable on and after the 24th inst.

Mr. BONE moved a vote of thanks to the directors. He had watched the progress of the bank, and compared it with a similar institution which began about the same time. He was so satisfied with what had been done that he was rather inclined to increase than to diminish his stake in the concern, and he had acted on that view. (Hear, hear.) The working expenses were on a more moderate scale than those of other similar establishments. They possessed a reserve fund of £31,000, which had been honestly earned. He thought they might look forward to the time when they would be second to none of the young establishments in the City of London. He therefore moved a vote of thanks to the directors for their past services, and for the assistance they had given in prosecuting the inquiry into the leather frauds. (Hear.)

Mr. ASTE seconded the motion.

The CHAIRMAN, in reply, said it was a great gratification to the board to find that their labours had not been given in vain. He never had the slightest doubt in his mind of the success of the bank. He often expressed his belief there and elsewhere that a bank conducted on proper and sound principles must succeed in the City of London, and if they only went on progressing as they did it would become one of its great institutions. (Hear.) The directors were greatly assisted by the assiduous co-operation of the officers of the bank. They might be sure the directors would not relax in their efforts to make the bank what it ought to be.

On the motion of Mr. HUGHES a vote of thanks was passed on the manager, secretary, and other officers of the bank, which terminated the proceedings.

LONDON JOINT-STOCK BANK.

The annual general meeting of the proprietors of the London Joint-Stock Bank was held at their house, in Princes-street, on Thursday, January 17th; FRANCIS BENNETT GOLDNEY, Esq., in the chair. There was a numerous attendance.

The statement which was presented by the directors, as their forty-seventh half-yearly report, will be found in our advertisement columns.

The CHAIRMAN first declared a dividend for the last half-year at the rate of 12½ per cent. per annum, upon the paid-up capital of the company, amounting to £600,000. He then moved the adoption of the report. He had only to say that it was, of course, extremely painful to the directors now to be obliged to write off the large sum of £60,000 from the profits of the last half-year, in consequence of those extraordinary failures of Messrs. Streatfeild, Laurence, Mortimore, and their confederates, which had become so notorious. It was still more painful to see that gentlemen, who had been customers of this bank almost from its establishment, should have so far fallen away from the path of duty as to be guilty of those disgraceful practices by which they had brought ruin upon themselves and disgrace upon their families. But it was a source of great gratification to the directors that they were enabled, by the large profits of the past year, to clear off entirely the losses thus incurred, to the amount of £60,000; and he firmly believed, as well as hoped, that this would be the very utmost amount that could be lost in consequence of those failures. He was ready to give any further explanation that might be asked for.

Mr. TAYLER said that the £60,000 to be written off for those losses appeared to him a most shocking and outrageous sum. He was astonished when he saw that, in the great City of London, where everybody was supposed to be more or less known, such practices could be carried on. He had understood that the executive officers of this and other joint-stock banks always professed to know pretty nearly the weight and character of most of the commercial people in the City; and with such wisdom as they were supposed to possess, he could not understand how these frightful defalcations could go on so long from day to day. It was astounding, therefore, to find that those wretched people, such as Messrs. Streatfeild and Co., whose paper was the merest rubbish, men who were a disgrace to commerce and to human nature—men who ought to be regarded as the worst of criminals, were able to come to the bank and get £60,000, just as if they came to ask for a Christmas-box. (Cheers.) They were allowed to come and take money by the “tea-spoon” or the “gravy-spoon,” or whatever other ridiculous names their own vain imaginations could suggest. He really hoped the Chairman would give some explanation of those terrible defalcations. He must say that he thought the directors of this bank and of the other banks stood now with regard to these transactions in a most shameful position towards their own proprietors, who had been sitting at home thinking that their affairs were being wisely conducted, so as to give them the best return for their capital—till now they were told that £60,000, a sum too large to be easily picked up in the street, had been thrown away. Such disclosures must tend very much, not only to diminish their dividend and the interest on their capital, but also to make their character suffer. The directors of banks, who were entrusted with millions of their proprietors' money, had likewise the safety and reputation of their companies entrusted to them; and he knew perfectly well that the shares of this company were no longer held and considered as highly in the market as they were before. The proprietors of this bank had put the most implicit confidence in their directors, and it was but a poor return for it now to be told that £60,000 was gone, and that they must be glad it was no more. He saw there many excellent friends amongst them, and he esteemed their late worthy manager as second to no man in the City. But he had felt bound, as an original shareholder, to come forward and make these remarks, because other gentlemen would be induced by motives of delicacy to refrain from telling the truth. (Cheers.)

Mr. AMBROSE MOORE, one of the directors, must reply to the serious imputations which, as he thought, were so undeservedly cast upon them. It was imputed to them that they had some corrupt motives for accommodating certain people? (Mr. Tayler: “No, no.”) He would desire that hon. gentleman and all the proprietors to observe, that it was not the fact that a sum of £60,000 had been lost by being put to the credit of those people; but that sum had been lost upon bills discounted for them. Messrs. Streatfeild and Mortimore were not in the habit as he believed, of taking any loans except in the ordinary way of banking, by getting their bills discounted. Now, he (Mr. Moore) did freely admit that the directors had been incautious in not looking more narrowly into this account: and he would candidly take his own part of that rebuke. (Cheers.) But the fact was, that nothing occurred to awaken their suspicions, and they never supposed there could be anything wrong in it. Messrs. Streatfeild and Co. brought their bills in the ordinary way of business, as they had been accustomed to come to this bank ever since it was opened, now twenty-four years ago, and however nefarious their conduct now proved to have been during the last four or five years, there was once a time when they had great commercial reputation, based upon capital which they actually at one time possessed; and their predecessors in the same house had retired with large fortunes from the business. It thus would not unfrequently happen, that when the old partners of a house went off, and the foundations of its stability were partly withdrawn, the change was not obvious in the world's eye. The bank, however, had been in the habit of discounting their bills, which had all the appearance of being drawn for actual sales of goods. They were all drawn for odd sums of money, such as £975. 15s. 1d., to give them the aspect of representing real transactions. He had only found two or three cases in which an even sum—perhaps £100 or 500 appeared in the bills discounted for Messrs. Streatfeild and Co. by this bank; and Mr. Laurence himself had avowed in the Bankruptcy Court, that this contrivance of the uneven sums was employed by him as a blind to deceive the parties who were discounting his bills. He (Mr. Moore) would give to Mr. Laurence for this contrivance all the credit that his financial ingenuity could deserve. (A laugh.) Mr. Laurence was, indeed, a master of his art, which he had cultivated with the kind of affection requisite to make a consummate performer, whether on the stage or in the business of real life. He had certainly deceived the directors of this bank, as well as their late manager. It should be remarked by the way, that Messrs. Streatfeild and Co. had various other places to resort to for discounts, unknown to the directors of this bank, who were only aware of their discounting at the Bank of England, and in one or two other quarters. Messrs. Streatfeild and Laurence so contrived that no one of the parties who discounted for them should have a preponderating amount of bills upon one house, for that might have led to a disclosure. Now the directors of the London Joint-Stock Bank frankly admitted that they had been grossly misled in these transactions, and they all felt exceedingly mortified about it. But it was not fair to impute to them general mismanagement of the affairs of the bank. Some gentlemen would, perhaps, have a bank conducted on the parsimonious principle, forgetting that they could not expect to make a profit without incurring a risk. But if they wished to have large accounts and to do business with good and wealthy people, they must be ready to accommodate them, and put confidence in them. It would not do for the bank, every time a bill was brought there, to interrogate such people as to whether the acceptor would pay the bill, or whether the bill represented a real transaction; they would repel such questions as an insult. Every man of the world must know that this was not the way in which business could be satisfactorily carried on. The directors of a bank like this must be capable of grasping large transactions, but they would not be human beings if in such dealings they did not sometimes make a mistake. This was but one of the uncertainties attending every sort of trading operation, and such things would now and then occur. If, indeed, such things were to occur often, then it might justly be imputed to the directors that they were unfit to conduct the business, that they were deficient in judgment and penetration, or in diligence. But what had been the results of their liberal management of the bank since its commencement, and how did those results compare with the experience of some other banks, which, under a more suspicious kind of management, refusing to lend anything to anybody, had gone on for many years, barely paying 5 per cent., and with their shares at 20 per cent. discount? He would omit the last year, 1860, as an exceptional one; and then he found that taking the twenty-three years of the existence of this bank, up to the end of 1859, with a capital of £600,000, it had made a total profit of £1,726,000. In the shape of dividends and bonus the amount of £1,491,913 had actually been paid into the pockets of the proprietors, besides the Income-tax, amounting to £29,632, so that the returns made to the proprietors upon their £600,000 of capital, came to rather more than a million and a-half. In addition to that a guarantee fund had been created, which was £205,195 at present, though liable to some depreciations or augmentations, at one period or another, from the fluctuating value of the securities in which it was invested. All this had been done out of the profits gained in twenty-three years, the total of which was £1,726,741, or not much less than 250 per cent. upon their capital. Of course, in the early years of the bank, the profits were not so large as they had lately been; but taking the five years ending with 1859, the average annual amount of dividends and bonus paid had been 22½ per cent. Even in the past year, 1860, which was quite exceptional, he found that if he only took the ordinary bad debts, without including the £60,000 lost by those unfortunate events in the leather trade, he could show a total of profits which would have paid a dividend of 22 15-16 per cent.; and even when the £60,000 was deducted, there was a dividend of 12½ per cent. left for the past year. The loss of £60,000 was, after all, no more than £1 per share on the capital of this company. Any gentleman who owned 500 shares, and who, being an original proprietor, had got them at par for £5,000, might feel that he had not been ill-used when he had already got £12,500 returned into his own pocket, and his shares, instead of £5,000, were now worth £15,000, so that, in twenty-four years, his £5,000 had actually been turned into £27,500. Not including this £60,000, the whole amount of the bad debts of this bank since its establishment was £124,000, or an average of £5,435 in each year, whilst they had eleven millions and a-half of money passing through their hands, and the bad debts had always been estimated at more than they really turned out to be. In the past year the profit actually realised by the bank was £187,642, of which £75,000 was paid to the shareholders in dividend, and £60,000 being written off for the recent losses, there remained about £2,000 to be carried to the guarantee fund. He therefore submitted that the directors, though he was ready to avow that they had shown a want of penetration in this instance, were, on the whole, not deserving of the charge of mismanagement cast upon them. (Cheers.)

Mr. TAYLER said he would not interfere with the unanimity of the meeting, and he had not meant to cast any imputations on the directors. He applauded the very frank avowal they had heard from Mr. Moore, which went half way towards repairing the mischief; and he hoped the future prosperity of the company would justify them in giving the directors full absolution. (Cheers.)

The report was then adopted unanimously, and the five retiring directors were re-elected.

The CHAIRMAN, in returning thanks, said that he could take to himself but very little shame for what had happened, since it was impossible for the directors to guard against those dreadful failures, and the accounts of Messrs. Streatfeild and Laurence were always regularly paid.

Mr. RILEY moved, not only a vote of thanks, but a vote of confidence in the directors, as he was quite satisfied with the explanation they had given.

Mr. WOOLSEY seconded the motion, and he remarked that, since the profits of the last half-year were larger than those of the half-year preceding, it was clear that the public confidence in this bank was not at all disturbed.

A vote of thanks having been passed to the chairman, the meeting separated.

REASONS FOR AN ALTERATION IN THE LEGAL TENDER, AND A REFORM IN THE CURRENCY. By Robert Slater. Effingham Wilson, Royal Exchange.

THIS is one of those publications on the currency question, which issue from the press on every occasion of the derangement of the money market. The author is an active member of one of the largest wholesale houses in the city. But, although his opinions may be considered on this account worthy of attention, we must content ourselves with a cursory glance at his pamphlet. Mr. Slater alleges that on the 14th of November last the Bank was at the mercy of its depositors, inasmuch as its available funds would have been deficient £26,531,070, in the event of an "immediate demand" for payment of its notes and deposits. We may remark, however, that this was just as likely to happen, as though it were possible to assemble in one house all the persons whose lives are assured in the Equitable Office, and let them all be killed at one time, so that their representatives might simultaneously call upon the Company for "immediate" payment of their policies. We must admit that a bank-note is a circulating debt payable on demand; that a deposit in a bank is a book-debt payable on demand; and that there is no ostensible difference between the two in the sense in which the author places them; but he loses sight of one important element in the argument as regards the deposits, and this is, that a large portion of them are placed in the Bank for safety, pending the carrying out of railways or other public undertakings; and that they are not likely to be withdrawn in the sudden manner suggested. The remainder consists of customers' balances belonging to the mercantile and trading classes, and in regard to these deposits the position of the Bank is precisely similar to that of any other bank, whether private or joint-stock.

Mr. Hankey, lately Governor of the Bank, thus gives his opinion of the condition of the Bank of England:—"The Bank could pay off all its stockholders and all its depositors without any interference with the Government debt of £11,000,000, provided its note circulation were in the same position of credit, and in excess of £14,000,000 as at present."

Mr. Slater's opinion of a legal tender is, that "it is a fallacy most disastrous to the interest of trade, as it is simply an anomaly destructive in its operations to the interest of the community;" and he asks, "Where and when does a legal tender arise?" We will answer this question in this way. The author, we will assume, has a house, which he lets on lease, and in the lease inserts a covenant that the rent be paid in lawful money; his tenant tenders him country notes or a cheque on his banker in payment for the rent, which he refuses to take, as not being a legal tender. The tenant then tenders Bank-notes, which by law are a legal tender, and which are, of course, accepted. The utility and good effect of the law are therefore manifest.

The author asserts that gold, of a fixed weight and fineness, so long as it continues the standard of value, ought to be the only legal tender; but he altogether objects to the present standard of value for reasons which we have no space to notice. He further recommends that all banks to be hereafter established as banks of issue, should be required to deposit gold to the amount of their capital with the Government.

The work presents evidence of originality of thought, and a perusal of it suggests a good deal of matter for useful reflection, although there is much in it with which we cannot agree.

THE ASSURANCE MAGAZINE AND JOURNAL OF THE INSTITUTE OF ACTUARIES. Part for January. Charles and Edwin Layton, Fleet-street.

THIS number of the Assurance Magazine contains several very interesting papers. Among them are—"On the Construction of Life Tables," by Dr. Farr; "On Gompertz's Law of Mortality," by Professor de Morgan; and "On the Stability of Results based upon Average Calculations considered with reference to the Number of Transactions Embraced," by Robert Campbell, Fellow of Trinity Hall, Cambridge.

Dr. Farr's paper is a continuation of the one noticed in a previous number of the MONEY MARKET REVIEW. He now furnishes the names of the localities which, for the sake of convenience, are called "healthy districts." All these papers are well worthy of study. In the correspondence there are two letters which deserve special notice. The first is from Mr. Laundy, of the Eagle Life Office, drawing attention to numerous errors in a work published by the late Mr. Hillman, on the value of Life Assurance policies. Mr. Laundy states that, having occasion to consult the Tables, he found that there was not a page without numerous errors. Works on Life Assurance, emanating from men occupying important positions in Assurance Companies, are naturally looked upon as text-books printed for circulation among those engaged in the business of Life Assurance, and on that account should be perfectly free from errors. Otherwise they are valueless, for on the accuracy of tables depends, in a great measure, the success of all Life Institutions, and we consequently look upon these works somewhat in the same light as we do sea charts. There is also a letter from Mr. W. H. Porter, assistant actuary to the Alliance Office, referring to Miss Florence Nightingale's "Notes on Nursing." It is, of course, to the sanitary measures advocated in this work that Mr. Porter addresses himself. He is at issue with the authoress, where she says, "that in great cities night air is often the best and purest air to be had in the twenty-four hours, that the air of London is never so good as after ten o'clock at night," and that the opening of windows in houses at night she considers "unobjectionable." The popular verdict is unquestionably against this theory.

MANUAL OF ILLUMINATION ON PAPER AND VELLUM. By J. W. Bradley, B.A. Winsor and Newton, Rathbone-place.

IN this work the lovers of art will find abundant information in a brief and practical form. There is sufficient to enable the artist, as well as the amateur, to understand and practise the art of illumination in its best and most attractive forms. It is an art, which, cultivated as an accomplishment, must strengthen those qualities of patience, thoughtfulness, and delicacy, that shed so salutary an influence upon our daily life. The work is interspersed with outlines of some most delicate and beautiful designs, together with directions as to what materials, colours, inks, &c., should be used. It likewise comprises an interesting historical account of the art of illuminating.

MERCANTILE EMBARRASMENTS.

Recent New York advices mention that a very heavy failure had occurred in the sugar trade, the house being that of Mora, Novara, and Co. Some minor firms had also been brought down.

The advices from Sydney mention the suspension of Mr. H. W. Johnson, contractor, with liabilities estimated at £22,824, and assets at £22,481.

The first hearing under the bankruptcy of Messrs. T. Barton and Son, tanners, &c., of Liverpool, took place in that town on Tuesday, when Messrs. Bard and Jordan, of Liverpool, and Mr. McKenna, banker, of London, were chosen as assignees. Debts were proved on the estate to the extent of £130,000. Amongst the creditors, Messrs. Laurence and Mortimore proved to the amount of £25,000.

Messrs. Windsor, Brothers, described as merchants and ship and insurance brokers, of Leadenhall-street, have stopped payment. Although the liabilities are not more than about £11,000, the liquidation is expected to turn out unfavourably.

In the Bankruptcy Court on Tuesday there was a dividend sitting in the case of Messrs. Hills and Hills, bankers, of Gravesend and Dartford. The dividend is not expected to exceed 2s. in the pound. A further adjournment was ordered in the case of J. G. Sullivan, wholesale boot manufacturer, of the Borough.

In the Bankruptcy Court on Thursday Messrs. Hooper and Parkinson, leather factors of Seething-lane, passed their examination without opposition.

Dated the 17th day of January, 1861.

M. MARSHALL, Chief Cashier.

The above return, compared with that for the previous week, shows the following changes:—

Circulation Issue .. ..	£ 25,479,845	Decrease	£ 492,070
Circulation Active .. ..	20,398,220	Decrease	55,580
Public Deposits .. ..	2,746,319	Decrease	991,078
Other Deposits .. ..	14,433,956	Decrease	1,043,469

Notes in Reserve .. ..	5,081,625	Decrease	436,490
Total Reserve (Notes and Coin) in Banking Department .. ..	5,852,143	Decrease	344,443

The drain upon the Bank's resources continues. Both the reserve and the coin and bullion are still being drawn down. The decrease, however, is very gradual, and, therefore, not of a character to excite alarm. The Bank have sold a large amount of Government securities, or borrowed money upon them in the Stock Exchange; but as the payment for them has come out of the private deposits, the reserve has not been helped. The Bank continue to sell silver bullion.

THE MONEY MARKET.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 18.

The discount market this week exhibits no alteration of striking importance. Attention is concentrated upon the financial movements in America and France. Upon these topics we have made some remarks in our leading columns. It is recognised that the immediate feature of the money market is very uncertain, and no surprise would be occasioned were the rate of discount of the Bank of England to be raised further, even before next Thursday, in the event of the pressure upon that establishment continuing.

At the Bank of England there has been a steady demand for money, but no pressure. In the open market occasional transactions take place  $\frac{1}{4}$  per cent. below the Bank rate; but it is remarked that six months' bills are sought after in several quarters at comparatively low rates as an eligible investment, the probability being that, long before the expiration of that period, the existing disturbance in the money market will have been corrected.

In the Stock Exchange to-day short loans on English Government Securities were obtainable at 4 to 5 per cent., notwithstanding the large amount of money which has been withdrawn from the market by the operations of the Bank of England. The supply of money poured into the market must arise principally from investments by the public. This is a very satisfactory feature.

Since our last report, the Niagara has sailed for the United States with £190,000 in specie, the Etna with £212,500, and the Bohemian with £4,000, making the total sent since the 28th of November, £2,771,500. 82,000 sovereigns were taken from the Bank yesterday for New York, besides 30,000 or 40,000 to-day, probably for transmission by the Arabia, which will leave to-morrow. The total shipments by this vessel are expected to be large. £40,000 in bar gold was also withdrawn from the Bank to-day for exportation.

The large sums due from America to England this month as interest on American securities held in this country will have considerable effect towards keeping up the exchange.

The Bank of Belgium on Monday raised its rate of discount from 4 to 5 per cent.

According to one rumour the amount of gold held by the Bank of France does not exceed two millions sterling.

The Ceylon will take on the 20th inst. £214,606 in specie, of which £76,166 is gold, and the residue silver. The total for India is £98,003; for the Straits, £60,959; for China (all gold), £30,344; for Mauritius, £25,000 (gold on Government account); and for Alexandria, £300.

The arrival was announced to-day of the Oneida, from the West Indies, with £79,000 in specie, and the Indus, from Alexandria, with £29,121. The other imports of the week amount to only £7,000.

The final instalment of 10 per cent., making 100 per cent. paid, fell due on Tuesday on the Canada loan of £2,800,000. It had, however, been paid in advance.

The deposit on the estimates of all the new Railway Bills about to be brought before Parliament was required to be lodged, on Monday the 14th, to the credit of the Accountant-General of the Court of Chancery with the Bank of England. The total is supposed to have amounted to nearly £2,000,000, of which about one-third was supplied in cash, and the remainder in Stock and Exchequer-bills.

THE BULLION MARKET.

The Mexican dollars brought by the last packet were sold on Wednesday at 5s. 0 $\frac{1}{4}$ d. per ounce, showing a decline of no less than 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ d., compared with the price obtained on the 1st instant for a portion of those by the Atrato. The continuous fall in the value of this coin is caused by the cessation of the demand for China on mercantile and government account. Peace having been concluded with China, the necessity of Government making remittances of specie thither is obviated.

With reference to the movements in bullion and in the Indian Government paper, Messrs. Pixley, Abell, and Langley, report as follows:—

GOLD.—The export of gold still continues, and we have to report the following shipments, since our circular of 10th instant:—The Ellora, to Bombay, with £16,360; the Niagara, to the United States, with £190,000; the Etna, to the United States, with £212,500; the Seine, to the West Indies, with £2,500. The shipments to New York now amount to about £2,750,000, and it is supposed that the Arabia, which sails from Liverpool for New York on the 19th inst., will take a considerable amount. About £70,000, in bar gold, has been withdrawn from the Bank of England since the 10th inst. The only arrival of moment is the Armenian, from Africa, with £6,500. Any immediate arrivals of gold would probably be taken for export.

SILVER.—The price of bar silver remains as last quoted, viz. 61 $\frac{1}{4}$ d. per ounce standard, with a quiet market. The West India steamer Oneida is now several days overdue, but the amount to be expected by her is not named. The shipments comprise £380,000 per Ellora to Bombay, and £7,500 per Seine to the West Indies.

MEXICAN DOLLARS.—We have to report a further considerable decline in the price of Mexican dollars, the amount on hand by the last West India steamer having been disposed of at 60 $\frac{1}{4}$ d. per ounce, being a reduction of 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ d. per ounce as compared with the price obtained for dollars ex Atrato, on the 1st inst. The demand for China is inactive.

EXCHANGE ON INDIA remains much the same as at date of our last circular; we quote Bank's sixty days' sight drafts on Bombay and Calcutta, 2s. to 2s. 0 $\frac{1}{4}$ d. Bills with documents, 1s. 11 $\frac{1}{4}$ d. to 1s. 11 $\frac{1}{4}$ d. Bank drafts on Madras, sixty days' sight, 1s. 11 $\frac{1}{4}$ d. to 2s.

INDIA GOVERNMENT LOAN NOTES are quite nominal, but such quotations as can be given are weaker. The only transactions we have to record have taken place at 100 for Five-and-a-Half per Cents., and 94 to 94 $\frac{1}{4}$  for Five per Cents. Four per Cents. 78 to 80.

During the last week a few changes of importance have taken place in the bullion market, but a general flatness has prevailed, silver operations being greatly impeded by the present high rate of discount; and a comparatively small amount of specie is expected to go out to China by the steamer of the 20th. The chief feature has been the great decline in the price of Mexican dollars; most of those brought by the last West India steamer have been disposed of at 60 $\frac{1}{4}$ d., showing a decline of 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ d. compared with the price realised for those of the previous packet.

The total amount of specie sent from this country to America since the 28th of November last is, £2,767,500. About £272,000 in gold has been taken from the Bank during the last week, the greater part comprising sovereigns, for New York.

There has been no alteration whatever in Government rupee paper; the quotations are Five-and-a-Half per Cent. 100-101; Five per Cent. 94-95, with very little demand.

THE EXCHANGES.

The Continental exchanges this week have been decidedly firm, and in most instances a further improvement is apparent, the value of money here being higher than on the Continent.

AUSTRALIAN GOLD SHIPS.

Subjoined is a list of the Australian gold ships now on the way to this country; the total is £686,000. The Roxburgh Castle is fully due:—

FALLING OFF IN THE FRENCH REVENUE.

The Moniteur publishes a comparative table of the revenue derived from indirect taxes, which shows a decrease in 1860, as compared with 1859, of 21 millions of francs (£840,000).

THE SARDINIAN FIVE PER CENT. LOAN.

The particulars are published of 294 bonds, representing £21,940 of the Sardinian Five per Cent. Loan, which have been cancelled.

THE CAMDEN AND AMBOY RAILWAY LOAN.

It is notified that the new sheets of coupons of the Camden and Amboy Railroad Company's Bonds are now ready, and that they, together with the bonus bonds for the renewal of the old loan, will be deliverable on the 1st of February. This company ranks high amongst the railway corporations of America, having met the interest on its bonds without a single instance of default or delay during a period of 26 years.

STOCK EXCHANGE LIBERALITY.

The Stock Exchange have responded with their accustomed liberality to the appeal on behalf of the metropolitan poor, who are now subjected to privation through the severe weather. In one day (yesterday) the members have subscribed amongst themselves fully £1,000, being at the rate of about £1 from each individual in the establishment. A portion of this sum has already been forwarded to the various metropolitan police-offices for distribution.

THE RAILWAYS AND THE FROST.

The directors of the Eastern Counties Railway, in consequence of the continuance of the frost, have resolved to reduce the speed of the express and other fast trains on their line, and to increase the number of stoppages, so as to afford more frequent opportunities of examining the state of the wheels and machinery generally, with a view to prevent accidents on the line.

The directors of the London, Chatham, and Dover Company have also reduced the speed of their trains, in consequence of the severe frost, with a view to avoid its evil effects on the locomotive machinery and working stock of the company, and to prevent accidents.

RAILWAYS.

The railway traffic returns this week are all worse. The Brighton railway traffic return shows this week an increase of £21; the South-Eastern a decrease of £586; the London and North-Western, an increase of £138; the Great Northern, a decrease of £418; the Great Western, a decrease of £1,172; the London and South-Western, a decrease of £851; the Eastern Counties, a decrease of £2,580; the North-Eastern, a decrease of £977; the Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire, a decrease of £404; the Lancashire and Yorkshire, an increase of £1,013; the Midland, a decrease of £490; and the Caledonian, an increase of £1,415.

The traffic on the 748 miles of the South-Austrian line of the Lombardo-Venetian Railway Company for the week ending January 7, was £25,163, being £825 more than in the corresponding week of 1859 on the same number of miles; and that on the Lombardo-Venetian line, £4,374, showing an increase of £1,546.

The traffic receipts of the Great Western Railway of Canada for the week ending Dec. 28, were £7,119 sterling, being £103 more than in the corresponding week of last year.

It is reported that the terms proposed by the London and North-Western and Great Northern Companies jointly to the Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire Company are as follows:—A guarantee of  $1\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. per annum, increasing  $\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. per annum up to  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. in perpetuity, and the privilege of extending every £100 Sheffield Stock into £65 (or £70?) London and North-Western Stock. Three Sheffield directors have been appointed to confer and negotiate with directors similarly appointed by the other Boards. The resignation by the Marquis of Chandos of the chairmanship of the London and North-Western Company occurred in consequence of his opposition to the guarantee.

Admiral Moorsom has been elected chairman of the London and North-Western Railway Company, in the room of the Marquis of Chandos.

The following satisfactory memoranda, relating to the Scinde Railway and the Indus Steam Flotilla, are from an official source:—

SCINDE RAILWAY.—According to recent advices the Scinde Railway may be expected to be opened throughout about the 20th of the present month. On the 5th of December Mr. John Brunton, the chief resident engineer, reports as follows:—"I look forward to getting a train through in six or seven weeks from this time." In addition to the accommodation required for the ordinary traffic, the Government desire special stations on an extensive scale for receiving troops and military stores. The steam ferry boat, for connecting Kotree, the upper terminus of the railway, with Hyderabad, on the opposite bank of the Indus, was launched on the 30th Nov., and with all her machinery on board only drew nine inches of water. This bridge will enable the cross traffic of the country, which converges at Hyderabad, to take advantage of the railway to Kurrachee.

INDUS STEAM FLOTILLA.—On the 5th of December Mr. J. Neville Warren, the agent, reports that "the Stanley steamer proceeds to-night to Kotree with the steam ferry bridge in tow. In coming round from Gizree to the harbour the Stanley had 52 tons of fuel on board. She drew 2 feet 1 inch water, and with only half steam she ran nine miles in 50 minutes, against a  $2\frac{1}{2}$  mile current." This gives an effective speed of  $12\frac{1}{2}$  miles in still water per hour, being within half a mile per hour of the speed obtained by this vessel during her trial trips in the Thames.

The annual drawing of bonds of the Great Luxembourg Company for reimbursement took place on the 31st ult.

The whole of the share capital of the Geelong and Melbourne Railway Company, registered in London, has now been paid off, with the exception of about £3,000, and the debenture debt is recognised under the Transfer Act. The first interest upon the latter was paid by the London and Westminster Bank, acting for the Colonial Government, on the 1st inst. In connection with this company's affairs it may be remarked that the proprietors seem very slow to requite the zealous services long rendered them by Mr. S. J. Cooke. It is not just that this gentleman should be left a loser, now that the company has won the battle. Mr. Richard Potter, as chairman of the London Committee of Proprietors, has just addressed a circular, by way of reminder, to the share and bondholders, wherein he observes:—

On the 20th November I addressed a circular to the share and bondholders of the Geelong and Melbourne Railway, announcing the repayment of the share capital and debentures by the London bankers and agents of the Colonial Government. The committee, in whose name I wrote, urged upon every proprietor in this undertaking the claim of Mr. Cooke, the London agent. Observing that your name is not amongst the list of subscribers to the above fund, I beg very urgently and respectfully to say that Mr. Cooke's claims upon the proprietors do, in fact, constitute a debt due to him from each proprietor, who has received repayment of his capital and interest. To his continued exertions, of late given gratuitously to the committee, the settlement is in great measure due; and where services of this kind have not been acknowledged, it is but fair that those who have reaped the benefit of them should contribute a small quota to their recompense.

BANKS.

At the meeting on Monday of the shareholders in the Union Bank of Australia a dividend of 6 per cent. for the half-year, less Income-tax, was declared. Although the establishment has sustained some loss from failures at Sydney and Launceston, for which provision has been made out of the profits of the half-year now reported on, the directors speak very highly of the general character of the current business. Arrangements are in progress tending to economy in certain of the colonial branches; and it is pointed out that the modifications which have recently been made, in conjunction with the other colonial banks, in the system of allowing interest on deposits, will probably prove beneficial to the banking interest. The progress of New Zealand has rendered it necessary to enlarge the agencies there. No loss has been incurred through the native disturbances in that colony.

The half-yearly meeting of shareholders in the Commercial Bank of London was held on Tuesday. The directors' report shows a net unappropriated profit of £17,109, after making all needful deductions. This enables the Board to declare a dividend for the last six months at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum. A balance of £517 will remain to be carried forward after allowing £4,592 for rebate on bills not yet due. The chairman (Mr. Chowne) characterised these results of the half-year's working as satisfactory; and Mr. James Clay, M.P., drew attention to the recovery which has taken place in the rate of dividend during the last two years. The report was adopted, and thanks were voted to the directors and to Mr. Cutbill the manager.

The half-yearly meeting of shareholders in the City Bank was likewise held on Tuesday. The report expresses the satisfaction of the directors at the statement of accounts, which enables them to declare a dividend at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, free of Income-tax, and to carry £625 to the credit of the current half-year. It is intimated that the directors have written off the full amount of the loss incurred by the failure of Messrs. Streatfeild and Co. The chairman (Sir R. W. Carden) described the position of the bank as one of continuous prosperity, inasmuch as, apart from the losses, the profits of the last half-year have exceeded by several thousand pounds those of any previous half-year. He urged the necessity of new legislation, whereby such irregularities as those lately brought to light in the leather trade shall be made a criminal offence. The report was unanimously adopted.

The annual meeting of shareholders in the London and Westminster Bank was held on Wednesday. A full report will be found in another column. Mr. Alderman Salomons, M.P., who presided, stated that the deposits have very largely increased, and that the entire loss of the bank from the leather failures was limited to the small sum of £5,000, being only one-half of the amount set apart as a reserve for this purpose six months ago. Mr. Salomons also referred to the leading part which was taken by the London and Westminster Bank in inviting a meeting of the various joint-stock banks, with a view to modify, in the common interest, the previous arrangement with regard to the rate of interest on deposits. This prudent step has been adopted in consequence of the rise in the Bank of England rate of discount to a point which may be justly considered abnormal. Mr. Salomons expressed his satisfaction in noticing that the action taken by the banks in the matter has been ratified by public opinion.

The half-yearly meeting of proprietors of the Union Bank of London was also held on Wednesday, and is noticed in another column. The chairman, Mr. P. N. Laurie, stated that the directors view the report with unmixed satisfaction. The progress of business, both at the central establishment and at all the branches, has been very favourable, and hopes are entertained of a still further improvement in the current half-year. It was mentioned as rather a remarkable fact that the bank has enjoyed an entire immunity from bad debts during the last six months.

The half-yearly meeting of shareholders of the London Joint-Stock Bank was held on Thursday. The amount of the bank's losses by the leather failures having increased, it has become necessary to set apart £60,000 for this purpose. The directors express their confidence that this sum will cover every contingency. Including the sum of £24,534 brought forward from last half-year, there remains for division a net profit of £33,528. 13s. 1d., which, with £3,971. 6s. 11d. taken from the guarantee fund, enables the directors to declare the usual dividend at the rate of  $12\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. per annum, free of Income-tax. The discussion turned chiefly on the magnitude of the sum lost through Messrs. Streafeld and Co. and their connections. The report was unanimously adopted, and a vote of confidence in the directors was passed.

The half-yearly meeting of proprietors of the Bank of London was also held on Thursday. The directors' report is of a very favourable character. The proceedings are noticed in another column. The remarks of the chairman (Sir J. Shelley, Bart.) were chiefly of a congratulatory character. The report was unanimously adopted, and cordial votes of thanks were passed to the directors, manager, secretary, and the other officers of the company.

The half-yearly report of the English, Scottish, and Australian Chartered Bank preparatory to their meeting on the 25th, states the available balance to be £19,402, and recommends a dividend at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum; £1,500 is to be applied to the accounts of preliminary expenses and bank premises, and £2,902 will remain to be added to the reserve, which will then stand at £22,487.

The half-yearly meeting of the Bank of New South Wales was held at Sydney, on the 24th of October last. The report and accounts laid before the shareholders, and unanimously adopted, showed that the net profits for the period ending September 30 amounted to £55,239. 7s. 1d. This, with £3,277. 4s., left £58,516. 11s. 1d. for distribution. Of this sum £55,954. 15s. was absorbed in providing for the dividend, at the rate of 15 per cent. per annum, and the balance carried forward to next account. The directors had opened an additional branch at Toowoomba, in Queensland, and the general business of the bank was highly satisfactory.

ASSURANCE COMPANIES.

The fortieth annual general court of proprietors of the Imperial Life Insurance Office is called for the 31st inst.

OTHER PUBLIC COMPANIES.

The half-yearly report of the directors of the Scottish Australian Investment Company shows a gross profit of £10,260, the whole of which, with the exception of £135, represents income of a permanent character, being derived from rents, interest, and commission. The amount is £92 more than in the last half-year, and £1,604 more than in the corresponding six months of 1859. A dividend is proposed at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum, less Income-tax, which will require £10,000, and leave at the credit of the reserve fund £10,865. The advantages which will accrue by raising supplementary capital at a moderate fixed rate of interest here, and investing it in the colony, are again urged. Within the last three months a sum of £28,630 has been lent to the Company on Five per Cent. Debentures. The directors express a confident anticipation that these securities will become favourable investments with the public.

It is reported that the question between Messrs. Newall and Co. and the Red Sea Telegraph Company, which was about to be tried in a court of law, has been compromised with the approval of the Government.

The following report was issued this afternoon by the directors of the National Discount Company (Limited), in anticipation of the ordinary general meeting called for the 23rd instant:—

The accounts which the directors now have the pleasure to place before the shareholders show, that for the half-year ending 31st ultimo, the gross profit amounts to £33,061. 18s. 9d., and that after payment of the current expenditure, writing off the usual proportion of the preliminary and building expenses, and reserving

£15,047. 6s. 10d. for rebate of interest on bills discounted, not yet due, there remains, including the sum of £5,014. 6s. 2d., brought forward from the last account, an available balance of £18,148. 4s. 9d.

Of this sum, the directors propose to appropriate £9,633. 12s. 6d. to the payment of a dividend at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, free of Income-tax, and to carry the surplus, £8,514. 12s. 3d. to the credit of the "Reserved Fund," which will then amount to £34,503. 3s. 4d.

The directors regret that this fund will have to be debited with the sum of £26,336, to meet the losses arising from the failures in the leather trade, to which reference was made in their last report, and as the several estates have now been thoroughly investigated, and the probabilities of their liquidation more accurately ascertained, they feel confident that this amount of loss will not be exceeded.

The directors who retire upon this occasion, are M. H. Chaytor, Esq., T. W. L. Mackean, Esq., J. R. Thomson, Esq., and T. W. Watson, Esq., all of whom being eligible offer themselves for re-election. The shareholders will have to elect auditors for the ensuing year.

By the Australian mail the Australian Agricultural Company have received a remittance of £15,000 from their agents in Australia: £6,000 of this sum consists of the ordinary remittance, and the rest is Government compensation to the company for some of their land, taken for railway purposes in New South Wales.

The directors of the North British Australasian Company have issued their twentieth annual report. The concluding portion is as follows:—

The Accounts.—These are made up, as usual, to the 30th June in Australia, and to the 31st December in London. The result of the year's operations is a net profit on the revenue account of receipts over expenditure of £13,601. 0s. 9d., and on the increase of stock of £2,972. 2s. 5d.

Dividends.—The balance brought forward of £367. 5s. 5d., added to the above net profit of £13,601. 0s. 9d., amounts to £13,968. 9s. 2d., out of which we propose to declare a dividend of 7 per cent., free of Income-tax. We cannot conclude this report without shortly pointing out to the shareholders that not only does the company pay a steady dividend, but that within a short period the value of our head station has been materially increased by the purchase of various blocks of freehold land, and that since 1858 the previous losses on capital account have been reduced by a sum of £17,607. 4s. 8d.

A call of £2, making £10 paid, is to be paid on the new shares (fourth allotment) in the Brighton, Hove, and Preston Waterworks Company by the 5th Feb.

We are informed that the subscription list of the Trust and Agency Company of Australasia (Limited) has been closed. Nearly twice the number of shares to be allotted have been applied for. The allotment will be made on Monday next, and the letters will be in the hands of the subscribers on the following Wednesday.

The half-yearly meeting of the Electric and International Telegraph Company is called for the 6th February.

The annual meeting of the Credit Mobilier Society of Paris is called for the 30th April.

THE PARIS BOURSE.

At Paris to-day the 3 per Cent. Rentes opened at 67.25, and closed at 67.20, being 5c. lower than yesterday, but exactly the same as on last Friday.

THE STOCK AND SHARE MARKETS.

The English Funds have shown increased heaviness. A bad effect is, of course, produced by the state of the money market, combined with the financial pressure arising from France and America. In addition, it is now known that the Bank of England are endeavouring to increase their resources either by sales of stock or by borrowing on Government securities in the Stock Exchange. Whichever of these two processes is resorted to, the effect is the same—namely, the supply of stock in the market is increased. Consols, which closed on last Friday at 92, "sellers," for the 7th Feb., have gradually declined, and closed to-day at  $91\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$ , showing a total fall of  $\frac{3}{4}$  per cent. For money the last price was  $91\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{3}{8}$ . To-day took place the regular opening of the transfer-books for Consols and the other Government securities lately shut. It seems to be placed beyond doubt that the public are making investments in Consols at the present reduced prices.

The official list of to-day's actual business in the English Funds, Exchequer Bills, and Indian Government Securities, is annexed:—

Three per Cent. Consols, for money,  $91\frac{1}{2}$ ,  $\frac{1}{4}$ ,  $\frac{3}{8}$ ; ditto for account (Feb. 7),  $91\frac{1}{2}$ ,  $\frac{1}{4}$ ,  $\frac{3}{8}$ ; Three per Cents. Reduced,  $91\frac{1}{4}$ ,  $\frac{1}{8}$ ; New Three per Cents.,  $91\frac{1}{2}$ ,  $\frac{1}{4}$ ,  $\frac{3}{8}$ ; New Two-and-a-Half per Cents.  $75\frac{1}{2}$ ; India Stock,  $218\frac{1}{2}$ ; ditto Five per Cent. Stock, 1859,  $100\frac{1}{2}$ ,  $\frac{1}{4}$ ,  $\frac{3}{8}$ ; ditto Bonds, 13s., 9s., dis.; and Exchequer Bills, 6s., 10s., 4s., dis.

The Five per Cent. rupee paper is flat at  $93\frac{1}{2}$  to  $94\frac{1}{2}$ , and the Five-and-a-Half per Cent., at  $99\frac{1}{2}$  to  $100\frac{1}{4}$ . The Indian Five per Cent. stock of 1859, is quoted  $100\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$ ; India Bonds, 13s. to 9s. dis.; and Exchequer Bills, 8s. to 4s. dis., showing a decline of 3s. The latter are prejudiced by the cessation of the late exceptional demand.

The market for British Railway Stock has taken a decided turn for the worse. Sales—in several instances of a bonâ fide character, inasmuch as they consist of stock held on borrowed money—have been pressed. The extent of the fall, which in several cases is severe, will be seen by reference to the statement given below. Midland Stock has suffered chiefly, having fallen 3 per cent. At the settlement which was completed on Wednesday, there was an over-supply of several descriptions, including Midland, Berwick, South-Eastern, and Lanca-hire and Yorkshire; and, whilst speculative holders evince anxiety to sell, the late demand has died away. This department generally is prejudiced by the falling off in the traffic. The market to-day was heavier than on any previous day of the week.

The following shows the closing prices of the principal British Railway Stocks to-day, and the result of the week's variations. The share list in detail will be found in another column:—

The demand for shares in the new Marine Insurance Companies has been very active this week, and a general advance has occurred in prices. The market to-day, however, was not quite so high as yesterday. It is rumoured that the Ocean Marine will submit a very satisfactory statement at the first general meeting, which is fixed for the 5th Feb.

The closing quotations for shares in new undertakings to-day were as follow:—Ocean Marine Insurance, 4½ to ½ prem.; Thames and Mersey Marine, 1½ to ½ prem.; Universal Marine Insurance, 1¼ to ¾ prem.; London and Provincial Marine, ¾ to ¼ prem.; East India Irrigation, ¼ to ½ dis.; East India and London Shipping, ¾ to ½ prem.

Atlantic and Great Western Railway Bonds have been dealt in to-day in the Stock Exchange at 77½.

AMERICAN SECURITIES.

With reference to the market for American Securities, Messrs. D. Bell, Son, and Co. report as follows:—

During the last week but very little business has been transacted in American Securities; and, with few exceptions, prices continue entirely nominal.

The report of Mr. E. F. Satterthwaite, dated Wednesday evening, is annexed:—

The market in London for American Securities during the past week has been dull, especially for Federal and States Stocks, and Railroad Bonds. The principal business has been in Illinois and Erie shares, which continue to be largely dealt in, but the prices in New York and London seem to bear little analogy to each other. The last prices from New York of Illinois shares, on 3rd inst., was 21½ discount, whilst here the price is 30 discount; and Erie shares here are 32½ against 40½ in New York.

The London agents of the Illinois Central Railway Company on Monday received the following report from the chairman of the Executive Committee at New York:—

(Copy, Persia.)

Office of the Illinois Central Railroad Company,
New York, December 31, 1860.

Gentlemen,—No business will be transacted on New Year's-day, and as the Persia sails at eight A.M., we have to anticipate her date of departure with little to communicate. The telegraph of December business cannot reach here until the 3rd. The cash collected in the Land-office will exceed 70,000 dols., and the sales 150,000 dols. The traffic towards the South holds out well. Indian corn is quoted at New Orleans at 68c. to 75c., leaving a margin of 15c. to 20c. per bushel on the shipments now making from Illinois.

Money is becoming cheaper. Securities which are not tainted with secession or repudiation are sought after, and as South Carolina is running headlong in her course, political names have almost ceased to be a matter of difference with the public. The distinctions of democratic or republican are falling, and the elements of a national union party just appearing upon the surface, it is hoped, will lead to the establishing of a union party strong enough to dispose of the questions now agitating the country.

There has been a general improvement in the stock market. Our shares are largely oversold, and 2 dols. per share has been freely paid for the loan of them for thirty days. The brokers make their deliveries with the greatest difficulty.

Yours respectfully,

(Signed) THOMAS E. WALKER,
Messrs. Robert Benson and Co., London. Chairman Ex. Committee.

There is a large advance in the stock, owing to want of stock for delivery. Money is becoming easier, and will probably be cheap within thirty days.

The political difficulties are the only drawbacks to a steady and large improvement in the stock and securities.

Threatening as these appearances are, yet it is impossible to bring the mind to believe that a settlement of the difficulties will not be made.

The small amount of expected imports the coming spring will cause a flow of gold to this country in all probability for the next several months.—Yours truly,

(Signed) THOMAS E. WALKER,
Messrs. Robert Benson and Co., London. Chairman Ex. Committee.

P.S.—The prospects foreshadowed in our letter of the 13th November, that the political difficulties would have the effect of throwing a large increase of population in the company's lands, has become a general impression, judging from the comments made by parties touching that point.

Western lands are held to be in any event a solid security, and, together with western railroads, are increasing in public confidence. (Signed)

T. E. W., Ch. Ex. Com.

The subjoined despatch was published this morning:—

Office of the Illinois Central Railroad Company,
New York, Jan. 3, 1861.

Gentlemen,—The estimate of the December traffic is 227,309 dols. 99c., a gain for the month over 1859 of 29,024 dols. 64c. This is of course subject to correction, as well as that of the previous month. The gain for the year will probably show 27 per cent., or 2,670,000 dols., against 2,107,381 dols. 92c. in 1859.

A marked improvement in our affairs dates from the 1st of September, since which, particularly in the land department, we have had a steady growing business. The sales of land in these three months have been in small parcels—nine-tenths in lots of 40 to 80 acres; but one entire section (for which cash was paid) has been sold to one party. 632,049 dols. 05c. of sales have been made to parties who move on to small tracts.

During the quarter 321,279 dols. 12c. has been collected in cash and bonds. There is a growing disposition to purchase Illinois lands. The census returns for 1860 are widely read in this country, and the fact that Illinois leads in the increase of population—102 per cent. gain in ten years—will inevitably attract the notice of the farmers of the eastern and less productive States. With the opening spring we hope to report even more active business in our land office. The market for Indian corn in Illinois is improving this week, under the large purchases for the south, which promise to continue until the rivers and lakes open, when the eastern and export demand should cause greater activity at Chicago than during any previous year.

The Chicago Democrat states the receipts of grain and flour last year were 35,230,739 bushels, and 153,893 head of cattle, and 338,002 hogs, all largely in excess of previous years; and the paper adds the opinion of the best authorities that the receipts of grain from August 1, 1860, to August 1, 1861, will exceed fifty millions of bushels. This estimate will be carried out if the export demand for Indian corn continues through July. The imports and sales of lumber during 1860 were 287,593,016 feet of lumber, and 130,234,500 shingles.

We are to-day paying the coupons on the full-paid stock, and have cash assets in hand to cover our bills payable (now 114,796 dols. 30c.) as they mature.

The road and machinery are in good order; our stock of supplies is worth about 500,000 dols., and of the 2,000 tons of iron purchased last spring for renewals, nearly one-half is in hand, and the outlays for capital account, which for three years have been in the aggregate less than 1,000,000 dols., will fall below 250,000 dols. this year.—Yours faithfully,

(Signed)

THOS. E. WALKER,

Mines.

THE Mining Market this week has been heavy. Sellers have predominated. Stray Park, East Wheal Russell, and Wheal Buller shares have suffered chiefly.

The Mining Market to-day was again inactive. In several instances, including East Wheal Russell, Stray Park, and Wheal Harriett shares, prices have declined. Wheal Edward shares, however, were in demand. There were also inquiries for Wheal Seton, Marke Valley, South Frances, Cargoll, Providence, Botallack, and Wheal Margaret. Transactions are reported to us between the following prices:—

Cargoll, 18 to 20; East Budnick, 10s. to 12s.; East Basset, 110 to 116; East Caradon, 11½ to 12; East Wheal Russell, 7¼ to 8¼; Great Retallack, 35s. to 38s.; New Frances, 8s. to 10s.; North Downs, 3½ to 4; North Minera, 1 to 1½; North Treskerby, 30 to 32; Providence, 42 to 45; Sortridge Consols, 13s. to 14s.; South Wheal Frances, 155 to 160; Stray Park, 37 to 40; West Basset, 78 to 79; Wheal Basset, 112½ to 115; Wheal Buller, 122½ to 125; Wheal Edward, 1¼ to 2; Wheal Grylls, 5½ to 6; Wheal Harriet, 37s. 6d. to 40s.; Wheal Hearle, 10 to 11; Wheal Seton, 135 to 140.

The following prices are reported to us from the Stock Exchange this evening:—

The demand for the shares of the English and Australian Copper Company continues. There has also been a very active demand to-day for St. John del Rey, which have risen immediately, owing to the advices given below. The shares of the Great Northern Copper Mining Company of South Australia and United Mexican Company continue to meet with attention.

The shares of the Labuan Coal Company were quoted to-day 3 to 3¼ prem.

At a meeting of the members of the Mining Exchange held this day (Friday), it was unanimously resolved to give £50 out of the funds of the institution for the relief of the poor who are suffering through the severity of the weather, and that the amount be sent (equally divided) to the sitting magistrates of various police-courts.

The directors of the St. John del Rey Mining Company (Limited) have received the following report, dated Morro Velho, Dec.:—"Produce for Nov., 39,662 oitavas; cost for ditto, £9,202; profit for ditto, £5,833; produce ten days of Dec., 12,135 oitavas."

The report of the directors of the Port Phillip and Colonial Gold Mining Company describes the manner in which the Victoria (London) Mining Company has been formed. The capital is £25,000, in £1 shares, with a deposit of 2s. 6d. per share, and a payment of like amount on allotment. The shareholders in the old company had the preference in subscribing. The interest which the Port Phillip and Colonial Gold Mining Company held in the Mine of Nintingbool has been transferred to that company by payment of the outlay made by the Port Phillip Company, so that the latter has no longer any interest in mining. The amount remitted in payment is £1,050, for which this company holds the acceptance of the Victoria (London) Mining Company (Limited). The profit on the quartz crushing for the year ending the 30th of Sept. has been £13,180. The result of the directors' report is officially summarised as follows:—

That the company is not at this moment in a financial position to make a dividend, owing to the payment off of the £5,000 mortgage debt, and of an outlay of over £7,000 on machinery and additions to plant, but looking at the probable prospective receipts during the next six months on account of profits, the directors recommend an adjournment of this meeting to—say to the 21st July next.

The following despatches are from Australian mining companies, and communicate the substance of the intelligence by the mail just delivered:—

The directors of the Port Phillip and Colonial Gold Mining Company have received advices from their resident director, dated Melbourne, 24th Nov. last. The quantity of quartz crushed during the month of October was 2,374 tons, yielding 1,349 ozs. 14 dwts. 10 grs. of gold. The amount received on Clune's account was £2,318. 8s. 8d.; expenditure, £1,613. 9s. 1d.—£704. 19s. 7d. The whole of the machinery was in good working order, and the alterations and additions to the plant were all but completed.

The directors of the English and Australian Copper Company have received advices from their manager, dated Adelaide, 24th Nov. last. At the works there were eight furnaces and two refineries at work. The amount of coal at the works on the 17th Nov. was 2,740 tons, and of wood, 5,006 tons. The ore shipments and make of copper were proceeding satisfactorily.

The Scottish Australian Mining Company have received their usual monthly despatch from the superintendent of the company, dated Sydney, Nov. 21 last, reporting progress in sinking the shaft, which it was resolved, at the consultation which was held upon the property by the superintendent, Captain William Johns (whose opinion and advice were specially sought upon the occasion), and those immediately engaged in the works, in October, to commence and carry down to the depth of 40 fathoms, so as to cut the main lode by means of short levels to be driven therefrom at 30 or 40 fathoms. The shaft, which is intended for an engine shaft, was down on the 14th Nov. 8½ fathoms, and the country through which it passed is reported to be "a fine blue killas, easily worked." This was the only work going on, all other operations being suspended until the important subject of proving the lode at the above depths be accomplished.

The Kapunda Mining Company have received advices from their manager in Adelaide to 26th Nov., when all was progressing satisfactorily. On weight and assay the September ores proved to be 31½ tons, of 19.538 per cent. average produce, equal to 61½ tons of pure copper, and the yield for October is reported as 330 tons, of about 20 per cent. average produce. Since the date of the last advices (26th October) a further quantity of copper had been shipped per Herman and Theodore, making 59½ tons in that vessel, and there were 50 tons in course of shipment per Blackwall, from Adelaide direct. The smelting department was in good order, with abundance of fuel.

The North Rhine Copper Mining Company of South Australia have received advices from the local committee, dated Nov. 26. The following are extracts from Captain Barker's report, viz.:—"Driven the eastern crosscut 5 feet 6 inches, making the total distance driven east of Cope's shaft 18 fathoms; ground hard, water quick. Driven south on Nicholl's lode 4 fathoms, making a total south of Cope's shaft of 28 fathoms 5 feet 6 inches; ground hard in the end at present. We cut through the lode 14 fathoms 4 feet 6 inches south of Cope's last month; this month we cut through about 19 fathoms south, and again at 23 fathoms 3 feet. At these points we opened a lode of very promising appearance, averaging 4 feet 6 inches in width, composed of mundie, spar, and black ore. The last place we cut through we had grey ore occasionally in the spar, which was increasing in size. The plat at the 43 is nearly finished, when we shall be in a position to sink the engine shaft deeper whenever we feel so disposed, and continue our 43 levels at the same time."

The Great Northern Copper Mining Company of South Australia have received the following communication and report from the committee at Adelaide, dated Nov. 26:—"We have much pleasure in calling your attention to the continued satisfactory reports from the superintendent and Captain Pascoe, at the Nuccaleena Mine. The committee advise another shipment of ore, viz., per Austral 45 tons, and are sorry this vessel could not take a larger quantity; but there will be another vessel at Port Augusta to load during the next month, by which time there will be another shipment ready of about 60 tons, together with any quantity of the 60 tons alluded to in Captain Pascoe's report. The committee had hoped to have sent you by this mail Captain Pascoe's report on the other mines belonging to the company, but circumstances have rendered it impossible for this to be done in time, but which you will receive by the next mail." Captain Pascoe's report, dated Nuccaleena, Nov. 15, is as follows:—"The lode in the middle adit end is 4 feet wide, of solid copper ore; four men have this day taken out 3 tons from this end, which is only 9 fathoms deep from surface, and is worth £200 per fathom. The hill here is rising fast, and 30 fathoms east from the present end will be about 25 fathoms deep from surface; a richer lode of ore I never saw. We are driving a deeper level at the foot of the hill; this end is about 25 fathoms to the west of the middle adit end, and about 5 fathoms deeper in this end we have driven through a rich lode of ore. I have taken up stones of rich ore from the same lode in the same ground 500 fathoms away from our present workings. We have sent to the port 142 tons of ore of rich quality, and have 30 tons more cleaned and ready to be sent away, and about 30 tons more at surface to clean. We shall dress up 300 tons in all by the end of December, and send it to the port. I value the ore to be worth about £30 per ton. The expenses of the mine, including cartage, freight, labour, rations consumed, and the buildings at the mine, &c., will not exceed 10s. in the pound on the ore raised."

The Bon Accord Mining Company have received accounts from the committee of management at Adelaide, dated the 26th of November last, with reports from the mine up to the 26th of that month. The works in progress at the date of last report, viz.:—"Driving on the 30 fathom level north of engine shaft on the winze lode, and on the 20 east from Granger's shaft to cut the winze lode, have been continued, and levels commenced north and south from the latter shaft; and the pitwork having been completed in the early part of last month, the driving in the crosscut east from engine shaft was resumed, and up to the 26th of that month had been driven 5 fathoms, but up to that date ore in quantity had not been reached, as Captain Jeffery had anticipated it probably would be. The chairman of the committee writes:—"The pitwork connection, to which I alluded in my last, has been some time fixed, and the whole worked so satisfactorily that we determined upon going again to work at the 30 fathom crosscut east, and, despite the enormous flow of water, the engine has kept it in fork. I am much disappointed at our not having before this discovered copper in the crosscut east, into which we have driven upwards of 5 fathoms since we last opened the dam."

The Worthing Mining Company have received the following accounts, dated Nov. 20:—"The shaftmen have been engaged during the month timbering shaft, putting in bearers and fixing cistern, which is now complete. The 33 north-west is poor at present, but in driving a few fathoms further is expected to improve greatly. There is a large quantity of water coming from this end. The 33 east end is being stoped. There is a good lode of yellow ore in this stope. In the 33 south there was a very fine lode in the beginning of the month, but a bar of ground was met with which hove the lode two fathoms east. There is no doubt, from its present appearance, of its shortly becoming as productive as ever. After having made a minute examination of the lode in Legg's engine shaft, and in the ends and stopes all through the mine, I beg to say that the Bremer is a good mine, and every fathom driven will greatly increase the value of the mine. The stopes in the 23 south are looking well. We sent a large quantity of ore from this stope last, and shall send a larger this month. We have a large quantity of ore laid open above the 23 well drained, which will enable us to take it away without wasting any of the black ore. When the 33 south is driven and the lode drained, there will be a great number of tons laid open between these two levels, which can be taken away at a good profit. The 23 south of Hocking's shaft is driven 7 fathoms; we have had a very good lode of ore all the way. This end will shortly drain the south part of the mine, which will enable us to raise a large quantity of rich black and yellow ore. In the 12 a stope has been set on tribute at 4s. 6d. in the pound. The mine is looking well, and we are now in a good position for raising ore. Ore sampled during the month 80 tons, besides about 14 tons black ore, and a quantity of dredge work for the crusher. Ore on the mine ready for smelting, 350 tons; regulus in course of shipment, 50 tons."

The Dun Mountain Company have the following intelligence from their managing committee, dated Nelson, New Zealand, Nov. 5:—"We have exposed the chrome lodes sufficiently to assure you of the existence of 10,000 tons of chrome ore being in sight upon the Dun Mountain property, of which already 2,500 tons are stacked up upon platforms ready for transit, and the men are now employed in making two other platforms or flat places cut in the side of the hill to hold another 1,000 tons of ore. The railway is indispensable to the cheap conveyance of the chrome to port, and your committee have a letter from the engineer, Mr. Doynne, intimating that he will be prepared next mail to send in detailed plans and estimates for the proposed railway."

The Produce and other Markets.

COLONIAL PRODUCE.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 18.

There has been some improvement in the colonial produce markets this week, and occasionally rather higher rates have been established. Coffee has met with more inquiry, and the plantation kinds of Ceylon show a rise of 1s. per cwt., with an upward tendency for fine qualities; but fine East India sorts still sell slowly. There has been a better demand for grocery sugar, especially for grainy kinds; also for Siam, at quotations slightly above those previously obtainable. Floating cargoes of rice continue in active demand at extreme rates. A few sales of saltpetre have occurred at the recent decline. The tea market presents a more steady appearance, and the public sales have gone off at full rates for Assam and China kinds. In rum, holders of common West India having submitted to a reduction of 1d. per gallon, rather large transactions have taken place, chiefly in Demerara. The demand for cotton has been brisk during the week, and above 10,000 bales, the greater part Surat, have been sold at prices ¼d. to ½d. per lb. higher.

THE TALLOW TRADE.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 18.

The Tallow Market has presented the same dullness and inactivity during the week as noticed in our report of last Friday, without, however, any alteration of moment in the value of Y. C. on the spot being established. At one period the tendency was downward, owing, perhaps, in some measure, to the approaching prompts of tallow delivered off on forward contracts at the commencement of the month. But although this pressure has subsided, prices have not advanced until to-day.

As we ventured to state in our Annual Report, "to take a prospective view would be a difficult task;" we may still remark that there continues to be the same uncertainty as to what will be the future course of prices. It becomes more and more manifest, however, that the difficulties of the market are increasing, inasmuch as the period is now fast approaching when consumers will be enabled to supply their wants otherwise than from the stocks of the chief holders of Y. C., the more particularly so as the stock of "Sorts" is likely to be of fair extent, while the stringency of the money market is also adverse to higher prices.

To-day the market has been slightly influenced by the close of speculation, and the following are current quotations for Y. C., viz., 60s. for fine Tallow on the spot; 60s. for delivery in January to March; 60s. 6d. for March alone; 58s. 6d. for April to June; and 57s. 6d. "buyers," for October to December.

The imports since Monday up to last evening have been only 51 casks. The deliveries have been 904 casks, and the present stock of all kinds is 70,674 casks, being a decrease of 1,303 casks, when compared with the quantity on hand on the 31st ultimo.

Town Melted has been held firmly during the week, at the quotation of 59s. 3d. per cwt. net. To-day "the Letter price" has been unaltered, from 61s. 9d.,—or say 59s. 3d. per cwt. net.

The public sales to-day resulted as follows:—

Odessa proved in limited request, notwithstanding moderate comparative prices for "beef" would have been accepted. The few lots mutton tallow offered were fairly competed for and sold. Of 284 casks offered in all, only about 120 casks found buyers as follows: mutton, good to fine, 59s. 9d. to 60s. 3d.; beef, fine to very fine, 58s. 3d. to 58s. 6d., (one lot 58s. 9d.); middling, 58s. per cwt.

South American continues difficult of sale, and the 55 pipes offered were all taken in. Sales of good to fine "Saladero" have been effected by private contract, during the week, at 59s. per cwt.

North American.—The 20 casks submitted were of fair to good quality, and sold steadily at 58s. 6d. per cwt., being comparatively cheap.

East India continues to sell at very moderate comparative prices. Of 279 packages offered, 192 were sold as follows:—Very fine, pale, and hard, 59s. 3d. to 59s. 6d.; fair to good, 58s.; middling and rather dark, 56s. 6d. to 56s. 9d.; ditto, rather doubtful as to wet, 56s. 3d. to 56s. 6d. per cwt.

Australian has been in fair demand during the week. The 107 casks beef submitted to-day were well competed for, and realised 58s. to 58s. 3d. for good to fine quality, being fully 6d. higher, on an average, than was obtained last Friday.

Gibraltar.—The 15 barrels offered were of mixed quality and very roughly melted, for which no reasonable offer could be obtained.

Corfu.—Two casks rather dark, but fair to good body, brought 57s. 9d. per cwt.

Cocoa Nut Oil.—The tendency of this article is to lower prices. Of 197 casks

Cochin offered, only 18 casks, fair quality, were sold at 54s. 6d., being the price obtained last week. 143 casks Ceylon were entirely neglected. 172 casks Sydney, on the contrary, all found buyers, as follows: good to fine, 49s. 3d. to 49s. 9d.; middling to fair, 47s. 9d. to 49s.; rather dark and dark, 46s. 6d. to 47s. 6d.; rather ordinary and foul, 46s. per cwt., less 2½ per cent. discount, being 1s. to 1s. 3d. lower than last week.

Palm Oil continues in limited request. Of 439 casks offered, only 25 casks were sold as follows: extra fine, 47s.; fine, 45s. 6d. to 46s.; middling, 44s. to 44s. 3d. per cwt.

Palm Nut Oil.—Of 14 casks submitted, 11 were sold at 40s. 6d. for good, and 40s. per cwt. for dark and rather foul.

South American Horse Grease.—In the absence of any reasonable offer for 196 cases offered, the whole were bought in at 40s. per cwt.—Furnished by Messrs. Culverwell, Brooks, & Co., Brokers.

THE LONDON FREIGHT MARKET.

The last week, like its predecessor, has been one of comparative inactivity in shipping and charters. A very general dullness prevails, and quotations are almost uniformly the same as in our last report.

For the Indian berth there is little demand, recent advices not favouring an extensive export, stocks being heavy. For Calcutta, Bombay, and Madras, 40s. to 42s. 6d. per ton, dead weight. Homewards:—90s. Moulmein; 60s. to 62s. 6d. Calcutta; 55s. Bombay; 40s. Mauritius, for full ships. To the Colonies, tonnage is worth 90s. to 95s. for good ships, the higher rate representing the figure for British. The last accounts were rather favourable. Coal rates unaltered.

Mediterranean quotations comprise—Odessa, 52s. 6d.; Azoff, 62s. 6d. for May shipments; Danube, 10s. 6d.; Ancona, 32s.; Venice, 33s.; oak; Sicily, 25s., sulphur; Santander, 3s., wheat. Outwards is still a contracted business:—£21 Civita Vecchia; £20 and £17 coals and coke to Alexandria; £18 Constantinople; £19 Syria Athens; 15s. from Wales to Constantinople, Smyrna, or Malta, &c., &c.

In the West India trade there is business doing at 50s. to 52s. 6d. Havana, or 70s. to 72s. 6d. out and home; St. Thomas, out, and St. Domingo or Porto Rico, home, 70s., sugar; Belize, 57s. 6d.; Manzanilla, 65s., mahogany; Liverpool to Buenos Ayres, 44s., salt.

For Brazil, out and home, there is a demand at 77s. 6d. to 80s., Rio de Janeiro; 75s. to 77s. 6d. Bahia; 67s. 6d. to 70s., Pernambuco; Rio, out, £36; St. Paul de Loando, £36 to £37.

Chinchas, 65s., Guano, and 37s. 6d. coals to port not north of Callao.

The rates named for Baltic spring ships—say Danzig—are:—14s. to 15s. to coal ports, and 17s. to 18s. London. Memel to Cape of Good Hope, £7.

From Canada, 35s. to 37s. 6d.; Quebec, 92s. 6d.; Richibucto and Buctouche, 90s., Miramichi, Pugwash, and Tatmagouche. Wilmington to Hull, 4s. 6d. to 5s., turpentine.

The Emigration Commissioners advertise for a ship to convey 200 emigrants to Algoa Bay.

The Admiralty freight requirements comprise 1,245 tons, 874 tons being for Malta.

The number of ships from foreign ports reported inwards within the week ending yesterday has only been 91. The river has been much impeded with ice.—Furnished by Messrs. Thomas Sharer and Co.

LIVERPOOL COTTON MARKET.

LIVERPOOL, FRIDAY MORNING, JANUARY 18.

Influenced by the tenor of the accounts from the United States, a large business has been transacted in cotton this week, and American descriptions have improved ¼d. to ½d. per lb., while the advance in common Egyptian and Surat has reached ¼d. A very strong and general desire to speculate has been restrained by the fear of dearer money. The increase in the value of American draws attention to Surat cotton, which is relatively much cheaper. In connection with this feature a Liverpool contemporary observes:—"It would be well for spinners if Surat cotton were relatively dearer than good prices might attract as large a quantity as possible from India, but spinners, while professing an earnest desire to emancipate themselves from their thralldom to slave grown produce, of which the supply may fail them at any moment, are rather prejudiced against all its competitors, and will not use other descriptions unless the temptation in cost be considerable."

[BY ELECTRIC TELEGRAPH.]

LIVERPOOL, FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 18.

20,000 bales were sold to-day, including 10,000 on speculation and for exportation; no imports. The quotations of fair cotton are ¼d. above those of last week. The sales of the week have reached the large total of 131,550 bales (against 59,420 bales last week), of which 36,590 were taken on speculation, and 16,370 for exportation, and the imports 59,739 bales. The stock now represents 519,877 bales.

THE METAL MARKET.—There are no indications of a better demand for metals. The business done during the present week has been of the most insignificant character, with a downward tendency in prices. The demand for Welsh Bars has fallen off, and prices are in favour of buyers. Rails are dull; the reports from Staffordshire are still unsatisfactory. Scotch Pig Iron has not varied since our last report; the present quotation is 49s., cash. It is impossible to effect sales in Copper without a reduction in price: Burra and Kapunda, nominally, £102; Spanish, £94; Chili, £90; English, unaltered. The demand for Straits Tin has fallen off considerably, and good quality can be bought at £127; Banca is nominally quoted £132. The Dutch market has given way, and 76 fl. is the nominal value. English is dull, and in limited demand. Tin Plates have come to a dead-lock, and charcoal are almost unsaleable. Lead is quiet. Spelter, early in the week, was very flat, and a sale of 200 tons made at £18. This price attracted buyers, and during the past two days business to a considerable extent has been done at £18. 5s. and £18. 10s. on the spot, and at £18. 15s. spring shipment. Hull Spelter has been sold at £18 and £18. 5s., cash.—Furnished by Messrs. Von Dadelzen and North.

LEATHER AND HIDES.—The demand for leather has been to a good average extent during the past week. Prices in general are stationary. Good heavy English Butts have sold freely, and, as the continued frost diminishes the supplies, they have become scarce; the supply of other goods is generally abundant. The transactions in Hides are not extensive. About 3,000 Rio Grande, and 5,000 Australian have found buyers at full rates. Market Hides continue low.—Furnished by Messrs. T. J. and T. Powell.

PARIS, Thursday Morning.—The Moniteur publishes a decree abolishing the surtax of 3 francs per 100 kilogrammes on foreign sugars imported in French vessels from countries out of Europe.

The Corn Trade.

GENERAL REMARKS.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 18.

The severity of the weather has slightly mitigated during the last few days, a partial thaw having set in. The character of the wintry weather, however, does not appear yet changed. Snow has fallen, though but slightly, in the English metropolis for several days in succession. Inland communication has been in part resumed. The Tyne, the Severn, and several other lesser rivers have been liberated from the ice. The Thames has also commenced to get clear of it.

Agricultural out-door work continues suspended. The present state of the autumn sown wheat plants remains doubtful—no positive opinion can be formed till the final breaking up of the frost.

The supply of home-grown wheat this week has been comparatively the largest since last harvest, but still about one-fourth short of the usual average at this season of the year. The quantity of barley and oats brought forward this week has been about the same as in the preceding fortnight. The latest official returns of the quantity of grain sold in England and Wales report as follows:—Wheat, 78,730 qrs., at 57s. 1d.; barley, 85,212 qrs., at 40s. 6d.; oats, 14,462 qrs., at 22s. 6d.

The imports of foreign grain have again decreased this week, compared with the preceding fortnight. The United States of America are still at the top of the list of grain imports into the United Kingdom, principally wheat and flour. The imports of barley and oats have been reduced within a very small compass; the quantity of maize imported is also small. The fleet of grain-laden vessels from the south of Europe now due represents all the autumn shipments from those quarters—altogether, perhaps, 700 sails, including recent shipments—half of which is presumed wheat.

The British Corn Trade this week has been much depressed. The increased supply of farmers' grain, added to the existing difficulty of inland communication, in consequence of the frost—and, moreover, the high pressure upon trade by a 7 per cent. discount rate—continue to obstruct business. Early this week prices of most articles of the trade were still maintained unchanged, but during the last few days wheat has been sold in several markets at a reduction from last week's rates of 1s. to 2s. per qr. Flour is rather cheaper. Barley has also been the turn in favour of buyers. Oats are unaltered in value. Maize quiet, but firm in price, and at Liverpool 6d. per qr. dearer. Beans and peas are firm.

IN MARK-LANE TO-DAY the attendance of the trade was small, and the tone quiet.

WHEAT—English, was held upon last Monday's prices.

Foreign—unaltered, at last Monday's rates.

FLOUR—quiet, at last Monday's currency; Norfolk, 42s. to 43s. per 280lbs.

BARLEY—held firmly, upon last Monday's rates.

OATS—with an improving demand held firmly, at last Monday's prices.

BEANS and PEAS in improved demand; and firm.

THE DRAIN UPON THE TWO BANKS.—The stock of bullion in the Bank of England last week was £12,175,386. Since the American drain commenced, towards the end of November—that is, about nine weeks—£3,000,000 have been absorbed, and we know that for some weeks past the Bank has been losing £400,000 per week. This may be taken to represent about the amount of the American absorption. The Bank of France, whose specie last week was £14,000,000, has this week lost £400,000, being at the rate of £1,600,000 per month, but last month she lost £3,284,000. But take the rate at £2,000,000, or even at £1,000,000, it is quite clear that she cannot, any more than the Bank of England, hold out much longer, without some effort being made to bring about a change. It is more than probable that the first movement will be an advance in discounts to 8 per cent. The time has not arrived for the Bank of France to suspend specie payments, unless war be in the immediate contemplation of the Imperial policy. Her specie is now nearly double the amount at which it stood in 1856, when the last suggestion of this nature was discussed. But, in the view of war, either actual or contemplated, such an event may be anticipated. It must be remembered that, in 1856, France had just escaped from a state of war, and there was every reason to inspire the public with confidence in the ability of the Bank to give cash for its notes. But, in 1861, the war, if there be one, will be made popular by an opportunity being afforded to all the jobbing and speculative classes who are committed to enormous engagements which they never can fulfil, of escaping their liability to meet them in gold.—From the Circular of Mr. W. Aven, of Angel Court, dated Friday evening, Jan. 18.

THE FRENCH TREATY.—We have good reason to believe (says the Manchester Examiner) that the time originally fixed for the French treaty coming into full operation will be considerably anticipated. From circumstances which have come to our knowledge, we consider it highly probable that, within a few weeks hence, the Moniteur will announce the Emperor's decision to give immediate effect to the stipulations of the treaty, and thereby obviate the inconveniences incident to any further suspense in the commercial intercourse of the two countries.

THE RED SEA CABLE.—The differences lately existing between the Red Sea Telegraph Company and Messrs. Newall and Co., the contractors, in respect to the alleged faulty condition of the cable have been amicably adjusted, and measures will be taken soon to replace the injured cable in the Red Sea.—London and China Telegraph.

THE BANKRUPTCY OF STREETFELD AND Co.—It may be asked how it happened that this reckless trading received so much countenance from the banks and discount houses. Was there no culpable neglect on their part in furnishing money without inquiry on the shoals of bills thus poured into the market? We observe that it was the object both of the bankrupt, Mr. Laurence, and his cashier, Mr. Thomas, to throw the blame to some extent on those houses, and to represent that their doors were besieged by the representatives of the discount firms soliciting them to bring their paper to their respective houses. But, supposing that to be true to the fullest extent, the fact would not much implicate their discretion. The house had stood high in the confidence of the commercial world for half a century. The popular belief in the wealth of the partners was that it was something fabulous. Even Mr. Thomas, who was deeper in the secrets of the firm than any one, except the partners, believed that the personal wealth of Messrs. Laurence and Mortimore might fairly be reckoned about £300,000 each. Then there was the clever manner which their great credit enabled them to put in practice, of discounting bills at so many different firms, that no one of these had reason to feel alarmed at the amount of paper each of them held. With such illegitimate courses, such facilities for putting them in practice, or such tricks to cover them, the wariest might have been, as we see they were, deceived.—Bankers' Magazine.

THE MANAGER—A. J. White, Esq.

SOLICITORS.

Messrs. Pearce, Phillips, Winkworth, and Pearce.

The following Report was presented:—

The Directors have satisfaction in presenting to the Proprietors the annexed Statements of Account, which show that the gross profits realised during the past six months, together with the balance brought forward from the previous half-year, amount to £38,736. 10s. 4d. Of this sum they have appropriated—

To the payment of the current expenses of the establishment, and a full allowance for bad and doubtful debts ... £24,548 0 0

which enables them to declare a dividend at the rate of £6 per cent. per annum, free of income-tax, and to carry £625. 5s. 4d. to the credit of the Profit and Loss Account of the current half-year.

At the last meeting of Shareholders the Chairman stated that the Bank would sustain a considerable loss by the failure of Messrs. Streetfield, Laurence, and Co., which had then just previously occurred. The Directors have carefully estimated the value of the bills and other securities held by the Bank on account of that firm, and have written off the full amount of the deficiency in the balance-sheet now presented.

The dividend will be payable on and after the 22nd instant.

After the "Register of Shareholders" and "Register of Transfers" had been authenticated, by impressing thereupon the corporate seal of the Bank, the Secretary read the Report and Accounts, and

It was resolved unanimously that the Report now read be received and adopted.

Whereupon a dividend was declared, for the period ending the 31st December last, at and after the rate of £6 per cent. per annum, free of income-tax.

It was then resolved unanimously—

"That the best thanks of this meeting are due, and are hereby given, to the Directors, for their able and efficient management of the Bank during the past six months."

"That the thanks of the meeting be given to our excellent Manager, Mr. White, to whom we are so much indebted for the success of the Bank."

"That the thanks of the shareholders be presented to the Auditors, for the careful manner in which they have audited the Accounts."

(Signed)

ROBERT WALTER CARDEN, Chairman.

TENTH REPORT of the BANK of LONDON.

At the TENTH ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING of the Shareholders, held at the LONDON TAVERN, Bishopsgate-street, on THURSDAY, the 17th of January, 1861,

SIR JOHN VILLIERS SHELLEY, Bart., M.P., in the Chair,

The following Report was read by the Secretary:—

The Directors have pleasure in submitting the annexed statement of accounts, made up to the conclusion of the past half-year, showing that the balance of profit and loss account amounts to £31,533. 12s. 3d.

This result enables them to make the most ample provision for all outstanding debts, which, on this occasion, are rendered unusually large by the great failures in the leather trade, and after liquidating the current expenses, allowing for rebate of interest, and the usual appropriation for preliminary expenses, there remains for disposal the sum of £11,738. 4s. 1d.

The Directors, therefore, declare a dividend at the rate of £5 per cent. per annum, free of Income-tax, and they carry £4,000 to the reserve fund, by which addition that fund is increased to £31,000. The balance, viz., £238. 4s. 1d., is transferred to profit and loss account of the current half-year.

THE MANAGER—Fleming Hewett, Esq.

SOLICITORS—Messrs. Clarke and Morice.

The following Report was presented:—

It will be seen by the annexed statement of accounts that, including the sum of £24,554. 13s. 9d. brought forward from the last half-year, and after reserving £60,000 to meet the losses incurred by the failures of Messrs. Streetfield, Laurence, and Co., and other firms in the leather trade, there remains for division a net profit of £33,528. 13s. 1d., which, with £3,971. 6s. 11d. taken from the Guarantee Fund, enables the Directors to declare the usual dividend at the rate of £12½ per centum per annum, free of Income-tax.

It is with regret that the Directors have to announce so large an increase to the loss as compared with the estimate made in July last; but since that period several additional failures in the above-named trade have occurred, and the estates of nearly the whole of the insolvent houses are being wound up in the Bankruptcy Court, whereby the expected dividends have been much diminished. It is, however, confidently believed that the amount now reserved will be sufficient to cover every contingency.

The Guarantee Fund, with the six months interest accrued, amounted on the 31st ult. to £214,733 18 1

From which has to be deducted for depreciated value of Government and Indian securities, as compared with the prices on 30th June last ... .. £6,500 0 0

And the sum as before-mentioned of 3,971 6 11

Leaving the present amount of the fund ... .. £204,262 11 2

The Directors have to announce with deep concern the death of their much-esteemed colleague Sir George Carroll, which event will render an extraordinary general meeting necessary during the present half-year, to elect a gentleman to supply the vacancy thus occasioned.

The seats on the Direction which now become vacant are those of—

Henry Christy, Esq.
Francis Bennett Goldney, Esq.
Charles James Heath, Esq.
Henry Lee, Esq.
George Pollard, Esq.

And these gentlemen offer themselves for re-election.

The dividend will be payable on and after Friday, the 25th instant.

The preceding Report having been read to the Meeting by the Secretary, a dividend for the half-year ending the 31st December last after the rate of £12½ per centum per annum was declared by the Chairman.

Resolved unanimously—"That the Report now read be received, and that it be printed for the use of the Shareholders."

The following Directors, having retired by rotation, were unanimously re-elected, viz.:—

Henry Christy, Esq.
Francis Bennett Goldney, Esq.
Charles James Heath, Esq.
Henry Lee, Esq.
George Pollard, Esq.

Resolved unanimously—"That the Shareholders desire to express their sincere thanks, and not thanks only, but entire confidence, in the judgment, diligence, and ability of the Directors."

The Company was completely registered in January, 1859, and was formed for the purpose of importing a substance called Asphaltum or Chapatote, found in large quantities in the island of Cuba, and which contains oil and other valuable articles of commerce.

Prior to the formation of the Company, the original promoters expended large sums in testing the value of the material, and when satisfied upon that point, arranged for the purchase of the mines. This purchase was made for £50,000 in shares fully paid up, which have been appropriated to the late proprietors and promoters of the undertaking, but such shares do not participate in any dividend until the other shareholders have received a preference dividend of 5 per cent. per share per annum.

Of the remaining £10,000 of capital, £6 per share (or £30,000) has been called up and paid, and until recently it was thought that the remaining £20,000 would have been fully sufficient for the profitable development of the Company. The Directors were, however, strongly advised to become the purchasers of another large property in Cuba, consisting of a mine (in full work, and situate only about three or four hundred yards from a railway station), and extensive and valuable plant for making, and refining oil. Attached to the refinery is a wharf situated in the Bay of Havana.

In the purchase was also included the exclusive privilege of making oil in the island of Cuba and Porto Rico, but as that privilege would expire in the year 1863, application was made and this monopoly granted for a term of 15 years, now to run.

The owners of the last-mentioned property have expended upon it within the last three or four years between £60,000 and £70,000, but not possessing sufficient knowledge with reference to the manufacture of oil, disposed of the concern to this Company for the sum of £22,300, and with a view to working this property, and more fully developing the Company, it has been thought desirable to increase the capital.

The Company is at present possessed of extensive works at Millwall, which have been for some time past in full operation. The oil and other products are highly appreciated, and command a ready sale; but as the existing plant is not capable of producing more than 7,000 gallons of oil per week, it will be necessary to increase the works in order to meet the daily increasing demand.

The subjoined statement of the profits to be derived from the undertaking, deduced from the experience of actual workings, is based upon a calculation of the highest price of labour and raw material, and the lowest value of the manufactured articles.

Equal to £21,924. 10s. per annum, or nearly 22 per cent. on the present entire capital of the Company, derived from the manufacture of oil, &c., at the Millwall Works alone.

Other sources of income are not taken into account in the foregoing estimate, among which may be stated the profit to be derived from the sale of the raw material.

No estimate is made of the profit of making oil in Cuba; but as the works there, after making some unimportant and not very expensive alterations, can in all probability be made to produce at least some five or six thousand gallons per week, it may fairly be concluded that the profits will be considerable, as the consumption of oil in the island is very large, it appearing by the Custom-house return for 1857, that the value of oil and other articles imported for burning purposes was between £300,000 and £300,000.

The Directors are of opinion that the sum of 12s. per share now proposed to be paid will be ample for the efficient working of the undertaking; but should it hereafter be deemed advisable to call up any further portion of the capital, the amount of such call at any one time will not exceed 4s. per share, and three months' notice at least will be given before payment is required.

Copies of Prospectuses and any other information may be obtained on application to Messrs. SHORE and KIRK, Sharebrokers, Red Lion-street, Manchester.

MR. PIKE'S ANNUAL CIRCULAR.

MR. JOHN ROBERT PIKE begs to tender his warmest thanks to the numerous patrons and friends who have favoured him with commissions during the year 1860. To many it has been a period of varied success in speculation, although, on the whole, a satisfactory balance of profit has been realised. Looking at the courses of other branches of speculative enterprise during the last twelve months, the comparative firmness which has characterised the Mine Share Market is highly encouraging. Usually speaking, the prices of mine shares fluctuate with the value of money and the necessary staples of consumption, affected at the same time by the soundness or otherwise of trade, conditions which, during the period under review, have been sensibly modified. We have had disasters in trade, complicated international politics, money dear almost to panic point, and convulsions rather than variations in other share markets; but, through all, the demand for British mines, both for investment and speculation, has been, all things considered, remarkably good. As a matter of course, copper shares have fluctuated with the variations in the standard, which is a principle unquestionably sound, and beneficial alike to the investor and speculator, apart altogether from the fluctuations in prices consequent on the usual accident of supply and demand.

In some quarters it might be construed as rudeness even to offer any advice to the investing public on the management of their own affairs, but speculation in mining property is of such an exceptional character as to warrant him, at the risk of displacing a few, in making his long experience in some measure available for the benefit of the many. He has addressed the public interested in mines, both through the medium of the newspaper press and in printed books on this subject. For years he has in this way been warning and advising, and now, at the commencement of another year, he would impress upon the minds of investors a few very ordinary, but in practice very valuable, truisms:—

- 1.—Never speculate without careful and diligent inquiry. The answer to this may be that no persons but those bereft of reason ever do; to which he would reply, assuming the correctness of the hypothesis, that a frightfully large number of the investing public must be in that lamentable mental condition.
- 2.—The prices at which shares may be negotiated on 'Change is no guide whatever to the intrinsic value of the mines represented. Then how comes it, says the sceptic, that men, confessedly knowing better, should every day of their lives give more for shares than they are really worth? To which he would answer, that there are both values fictitious and values real. By the former the members of a guild may be benefited, but the latter can alone satisfy the investor who specifically exchanges money for an equivalent value.
- 3.—Seek the assistance of a reliable agent, a course which is perfectly consistent with the full exercise of personal judgment. In negotiating the purchase or sale of mine shares, the services of a respectable and competent agent are indispensable. Any person of average intelligence, after a very slight acquaintance with the forms of the House, can properly conduct the business of a client in railway stock or Government securities; but to creditably conduct a negotiation in mine shares an amount of special knowledge on the part of the agent is necessary, which can only be acquired by long experience from actual observation in mining matters.
- 4.—Having selected an agent, be influenced by his advice until you discover it is no longer reliable. To neglect of this rule alone may be traced a large percentage of losses in mining transactions. Excessive acquisitiveness, when placed against the judgment of an agent, usually triumphs, and the result, in too many instances, is either gain deferred or serious loss. Apropos of this is the old saying, that "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush."

The reiteration of the foregoing, if productive of little good, cannot in any case do harm. Long experience has convinced him of their soundness, an opinion which he feels convinced the most respectable mine share agents will unhesitatingly endorse.

As regards local mining connection, he has much pleasure in announcing that this branch of his business has been greatly extended. His long residence as a sharebroker in Cornwall has enabled him to establish a network of correspondents, by whom he is kept well advised of any change of importance in the mines of Cornwall and Devon, as well as those in the northern districts. The information thus derived is now, as heretofore, at all times at the service of his clients.

To one new feature, however, he begs respectfully to direct particular attention—viz., the selection "of a set of six mines, three dividend and three progressive, for speculation and investment in the year 1861." In this task he has been aided by some of the best practical miners in Cornwall. In the choice of these mines no expense nor labour has been spared, and so strong is his personal faith in the selection that, if called upon at the time of purchase so to do, he will unhesitatingly undertake a moiety of the risk, by paying or receiving one-half of either profit or loss on the transaction; whilst an uniform charge of one guinea will be made to the public on application, either by letter or personally, for the desired information.

Mr. PIKE continues to buy and sell for the fortnightly and monthly accounts, on receiving a remittance of 25 per cent. on the current market prices, as a deposit to cover risk. In conclusion, Mr. PIKE begs to assure his friends that all communications respecting business will meet with the same attention as heretofore, and to state that his facilities for negotiating shares in British, Foreign, and Colonial Mines remain unimpaired.

MR. SPARGO GIVES ADVICE and ACCURATE INFORMATION as to the position and prospects of all mining undertakings upon application, either personally or by letter, and has published the following, from which those unacquainted with mining can enlighten themselves thereon, viz.:—Statistics and Observations upon the Mines of Devon and Cornwall, for 1859, price 2s. 6d.; ditto for 1860, 2s. 6d.; Physical, Geological, and Parish Map of Cornwall, 10s. 6d.; Geological Maps of various Mining Districts of Cornwall, showing Boundary Lines of every Mine, with the Lodes, Cross-courses, and Elvans traversing each, 2s. 6d. each; and a Relief Model Map of Cornwall, price £5. 5s.

MINES, RAILWAYS, BANK, STEAM-SHIP, and INSURANCE SHARES BOUGHT, SOLD, or EXCHANGED.

Capitalists who seek safe and profitable investments, free from risk, should act only upon the soundest information; the market prices of the day are for the most part governed by the immediate supply and demand, together with the operations of speculators without reference to the bona fide merits of the property.

Mines afford a wider range for profit than any other public securities, and pay dividends bi-monthly, varying from 15 to 30 per cent. per annum. Instances frequently occur of young Mines rising in value 400 to 500 per cent. The undersigned devotes special attention to the above, and affords every information to capitalists, and effects purchases or sales upon the best possible terms.

ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY, FOR FIRE, LIFE, AND ANNUITIES, No. 29, LOMBARD-STREET, LONDON, E.C.; AND ROYAL INSURANCE-BUILDINGS, LIVERPOOL. CAPITAL—TWO MILLIONS.

FIRE BRANCH.

Notwithstanding the large accessions of business made annually through a long series of years, which obviously increase the difficulty of further advances, yet the fire premiums of the year 1859 have risen above those of the preceding year by a larger sum than has been obtained by the increase of any single year since the formation of the Company, excepting the year 1853, disclosing an advance of 50 PER CENT. IN THREE YEARS.

The following figures exhibit the progress of the whole Fire Branch, running over the last ten years:—

	Total Premium received.	Increase of the year above each preceding one.
1850 .....	£ 44,027 10 0	£ 9,557 19 8
1851 .....	76,925 4 2	24,251 18 3
1852 .....	126,459 11 4	15,895 7 0
1853 .....	151,733 9 6	21,672 17 7
1854 .....	196,148 2 6	21,098 17 10
1855 .....	226,914 7 3	32,166 4 9

Placing the Company among the very largest offices in the Kingdom. Indeed, it is believed that there are now only three offices in existence which equal it in Fire revenue.

LIFE BUSINESS.

The Directors desire to call the especial attention of the Proprietors of the LIFE BRANCH of the Establishment. ### THE MONEY MARKET—THE BANK OF ENGLAND—AND THE GOVERNMENT.

A good deal of attention has been directed during the last two or three days to some features in the Money Market which have no connection with any foreign drain. The American exchange having improved, as we anticipated it would, the shipments of gold to America have slackened. Since last Saturday, when the Arabia took £226,177 (making £2,998,000 since the commencement), the further shipments up to last evening have been limited to about £65,000. The steamer of this day from Liverpool will take an additional amount, and the drain will not cease until the exchange at New York rises further. It seems pretty clear, however, that, unless some fresh adverse change occurs in America, which is not expected, we have now got through the worst of the pressure from that quarter; and the fact that, by last night's return, the coin and bullion in the Bank of England are £11,521,580, being only £253,783 less than last week, is encouraging, as indicating that the efflux is not important or beyond control.

Looking to the Continent, the bullion movement is likewise more favourable. The Bank of France is reported to be in an easier position. It has, moreover, arranged with the Bank of Russia for a supply of £1,200,000 in gold, in exchange for silver. France, therefore, does not press upon us just now. The exchanges between England and other points of the Continent are so high, under the pressure of the Bank of England "screw," that gold cannot be transmitted thither from this side. Accordingly £20,000 of the Australian gold just imported was yesterday sent into the Bank of England. That establishment is expected to receive some further amounts. These facts are worthy of notice, as showing that, whilst the pressure for gold for America is subsiding, the pressure for gold for the Continent presents even a more marked diminution.

In face of these encouraging circumstances, the discount market is tight; bills are not generally taken below 6½ to 7 per cent.; and in the Stock Exchange there is quite a pressure for money, which commands the extraordinarily high rate of 6½ to 7 per cent. on English Government Three per Cent. Securities. This state of things has caused a degree of uneasiness in financial circles, such as was not witnessed during the prevalence of that much more serious feature—a severe foreign drain of gold. It must be observed, however, with satisfaction that the causes of this movement do not originate abroad (in which case they might be difficult of control), but that they have essentially an internal aspect. The Bank of England are disturbing the market by borrowing in the Stock Exchange on Government Securities. The secrecy with which these operations are conducted has a bad effect. Mystery is always pernicious in financial matters. It would appear that the Bank will not accomplish their object of adding to their reserve of notes by these measures, for the money which they draw from the stock market comes practically from the private deposits in the Bank itself. The intimate connection which exists between the Bank of England and the Government causes these operations to be watched with additional caution. The public have been greatly surprised to learn that the amount of the Indian Five per Cent. Stock, existing in the Bank books, instead of being £5,000,000, as was generally believed, is upwards of £8,000,000. The financial "hocus pocus" by which this important alteration has been made, to the prejudice of the ignorant holders of the loan in question, is, no doubt, susceptible of explanation, and the public will do well to insist upon an explicit one. We confess we regard the proceeding as extremely irregular and equally impolitic, especially considering that a new Indian loan of £3,000,000 is expected to be announced early next week. There is, probably, no connection whatever between the irregularity referred to, and the present operations in stocks by the Bank of England; but it is remarkable how distrustful the public become when there are any indications of a want of candour on the part of our financial administration. The whole of the complicated relations subsisting between the Exchequer, the Bank of England, the Savings Banks Commissioners, the National Debt Commissioners, and the Indian Finance Department, greatly require simplification. The public, rightly or wrongly, will have no confidence where mystery is either practised or affected.

The satisfactory feature is that, as we have shown, the immediate disturbance in the Money Market does not arise from abroad.

THE PROSPECTS OF AMERICAN TRADE.

THE 4th of March, as we ventured to state at the beginning of the American troubles, will form the turning point of the present crisis; and whatever may then be done it is almost a safe prediction that our trade transactions with the United States will immediately thereafter experience some revival. One reason why little or no business has been done since the election of Mr. Lincoln is, that beyond mere preparation for the spring and summer trade little is ever done at this period, and nothing more serious can, after all, be said to have yet taken place than that the usual preparation has been deferred. It has been deferred just as transactions are sometimes deferred among ourselves; as, for example, when the Budget is expected to make some sweeping changes. Mr. Lincoln's Message will give matters a peaceful or a warlike turn; if peaceful, the usual American purchases will be made at once in our manufacturing districts, and there is little doubt that the Broadway and Boston ladies will yet receive the latest styles in good season. If the turn is warlike, the demand will be less; but still it is to be anticipated that our export trade with America will experience some revival, simply because the character of the political situation will then be clear.

Another reason why some resumption of business is sure to take place after the 4th of March is that the necessities of the North-Western States—Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, and Minnesota—will lead the business-men of the Eastern States to think of something else than politics or war. The quantity of grain which the frost has kept back in the North-West is without precedent, and it will be sent down the lakes to Buffalo and Oswego, the two lake extremities of the Erie Canal, the moment the ice gives way. But for the winter, this produce movement would have been unchecked; and instead of the New York produce-dealers having nothing to do, as has been the case for the past two months, their hands would have been more than full. As soon, therefore, as Mr. Lincoln has enunciated his policy—be that policy what it may—that familiar crowd of Western produce-dealers, shopkeepers, and speculators who periodically fill the New York hotels to overflowing will, as the saying is, "start east," make arrangements for the resumption of the produce-movement, and give their orders for the various kinds of imported merchandise. The fact is that it is only now that the effect of the great abundance of the last season's harvest in the Western and Northern States is beginning to be felt. The farmers and the shopkeepers have not yet had breathing-time to count their gains; and if they have been for the moment arrested in their investment by the excitement of the secession movement, the business of the approaching season need not necessarily suffer.

No better proof of the good condition of the North-Western States can be adduced than the absence of all panic in face of the practical destruction of their whole circulating medium. The currency of the North-West has been chiefly issued on the security of Missouri Six per Cent. Bonds, pledged with the different State Governments; and one of the general banking law provisions is, that in the case of any depreciation of these bonds, additions must be made to them without any further increase in the note circulation: the object of the provision is to secure the note-holders. So serious has been the depreciation in Missouri Bonds—Missouri being a Slave State—that the banks have either been unwilling or unable to lodge new securities against their issues, and they have point blank refused to do so, without occasioning the least anxiety to the public. Bankers and all other classes have been doing an unusually large and profitable business, and the now inconvertible Western currency, instead of being depreciated 10 or 15 per cent., or more, as it was at the beginning of the secession movement, when Missouri Bonds were comparatively high, is now received in payment of sight exchange on New York, at a discount of not more than 5 per cent. One, therefore, of the best markets for our exports to the United States is in a safe and unexcited condition, and will not long remain with its many wants unsupplied.

With regard to secession it is scarcely necessary to say that probability is now largely on the side of a Southern Confederation being established. At this season of the year we are almost a fortnight in receiving detailed American news; and if we take that fortnight into account, the South has yet a long time to make good its own independent union, and to present a front to Mr. Lincoln which even he will hesitate to attack. And when it is considered that ever since the abrogation of slavery in the Northern States the Southern States have been accustomed to act together on even very trifling questions, it is far more likely that the confederation of the South will be complete before the inauguration of the new President than the contrary. This would almost lead inevitably to a recognition of the independent sovereignty of the South by Mr. Lincoln, as coercion would then be really hopeless. The United States ships-of-war might devastate the sea-port towns of the Southern seaboard, but these are not the vital parts of the South; and on the American doctrine of free ships making free goods, British vessels would be privileged to carry on uninterrupted traffic with the South. The North, in fact, cannot reach the vital part of the South at all—that is the cotton, rice, and sugar-growing districts—and the battle of secession would be fought in Virginia or Maryland, where no harm would be done; or, perhaps, in Pennsylvania, into which the Southerners might attempt to carry war.

A peaceful recognition of Southern sovereignty would open up an entirely new field for enterprise, prove in the end highly advantageous to the Northern States, and afford the only hope of the ultimate extinction of Southern slavery. So long as the present union is maintained the Southern States must remain in dependence on the North, producing nothing but what they produce at present, and receiving from the North at second-hand everything that they consume. This would be no privation were the Southern States without the resources for any higher industrial effort, and cut off from direct communication with the world. But they are in possession of some of the finest harbours on the American continent; large, valuable, and extensive forests; coal and other minerals in great abundance, and are traversed in all directions by navigable rivers and by railways. Above all, the agricultural capabilities of the Southern States are of the highest order, the wheat and the flour of these States being as much superior to the wheat and flour of the Western States as our own wheat and flour. Why, then, should the Southern States continue doomed by the present union to ignore these great resources, and to be contented with the comparatively few productions of slave labour? This is the real grievance of the Southern States; and in the highest interests of humanity we may wish the secession movement speedy and complete success.

Resistance to the claims of the Southern States, particularly if these States cast in their lot together, can only be of short duration, and need not excite real alarm as to the supply of that great staple upon which so much depends, until at least we have time to receive supplies from other parts. There seems no reason to apprehend an insurrection among the negroes; and the field hands need not be withdrawn from their work. Upon the plantations it is doubtful if much will be known of the present movement until it has been settled. It is not to be forgotten that the poor slaves of the Southern States are in the main removed by only one degree from the savage state, and quite incapable of any great concerted effort.

THE FINANCIAL IMPROVEMENT IN AMERICA.

THE last weekly statements of the New York city banks present the following changes as compared with the week preceding:

Decrease in loans ... ..	1,690,793 dollars.
Increase in specie ... ..	1,564,417 "
Increase in circulation ... ..	410,701 "
Decrease in undrawn deposits ... ..	711,164 "

We would call the attention of our readers to the favourable character of these changes. The decrease in the loans indicates a diminished demand for money on the part of the mercantile community, owing to the contraction of trade. The increase in the specie speaks for itself. It shows that a considerable portion of the gold received from various quarters remains in New York, to operate as a stimulus to confidence. The increase is the more worthy of remark, because the beneficial effect naturally to be expected from the large influx of the precious metal from England has been greatly retarded by the defective arrangements of the Mint. It appears that, owing to the want of a new die or some other cause, the Mint, by recent advices, had been absolutely idle for nearly a fortnight. In spite of these circumstances, gold was accumulating in the New York banks, and the rate of discount for the best bills had fallen to 6 to 7 per cent.

OUR JOINT-STOCK BANKS—THE LONDON AND WESTMINSTER AND THE UNION.

If any question were to arise as to the soundness of the banking institutions of the metropolis, it would be sufficient answer to point to the result of the meetings of joint-stock bank proprietors held in the course of last week. The commercial body have reason to be well satisfied with the result of the banking operations of the last twelve months, if we consider that during that period failures have taken place to a frightful extent, and have presented features almost subversive of credit. The total losses by these failures may fairly be estimated at upwards of one million sterling. We know what portion of the loss has been sustained by the Joint-Stock Banks, and the manner in which they have gone through the ordeal fully justifies the public confidence reposed in them. Joint-Stock Banks, in addition to the confidence placed in the responsibility of a large body of shareholders, all of whom are individually as well as collectively liable for the debts of the bank, trade upon absolute capital paid up, together with a large amount in reserve, in the shape of uncalled capital. Hence their enormous command of means. If there be one consideration more than another which has popularised the system of joint-stock banking, it is that of allowing interest on money lodged. The Bank of England allow no interest on deposits, let the sum deposited be £100 or £5,000; neither do the private banks, save in specific instances. Professional men, merchants, and others, have often large sums of money in their hands waiting a favourable period of employment or investment, which, if placed in a joint-stock bank will realise a considerable rate of interest. The Joint-Stock Banks will, therefore, at all times attract a very large amount of what may be termed loose capital.

The recent report of the progress of the London and Westminster Bank is unquestionably the most interesting ever submitted to the shareholders. It appears that the amount of deposits is £12,484,454. This presents an increase of £1,300,000 compared with the same period of last year, and an increase of half a million compared with July last. The amount invested by the Bank in Government securities is considerably more than the £1,000,000 forming its paid-up capital. The net profit of the past half-year amounted to £112,816 7s. 8d. This profit, be it observed, is shown, after making ample provision for all bad and doubtful debts, paying the Income-tax, setting aside £2,000 for the building fund, and presenting a gratuity of 10 per cent. on their salaries to all the officers of the establishment. The dividend declared was at the rate of 20 per cent. per annum, or equal to the tenth part of the paid-up capital.

The present position of this bank contrasts very remarkably with the first years' report, dated the 31st December, 1834. At that period the bank had a paid-up capital of £182,255; the sum due to its customers was only £180,380, whilst its annual profits amounted to only £3,200. The progress which the London and Westminster Bank has made, during the space of twenty-six years, is not surpassed by that of any similar establishment in the world, and excels all in point of solidity. Even the Bank of England had not, after an existence of upwards of a century, more than £2,300,000 in deposit belonging to its customers; and at this moment, if we leave out of the account the deposits belonging to the bankers, the deposits (£12,484,454) in the London and Westminster Bank actually exceed those in the Bank of England. The latter corporation has, during a period of 166 years, only on one occasion declared a dividend of upwards of 20 per cent., and that was in the palmy days of one pound notes, and was capitalised. The shares of the London and Westminster Bank are now at a premium of 230 per cent., whilst the stock of the Bank of England stands at a premium of only 130 per cent. The success of the branches of the London and Westminster Bank has kept pace with that of the parent establishment. This fact furnishes a proof of the practical knowledge brought to bear on the subject.

We may also advert to the report of the directors of the Union Bank of London, which was submitted to the shareholders on the same day as the meeting of the London and Westminster Bank. The report appears to have been received with general satisfaction. The good effects arising from the policy of at once clearing the bank of the entire amount of Pullinger's frauds, although at the sacrifice of the whole of the reserved fund, and of that portion of previous profits which had been capitalised, has been fully exemplified. The confidence of the public is deservedly bestowed upon an institution which can make good a loss of a quarter of a million without the slightest difficulty. Had such a loss been sustained by a bank not in a solid position it would evidently have succumbed. It must be a source of unmixed satisfaction to all interested in this bank to find that not only its own immediate customers but the public at large have rallied round it, and, as a proof of confidence, have raised the deposits to the highest point shown in its career, with the single exception of the first half-year of 1857. The profits of the Union Bank for the half-year ending the 31st December last have been £63,063, and enable the directors to apportion 12s. per share as a dividend, which is equivalent to 10 per cent. on the amount of the capital, and to carry forward £30,000 as a good security towards the next half-year's dividend, or to form the commencement of a new reserved fund, as may be hereafter agreed on.

Happily for the future quietude of this bank, the abandonment of the Chancery proceedings for an injunction to restrain the directors from paying the dividends has, at a trifling cost, been secured. The question raised was, whether the amount taken from the capital, to make good the losses incurred by Pullinger's frauds, could be so appropriated in accordance with the clause in the deed of settlement respecting the mode of meeting losses. The directors no doubt considered that, having added a portion of previous profits to the shareholders' capital, that addition might legitimately, with the sanction of the shareholders, be re-appropriated to make good the loss, for it could not be said to be capital paid up by the shareholders, being really and truly part of the profits. Their view accords with common sense.

COMING RAILWAY DIVIDENDS.

THE dividend on Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway stock is officially announced at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, with a surplus of about £20,000. The announcement has not entirely equalled expectation, the rumours lately current in the Manchester and Liverpool markets fixing the amount at  $6\frac{1}{2}$ , if not  $6\frac{3}{4}$ . The price of the stock advanced on Thursday, however, on the announcement, owing to purchases to cover previous speculative sales.

A NEW AUSTRIAN LOAN.

The official Wiener Zeitung of Jan. 20 contains an imperial decree, dated the 18th inst., ordering the emission of a new Five per Cent. Loan of 30,000,000fl. at 88. The object of this loan being "merely to anticipate the payment of the taxes," the Minister of Finance is to issue the securities in such a manner that a fifth of their amount may be redeemed at a time, and the tax-collectors are ordered to accept them at par in payment of the taxes for the current year.

The necessities of the Government, and the fruitless attempts which they made to raise the requisite supplies, are somewhat amusingly narrated as follows by the Vienna correspondent of the Times, writing prior to the date of the above decree:—

The day before yesterday the Minister of Finances sent for some of the directors of the Bank, and requested them to advance 20,000,000 florins to the State. The exact reply given has not come to my knowledge, but it must have been in the negative, as M. von Plener afterwards applied to the Credit Bank for the loan of 15,000,000 florins, for which he offered Bonds hypothecated on the salt mines in Gmunden, which now bear 6 per cent. interest. The representatives of the Credit Bank excused themselves, and advised the Minister to raise a Five per Cent. Loan of 25,000,000 florins, payable within five years. The financiers spoke of 85 as the price of issue, but M. von Plener declared that he could not afford to let them have the loan at a lower figure than 90. As the Treasury is empty, and money must be had to pay the troops, it is probable that there will soon be an issue of Exchequer-bills or State notes.

The following are the conditions of this operation as described in the official journal:—

"The subscriptions to the loan are to begin on the 21st of January, 1861. The conditions are as follows:—1. Each subscriber of 88fl. Austrian currency will receive a State bond for 100fl. 2. The bonds to bear 5 per cent. interest. 3. The sum subscribed will be repaid in five years, and in five equal parts. The first part (one-fifth) will be paid on the 1st of December, 1862; and the last on the 1st of December, 1866. In the preamble to the ordinance, which is counter-signed by the eight members of the cabinet, it is said that a loan must be raised 'because the necessity for protecting the frontiers has rendered an increased outlay for the army necessary; and the Hungarians are in arrear with their taxes.' It is added, that the necessary steps for getting in the outstanding taxes in Hungary have been taken."

THE GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY OF CANADA.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "MONEY MARKET REVIEW."

SIR,—You have devoted so much of your attention to the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada, that I should not trespass upon your space again in reference to that unfortunate undertaking, unless I believed I could suggest a legal and practicable mode of arranging the affairs of the company; and I know no means so likely to secure due consideration for the plan as publication in the "MONEY MARKET REVIEW." The judgment creditors can sell the property of the company, and the province can purchase it for 10,111,500l., a sum exceeding the original estimate by 661,500l. It seems to me on a fuller consideration of the Canadian statutes, that the provincial lien may be deemed a third mortgage on the line as respects the principal, and the purchase should be made on that understanding, the Province issuing deferred railway bonds for 2,788,600l. to bear interest at 2 per cent. per annum in the year 1869, 3 per cent. in 1870, 4 per cent. in 1871, 5 per cent. in 1872, 6 per cent. in 1873, and at the same rate subsequently; provided that the net surplus profits over 550,000l. shall suffice to discharge the said dividends as they become due. 7,000,000l. will pay off the first and second mortgages, as well as the provincial lien; and leave a balance of about 63 per cent. of the amount of all the other debts irrespective of their priorities.

The Province would have to raise 7,500,000l. probably (in the present state of the market) at 6 per cent., giving an annual charge of 450,000l.; the Detroit and Sarnia rent could probably be reduced to 27,000l., the alternative being the surrender of the lease. Adding 73,000l. for the Atlantic and St. Laurence rent, we have 550,000l. as the entire annual charge.

I send a table showing the profits of the line and the result of the proposed arrangement, assuming a steady increase in the receipts, but without allowing interest on the deficits, or surplus over 550,000l. I estimate the profits at 40 per cent. of the receipts, and having regard to the experience now possessed as to the effect of the Canadian climate on rails, I apprehend this is the highest safe calculation. Assuming that my conjectures shall be realised, the Province would have a sum of 4,000,000l. in the year 1880 to apply to the reduction of the public debt of Canada.

By the course suggested, the property of the company will be made available for all creditors according to their legal priorities, and the original shareholders will not lose their money, though required to display the virtue of patience in no ordinary degree.—I am, sir, your obedient servant,

January 21, 1861.

L. H.

THE COMMERCIAL TREATY WITH FRANCE.—The Moniteur states that the Minister of Agriculture, Commerce, and Public Works has just published a fresh volume of his investigations as to the working of the Treaty of Commerce between France and this country. Three volumes have already been published relating to metals and wool; the present volume is on the cotton trade and manufacture.

THE STATE OF TRADE.

(COMPILED FROM NUMEROUS LOCAL REPORTS.)

THE accounts from most of the manufacturing districts report increased dullness. In many quarters production is being curtailed, and employment is less plentiful than of late. There is, however, no general distress.

The accounts from Manchester report a steady market for yarns, but scarcely anything doing for any quarter. Prices are partly kept up by the continued increase of cost for cotton, and partly by the contracts still running in the hands of spinners. There has been a much quieter market for cloth, and where there is any change in prices it is in favour of the buyer—say to the extent, in some cases, of  $1\frac{1}{2}$ d. per piece. This remark applies to all goods suitable for India, and printing-cloths, T-cloths, and long-cloths; in fact, to the bulk of production. Altogether, it is the gloomiest market for some time. Messrs. John Slagg and Co. report:—

The market is very inanimate. The difference between buyers and sellers is, if anything, wider than last week. The former, owing to the state of the money market and the discouraging accounts from many important markets, are less disposed to operate; while the hardening tendency of cotton and yarns causes producers to hold firmly for the late advance. The business is consequently insignificant in amount.

At Leeds there has been but a small attendance of buyers in the cloth-halls, and few goods changed hands. The tone of the market was rather flat, neither the home trade nor the export houses being active purchasers. There is no change yet in the state of the manufacturers, who are mostly well employed; but, unless the demand soon becomes better, either stocks will accumulate or machinery will have to be stopped running.

At Rochdale the flannel and wool markets have both been rather flat, and operations were but to a small extent. The state of American affairs and other circumstances exercise a depressing influence. Manufacturers, who had been demanding an advance on several productions, are moderately well employed; but they appear willing to forego the advance lately demanded.

The report from Bradford, dated Thursday, states that the languor noticed the last week or two still continues, without any change for the better. Though prices have been sustained with remarkable firmness, some staplers manifest a willingness to make slight concessions in the price of some sorts of wool rather than hold longer; nevertheless buyers are seldom tempted to purchase what they do not immediately require. There is no improvement, either, in the demand for home consumption. Spinners are from week to week curtailing their production, which is now telling largely upon the operatives. There is again very little doing in goods; fancy and plain fabrics are alike dull for the time of the year, and the production is greatly diminished. Among the home merchants there is a little more inquiry for spring goods. The American branch of trade is quite stagnant. The foreigners, though cautious, are still the most active buyers.

At Huddersfield there has been a very quiet market, but with so many adverse circumstances present and in prospect, nothing else can be expected for the present. Some few buyers have been about the cloth halls and warehouses, but the operations have not been on so large a scale as is usual at this season. Prices are still well supported.

At Nottingham there has been a little more doing in the lace trade this week; business, however, generally speaking, remains in a very inanimate state. There are a few buyers in the town, but their operations are of a very limited character. This is the time of the year when business usually has a decidedly improved tone, but at present very little improvement is manifest. The demand for silk goods remains extremely dull. Employment is exceedingly scarce, and the operatives are undergoing great privations. In hosiery there is not much change; business is a trifle better.

At Leicester there is not so much doing in the hosiery trade as is usual at this time of the year, but more is expected to be done shortly. In the adjacent country districts business is also very flat, and many of the town and country operatives are in distress.

The annual meeting of the Nottingham Chamber of Commerce was held on the 14th inst., in the Exchange. The meeting was called for the purpose of receiving reports from the delegates of the lace and hosiery trades, who went to Paris on the subject of the French treaty and the Nottingham trade. The delegates representing the cotton and silk trade, reported that the duties upon cotton goods would be 15 per cent., plain silk nets 15 per cent. on finished goods ad valorem, and 20 francs per kilo on unfinished grey goods. In all other silk lace goods a liberal tariff had been adopted. The hosiery delegates reported that the tariff was liberal, and a great step in the direction of free trade.

In Wolverhampton and Birmingham trade is more or less depressed; this condition is general, few branches having escaped its influence. The foreign trade is worth nothing at this moment; the American iron merchants might almost close their establishments, so small is the amount of business they are doing. The home trade is inanimate. At Birmingham the bulk of the artisans are not working more than three or four days. In the iron trade there has been no change; but steps are now being taken to reduce the make of pig iron.

MERCANTILE EMBARRASMENTS.

A painful impression was produced on Saturday by the announcement of a very heavy mercantile suspension. The matter formed a prominent topic of conversation in commercial circles throughout the week. The house in question is old and respectable, being that of Messrs. Francis Ede, Son, and Co. Their principal creditors were in conference on Saturday and Monday, it being regarded as possible that arrangements might be effected by which the engagements of the house may be provided for. At the adjourned meeting on Tuesday, however, it was determined that the affairs must go into liquidation. The engagements of the firm are very extensive. It is understood that their acceptances amount to about £400,000, and the aggregate of their liabilities in every form will not fall short of £800,000. The firm were formerly in the silk trade, and are said to have accumulated in it a considerable amount of capital, but they have of late years associated themselves more closely with the Levant trade, particularly with financial transactions at Constantinople. The news of their stoppage must produce a disagreeable impression in that city, as well as at Marseilles, Genoa, Leghorn, and other places. It is naturally asked, how have they become committed to so heavy an amount of liabilities? The explanation appears to be that they have been engaged in farming a portion of the Turkish revenue, and have had much to do with pecuniary transactions with Turkish dignitaries. It is understood, however, that the business in which they are concerned promises lucrative results, and that the principal cause of their difficulty is inadequacy of capital for carrying it on. The affair has been placed in the hands of Messrs. Coleman, Turquand, Youngs, and Co., the accountants. As regards the result of the estate, a favourable impression is entertained in several quarters. A general meeting of the creditors will be convened in due course at the earliest possible period.

The suspension was announced on Monday of Messrs. Leone Rodocanachi, and Co., merchants, with liabilities to the amount of about £70,000. The estate is expected to turn out favourably. This house is in no way connected with others of the same name.

Messrs. Henry Smith and Son, railway contractors, of Birmingham, have also stopped payment. It is stated that the liabilities amount to about £20,000, and the assets to £8,000. Subjoined is the circular which has been issued:—

We regret to inform you that, in consequence of a series of untoward circumstances attending some heavy contracts which we had entered into, we have been compelled to suspend payment. We have placed our books in the hands of Messrs. Quilter, Ball, Jay, and Co., of London, who will lay the statement of our affairs before our creditors at the earliest possible moment.—We are, &c.,
Springhill Works, Birmingham, Jan. 19. HENRY SMITH AND SON.

The suspension is announced of Messrs. E. Wackerbarth and Co., sugar refiners, of Ratcliff-cross, an old and respectable house, with direct liabilities to the amount of about £30,000. It is thought that the liquidation will turn out not unfavourably. The books have been placed in the hands of Mr. C. F. Kemp, the accountant.

Messrs. Charles William Ede and Co. have intimated that they suspend their payments. It is understood that this step is adopted as a measure of precaution rather than of necessity, the firm having sufficient means in hand to meet all their engagements during the next three weeks. They apprehend involvement through the effect in Constantinople of the recent failures here. Advice from that city are awaited. The liabilities are about £101,000, whilst the assets are estimated at as high as £130,000. The house is connected by relationship with that of Messrs. Francis Ede, Son and Co.

At the adjourned meeting, on Monday, of the creditors of Messrs. Whistler, Dawson, and King, wholesale grocers and colonial produce agents, a balance-sheet was presented by Mr. S. Lowell Price, the accountant, showing liabilities to the amount of £18,411, and assets £11,125. From the investigation by the accountant since the previous meeting, it appears that a statement then presented by Mr. King regarding the extent of his misappropriations was correct; the total withdrawn by him without the knowledge of his senior partners was £2,798. This sum was lent to a Mr. Iveson, who owes altogether £3,482 to Mr. King; but this debt, although taken at 1s. in the pound, is considered worthless. Messrs. Whistler and Dawson, previous to being made aware of these acts, believed themselves solvent. A composition of 10s. in the pound was offered, 1s. 6d. to be paid at once, and the remaining 8s. 6d. by equal instalments, at two, four, and six months, the last two to be secured. It was explained, however, that to agree to this mode of liquidation would be of no avail in face of the opposition shown, and it was consequently determined that the insolvents should make an assignment of their property to two creditors, acting on behalf of the general body.

A meeting was held on Thursday of the creditors of Messrs. Leone Rodocanachi and Co. The amount of bills with Messrs. Rodocanachi's endorsement on Messrs. Francis Ede, Son, and Co., whose stoppage has caused the present suspension, is £12,322. Messrs. Rodocanachi's estate shows a surplus, the total of direct liabilities, in connection with their houses in London, Liverpool, Marseilles, Constantinople, Alexandria, and Cairo, being estimated at £101,750, whilst the assets which may be depended upon amount to upwards of £133,000. This statement was prepared by the partners themselves, one of whom explained that the balance-sheet must be regarded as an approximate one, there not having been time to hear from the houses abroad. Their wish was, however, to afford information to the creditors here as soon as possible. The separate statement of the London and Liverpool houses shows liabilities to the amount of £61,573, and assets £49,641, and that of the Marseilles firm liabilities £40,173, and assets £21,680. The assets at Constantinople are considerable: the branch there has taken part in loan transactions in connection with the Ottoman government. A proposal from the chairman that Messrs. Rodocanachi shall themselves continue to liquidate the estate was unanimously agreed to, and meanwhile they are to communicate with their partners abroad so as to be able in the first week in March (when an adjourned meeting is to take place), to fix specific periods for the payment of the claims in full.

The adjourned meeting of the creditors of Messrs. Holdsworth and Co., sugar refiners, took place on Thursday, to receive the report of the committee of investigation. The report refers, in addition to other features, to the very unsatisfactory character of the trading, the badness of the book-keeping, &c. The estate shows about 4s. 8d. in the pound. A wish was expressed that an offer of a composition should be made. Two or three creditors urged that the amount should not be less than 5s., with security for the last instalment. Mr. Holdsworth stated, however, that he is not able to find security. The question of placing the estate in the Court of Bankruptcy was then debated, but it was pointed out that this course would both diminish the amount of the dividend and delay its payment. It was ultimately agreed to adjourn until Monday, with a view to allow the firm an opportunity of offering a composition.

A meeting took place yesterday of the creditors of Messrs. Windsor, Brothers, merchants and ship insurance brokers, who recently failed. Messrs. Coleman, Turquand, Youngs, and Co., the accountants, estimate the liabilities at £22,000, and the assets at only £2,000. After some discussion respecting the smallness of the assets, it was resolved to accept a composition of 2s. 6d. in the pound, payable within two months.

There is a report that the Greek interest at Constantinople intend to sustain certain houses there compromised by the failure of Messrs. Francis Ede, Son and Co. They are also showing their strength by re-mitting gold to France and England.

In the Bankruptcy Court on Monday there was a dividend sitting under the estate of the notorious Leopold Redpath. The Great Northern Railway Company are the sole creditors. A dividend of 9s. in the pound has already been paid, and a further dividend of 2s. or 3s. will be afforded by a sum of £5,000 or £6,000 now in the hands of the official assignee.

In the Bankruptcy Court on Wednesday the well-known case of Messrs. Laurence, Mortimore, and Schrader was resumed. Mr. Karslake addressed the court on behalf of the assignees, and urged that the bankrupts' trading had been reckless. There was also a powerful speech from Mr. Linklater, which was continued on Thursday. The matter was then adjourned until Saturday (this day).

The petition for private arrangement filed in the Birmingham Bankruptcy Court by Mr. S. H. Blackwell has been withdrawn, under what circumstances has not been stated.

FROM THE LONDON GAZETTE OF TUESDAY, JAN. 22.

NATIONAL DISCOUNT COMPANY (LIMITED).

On Wednesday, Jan. 23rd, the ordinary general meeting of this company was held at the London Tavern; Mr. F. W. Russell, M.P., in the chair.

The following is the ninth report of the directors:—

The accounts which the directors now have the pleasure to place before the shareholders show, that for the half-year ending 31st ult., the gross profit amounts to 33,061*l.* 18*s.* 9*d.*, and that after payment of the current expenditure, writing off the usual proportion of the preliminary and building expenses, and reserving 15,047*l.* 6*s.* 10*d.* for rebate of interest on bills discounted, not yet due, there remains, including the sum of 5,014*l.* 6*s.* 2*d.*, brought forward from the last account, an available balance of 18,148*l.* 4*s.* 9*d.*

Of this sum, the directors propose to appropriate 9,633*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.* to the payment of a dividend at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, free of Income-tax, and to carry the surplus, 8,514*l.* 12*s.* 3*d.* to the credit of the "reserved fund," which will then amount to 34,503*l.* 3*s.* 4*d.*

The directors regret that this fund will have to be debited with the sum of 26,336*l.*, to meet the losses arising from the failures in the leather trade, to which reference was made in their last report, and as the several estates have now been thoroughly investigated, and the probabilities of their liquidation more accurately ascertained, they feel confident that this amount of loss will not be exceeded.

The directors who retire upon this occasion are M. H. Chaytor, Esq., T. W. L. Mackean, Esq., J. R. Thomson, Esq., and T. W. Watson, Esq., all of whom being eligible offer themselves for re-election.

The shareholders will have to elect auditors for the ensuing year.

J. R. MORRISON, }

Cornhill, 15th Jan., 1861.

The report having been read by Mr. R. Price, the secretary,

The Chairman, in moving its adoption, observed that as the report contained all that was essential for the proprietors to know, he would scarcely have had occasion to address any remarks to them but for the debts which unfortunately had been contracted by Streatfeild, Laurence, and Co., and their dependents. At the last meeting he was pressed by certain shareholders to give some estimate of the probable loss that would arise from the failure of these firms, and although he was most unwilling to do so, the directors not having at the time the materials before them which would enable them to speak with any certainty, he did venture to state that from the best information they then possessed, the total loss would not, he believed, exceed the sum of 23,000*l.* But at that time they knew but little of the extraordinary system of (he could not call it by any other name) swindling that had been so extensively and so successfully carried on. (Hear, hear.) They could not have supposed that at this period of our commercial history, the commerce, the trade, and the honour of this great city could possibly have been disgraced by such infamous proceedings. (Hear, hear.) He could scarcely say whether the boldness of the conception of this scheme to impose upon the commercial world, or the impudence with which it was carried out, was most to be admired; and in the revelations before the Bankruptcy Court then the facts which came out were marked with a character of extravagance and buffoonery which could hardly be supposed to have existence in reality. Under these circumstances, it was not surprising that the estimate he had so given should have been slightly exceeded.

At the same time he might state that, in the estimate now presented, the directors had been careful and guarded. They had taken the proceeds which would arise from the estates of three bankrupt firms at a very low, if not the very lowest amount; and they had every confidence that they had now arrived at the full extent of the loss. They had heard insinuations out of doors that the loss would be much greater, that it was so heavy that the entire reserve fund would be absorbed by it, and that they would be obliged to trench upon their capital. But how did the case stand? Instead of trenching upon capital, they were enabled after making ample provision to meet their losses to their utmost extent, to carry over 8,000*l.* towards the reconstruction of that fund the value of which had in these transactions become so apparent. The company now stood on a very different footing from what it did in past years. They had gained experience, and had attained a position of high standing in the commercial world, and he had no doubt they would reap the benefit in increased prosperity and larger profits. He begged in conclusion to move that the report which had been read be received and adopted.

Mr. Chater (deputy-chairman) seconded the motion.

Mr. L. Simpson and other shareholders put questions as to the state of the building account, and how the company stood with regard to the money invested in erecting the new premises in Cornhill; in reply to which it was explained that the total outlay upon the building was 43,206*l.* 17*s.* 10*d.*; and including an additional expenditure to fit a portion of the premises for letting to the Universal Marine Assurance Company, by which a rental of 1,500*l.* a year had been secured, 44,244*l.* 11*s.* 1*d.* The present state of the account stood thus. They paid a ground rent of 1,250*l.* a year; taxes, including property tax, 500*l.*; interest upon capital sunk, 1,760*l.*; making a total annual charge of 3,510*l.* Against which they had to set the rental of the premises let off, 2,030*l.*; 500*l.*, the estimated rental of the surplus premises not yet let off; and the annual value of the premises occupied by the company.

Mr. Washbourne asked why it was that there was no item in the present account for interest on the reserve fund?

The Chairman said the reason was that the greater part of that fund had been absorbed by the losses arising from the leather frauds.

Mr. Washbourne observed that the amount of business done during the last half-year exhibited a falling off of something like half a million. If that falling off arose from increased caution on the part of the management consequent upon the losses sustained through the leather trade failures, he thought the shareholders might congratulate themselves upon it.

The Chairman could not look upon the loss arising from the leather trade as the result of any want of caution on the part of the management. It was the result of a species of swindling unprecedented in its character, which it was impossible to guard against, and which was not likely ever to occur again. The decrease in the amount of business done was attributable to various circumstances—to the state of the money market, to the frequent changes which had taken place in, and the high rate of discount at, the Bank of England, all of which tended to induce greater caution on the part of the directors.

A Shareholder, seeing that the London and Westminster Bank had only lost 5,000*l.* by these leather trade failures, thought the National Discount had fallen in for rather more than their share.

Another Shareholder remarked that the London Joint-Stock Bank, one of the most successful institutions of the kind, and whose management had always been held up as a model to others, had suffered considerably more from these transactions than this company.

In reply to other questions,

The Chairman explained that all the bills discounted for Streatfeild and Co. were endorsed with the names of other houses, which at the time there was every reason to believe were perfectly solvent, but which had since failed. The total amount proved was about 50,000*l.*

Mr. Bass, M.P.—An hon. proprietor who had spoken seemed easily satisfied when he congratulated the meeting on having lost 27,000*l.* by what Sir John Shelley called those horrid failures in the leather trade, and which the directors of the Joint-Stock Bank, using a milder phrase, described as those unfortunate failures. Now, Mr. Ambrose Moore, a man of great experience and ability as a banker, admitted that their directors had been grossly deceived. The chairman of the National Discount Company had, on the contrary, stated that the management of this company was not open to any blame. But to him (Mr. Bass) as a commercial man, it certainly appeared extraordinary that accommodation bills, false paper, to the amount of three-quarters of a million or a million sterling, should have been floating in the market for years, renewable every three or four months, and that not one of those great discount houses who took them and cashed them seemed to have the smallest idea of what was going on. Mr. Ambrose Moore, in a subsequent part of his observations, acknowledged that his board had exhibited a want of "penetration" in this matter. He (Mr. Bass) could hardly think that the directors of the National Discount Company could defend themselves against the charge of want of penetration. True, they had been unfortunate in very good company, for all the great and experienced houses seemed to have suffered more or less. He observed that one very great discount house was a creditor to a large amount, and even the Bank of England did not appear to have escaped entirely, though they had exhibited more "penetration" than others. If the meeting would bear with him he would give them some reason for coming to that conclusion. In the examination before the Bankruptcy Court the other day, Mr. Laurence declared that the Bank of England in 1857 were under engagement to credit their house to the extent of 180,000*l.*, and added that he knew that in 1857 the Bank had agreed to discount for them 120,000*l.* upon bills without security, and 60,000*l.* with security. He (Mr. Bass) was informed from other quarters that an arrangement had been entered into between the Bank of England and Streatfeilds, in 1857, that the Bank should advance them with and without security 180,000*l.* 20,000*l.* was, he found, advanced at once on equitable mortgage, and regular mortgages of property were afterwards completed. In 1858 the bankrupts redeemed that property; they got out of debt again with the Bank of England, and got back their deeds. But in 1859 they were again in trouble; they went to the Bank of England, who were again ready to give assistance; and on the 10th of October, 1859, a mortgage was arranged for the second time, and advances were made upon such securities as they had to offer. He (Mr. Bass) was informed, but he would not vouch for the strict accuracy of the statement, that Streatfeild and Co. valued their securities at 80,000*l.* to 90,000*l.* It appeared now that the Bank did not consider their security sufficient, for they put down those securities at only about 35,000*l.*; and as their debt was something like 80,000*l.*, they would still seem to be creditors to the extent of about 45,000*l.* It would be observed—and here they must give credit to the Bank for penetration—that the amount which they had originally agreed to advance (180,000*l.*) had been reduced to 80,000*l.*, and that Streatfeild and Co. had given them reason to suppose that that 80,000*l.* was fully secured. Notwithstanding these events in 1857 and 1859 he believed he was right in saying that the Bank still had a high opinion of the position, responsibility, and solvency of Streatfeild and Co.; and entertaining that opinion themselves they did not hesitate to give assurances to those who made inquiries of them that they considered that house one of the most unquestionable responsibility. It was not possible for him (Mr. Bass) to declare upon his own knowledge, but he had good reasons for making the statement, that during the early part of last year, and after they had twice advanced money on securities to these people, they retained their confidence in the house, and so expressed themselves to gentlemen of the money market who went to them for information. Having, then, reduced their balance as he had shown, they must give the Bank of England credit for more penetration than their friends at the National Discount board. But he would ask them to consider, in another point of view, how the Bank of England interfered with the interest of the commercial public in another direction. In 1858, after the casualties of the unfortunate year 1857, the Bank of England came to a resolution that they would not re-discount for the discount houses. Now he thought they had every reason to find fault with that resolution. The Bank was a competitor with these discounting concerns, and derived advantage to its own shareholders by denying discounts to Overend's and the other great discount houses. He (Mr. Bass) contended that the Bank of England was not entitled to discriminate between a business established for discount and a sugar or any other mercantile concern. They had no right to make a difference between dealers in money and dealers in other articles, providing both came to them with first-class paper. He held that every commercial company of position was entitled to a reasonable share of accommodation from the Bank of England, but they denied it to the discount houses; and if they went, except when the Bank was closed for dividends, they would not advance money even upon their own bank post-bills. What was the consequence? Any one who would read the Economist of last Saturday week would find the subject ably and elaborately treated, and an argument irrefutable in his mind, that the Bank had in this inflicted a great hardship on the commercial community, and had done themselves no good. What had been the result of their resolution? The chairman had told them that within the last year they had had no less than twelve different changes in the rate of discount. They began the year at 2½ per cent., and now it was 7. Was the Bank, then, better off since it had denied that accommodation to the discount houses to which they, in common with the mercantile community generally, were entitled? Consider the difference between the Bank and their competitors in the trade of discounting. The Bank received money from the public and paid no interest for it: they had also a large amount of public deposits, and they used those deposits for their own advantage, without allowing to their competitors in return a reasonable share of the facilities which they were thus enabled to afford. It often happened that people had a large flush of money at particular periods. What were they to do with it? They might put it into the Bank of England, and they would get no interest for it; or they might put it into concerns such as this company and obtain the rate of interest of the day. All persons were therefore interested in the question. The country bankers were specially interested. What were they to do with the balances in their hands but to put them in the Bank of England, where they would receive no interest? He looked upon the resolution alluded to as a great mercantile grievance. The public were prejudiced by the maintenance of this monopoly. He trusted that this question, which was really an important one, would receive the consideration of the Bank of England and the mercantile interest generally. He would conclude by saying that although the success of the National Discount Company had not been magnificent, yet they had achieved a moderate success; and he had no doubt that recent experience would improve the penetration of the directors, and conduce to increased profits.

Mr. Chaytor (Deputy-Chairman), as being more acquainted with the circumstances connected with the losses arising from the failures in the leather trade, would, by the Chairman's permission, offer a few words of explanation. It was true that when first the company commenced its operations they did go to Streatfeild and Co. to solicit business. That was in 1856, when the firm was in the highest credit. They were well known to the manager, who had known them during his connection with the Joint-Stock Bank. It was true that the company invited Streatfeild and Co. to do business with them; and up to 1857 they did a considerable business with them. The directors did not know that they had at that time made an application to the Bank of England; but they had thought it necessary to reduce the account, and it was brought almost to a close. That they maintained their credit afterwards was an element, no doubt, in the confidence which the board felt in the stability of the house, for if they could do without the large amount of discount the company had been in the habit of giving them previously, during the crisis of 1857, it was naturally imagined that they must have ample resources. Accordingly in 1858 the account was again opened, and the company went on discounting their bills till 1859. They had then reason to suppose that there was more of their paper in circulation than there ought to be, and again limited the amount of accommodation given. He (Mr. Chaytor) met Mr. Laurence accidentally at the office of the company, when Mr. Laurence said to him, "You have stopped our discount. Why do you doubt our stability?" His reply was, "We do not doubt your stability, but we do not like to have so much paper upon one house." Mr. Laurence then asked him to go to the warehouse, and he would satisfy him that their firm was not only solvent, but possessed a large amount of property. He declined at first, but having asked him more than once, and when refusal would appear almost discourteous, he went, when Mr. Laurence brought out a deed of property near Virginia Water, another representing property in Green Dragon-yard—produced a bond of 10,000*l.* on the Peruvian government, exhibited their books to shew the profit they were making, and pointed to a very large stock of leather, which, he led him to infer, was all the property of the firm. He (Mr. Chaytor) informed the manager (Mr. Webber) what he had seen, but did not advise him to put entire faith in it, because without a much longer investigation of the books, and without the examination of a lawyer, they could not be properly appreciated, and it was impossible to say what the securities were worth. This interview, however, induced them to institute inquiries of a searching character amongst houses connected with the trade, and amongst persons who it was thought were perfectly qualified to ascertain what the real resources of the firm were. The replies they received were that their resources were of the highest class and standing; and that the company could not by any possibility lose money by their transactions with the firm. Nevertheless, the account was never afterwards permitted to extend to the figures at which it had stood before. But about a month before the stoppage of the house, seeing that they were becoming more anxious for accommodation, and were willing to pay a higher rate of discount than they had hitherto paid, the manager came to the determination to close the account. This was a month before the stoppage, but the short interim between this determination and the failure did not allow the company to get out safely, and the result was the loss of which the shareholders were now apprised. One gentleman had asked how the London and Westminster Bank had got out so well. The answer was simple. Streatfeilds had not an account with the London and Westminster, and as that bank followed the wholesome rule of not seeking discounts in the open market they were only involved by collateral accounts kept at their Borough branch. If they had known that the Bank of England were discounting for these people to the extent they were—if they had known the amount of bills in circulation bearing their name, which it was impossible to know, as those taken by the banks never appeared in the market, the directors would not only not have re-opened the account, but would have closed it long before. Under these circumstances he thought the board might claim some credit for not having acted without due caution and discretion.

Mr. Goodliffe admitted that the explanations which had been given were satisfactory, but was anxious to know whether any serious loss was likely to be incurred by the recent failure of Francis Ede and Co.

The Chairman replied that there was no chance of any loss from that failure. The bills the company held of that firm (about 2,800*l.*) had such endorsements upon them that there could be no doubt they would be all taken up when they arrived at maturity. In reply to a question from Mr. Huggins, the hon. gentleman added that the smaller amount of profits earned in the past half-year was mainly to be attributed to the state of the money market and rates of interest charged by the Bank, which formed the basis upon which the business of the company was conducted. The rapid advance of the Bank rate acted most prejudicially to undertakings of this kind. Besides, the directors felt that great caution was to be observed at so critical a period. As to the smaller amount set apart for the rebate on bills held at the close of the year, he observed that, in the first instance, the amount in bills held was less by upwards of 600,000*l.*; and looking with some distrust on the future, the managers had confined, as far as they could, their discounts to bills of short dates, which would soon arrive at maturity. From both these causes the sum allowed for the rebate was, he was happy to say, comparatively so small.

Mr. Washbourne considered the statements which had been made would strengthen the position of the company; but would like to be informed whether there was any intention of proceeding criminally against the parties implicated in the frauds of Streatfeild and Co.

The Chairman replied that the directors of this company had united themselves with others, to bring about that thorough sifting in the Court of Bankruptcy which had resulted in the exposure of the extraordinary manner in which Streatfeild and Co. had carried on their operations. What might be their future course he could not say, but the directors were perfectly prepared to co-operate with the other creditors in bringing the parties to punishment. His hon. friend Mr. Bass had addressed the meeting upon the question of the policy pursued by the Bank of England towards the discount houses. This was unquestionably a very grave matter, but it was one upon which he could hardly feel justified in venturing an opinion upon that occasion. But whatever change the Bank might make hereafter in its policy towards the discount houses, that change could not be brought about by the action of the discount houses themselves. They could not hope to obtain that amount of sympathy from the public to enable them to carry their cause against the Bank of England. The parties who were really most interested in the matter were the public; and it must be by their interference alone that any effectual change could be brought about. This company, who were after all but merely agents acting for the accommodation of the public, could not interfere, although he very much agreed with many of the remarks which had fallen from his honourable friend on this subject.

After some further conversation, in the course of which Mr. Marsh and other shareholders expressed themselves perfectly satisfied with the explanations which had been elicited,

The motion was put and carried unanimously.

A dividend at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, free of Income-tax, payable on and after the 2nd of February, was then declared, and the directors retiring by rotation and auditors having been re-elected, votes of thanks were passed in favour of the chairman and his colleagues at the board, and the manager, secretary, and other officers, which closed the proceedings.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 16.—The new commercial treaties are advancing to a conclusion on the expected basis of uniform duties of 8 per cent. on imports and exports.

LISBON, Jan. 17.—On the 10th inst. the Minister of Finance presented bills to the Cortes, proposing a further reduction in the Customs tariff.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—The Moniteur publishes a decree reducing from 40*l.* to 10*l.* per 100 kilogrammes, the figure at which merchandise imported into France is taxed, according to the net weight.

NEW ZEALAND TRADE.—The Blue-book, known as the Annual Statement of the Trade and Navigation of the United Kingdom with foreign countries and British possessions in the year 1859, furnishes us with statistics which show the rapid progress of New Zealand. In 1855 we imported 358,493 lbs. of wool, whereas in 1859 we imported 4,060,556 lbs. In 1856 we imported 2 tons of copper ore, while in 1859, 455 tons were imported. There has been a similar increase in other articles. The exports show also a marked increase. In 1855 we exported 3,605 barrels of beer and ale, while in 1859, 9,528 barrels were exported. This, together with the statistics of spirits, shows at least that all the colonists are not teetotallers. Of printed books we exported in 1855, 325 cwt., while in 1859 there were 680 cwt. An increase certainly, but not in the same ratio as the spirits. In woollens by the yard, 75,658 yards, while in 1859, 207,274 yards. The declared real values exported during 1855, 1856, 1857, 1858, and 1859 are respectively, £248,469, £337,634, £364,430, £440,505, £632,907.—New Zealand Examiner.

Circulation Issue .. .. .	£ 25,263,430	..	Decrease	£ 216,415
Circulation Active .. .. .	20,035,130	..	Decrease	363,090
Public Deposits .. .. .	2,948,437	..	Increase	202,118
Other Deposits .. .. .	13,130,293	..	Decrease	1,303,663
Government Securities in Banking Dept.	8,447,430	..	Decrease	336,291
Other Securities in Banking Department ..	20,233,060	..	Decrease	887,518
Coin and Bullion in both departments ..	11,521,580	..	Decrease	253,783
Seven Day and other Bills .. .. .	652,949	..	Decrease	38,037
The Reserve .. .. .	3,360,261	..	Increase	25,080
Notes in Reserve .. .. .	5,228,300	..	Increase	146,675
Total Reserve (Notes and Coin) in Banking Department .. .. .	5,961,450	..	Increase	109,307

The decrease in the private securities is heavy, but so, also, is the decrease in the private deposits. As, however, the Bank have parted with a further amount of Government Securities in the Stock Exchange, and as the Government balance has increased, there is a small addition to the reserve. The decline in the coin and bullion is not heavier than was expected.

THE MONEY MARKET.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 25.

The discount market was moderately easy during the earlier part of the week, but has since become rather tight, owing to the large withdrawals of money by the Bank of England from the Stock Exchange. The Bank are endeavouring, by selling stock and by borrowing upon it, to replenish their reserve. The best bills could not be discounted to-day below  $6\frac{3}{4}$  to 7 per cent., and in the Stock Exchange there was a great demand at  $6\frac{1}{2}$  to 7 per cent. on Government Securities. At the Discount Office at the Bank of England, however, the demand though fair was not pressing.

The new India Loan of £3,000,000 is expected to be announced on Monday. This sum is about to be raised under the authority granted by Parliament last Session, for the purpose of meeting any deficiency in the funds obtained by the Indian railway companies in England. The loan will doubtless be issued in a 5 per cent. stock, similar to that created in 1859.

The announcement, made this day, that the amount of the Indian Five per Cent. Loan written into the Bank books is not £5,000,000, as was believed, but fully £8,000,000, has caused a fall in the price of that loan, which closed to-day at 100 to  $\frac{1}{2}$ . The announcement has excited considerable surprise.

The demand for gold for exportation having slackened, about £20,000 Australian was taken to the Bank to-day, and more is expected to follow. Some moderate remittances of gold are on the way from Constantinople to the Ottoman Bank.

The report mentioned last week that the Bank of France had effected some new arrangement to meet its present requirements has been confirmed by an announcement that an agreement has been entered into with the Imperial Bank of St. Petersburg analogous to that recently effected with the Bank of England for the exchange of a certain sum of silver for gold. The amount is 30,000,000*fr.*, or £1,200,000.

Some considerable remittances of gold have lately been received at Paris from Constantinople, and it is now said that several amounts are on their way from the latter city to London.

The Delta, which will sail on the 27th instant, will take £228,745 in silver and £8,925 in gold for Bombay. The whole is on private account.

THE BULLION MARKET.

With reference to the movements in bullion and in the Indian Government paper, Messrs. Pixley, Abell, and Langley, report as follows:—

GOLD.—During the past week the export of gold to the United States has continued, the Bohemian having taken £4,000, the Arabia £226,177, the Kedar £9,750, and the Vigo £59,000; and the Canada to sail on Saturday, will take a further amount. The Oneida has taken £14,000 to the Brazils, and the Ceylon £76,166 to the East Indies; and about £80,000, in sovereigns, have been withdrawn from the Bank. The Indus has brought £29,121, the Roxburgh Castle, £167,000, and the Wellesley, £131,500, from Melbourne. The two first amounts have been sold for refining purposes. The gold per Wellesley will not be deliverable until to-morrow.

SILVER.—The Oneida has brought £65,000 in silver, and this has been sold at 61*d.* per ounce standard for the Bombay Mail, and a considerable amount will be forwarded by that opportunity. The Ceylon took £138,440 to China and the East Indies.

MEXICAN DOLLARS.—We quote the price as 60*d.* per ounce, with a quiet market. The next shipping day for China and the Straits will be 2nd February, and until the letters from the East are delivered we do not expect much demand.

EXCHANGE ON INDIA is 2*s.* to 2*s.* 0*d.* for bank sixty days' sight drafts on Bombay and Calcutta. Bills with documents, 1*s.* 11*d.* to  $\frac{1}{2}$ . Drafts on Madras by banks at sixty days' sight, 1*s.* 11*d.* to 2*s.*

INDIA GOVERNMENT LOAN NOTES.—We have very little to report about these securities, which remain inactive, at about par for Five-and-a-Half per Cents., and 94 to 95 for Five per Cents.

The report of Messrs. Haggard and Co., dated this day, observes:—

Since our last our market has shown no alteration of importance.

The bar gold withdrawn from the Bank was £40,000, in addition to a large amount of sovereigns. It is considered that the export to New York will now in a great measure cease, owing to the rise in the exchange at New York.

There has been a rather good demand for bar silver, for Bombay, at 5*s.* 1*d.*, at which price that by the Oneida has been sold.

Dollars remain without alteration, but the market is rather barely supplied; no further orders are expected until the arrival of the mail from China, which has been just telegraphed.

THE EXCHANGES.

The Continental Exchanges remain generally firm at the late improvement. The exchange on Austria continues to move against that empire.

THE INDIAN FIVE PER CENT. STOCK OF 1859.

Although the amount of Indian Five per Cents., already created by loan is only £5,000,000, it appears that the total in existence is £8,079,000. The India Council have the power by Act of Parliament to convert debentures into stock, and they have availed themselves of this to the extent of £3,079,000.

THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY LOAN.

The East India Railway Company announce that the amount of their Five per Cent. Debenture Loan of £1,500,000 taken up is £510,000. They continue to receive applications for the balance (£990,000).

AFFAIRS IN AMERICA.

The telegrams from New York report the exchange steady at 105*½*. At New York, on the 15th, the stock market is reported "steady." Illinois Central shares were quoted 81 (showing a considerable rise); Illinois Central Bonds, 94; Erie shares, 39*½* (being likewise higher); and New York Central shares, 78. It would be of some interest to know whether the news of the rise in the Bank of England rate of discount from 5 to 6 per cent., which took place on Monday the 31st December, had reached New York on the 15th inst. The probability is that it had.

The Secretary for the Treasury had advertised for proposals for the taking of the 5,000,000 Treasury notes under the Act of December last. The bids were to be opened on the 19th of January.

The New York money market was abundantly supplied, and loans on call were easily negotiated at 4 to 6 per cent.; prime short paper was discounted at 6 to 8 per cent.

It is computed that the total amount of securities purchased at New York on English account during the recent crisis has not exceeded half a million sterling at the outside. In many instances the orders sent out could not be executed, the New York market having rapidly risen much beyond the "limits" fixed.

THE WHEAT CROP OF 1860.

With regard to the wheat crop of the past year, a circular of Messrs. Horne and Watney has the following remarks, which are worthy of attention:—

We fearlessly assert our belief that the last crop of English wheat was, all things considered, the worst we have seen these twenty-five years. It has neither colour, strength, condition, weight, nor bulk, with some portion blighted and mildewed. Even the best runs are reported to make but an indifferent sack of flour, and the worst samples are only fit for cattle food. The weights vary from 54lb. to 60lb. per bushel, although we hear of occasional samples as light as 50lb., and as heavy as 62lb. We estimate the English crop as deficient in the average weight, as compared with an average season, fully 3lb. per bushel, and with the fine harvests of '56, '57, '58, about 5lb. per bushel. This difference in average weight represents a loss of nearly one million quarters; but when we allow the further fair deductions for the extra quantities of moisture and bran, as well as for the less breadth of land under wheat, which was the consequence of the wet autumn in 1859, we are of opinion we may estimate the last crop at fully one-fourth deficient of an average yield in flour, and which deficiency we set down at about 4,000,000 qrs. If, then, during the last four years of peace and plenty we have had an average annual importation into the United Kingdom of 5,000,000 qrs. of wheat and flour, and had little left at the time of the last harvest, we shall certainly now require 8,000,000 qrs. to keep us in the same position, even bearing in mind that should our next harvest be at the usual period we shall only have to provide for about ten months' consumption, inasmuch as we began on the last six weeks later than usual: 1860 opened with an imperial weekly average price of 44s. 2d., and closed with 52s. 6d. The highest was 62s. 11d., the lowest 43s. 6d. The annual aggregate average was 53s. 1d. Foreign stock on hand is unusually large here and at some of the out-ports.

THE BRAZILIAN HOME DEBT.

The advices from Rio de Janeiro, by the French mail steamer, state that the Home Six per Cent. Brazilian Stock, into which the holders of Brazilian railway shares have the option of conversion, was still steadily maintained at par.

THE INDIA COTTON COMPANY.

We have this day received a copy of the prospectus of the India Cotton Company, which will be found in our advertisement columns. There can be no question that England must now turn her attention more closely to cotton growing. The present uncertainty of the supply is patent to all. It is quite clear, too, that India is an excellent field, owing to the cheapness of labour. The present company does not propose to embark in the cultivation of cotton on its own account; it proposes to encourage the supply, both in point of quantity and quality, by putting itself in direct communication with the Indian cotton growers. This plan may be as judicious as any that could be adopted. The capital is to be £250,030, with power of increase, and the liability of the shareholders is to be limited by a charter of incorporation.

The shares of the new India Cotton Company were quoted to-day  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$  prem.

THE TRUST AND AGENCY COMPANY OF AUSTRALASIA.

The allotment letters of the Trust and Agency Company of Australasia were sent out to-day, accompanied by a circular in which the directors state that "whilst regretting that from the very numerous applications made they have been unable, in the majority of cases, to allot more than a small proportion of the shares subscribed for, they nevertheless consider it a gratifying fact that the shares of the company should be so much sought for." The whole 12,500 shares constituting the first issue have been allotted.

SETTLING DAYS.

The Stock Exchange Committee have this day appointed Tuesday, the 29th inst., a special settling day in the shares of the following companies, viz.—the Folkestone West Cliff Hotel Company (Limited) and the St. John's United Copper and Lead Mining Company, of Newfoundland (Limited), but neither is to be officially marked.

TELEGRAPHS IN THE MEDITERRANEAN.

The London and China Telegraph mentions that "the line of submarine cable to connect Malta and Otranto with Corfu, in order to form a duplicate line from Malta to London, has not yet been laid, owing to an accident to the steamer William Cory." As the steamer William Cory left Toulon again on the 19th inst., it is expected that the cable between Corfu and Otranto—a distance of about seventy miles—will be submerged in the course of a week or two.

RAILWAY TRAFFIC.

The Brighton railway traffic return shows this week a decrease of £1,251; the South-Eastern a decrease of £1,661; the London and North-Western, a decrease of £1,580; the Great Northern, a decrease of £484; the Great Western, a decrease of £711; the London and South-Western, an increase of £59; the Lancashire and Yorkshire, an increase of £914; the Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire, a decrease of £746; the North-Eastern, an increase of £548; the Midland, an increase of £574; the Eastern Counties, a decrease of £2,097; and the Caledonian, an increase of £1,346.

The traffic on the 748 miles of the South-Austrian line of the Lombardo-Venetian Railway Company for the week ending January 14, was £26,326, being £1,434 less than in the corresponding week of 1859 on the same number of miles; and that on the Lombardo-Venetian line, £4,299, showing an increase of £767.

The traffic receipts of the Great Western Railway of Canada for the week ending January 4, were £7,242 sterling, being £1,706 more than in the corresponding week of last year.

The traffic receipts of the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada, for the week ending December 29, were £12,494 sterling, being £1,441 more than for the corresponding week of last year. The gross receipts from the 1st July last have been £367,023 sterling, being £87,064 more than last year.

RAILWAYS.

The estimated cost of extending the Eastern Counties Railway from Shoreditch to Finsbury-circus is £600,000, with power to borrow £200,000. The line is intended to run from Arndel-street, Bethnal-green, passing through Mile-end New-town, Spitalfields, Shoreditch, Norton Folgate, Bishopsgate, London-wall, and terminating at Blomfield-street, Finsbury-chapel.

The construction of a central railway station in Finsbury-circus is proposed for the purpose of accommodating the traffic of the Metropolitan, Eastern Counties, and other railways. The estimated cost of carrying it out is £1,200,000. It is proposed that the Eastern Counties, Great Northern, Metropolitan, Midland, Great Western, and London, Chatham and Dover Railway Companies should be authorised to subscribe towards the undertaking. A new street is to be made in connection with the station from the south end of Circus-place to the east side of Moorgate-street.

BANKS.

We learn this afternoon that the National Bank has declared a dividend for the last half-year at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum, with a bonus of 15s. per share, free of Income-tax, being together at the rate of 14 per cent. per annum upon the paid-up capital of the bank.

At the half-yearly meeting to-day of the proprietors of the Unity Bank, the available surplus was stated at £4,213, out of which a dividend of 10s. per share was declared, leaving £2,753 to be carried over. Some discussion took place with reference to the dividend, but the original motion in favour of the adoption of the directors' report was eventually carried by a large majority.

The annual meeting of the proprietors of the London and County Bank is called for the 7th February.

OTHER PUBLIC COMPANIES.

At the half-yearly meeting on Monday of the St. Katharine Docks Company a dividend for the six months at the diminished rate of  $1\frac{3}{4}$  per cent. was declared. Owing to the reduction in the rates of charge, the revenue of the past year shows a decrease of £17,000.

At the annual meeting of the North British Australasian Company held on Tuesday, the dividend declared was at the rate of 7 per cent., free of Income-tax, as recommended in the directors' report.

At the meeting on Wednesday of the National Discount Company the directors' report, proposing a dividend at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, free of Income-tax, was agreed to. This document was published in the last number of the MONEY MARKET REVIEW. The chairman (Mr. F. W. Russell, M.P.) stated that the amount of loss sugtained through Messrs. Streatfeild and Co. is but little—namely, £3,000—above the amount originally mentioned. He reiterated the assurance that £26,000 is believed to be amply sufficient, and expressed his belief that the Company will soon be in a position to add to the reserve fund, the value of which has been clearly demonstrated. The principal topic of his address was the extraordinary system of swindling disclosed by the failures in the leather trade. The general business of the company has been satisfactory, and the establishment is considered to occupy a high position. The losses by the leather trade are considered purely exceptional, and not due to any want of care on the part of the management. The establishment being a young one was especially exposed to the exercise of the financial ingenuity of Mr. Laurence. Mr. Chaytor, the deputy manager, detailed at some length the transactions of the company with Streatfeilds. In answer to miscellaneous questions, it was mentioned that the profits have been diminished by the unsettled state of the money market and the increased caution exercised in consequence by the directors. This company united with other establishments in bringing about a thorough sifting in the Bankruptcy Court of the proceedings in the leather trade, and whether further steps shall be taken before a criminal tribunal remains a course for further consideration. A complaint having been made of the action of the bank rule against re-discounts, it was stated that to get it reversed or modified, rests rather with the public than with the discount houses.

Some of the published reports of the proceedings at the meeting of the National Discount Company erroneously place at £28,000 the amount of the bills of Messrs. Francis Ede and Co. held by the company. The correct amount is only £2,800.

At the meeting of the Mercantile Discount Company, held on Thursday, the report and accounts were adopted. A resolution was passed to wind up under a voluntary liquidation. Three directors and Mr. Erek, the second manager, were appointed liquidators, and are to be remunerated by a commission of one per cent. on the amount of assets realised and distributed amongst the shareholders. In addition to the liabilities comprised in the balance-sheet are claims under the deed constituting the company, for compensation to the managers and secretary, which, it is estimated, will be settled at about £6,000, being less than the letter of the contract would give by about £4,500. The cause of the winding-up is the serious reduction of the company's small capital, occasioned by recent severe losses. The directors express a hope that the ultimate return to the shareholders will amount to £15 per share out of £20 paid, but Mr. Ball, the accountant, estimates the loss on realising the outstanding assets at about £32,000, which would show a smaller return. It was stated that about £5 per share of the capital will probably be returned within the next three months.

At a meeting of the directors of the Electric and International Telegraph Company held this day, it was resolved to recommend to the proprietors at the general meeting to be held on the 6th Feb., to confirm a dividend of £3. 10s. per cent. for the last half-year.

An extraordinary meeting of the Acadian Charcoal Iron Company (Limited), is called for the 29th inst., "to take into consideration the pending litigation between the company and Messrs. Hunter and Chowne, trustees of the Commercial Bank of London, and other parties, and to pass specific resolutions thereon."

The half-yearly meeting of the Mediterranean Extension Telegraph Company is called for the 7th February.

A general meeting of the City of London Brewery Company will be held on the 7th Feb. to declare a dividend.

The report of the directors of the Australian Agricultural Company, issued in anticipation of the half-yearly meeting, which is fixed for the 29th instant, states the amount of the funds in London at £31,322, viz., £11,326 in cash, and £19,996 in bills not yet due; but as the proportion derived from ordinary sources of revenue does not exceed £22,325, the directors recommend that the dividend be limited to 20s. per share.

A call of £2 is to be paid on the shares in the Bahia Gas Company by the 1st of March.

A petition for the winding-up of the General Steam Printing and Publishing Company (Limited) is to be heard in the Bankruptcy Court on the 16th of February.

Several new cotton companies are in course of formation.

THE ATHENS AND PIRÆUS RAILWAY.

The Greek Consul-General gives notice that tenders will be received at Athens up to the 22nd of March for a concession for the construction and maintenance of a railway between Athens and Piræus.

THE FRENCH LLOYDS' REGISTER.

The Bureau Veritas, or French Lloyds', have issued their annual volume, giving a classification of a vast number of vessels, both foreign and English. It is calculated to be very useful to underwriters, merchants, and shippers. The London agents are Messrs. Charles Devaux and Co.

FACILITIES FOR COMMERCIAL REFERENCE.

A "Banking and Commercial Reference Agency" has just been established by Messrs. Davidson, Seyd, and Co., at No. 2, Finch-lane, under encouragement of a very high character. It is proposed by means of extensive connections at home and abroad, to furnish trustworthy information respecting the standing and credit of mercantile houses. An establishment of this kind requires only to be well managed to be both useful and successful.

INTEREST AND DIVIDENDS.

Messrs. F. de Lizardi and Co. announce the half-yearly dividends due the 1st February on Louisiana State Bonds.

THE WINE TRADE.

Some points of interest in connection with the wine trade are noticed as follows by Mr. F. W. Cosens:—

Since the reduction to the minimum rate on 1st instant the clearances for home consumption have been enormous; the duty now is so low that every dealer with capital finds it more economical to clear the wine into his own cellar than to allow it to remain at rent in bond. The present exceptional clearances must, however, not be looked upon as likely to be permanent, although the present retail prices for all the standard wines are sufficiently moderate to induce a largely increased demand. That a low rate of duty tends to stimulate the consumption of any article generally in demand there can be no doubt, and wine should be no exception to the rule. Financially the scheme cannot for some years pay the exchequer—a loss of revenue must be expected; at the same time, the expansion given to the commerce in wine throughout Europe cannot but prove beneficial to all interested; larger importations represent increased tonnage and increased demands for labour, both in England and abroad. Good wholesome wine will henceforth be within the reach of many who were unable to afford it when taxed with a prohibitory impost of 15s. per dozen (including the dealer's profit upon the outlay for duty).

THE STOCK AND SHARE MARKETS.

The English Funds have been prejudiced by the tightness of the money market, and by the supply of stock from the Bank of England. A fall of  $\frac{1}{4}$  per cent. has taken place. At this reduction the market this afternoon closed dull. Some effect is produced by the anticipation of the announcement of the Indian loan of £3,000,000 early next week. Consols, which closed on Friday last at  $91\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$  for the 7th February, closed to-day at  $91\frac{1}{2}$  to  $91\frac{1}{4}$ . The highest price of the week has been  $91\frac{7}{8}$ . For money the last price to-day was  $91\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$ .

The Five per Cent. Rupee Paper is dull at  $93\frac{1}{2}$  to  $94\frac{1}{2}$ , and the Five-and-a-Half per Cent., at  $99\frac{1}{2}$  to  $100\frac{1}{2}$ , being last week's prices. Exchequer Bills are quoted 7s. to 2s. dis.

India Bonds remain heavy; sales have been effected at 15s. dis. Unless a recovery soon takes place it is probable that a number of the holders will lodge with the Council of India the customary twelve months' notice of their desire to be paid off.

The official list of to-day's actual business in the English Funds, Exchequer Bills, and Indian Government Securities, is annexed:—

Three per Cent. Consols, for money,  $91\frac{1}{2}$ ,  $\frac{3}{4}$ ,  $\frac{1}{2}$ ,  $\frac{1}{4}$ ; ditto for account (Feb. 7),  $91\frac{1}{2}$ ,  $\frac{1}{4}$ ; Three per Cents. Reduced,  $91\frac{1}{2}$ ,  $\frac{1}{4}$ ,  $\frac{1}{2}$ ; New Three per Cents.,  $91\frac{1}{2}$ ,  $\frac{1}{4}$ ; Thirty Years' Annuities, expiring in April, 1885,  $16\frac{1}{2}$ ; Bank Stock,  $231\frac{1}{2}$ ,  $231$ ; India Five per Cent. Stock,  $100\frac{1}{2}$ ,  $\frac{1}{4}$ ,  $100$ ; ditto for account,  $99\frac{1}{2}$ ,  $\frac{1}{4}$ ; ditto Four per Cent. Debentures, 1859,  $95\frac{1}{2}$ ; ditto Bonds, 15s., 17s., dis.; Five per Cent. "enfaced" Rupee Paper,  $93\frac{1}{2}$ ; ditto Five-and-a-Half per Cent.,  $100$ ,  $99\frac{1}{2}$ ; and Exchequer Bills, 2s., 7s., 6s., dis.

Turkish stocks have fallen, owing to the embarrassments at Constantinople and in the Levant trade. Mexican Bonds have advanced considerably, in consequence of the statement via New York that the reactionist party, who plundered the bondholders' money, have been beaten, and that the liberal forces are at last in occupation of the capital.

British railway stocks have experienced numerous fluctuations. The tendency, in most instances, has been downwards, owing to the decline in the traffic.

Lancashire and Yorkshire Stock, the dividend on which has just been announced (as noticed in another column), has fallen 1¼ per cent.

The following shows the closing prices of the principal British Railway Stocks to-day, and the result of the week's variations. The share list in detail will be found in another column:—

AMERICAN SECURITIES.

With reference to the market for American Securities, Messrs. D. Bell, Son, and Co. report as follows:—

The business in American Securities during the past week has been very limited; and although it is true that buyers are at present holding back, it is equally true that stocks are not pressed on the market for sale.

The report of Mr. E. F. Satterthwaite is annexed:—

The market in London for American Securities does not at all respond to the quotations last received from New York, and even at low rates there is more disposition to force sales.

The London agents of the Illinois Central Railway Company on Tuesday received the following report from the chairman of the executive committee at New York:—

Office of the Illinois Central Railway Company,
New York, Jan. 8, 1861.

Gentlemen,—The new year opens with a large business to the South; 494,600 bushels of grain, besides provisions, hay, potatoes, &c., were sent out of Cairo in December, and it is probable that 600,000 bushels will go forward this month. This business emanates from the centre of the State, and is upon full local rates. The January traffic will largely exceed that of the same month of any previous year. The statement of grain forwarded in 1860 by our line sums up 9,866,000 bushels, against 4,204,000 bushels in 1859. There is a larger supply in the country—possibly double the stock which was on hand at the commencement of last year, and at the present moment there is an active demand for it. Money is quite abundant at Chicago, business improving, and exchange on New York declined to 2½ per cent. The collections at our land office since the 1st are 23,000 dols., and the sales of land 56,000 dols., the latter exceeding those of the entire month of January of last year.

In this city money is cheaper and likely to remain so. The trade with the South will be light this spring; but our importers will have a very large trade with the North-west, who are large consumers of goods in prosperous years.

Yours respectfully,

(Signed)

Messrs. Robert Benson and Co., London.

THOMAS E. WALKER,

Chairman Ex. Committee.

With regard to the above letter, Mr. Satterthwaite says:—

We call the attention of parties interested in Illinois Central Railroad Securities to the above letter, which, though shorter than many of those for some time past, is kindly furnished by the chairman of the executive committee, is replete with information of the most vital and satisfactory character.

It appears that the fact of a short crop of corn in the Southern States, and a large one in Illinois is telling enormously on the traffic of the line. The land sales and collections in the land-office are very large, which is a most important feature in the ultimate successful working out of this great scheme of 2½ millions acres of land and 100 miles of railroad. Taken together, the position and prospects of this undertaking, at the opening of the year 1861 are, we consider, brighter than at any period of its history.

The Michigan Central Railway Company have resumed, under satisfactory circumstances, the payment of dividend on the share capital. The dividend just declared is 3 per cent.

The traffic of the Illinois Central Railway Company in the first week of January was:—

Mines.

FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 25.

THE mining market this week, after showing dulness, has improved towards the close. The principal feature is a fall in East Wheal Russell shares. Stray Park are firmer.

The mining market to-day was more active, and steady in character. There was a good demand for shares in South Wheal Frances, Wheal Marguet, Merlyn, Stray Park, Wheal Buller, Wheal Harriett, North Minera, Botallack, Cargoll, Bryn Gwiog, and West Bryn Gwiog.

The following prices are reported to us from the Stock Exchange this evening:—

Alfred Consols, 2¾ to 3¼; Cargoll, 17 to 19; Copper Hill, 97½ to 102½; Cook's Kitchen, 18 to 19; East Basset, 112½ to 115; East Caradon, 11¼ to ½; East Carn Brea, 7¼ to ¾; East Russell, 7¼ to ½; Grambler and St. Aubyn, 22 to 24; Herodsfoot, 33 to 34; Hingston Down, 2½ to 3; Marke Valley, 4¼ to ½; North Downs, 3¾ to ¾; North Treskerby, 30 to 31; Par Consols, 9¾ to 10½; Providence Mines, 44 to 45; South Caradon, 300 to 310; South Frances, 170 to 175; South Tolgus, 50 to 52½; Silver Vein, ½ to ¾ pm.; Stray Park, 39 to 40; West Caradon, 77½ to 80; West Francis, 16 to 18; West Rose Down, 4 to ½; West Seton, 350 to 360; Wheal Basset, 112½ to 115; Wheal Buller, 100 to 120; Wheal Clifford, 200 to 205; Wheal Grenville, 2½ to ¾; Wheal Harriet, 56 to 58.

St. John del Rey Mining shares have risen. Colonial descriptions are steady.

The Central American Mining Company (Limited) have received letters, dated Alotepeque, Dec. 1, which state that the works connected with the amalgamation barrels approached completion, and it was expected that the barrels would be operating on the silver ores by or about the 1st of January. 225 tons of the accumulated stock of ore had been sent to the works in November. The raisings of ore in the month amounted to 50 tons only, owing to the scarcity of miners. The next month would show a better return. Without any new discovery to report, the vein in the San Juan level west continued large, being 3½ feet wide, and yielding very good ore, and the general prospects of the mines are good. The packet has brought 180 bags of silver ore for this company.

The half-yearly meeting of the Dun Mountain Copper Mining Company is called for the 30th instant, and that of the Mariquita and New Granada Mining Company for the 31st inst.

A call of 2s. 6d. is to be paid on the shares in the Clarendon Mining Company of Jamaica by the 10th of April.

The directors of the Devonshire Great Consolidated Copper Mining Company, at their board meeting held this day, declared a dividend of £7,168, being £7 per share, arising from profits on sales of copper ores sampled in the months of September and October last. After payment of the same, there remains in hand a balance of £19,818. 19s. 7d. in cash. Ore bills not at maturity, and reserved fund applicable to the general purposes of the company.

At Wheal Buller meeting on the 15th inst. the accounts showed a credit balance of £1,244. 1s. 7d. A dividend of £2 per share (£512) was declared, leaving £732. 1s. 7d. to the credit of the next account.

The Rosewarne United Mines accounts, presented at the meeting on the 14th inst., showed a debit balance of £295. 15s. 10d.

At Molland Mine meeting on the 15th inst. the accounts showed a debit balance of £34. 5s. 5d. The shares in arrear of call, amounting to 200, were forfeited, and a call of 1s. per share was made.

The Wheal Reeth accounts, presented at the meeting on the 16th inst., showed a debit balance of £1,062. 12s. 8d. A call of £4 per share was made.

At West Wheal Damsel meeting, on the 14th inst., the accounts showed a credit balance of £474. 6s. 4d., which was carried to the next account.

On the 17th inst. a special meeting of the South Devon Iron and General Mining Company (Limited), was held at the offices of the company; W. Sarl, Esq., in the chair. Mr. F. G. Goodman (the secretary) read the notice convening the meeting. The Chairman said that the specific object for which that meeting had been called was to consider two resolutions which had been passed at a private meeting. In deference, however, to the expressed wishes of a large body of shareholders, the directors had not proposed to-day to recommend those resolutions for adoption. The shareholders having pledged themselves to support the directors in enabling them to erect coking ovens and smelting furnaces, in conjunction with the company's Atlas Iron Mines, the directors felt bound to accede to their request—that this valuable acquisition should become the sole property of the South Devon Company. Before, however, going into that matter, he might state that the secretary had that morning received from the captain of the mines (Captain W. Hoeking) a highly important letter, announcing the gratifying fact that the tin lode had been intersected in the crosscut from Sari's shaft. They had already gone through that lode 18 inches, being extremely rich for tin, and intermixed with copper. The south or hanging wall not having yet been reached, its full value and extent could not be ascertained for a few days. Some discussion having taken place, it was resolved that the 6,000 shares placed at the disposal of the directors by the vendors bear a preferential dividend of 10 per cent., instead of 6 per cent., as originally proposed. It was also agreed that the coking ovens and smelting furnaces, &c., be erected by the company, and that applications for the remaining unappropriated shares be received until Feb. 14. A cordial vote of thanks to the chairman brought the proceedings to a close.

A meeting of the Watermouth Great Silver Lead Mining Company (Limited) was held on Monday last to receive Mr. Josiah Hugo Hitchens's report, when samples of the ore, taken from the mine during the past week, were submitted. The report in question was considered satisfactory. The chairman (Mr. William Sari) stated that there remained 185 shares unallotted, and left it to the shareholders to determine how they should be dealt with, when they unanimously voted that they should be issued pro rata. The result was that 230 shares were at once applied for, being 45 in excess of the number to be allotted. The secretary, Mr. G. F. Goodman, furnishes the following particulars respecting this company. It was registered under the Limited Liability Act twelve months ago, with a capital of £15,000, in 3,000 shares of £5 each, for the purpose of working an extensive tract of land leased from Mr. A. D. Basset, of Watermouth Castle, in the immediate neighbourhood of the celebrated old Combmartin Silver Lead Mines. The directors are Messrs. William Sari, Lyuch White, George Orl, and John William Williamson. The captain of the mine, John Treweek, writes to the consulting engineer, Mr. Josiah H. Hitchens, on the 21st inst., as follows:—

Watermouth, Jan. 21.—I have just been underground at Newbury, and am glad to inform you that I never saw the lode looking better—in fact, I never saw it looking so well—and I firmly believe, in driving two or three fathoms further south-east, we shall have a good lode of ore. This is my firm opinion. There is a leader of ore, solid, more than half an inch wide for eighteen inches long, and we can trace this leader up and down the end, carrying ore more or less. In fact, the ground in the foot-wall part of the lode is carrying pretty strings of lead for fifteen inches wide, and no doubt at a great depth below this level the same small leaders that I now speak of will make a solid leader of silver lead ore. The men have again commenced in the north-west end. The lode in Sari's shaft is just the same as when you last saw it—still producing good stones of lead ore, and a most beautiful blue killas coming from the foot-wall of the lode, which I consider a good indication for lead ore.

At South Carn Brea Mine meeting on Tuesday the accounts showed a debit balance of £4,304. 16s. 8d., after payment of £2,270 for the winding and stamping engines. A call of 15s. per share was made, to pay off the balance, and to provide for the next two months' expenses. Captain Glanville, in his report, states that he would be able to raise about twenty tons of black tin during the next two months, and that all the levels in the mine were producing the usual quantity of tin stuff.

A general meeting of the shareholders in Great Wheal Alfred was held on Tuesday. The accounts showed a balance of £3,532. 4s. 9d. against the mine. A call of 6s. per 5,120th share was made. The committee presented to the meeting a very full and detailed report on the position of the mine and its prospects, as well as a financial statement, they having held a meeting of their Board on the mine on the 18th December last, when they made a full examination of all the surface operations.

At East Wheal Grenville meeting, on Wednesday, the accounts showed a balance of liabilities over assets of £153. A call of 2s. per share was made.

At West Basset meeting, held on Wednesday, the accounts showed a credit balance of £4,677. 14s. 1d., out of which a dividend of 10s. per share (£3,000) was declared, leaving £1,677. 14s. 1d. towards the new engine, Income-tax, &c. The report from Captain Roberts was considered very favourable. He states that 535 tons of ore will be sampled next time.

A meeting of adventurers in Wheal Hendra was held yesterday week, when a call of 10s. per share was made. The agent reported that "the engine would be at work but for the severity of the weather. In the eastern shaft some fair tribute ground has been opened, and the lode is looking well, being, it is supposed, upon the top of a bunch of tin."

At Catharine and Jane Mine meeting on Thursday, the account's showed a debit balance of £719. A call of 3s. per share was made.

At Great Wheal Fortune meeting the accounts showed a credit balance of £119. 16s. 9d.

At a meeting of the Lady Bertha Mining Company, held on Thursday, the accounts showed a balance of liabilities over assets of £299. 14s. 6d. The agent's report and statement of accounts were considered highly satisfactory, and were unanimously adopted. The committee was re-elected.

North Downs Mine sold on Thursday at Truro 175 tons of copper ore for £1,390.

At Wheal Buller meeting, on the 15th inst., the accounts showed a credit balance of £1,244. 1s. 7d. A dividend of £2 per share was declared, leaving £732. 1s. 7d. to the credit of the next account. The Rosewarne United Mine accounts, presented at the meeting on the 14th inst., showed a debit balance of £295. 15s. 10d.

The annual meeting of the Cornwall Great Consolidated Mining Company is called for the 29th inst. at Birmingham, and will be made extraordinary, to approve an agreement entered into by the liquidators for the transfer of all the property to the New Cornish Lead and Copper Mining Company.

A petition for the winding up of the St. Aubyn Mineral Company (Limited) is to be heard in the Stannaries Court on the 29th inst.

At a sale of copper ore, held at Truro on the 17th inst., 5,198 tons were sold for £26,449. 1s. Average standard, £132. 13s.; average produce, 5½; average price per ton, £5. 1s.; quantity of fine copper, 307 tons 4 cwt.; average standard, last sale, £130. 11s. #### PORT PHILLIP AND COLONIAL GOLD MINING COMPANY.

On Monday the half-yearly meeting of shareholders was held at the London Tavern, Bishopsgate-street; J. MACDONNELL, Esq., in the chair.

The usual preliminaries having been gone through, the report of the directors (an abstract of which has already appeared in our columns) was taken as read.

The CHAIRMAN said the report had so fully entered into the various points of interest that there was little left for him to say, except that during the past year a considerable profit had been made, and that the prospects were of an exceedingly encouraging character. As they had not sufficient money in England to declare a dividend, the directors proposed that the present meeting should be adjourned till July next, under the impression that it was only by an adjournment that they could legally make a dividend at that time. Shareholders would see that the company had done very fairly with regard to the crushing of the quartz, and that as a manufacturing company they were not liable to the casualties of mining. It would seem that they had made £13,000 in crushing quartz during the past year, and that the reports from the mining captains who conducted the Clunes Company's Mines, were of a satisfactory character, and prospectively very promising. He concluded by moving the adoption and reception of the report and accounts, and that the meeting adjourn till July.

Mr. ROUPELL, Q. C., seconded the resolution, and suggested that the present meeting should be considered perfect in itself, without any adjournment taking place, which proposition, being duly seconded, was put and carried.

The retiring directors were then re-elected, as were also the auditors. A committee having been appointed to confer with the directors as to the placing the Company under the Limited Liability Act, Votes of thanks to the chairman and directors were passed, when the meeting separated.

NEWSPAPERS FOR THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA.—Owing to a disregard of the official regulations upon the subject, which are clearly stated at pages 33 and 46 in "the British Postal Guide, No. 19, many newspapers addressed to the United States and to Canada are posted in this country either unpaid or insufficiently paid, and are therefore not forwarded, but sent to the returned letter branch for disposal. It seems to be forgotten that such newspapers must be prepaid one penny each, whatever number may be contained in a single packet, and that the charge is not regulated by weight, as is the case with unstamped newspapers sent through the post in this country.—By command of the Postmaster-General.—ROWLAND HILL, Secretary. General Post-office, Jan. 18.

THE UNITED STATES MAILS.—The following notice was issued from the General Post-office on Thursday, viz.: "The New York, which was appointed to sail from Southampton with the mails for the United States yesterday, was unable to proceed on her voyage, and the mails on this occasion have, therefore, been forwarded to Queenstown for embarkation on board the Vigo." The New York is expected to leave Southampton for the United States on Sunday or Monday.

The Produce and other Markets.

THE TALLOW TRADE.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 25.

The Tallow Market has continued in the same dull and unsatisfactory state during the week, as noticed in our report of last Friday, and prices, with the exception of those current for delivery in April to June, have had a tendency downward, quotations for that period having been influenced by the course of speculation, which has resulted in an advance of 6d. per cwt.

Imports of "Sorts" have been of fair extent during the week.—2,367 casks in all, chiefly from Odessa and South America, and other vessels from the River Plate, have arrived off the Coast, while further supplies from other parts are shortly expected; so that, with the marked falling off in the deliveries, there appears to be no immediate prospect of any material reduction of the present large stock; hence, as we have lately remarked, the difficulties of the market are increasing, and it is to be feared that until prices recede to a natural level, the course of trade will be affected to an enlarged extent, and in a great measure that will prove irremediable.

In the ordinary course of things the demand is larger in the month of January than at any other period of the year. But what is the present consumption? Why, not equal to that in the months of June, July, or August of 1860. The result of to-day's public sales is evidence of the stagnation that now prevails, and there can be no question that not only the consumers, but the retailers throughout the country, have lost all confidence in the market, seeing, as they must, that its present anomalous position must sooner or later result in prices compatible with the present unprecedented large stock.

To-day there has been scarcely anything doing in Y.C. for consumption, and the following are current quotations, viz.: 59s. 9d. for fine tallow on the spot; 59s. 6d. for delivery hence to the end of March; 60s. for March only; 59s. for April to June, and 57s. 6d. per cwt. "sellers" for October to December.

The imports since Monday up to last evening have been 2,367 casks. The deliveries have been 949 casks, and the present stock of all kinds is 71,348 casks, being an increase of 1,303 casks, when compared with the quantity on hand this day week.

Town Melted has been somewhat easy to purchase during the week, without, however, any pressure on the part of melters, 59s. having been the more general price obtained. To-day "the Letter price" has been unaltered from 61s. 9d.—or say 59s. 3d. per cwt. net.

The public sales to-day resulted as follows:—

Odessa.—The quantity brought forward (422 casks) was much in excess of the probable requirements of consumers, and tended more to lessen the demand than otherwise, notwithstanding that lower rates would have been accepted. Only 12 casks, mutton, found buyers, at 59s. 6d. for very fine, and 58s. 6d. per cwt. for fair to good.

Galatz.—23 packages beef tallow, of good to fine quality, sold steadily at 58s. 6d. to 58s. 9d. per cwt.

North American was entirely neglected at the prices required, and the 80 casks offered were all bought in.

East India.—172 packages of doubtful quality having elicited no offer were all taken out at 57s. 55 cases Singapore vegetable hard tallow were sold at 56s. 6d. to 57s. per cwt. being fair prices.

African.—Of 20 casks offered, 10 were sold at 46s. 9d. per cwt. for dark to very dark, and slightly dregged.

French.—22 casks submitted were steadily competed for, and realised 58s. 3d. to 58s. 6d. for fine, and 58s. per cwt. for rather bleached, being moderate prices.

Cocoa Nut Oil.—This market continues very dull, and prices are somewhat nominal. 38 casks Cochiti were all passed, as were 35 casks Ceylon. 36 casks Sydney part sold at 49s. 6d. for fine; 47s. to 48s. 3d. for rather dark to fair, down to 44s. 9d. to 45s. per cwt. for rather ordinary and foul.

Palm Oil.—Holders continue firm at 47s. for fine Lagos, which price being above buyers' ideas of value, the whole of that offered, with the exception of 10 casks middling quality, was bought in.—3 casks Palm Nut Oil were passed.

South American Horse Grease.—In the absence of a better offer than 38s., the 200 cases offered were all bought in at 40s. per cwt.—Furnished by Messrs. Culverwell, Brooks and Co., Brokers.

THE LONDON FREIGHT MARKET.

The market remains inanimate, and there is no noteworthy change in any department since last week. The last Calcutta Mail advised freights—65s. to 67s. 6d. sugar; 80s. to 85s. seeds; Madras, 60s. sugar; Kurrachee, 50s.; Bombay, 50s. to 52s. 6d. for cotton. The news of the American movement tended to stimulate exports. To-day's telegrams do not give quotations: current quotations here include 12s. 6d. Calcutta; 52s. 6d. Bombay; 90s. Moulmein.

Neither in the berth or coal freights is there any activity.

For the Colonies, 90s. to 95s. is the value per register ton of shipping.

Little is doing in the Mediterranean trade. We quote 52s. 6d. Odessa for May; 62s. 6d. Azof; Danube, 10s. 9d.; Ancona, 32s.; Venice, 33s. oak; Sicily, 25s. sulphur. Coals out to Alexandria, £20, coke, £17; Constantinople £18 to £18. 10s.; Malta, 15s. to 15s. 6d., and £18; &c., &c.

LIVERPOOL COTTON MARKET.

LIVERPOOL, FRIDAY MORNING, JANUARY 25.

The accounts from the United States continue to have a favourable effect upon this market, which opened firm on Monday at an improvement of  $\frac{1}{4}$ d. per lb. in most American descriptions, whilst other kinds were a shade against the buyer. This advance was well maintained on Tuesday, when the sales amounted to about 12,000 bales, but on Wednesday less activity was observable, although the business transacted comprised 12,000 bales. Yesterday (Thursday) only 8,000 bales were disposed of, the market being at the same time heavily supplied.

[BY ELECTRIC TELEGRAPH.]

LIVERPOOL, FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 25.

No further change has taken place in quotations to-day; 8,000 bales were sold, including 2,000 on speculation and for exportation; while the imports amount to 17,958 bales. The quotations of fair are the same as those of last week. The sales of the week have reached 87,640 bales (against 131,550 bales last week), of which 2,930 were taken on speculation, and 16,860 for exportation, and the imports 119,193 bales. The stock now stands at 593,806 bales.

LEATHER AND HIDES.—The leather market continues steady, but without any great animation in the demand. The supplies of fresh goods are still very limited, and prices in general unaltered. The articles most required are good English butts, of middle and heavy weights, prime foreign butts, and dressing hides. The hide sales went off more briskly on the 24th. Australian and Cape hides realised former quotations. There was some improvement in the demand for the better qualities of East India hides, and an advance of  $\frac{1}{4}$ d. to  $\frac{1}{2}$ d. was paid for some suited to the home demand. The inferior qualities, on the contrary, were slightly lower.—Furnished by Messrs. T. J. and T. Powell.

The Corn Trade.

GENERAL REMARKS.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 25.

The weather in the United Kingdom has been changeable during the last eight days, thaw alternating with slight frost. Frost and snow in the South of England has almost completely disappeared, excepting in elevated situations, but in the North the snow is still partially covering the ground. Inland communication is gradually returning to its usual course—there are, however, several canals still closed to navigation. Agricultural field-work continues mostly suspended.

The supply of home-grown wheat this week has been in most British markets slightly in excess of the preceding fortnight. The quantity of barley has also been larger this week than during the preceding fortnight, whilst the supply of oats has only been equal to about last week. The latest official returns of the quantity of grain sold in England and Wales report as follows:—Wheat, 82,675 qrs., at 57s. 3d.; barley, 90,600 qrs., at 40s. 6d.; oats, 16,755 qrs., at 23s. 2d. per qr.

The imports of foreign grain into the United Kingdom show this week a further decrease, compared with the preceding fortnight, as might have been expected with the close of navigation in the Baltic Sea, and the falling off in the American shipments. The only increase in the grain imports will be derived from the fleet of grain-laden vessels, just arrived off the coast from the South of Europe.

The British Corn Trade has ruled very quiet this week, under the influence of milder weather, and the large arrivals off the coast. Wheat sold in most markets at a decline of 1s. to 2s. from last week's rates. Flour has also been the turn in buyer's favour. Barley and oats has not materially altered. Maize is slightly cheaper. Beans and peas are very quiet, and prices tending downwards.

The continued high discount-rate, and to a certain extent a want of confidence in the money market, together with political influences, weigh heavily on the minds of prudent merchants, and makes the wheels of commerce run slow. However, the food question remains of paramount importance.

IN MARK-LANE TO-DAY the attendance of the trade was small, and the tone dull.

WHEAT—English was slow of sale, at barely last Monday's prices.

Foreign—dull at last Monday's rates, and rather cheaper.

Flour—was very quiet, and to sell less money would have to be taken—Norfolk, 42s. to 43s. per 280lbs.

BARLEY—held upon last Monday's quotations.

OATS—quiet demand, at last Monday's prices.

BEANS AND PEAS firm.

THE PROFITS AND LOSSES OF 1860.—The past year has been one of great activity, and our exports have again kept up the rapid ratio of increase which has marked our progress for so many years past, and with such additional openings there seems really no limit to our trade. Did the profits of the merchant who conducts these gigantic operations keep pace with their magnitude, we should quickly become a nation of merchant princes, but this is far from being the case, especially during the past year; that on the whole it has been a profitable one there is no doubt, but chiefly in home industry—the cotton spinners have again taken the lead, adding a third year to their uninterrupted gains; the cotton manufacturers too have done well till within the last few months, but not equally so the woollen. Other branches of domestic industry have been in active and profitable employ throughout the year, but against these the leading one, agriculture, has suffered severely; by the winter and wet cold spring great numbers of sheep were destroyed, and the crop of lambs and of wool much reduced, followed by the most ungenial summer and the worst harvest weather on record; the corn crops were seriously injured, both in quantity and quality, and the loss thus inflicted upon the agricultural interest, and upon the nation at large is probably not less than twenty to thirty millions pounds sterling. With such a drawback 1860 cannot be compared with its two predecessors in the amount of its net profits—but a striking proof of the immense increase in the national wealth is afforded by the ease with which the drain upon our resources for the supply of grain has been met, as also of the sound position of trade, which has been so little affected by this great loss.—Messrs. T. H. Littledale and Co.

THE WONDERFUL OIL SPRINGS IN AMERICA.

The New York Tribune of the 8th inst. contains the following communication with regard to the remarkable discoveries of oil springs which are now attracting so much attention:—

Cuba, Allegany Co., New York, Jan. 3.

Our village is to-day in a blaze of excitement consequent upon the discovery of oil in large quantities in this immediate vicinity. To give you and the public a clear idea of the state of the case, I must inform you that a large hill lies north-west of the village, distant about one mile. At the foot of that hill, on the west, is what we have always called an oil spring. It is in appearance a mud hole, say 20 feet across, and 10 feet deep, without any outlet, and has always been covered with a coating of oil. This oil, from time immemorial, has been skimmed from the surface in small quantities, and used for medicinal purposes, curing of sprains, bruises, &c. For a full account of this spring, examine the history of General Sullivan's campaign through Western New York in the course of our revolutionary war. A mile square of territory, including this spring, has always been considered an Indian reservation, but a few years since ex-Governor Seymour, Judge Ben. Chamberlain, and others, took possession of it, and have since sold all, or nearly all. In the meantime the Indians contest the title to it, and the decisions in the Circuit Court and Supreme Court in full bench have all been in favour of the Indians. About a year since, upon the finding of oil in such quantities in Pennsylvania, on the line of the Atlantic and Great Western Railway, a Captain Aden, S. W. Bradley, Esq., and some associates, came here and leased this land of all parties in the controversy, and a short time since commenced driving a pipe for oil. After getting the pipe down twenty or thirty feet, yesterday the oil suddenly burst up with great force, and is now discharged in large quantities, much to the annoyance of the workmen. I was there to-day, and although they only pump now to clear away for the drill to work, they still get a barrel in an hour, some of the time, and at others more water and less oil. To estimate the true value of this well, you must bear in mind that oil is always found beneath rock; and in this case they have not yet got down to the rock, the oil that they are now gathering being only what escapes through the fissures in the rocks, and leaks up through the earth. A Mr. Martin is boring a  $4\frac{1}{2}$  inch well on the east side of the same hill, all the way through solid rock. He is now down 130 feet, and the water that is pumped out to clear for the drill is strongly impregnated with oil, forming quite a coating on the top of each pail of water. There is no longer a shadow of a doubt but what we will soon have plenty of oil here within a mile of the Erie Railroad, with every convenience for procuring the oil, shipping it, and, if deemed advisable, building refineries, and furnishing the pure oil ready prepared for burning. The stock of the company owning the last-mentioned well, with the par value of 25 dols. per share, is now held in the face of offers of 250 dols. per share.

THE RUMOURRED REDUCTION OF THE ARMY.—Rumours of an intended reduction of the army have been circulated within the last few days, with no foundation beyond the fact which we announced several weeks since, that the establishment of each regiment serving in India is to be decreased. There is, however, no reduction contemplated in the troops serving at home and in our colonial possessions. Indeed, as a matter of fact, we believe that the numbers to be voted by Parliament will be somewhat in excess of the present financial year, owing to the return of regiments from India; but we do not anticipate that the sum total of the forthcoming estimates will be larger than the last. —Army and Navy Gazette.

TO the SHAREHOLDERS of the SOUTH-WESTERN RAILWAY COMPANY.

GENTLEMEN,—Having received official notice of the intention of your Directors to recommend that the vacancy caused by Mr. Uzielli's death should be filled up, I beg to offer myself as a CANDIDATE, and solicit your votes for a seat at your Board. On two previous occasions I gave the required notice of my intention to come forward, but refrained from troubling you, because it was understood that the vacancies would not be filled up.

For upwards of sixteen years I have been a Shareholder in the Company, and a resident Landowner on the Line; and, as Chairman of the Guildford Bench of Magistrates, I have been engaged in the financial and other business of this county, in which your metropolitan terminus and at least ninety miles of your railway are situated.

Having no other occupation, I pledge myself, if elected, to devote my time and energies to your affairs, and hope, by strict attention to the efficient and economical working of the line, as well as to the wants and conveniences of the public, and by a peaceful but firm policy, to promote our interests and secure the prosperity of the Company.

Should you desire to favour me with your support, I will, on application to me at 1, Poet's-corner, Westminster, forward a proxy for your signature.—I remain, your obedient servant,

GEORGE BEST.

Eastbury-place, Guildford, 18th January, 1861.

TO THE SHAREHOLDERS OF THE LONDON AND SOUTH WESTERN RAILWAY.

MY LORDS, LADIES, and GENTLEMEN,—A vacancy having occurred in the Board of Directors, by the lamented death of Mr. Uzielli, I am induced, at the request of many large and influential proprietors, to renew the declaration of my intention of becoming a Candidate for the office of Director, and to solicit your Votes and Interest in my favour.

The reasons heretofore prompting this intention continue to exist. I have been for some time, and am still engaged in business, which affords and opens to me numerous opportunities of becoming acquainted with the manner in which our affairs are conducted, especially facilitated by constant journeys on the Line.

Though much in London, I reside near one of our largest Junctions, on the New Western Branch of our Line, of which the traffic is yet but very imperfectly developed.

Having no other object in view than the promotion of the best interests of the South Western Company, in which I, with many of my relatives and friends, as holders of Shares and otherwise, have been long and deeply connected, I am led to believe that it is in my power to be of service to the Shareholders.

If elected, I should exert myself to arrest undue competition by establishing and maintaining friendly alliances with all neighbouring companies. I should generally oppose Extensions with the view of consolidating and improving our present property; and I should anxiously endeavour so cordially to act with my colleagues at the Board, that full accommodation to the public, combined with the true economy in every department of our affairs might be the beneficial result.

I have the honour to be,
My Lords, Ladies, and Gentlemen,
Your obedient Servant,

WYNDHAM S. PORTAL.

N.B. Stamped Proxies will be forwarded on application.

Your Proxy when returned to me, signed, will be primarily used in favour of the Two retiring Directors, unless you otherwise direct, my object being to succeed to the vacated seat of the late Mr. Uzielli.

Malshanger House, Basingstoke, Jan., 1861.

Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India having authorised the Directors of this Company to raise the sum of £1,000,000 on Debentures not convertible into Stock, the Directors are now prepared to comply with applications to that extent for DEBENTURES at par, bearing interest at 5 per cent. per annum, payable by coupon, half-yearly, at the Union Bank of London.

The payment of the principal and interest is guaranteed by the Secretary of State for India in Council. The Debentures will be for five years, from the 1st of January, 1861, transferable by endorsement without stamp, and renewable at the option of the holder for a second term of five years, at the same rate of interest, upon notice being given by him twelve months previous to the expiry of the first term. Failing such notice, the Debentures will be paid off at the expiration of the first five years.

Debentures will not be issued for any less amount than £50.

The Directors will also receive applications for the limited amount, £194,000, which remains to be allotted of the previous Debenture Loan of £1,000,000 convertible into the Stock of the Company. These Debentures are for five years, or four years, at 5 per cent. per annum, payable by coupon, half-yearly, at the Union Bank of London.

The payment of the principal and interest is guaranteed in like manner by the Secretary of State for India, and the holders of these Debentures have the option at the end of twelve months from their date, and thenceforward, upon giving notice at any time before the Debenture becomes payable, of converting it into Capital Stock of the Company, bearing 5 per cent. interest, guaranteed under the contract entered into with the East India Company.

Forms of application for either or both descriptions of Debentures may be obtained at the Offices of the Company.

This Company is established to procure, by a system of direct dealings with the Cotton Growers in India, an increase in the importation of Indian Cotton into this country, an improvement in its quality and greater freedom from adulteration.

The necessity for obtaining increased supplies of cotton is everywhere recognised, and becomes daily more pressing. Statesmen and manufacturers alike feel the danger which threatens the nation, obliged, as it is, to depend upon a single country for five-sixths of the raw material of a manufacture worth more than seventy millions sterling, and on the success of which from three to four millions of persons in the United Kingdom are dependent. Apart from the possibility of a failure of the existing supply from the United States, it is a matter of the first importance to the growth of English manufacturing industry, to get more cotton than is at present grown.

Only in America are the three great requisites for the growth of tropical produce—soil, labour, and capital—found combined; none but slave labour can there be employed, and the limit of productiveness in the Slave States, is perhaps already reached. The West Indies and our colonies in Australia and South Africa are suited for the culture of cotton, and the parent country can supply any amount of capital, but labour is universally wanting. In the East Indies we have the cotton soil, and the men whose forefathers have been accustomed to till it from time immemorial.

The Blue Book on East India cotton, published by order of the House of Commons in February, 1858, contains the result of queries, addressed by the Court of Directors to all their Boards of Revenue and Collectors throughout India, with regard to the growth and price of the article, and the means of extending its cultivation. It establishes, beyond doubt, that over immense tracts of country where the culture can be pushed to an almost indefinite extent, the ryot receives less than twopence per pound for clean cotton, and that, with care and encouragement, the yield per acre, as well as the breadth under tillage, might be largely increased.

Many thousand pounds worth of cotton are annually wasted and lost in the course of transmission from the fields to the seaboard; and adulteration is practised to such an extent as to affect most seriously the reputation and consequent value of Indian cotton.

The Company's agents being resident in the localities where it shall be decided to commence the Company's operations, and in immediate communication with the ryots, will purchase the cotton direct, while using every endeavour to improve the process of picking and cleaning the cotton, and employing the best machinery. Particular attention will be paid to the pressing and baling of the article, so that it may leave the port of shipment without the original packages being disturbed, thus excluding the opportunity for the present adulteration.

The average quotation of good Broach and Dholera cotton on the 31st December, 1860, was 5½d., and there is every reason to conclude that the carefully prepared shipments of the Company, wholly free from adulteration, would obtain enhanced rates. The well-known statistics of the cotton trade give reasonable expectations that a profit of 15 or 20 per cent. may be realised.

It is intended to commence the operations of the Company in Guzerat. To command the cotton supplies of this extensive territory, including Kattywar, it is proposed to place the head-quarters at Broach on the Nerbudda river, with Agencies at Gogo, a fine sea-port on the West coast of the Gulf of Cambay, at Dholera a sea-port creek, and at Dhundooka, forty-five miles inland, a large town and a central point for numerous cotton districts.

The aim of the proposed Company is to improve the cultivation of cotton in India, and to endeavour to raise its value in the market in comparison with American descriptions. The Directors have therefore avoided entering into calculations as to the precise prospects of success, great as they are acknowledged to be. They content themselves with stating their belief that profitable results are to be obtained in the present state of the trade in Indian cotton, by the establishment of an organised system of agency, such as is proposed by this Company. Its operations need not be confined exclusively to India should a favourable field hereafter present itself in the South African or any other colony.

Through the agency of this Company the English manufacturer will obtain a better supply of cotton than at present, and in the success which the Directors believe awaits their efforts, the public will discern a path towards the extinction of slavery, and an increase of the common prosperity of England and India.

Applications for shares addressed, in the annexed form, to the Directors, may be sent to the Secretary, at 33, Throgmorton-street, London, E.C.; or to Messrs. Towgood and Strachan, Brokers to the Company; but no application will be considered unless a deposit of 10s. for each share applied for, shall have been previously made with the Bankers of the Company.

INDIA OFFICE, Victoria-street, Westminster,
28th January, 1861.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA in COUNCIL GIVES NOTICE that he will be prepared to receive, on FRIDAY, the 8th February, at or before One o'clock, TENDERS for a LOAN of £3,000,000, on security of Stock to be created under the provisions of an Act of the last Session of Parliament, and to bear interest at the rate of Five per Cent. per annum, payable half-yearly at the Bank of England, on the 5th January and the 5th July in each year.

The Stock not to be redeemable until the 5th July, 1870, but to be redeemable at par on or after that day, upon one year's previous notice having been given in "The London Gazette" by the Secretary of State for India in Council.

The books of the stock will be kept at the Bank of England, where all assignments and transfers will be made. No stamp duties whatsoever will be charged on the transfers.

The Tenders to be for the whole or any part of such Loan, but not for sums of less than £500 stock, and to state what amount of money will be given for every £100 of the said stock. The tenders are to be delivered in, sealed, at the Accountant-General's Department, at this office.

A deposit of 2 per cent. upon the amount of stock tendered for must at the same time be paid at the Accountant-General's Department, to be returned in the event of the tenders not being accepted; and parties tendering must be careful not to enclose the deposit in the sealed tender.

So much of the amount tendered and accepted to be paid at the Bank of England, on account of the Secretary of State for India in Council, on Friday, the 15th of February, 1861, as, when added to the deposit paid, on the tenders being delivered, will leave eighty pounds for each hundred pounds of stock, to be paid as under, viz.:

£20 per cent. on Tuesday, the 12th of March, 1861;
£30 per cent. on Tuesday, the 9th of April, 1861;
£30 per cent. on Friday, the 10th of May, 1861;

but parties who so desire may pay up in full, and will be allowed a discount at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum upon the anticipated payments.

The dividend payable on the 5th of July, 1861, to be a six months' dividend upon the capital amount of stock contracted for on the said 8th February.

In the event of the receipt of tenders, at or above the minimum price to be fixed by the Secretary of State for India in Council on the 8th February, for a larger amount than that proposed to be raised, the tenders, at the lowest price accepted, will be subject to a pro rata diminution.

Due notice will be given when the Scrip Receipts are ready, and these will be delivered only to the parties entitled, or to their order, at the Chief Cashier's Office at the Bank of England, in exchange for the receipt for the first instalment.

For each instalment after the payment of the first, which is due on the 15th of February, 1861, a proportional amount of Stock will be created for the contributors. The Stock for the first instalment, including the deposit, to be created at the same time with that which will be due on the last.

No tender will be received after one o'clock on the said 8th day of February, nor unless upon a printed form, which must not be enclosed in an envelope.

This form may be obtained at the Accountant-General's Department of this Office; or of Mr. Henry Scott, the Broker to the Secretary of State for India in Council, 16, Throgmorton-street, London, E.C.

MINES, RAILWAYS, BANK, STEAMSHIP, and INSURANCE SHARES BOUGHT, SOLD, or EXCHANGED.

Capitalists who seek safe and profitable investments, free from risk, should act only upon the soundest information; the market prices of the day are for the most part governed by the immediate supply and demand, together with the operations of speculators without reference to the bona fide merits of the property.

Mines afford a wider range for profit than any other public securities, and pay dividends bi-monthly, varying from 15 to 30 per cent. per annum. Instances frequently occur of young Mines rising in value 400 to 500 per cent. The undersigned devotes special attention to the above, and affords every information to capitalists, and effects purchases or sales upon the best possible terms.

WHAT IS THE PROSPECT OF OUR GETTING GOLD BACK FROM AMERICA?

THE American money market and the American exchange are following precisely the course which we ventured to predict. The best bills are now discounted in New York at 7 per cent., or less. The rate of discount in America is a little below that current here—a very unusual circumstance; for America, as the younger and less wealthy community, ordinarily bids much higher for capital than England does. The exchange at New York has recovered to 106 to 106 $\frac{1}{2}$  for bankers' bills; and it is observed that the market has been relieved of a large amount of the "exchange" that lately pressed upon it. Shrewd observers are looking to see the effect which has been produced ere now in the American money market by the unfavourable financial accounts lately sent from this side. The Americans, at the date of the last advices, had yet to hear of the rise in the Bank of England rate of discount from 6 to 7 per cent., and of the depression in the English market for American securities. How they have borne the intelligence we shall probably learn next week.

For our own part, we are strongly disposed to believe that, although the tightness of the English money market may perhaps infuse a tone of apprehension into the letters to be received by the next two or three packets from the United States, and may moderate the buoyancy of the New York stock market, it will not be attended with any really prejudicial effect as regards financial matters in America itself, or as regards the transactions between America and ourselves. To take the latter point first: It is quite clear that the rise in the value of money in England to a point which is abnormal, whether considered by itself or in relation to the usually lower value of money in America, must tend to promote the recovery in the exchange. Capital was recently vastly dearer on the other side of the Atlantic than here. Accordingly, gold left this country in large masses. As long as the rate of discount was 20 per cent. in New York and 5 per cent. in London, the transmission of capital could not possibly be prevented. It was the inevitable result of the simplest rule of trade—that of buying in the cheapest and selling in the dearest market. As regards money, England was the cheapest, or, if not exactly the cheapest (the value of money in many parts of the Continent being still lower), the readiest and most advantageous market to buy in; whilst America was the dearest, and in every way the most advantageous market to sell in. All experience indicated that the transfer of capital from the one market to the other would go on, until the great disproportion in its value would be broken down. The movement was greatly accelerated by the fact that, as we have frequently remarked, America had already, for a time, got the balance of trade in her favour, in consequence of her abundant harvest and our extremely defective one, and that, in her time of sorest distress, she put the balance still more largely in her favour by selling to us at a sacrifice—by a kind of forced sale—her corn, cotton, provisions, and public securities. We have seen that this has gone on until the American cry for gold has been appeased, until the distress in the American money market has been entirely relieved, and until the value of money in New York has sunk from a panic-point to a level somewhat below the Bank of England rate.

Now, we invite our readers to consider this question: Inasmuch as the distressed state of the American money market contributed greatly to distress our money market, does not the relief which has already occurred in America portend some impending relief to ourselves? This is a very important question, for it is hardly probable that our money market will become much easier until we receive, or have a well defined prospect of immediately receiving, some considerable amounts of gold, whereby the stock in the Bank of England may be replenished, and a fresh issue of notes made. Our currency is very tight at present. Commerce feels that, whether it be from the absolute inadequacy of the amount of our currency or from the spirit of distrustful caution in which it is hoarded in many quarters, it is difficult to procure, from day to day, the means of cashing the paper and other engagements which are constantly arriving at maturity. If we could have some large supplies of gold carried to the Bank of England, notes to a like amount would be created and issued, and would either be available for employment in the open market, beating down the rates, or would be lodged in the banking department of the Bank, increasing its reserve and stimulating confidence. We are suffering, then, mainly from a want of gold, and from that impairing of confidence which usually accompanies a drain or want of gold. Where has the precious metal gone? The answer is obvious. The immediate withdrawals have been for America, who has monopolised all she could lay her hands upon, and who has now almost a surfeit. Let us consider, therefore, whether she can retain it for long. Our own opinion is that she cannot.

In the first place, the glut in the American money market for which we had prepared our readers is only beginning. Just as, in England, an 8 per cent. rate of discount in 1847 was followed by 2 per cent. within a year or two, and a 10 per cent. rate in 1857 was followed by 2 $\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. within a few months, so surely will the 20 per cent. rate recently witnessed in America be followed by a fall to 4 per cent. The price of money was lately extraordinarily high—even for America; it will fall extraordinarily low—even for America. It is objected: "But how can money be easy, or gold accumulate in America, if civil war break out?" We dissent entirely from this view. More than this: we will venture to say that, if any consideration can arrest the glut of money in America, it would be a pacific solution of the present political difficulties. Disturbed politics mean a checked trade. A checked trade means an accumulation of idle capital, and of its representative—gold. The extraordinarily low value of money in England in the years 1848, 1849, and 1850 was partly the effect of the reaction from the commercial crisis of 1847, but was also caused in part, and was increased in duration, by the check which was given to trade by the political convulsions on the Continent. Throughout America trade is now restrained by the fear of civil war. The commercial classes cannot carry on their enterprises until they see, with some degree of clearness, what their future conditions will be. Until that knowledge is gained they will continue to contract their engagements within the narrowest possible compass. This will be followed by a diminished amount of commercial paper requiring to be cashed, at the very time when the gold reserves have been greatly increased. We may regard America as in the position of a banker who suddenly stops discounting and lending, in order that he may "run into money."

These are some of the grounds upon which we believe that, unless the dispute between the North and the South be promptly compromised (in which case trade and enterprise would revive, and money would command increased employment and a better price) the plethora in the American money market is as yet only beginning. We have heard it surmised that, if the existing troubles continue, and expand into an armed collision, gold will vanish from the hands of the New York bankers and be hoarded. The answer to this is that, if there be one nation in the world which does not hoard, but is ever on the watch to put its money out at interest, or to invest it in paying channels, it is the American. If the Americans cannot find employment for their money in their trade, in their commercial enterprises, and in such of their public securities as they have confidence in, they will remit a portion of it for investment or employment here, and particularly if, as is now becoming the case, money commands a relatively higher value in England, which is pre-eminently the land of commercial security.

And this brings us nearer to an answer to the question already propounded—when may we expect the reflux of a portion of the gold lately draughted from us? We contest the objection that it is premature to raise this point at a moment when shipments of gold from our ports to America have not yet ceased. It may not be literally true that the drain of gold to that quarter has terminated, but practically it is at an end. We have a strong suspicion that gold will return sooner than is generally imagined. It will not return because the senders have made a loss upon it, for it seems clear enough that the operation has been carried on for the most legitimate commercial objects, and that, where speculators have stepped in, they are the shrewdest that we have amongst us. The gold will return because it will have fulfilled its office; because it will have served to place America in a position of ease, and because she therefore needs it no longer. It is not as if America had no supply of gold except that which she has drawn from England, France, and other parts of Europe. We must not forget that she has a large, constant and sure supply at her back. California sends her every month about three quarters of a million sterling, to be added to the pile already stored up in the New York banks. Now, as regards a large portion of the Californian gold, America is merely the purveyor—the agent for its distribution over Europe, and over the world. She always passes the bulk of it on to England, as a convenient medium, England being the principal bullion market of the world. America even pays through England in Californian gold for a large portion of the tea, silks, indigo, &c., produced in India and China, which she herself consumes. For America to withhold entirely for long the Californian gold which pours in upon her is a very unusual occurrence. We do not overlook the admittedly serious features bearing upon the American exchange which are involved in the necessity under which we lie of importing large quantities of American grain at the very time when the Americans, from sheer distrust of their home affairs, are restricting their purchases of our commodities to the smallest amount possible. Just at present our American trade, we own, has more of what may be termed a one-sided character than at any period within our remembrance. But, allowing for all this, we contend that the balance of probabilities is becoming in favour of a re-transfer of capital back from the American, now the cheaper market, to the English, now the dearer, and in favour of a fresh recovery in the American exchange. Money cannot long stand simultaneously at 4 per cent. in New York (a point to which, as already stated, we believe it will speedily descend) and 7 per cent. in England. There must be a rapprochement in the rates. The Americans will be glad to pay in advance their English engagements which will not mature until months hence, so that they may get the benefit of a liberal discount. They will be anxious, too, to buy back some of their securities now held by us. Should shares or bonds be sent back to America to any important extent, as is not unlikely to be the case within the next couple of months, a further stimulus will be given to the exchange.

The summary of these considerations is, that the American pressure upon our money market is not only at an end, but that the period is drawing near when we shall get back a portion of those masses of specie, the withdrawal of which has prejudiced our money market and restricted the amount of our currency. What America has swallowed she must soon give back, at least in part. And it will be a considerable gain if it be found ultimately that the unexpected plethora of money in America absolutely facilitates our importations of grain, and “cases off” the effect which those importations must at all times have upon financial affairs here.

THE POSITION OF THE RED SEA TELEGRAPH COMPANY.— A BLOT ON THE PUBLIC CREDIT.

It is with a feeling akin to pain that we record the outburst of alarm and indignation which has been excited by an announcement just put forth by the Red Sea and India Telegraph Company. The public are familiar enough with the conditions under which this undertaking was organised. There was a great national want to be supplied—namely, the means of instant communication with India. The mutiny of the native soldiery, the critical position, not only of our troops, but, it may almost be said, of every European in that country, together with the general perception of the imminent danger to our whole Eastern rule, lent great force to the public cry for the immediate establishment of a line of telegraph. But the then recent failure of the Atlantic Telegraph had created a complete distaste in the public mind for this class of enterprise. It was regarded as a pure experiment, which no amount of subsidy, dependent upon the successful working of the undertaking, would tempt capitalists to embark in. It became necessary, therefore, for the Government to grant an absolute and unconditional guarantee. That it was perfectly unconditional has been shown over and over again by the public admissions of Ministers themselves in Parliament. They defended themselves, when the votes were under discussion, by urging—what was perfectly true—that capitalists totally refused to undertake the work on any other terms. We have before us the text of a speech made by Mr. Laing, Financial Secretary to the Treasury, upon a recent occasion of the passing of a vote for the payment of interest on the Red Sea Company's capital. Mr. Laing stated distinctly that, “if the working of the cable were to be interrupted through any accident, the Government would still be responsible for the payment.” He added that, “the Government guarantee is an absolute, not a conditional one, it having been found impossible to form a company for the execution of this work on any other terms.”

We ask—Could anything possibly be clearer than this? Red Sea Telegraph shares were (and are) as much a Government security as Consols are. Whether the Company might fail to lay the line, or to maintain it in working order, the Government were bound to pay the guaranteed interest for fifty years. They reserved to themselves, however, the right in the event of a contingency which has now actually occurred—namely, that of an interruption to the electric communication—to repay to the Company the whole of the capital expended, together with interest, and to vest thenceforward the entire undertaking in the hands of the State.

It would not be easy to exaggerate the consternation which has been excited amongst the shareholders by the announcement that the legal advisers of the Crown have discovered what they consider a flaw in the contract. The law officers say to the Government, “The Company's undertaking not being now in working order, the contract does not justify you in continuing the payment of interest.”

This opinion may be right, or it may be wrong. The contract was endorsed as perfectly binding and indisputable by the most eminent legal opinion obtainable in the city of London—to wit, by Messrs. Freshfield and Co., the solicitors to the Bank of England. But, whatever legal quibbles may devise, the shareholders rightly refuse to entertain for a moment any question as to the justice of their claim. Its justice is indeed self-evident; for whatever may be twisted out of the wording of the contract, its sense and spirit are abundantly clear. This the Government themselves admit. It is understood that no unworthy subterfuge—no paltering with a solemn national compact—is designed. Ministers have intimated their intention of introducing without delay, and supporting in Parliament, a Bill providing for the full recognition of the Company's rights.

This is so far satisfactory. If any delay is permitted to occur before the act of justice is performed it will involve an act of cruelty to the shareholders and of shame to the Government. The capital has been supplied, not by speculators, but by bona fide investors, desirous of obtaining a Government security, amongst whom are widows and other females, as well as others interested under trust and marriage settlements. But, unhappily, in many instances, a loss has already been inflicted, which no Bill in Parliament can compensate. Shares have been sacrificed in alarm by innocent afflicted holders. The £20 shares yesterday fell as low as £14. 10s. In other words, there was witnessed the disgraceful spectacle of a British Government Four-and-a-Half per Cent. Security—really unquestionable—at 27 per cent. discount! The unwary have sold; and wary speculators will reap the benefit. To numerous persons of limited income the annuity promised by the Government on this stock forms the chief means of subsistence. They are told to wait until such time as Parliament, in its diatry majesty, shall endorse their claim. And this they are told at the very time when the British Treasury actually contains the sum which was voted by Parliament last session for the interest due this month of February on the Company's stock!

We appeal to our readers: Could anything be imagined more subversive of financial credit or more pernicious to the national credit? Why, in the name of common sense, do not the Executive act upon the clear and honourable sense of the contract, pay the interest now due, and then ask an English Parliament for an acquittance? The effect of the affair will not, under any circumstances, soon pass away. Investors, when a British Government guarantee is next presented to them, had better warily consult their lawyer and ask whether it is really a guarantee—whether the representations put forward by the financial representative of Great Britain are really to be accepted.

THE AMERICAN GRAIN TRADE.

It is interesting and instructive to recur to the American grain movement. We see at once the extent of our purchases this season compared with last; and are made aware that, in so far as the low state of the exchange is to be attributed to the large grain shipments to Liverpool and other ports, the exchange market is likely to be speedily relieved, as the shipments have materially fallen off during the month of January, and are not likely to be sensibly increased until next June. New York and the other Atlantic ports are now cut off from the Western sources of grain-supply by the winter; and, the stock on hand not being large, prices have advanced to a point which, taking the loss on exchange into account, barely leaves a profit on shipments to our markets. Thus the receipts of grain from the United States must decline greatly, and one of the great disturbing elements will no longer be in such powerful operation.

Recurring to the figures of the American grain movement used on the 27th October, and again on the 24th November, in the MONEY MARKET REVIEW, we have the following as the total grain and flour shipments from America to the United Kingdom for the twelve months ending 1st September, 1860, and for the sixteen months ending 1st January, 1861.

For the twelve months ending 1st September :—
 1860 .. .. . 10,748,151 bushels.
 1859 .. .. . 1,313,303 „

Increase .. .. . 9,434,848 „

For the sixteen months ending 1st January :—
 1861 .. .. . 30,479,556 bushels.
 1860 .. .. . 2,654,940 „

Increase .. .. . 27,824,616 „

The value of the shipments, including freight to Liverpool, for the sixteen months of both periods, would in round numbers be—

1861 .. .. . £9,000,000

Increase .. .. . £8,220,000

We dare say few of our readers had any idea of the extent of our obligations this season to the United States for grain; they have been enormous, and the shipments represented by these figures have not, it is needless to say, been all yet received. Nor have they been all paid for. In the still uncertain state of the money market, it would, perhaps, be desirable to know the amount remaining unpaid. But the nearest approximation that can be hazarded is by comparing the shipments for the fourteen months ending 1st November, 1860, with the shipments for the sixteen months ending 1st January, 1861. This would give us the precise quantity that would at least have remained unpaid had there been no disturbance in the American trade, and had the shipments been valued for in the usual way at sixty or ninety days. The comparative shipments were—

1st January, 1861 .. .. . 30,479,556 bushels.
 1st November, 1860 .. .. . 19,420,820 „

Unpaid .. .. . 11,058,736

Including freight to Liverpool, the payments still to be made for American grain would thus amount, in round numbers, to £23,300,000—a by no means inconsiderable sum. But it is not to be doubted that America, by putting a severe pressure upon us through the enormous rates lately current there for money, has induced or compelled us to liquidate a large portion of our grain obligations, as well as of our other obligations, before they are fully due. This is always the case when the value of capital in any one country rises to a panic-point. The exchanges are at once affected, and it becomes worth the while of other countries to pay their debts to it in advance.

But we have now to draw attention to the falling off which is taking place in the present shipments of grain to the United Kingdom, upon which, combined with other considerations, we found a belief that the exchange will improve. The grain shipments from New York from the 1st to the 15th January, 1860 and 1861, have been as follows:—

 Flour ... .. 71,883 brls. ... 24,428 brls.
 Wheat... .. 554,721 bus. ... 500 bus.
 Corn ... .. 390,076 „ ... 2,348 „

This is an important falling off from the previous shipments, which were at the rate of 5,000,000 bushels a month; and at the present reduced scale of shipments the quantity available for export will, it is estimated, not hold out longer than the middle of March. Although the stock of flour and grain in New York was considerable on the 27th Dec. (see MONEY MARKET REVIEW of 19th Jan.) there is an enormous local consumption in that city, including that for the manufacture of ship-bread and for ship's use.

At Oswego and Buffalo, the two lake-ports from which New York receives the bulk of its grain supply, the stock on hand is very small; a circumstance pointing to the one conclusion that the American grain trade of the season is on the eve of being almost closed. The quantity of all kinds of grain in the public storehouses in Oswego and Buffalo on the 18th December was as follows:—At Oswego, 1,468,100 bushels; and at Buffalo, 1,874,239 bushels. These quantities will be barely sufficient for local consumption and trade.

COMING RAILWAY DIVIDENDS.

THE proposed dividends on North-Eastern Railway stock have been officially announced as follows:—Berwick stock, at the rate of  $5\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. per annum, against  $5\frac{1}{4}$  per cent. per annum at the corresponding period of last year; York stock, 5 per cent. per annum, against  $4\frac{1}{2}$ ; and Leeds stock, 3 per cent. per annum, against  $2\frac{3}{4}$ . The market for these stocks was firm, upon the announcement.

PAST RAILWAY DIVIDENDS.

At the approach of the general meetings, the following table of the dividends declared in 1855, 1856, 1857, 1858, 1859, and first half-year of 1860, together with the balances remaining over from the last half-year (after payment of dividend), will be found useful for reference. We are indebted for it to Mr. Slaughter's Railway List :—

THE STATE OF TRADE.

(COMPILED FROM NUMEROUS LOCAL REPORTS.)

THE accounts received from the manufacturing districts this week continue to indicate dullness. Some trades, such as the hosiery, silk, iron, and hardware, suffer more than others, business in these departments being decidedly below the average, and the condition of employment being by no means so satisfactory as might be desired. It would be an error, however, to imagine that any general distress exists; for there is no doubt that a good steady business is going forward in many important branches. The partial recovery which has taken place in railway traffic, immediately upon the disappearance of the severe frost, tends to confirm this view.

The accounts from Manchester state that a rather better feeling exists in the yarn market, and a little more business has been done in water twist for China. Offers are making for other markets, but they are mostly at too low a rate to find acceptance with sellers. In cloth the downward tendency has been more marked. The prices of all descriptions of Indian shirtings are fully 3d. per piece lower than last week, and all other descriptions of goods suitable to the India market are reduced in the same proportion. The feeling in the cloth market is one of great depression.

At Leeds, the attendance of merchants has been limited, and the business equally so.

The report from Bradford, dated Thursday, states that the demand for worsted yarns for export is still very limited, and the consumption by the manufacturers is even diminishing; nor is there more doing for home consumption. Prices are somewhat reduced. The unfavourable news from the continent tends to check business, but we nevertheless hear of a little more inquiry for pieces. The home buyers are looking after spring goods a little more, but the American market is still closed. Prices are maintained with firmness.

At Halifax several of the masters are running short time. At Blackburn the operatives have agreed to a reduction of 5 per cent. in their wages, in consequence of the bad state of trade.

At Leicester the hosiery trade remains quiet, manufacturers being indisposed to anticipate demand. There is, however, very little doubt that matters will before long look brighter. At Loughborough and the other framework knitting districts trade is yet very dull.

At Nottingham a great deal of depression exists in many departments of the lace trade, but upon the whole there is a little more doing, and there is reason to believe that business will soon take a favourable turn. Orders are being received for fancy goods, this branch being in a more healthy state than for some time past. There are a few buyers from the continent in the market, but their operations are by no means large. Many of the workpeople are yet out of employ. The hosiery trade continues dull; much machinery is yet standing, and the buyers who visit the market purchase very sparingly.

The principal factors at Wolverhampton concur in representing trade as unusually flat; and the accounts from Birmingham are to much the same effect. There is so little that is encouraging in the prospects of the spring trade, that manufacturers who are in the fancy branches will not go on making goods for stock, so that if an early return of animation does not take place, it is to be feared the artisan class will yet feel more of the consequences of dullness. The export trade is still in a state of stagnation.

In the Staffordshire iron trade there has been no improvement whatever; home consumers buy in the smallest quantities, just sufficient for immediate use; and the exporting firms appear to be out of the market, so little inquiry is there as far as they are concerned. Notices were given by some of the leading members of the coal trade on Saturday last to reduce the wages of thin mine colliers and stone-getters 10 per cent.

RECIFE AND SAN FRANCISCO RAILWAY.

An extraordinary general meeting of the shareholders of this company was held at the London Tavern, Bishopsgate-street, on Wednesday, to obtain the sanction of the shareholders for the directors to continue the payment to the shareholders (out of the capital or income of the company) of interest upon the amount of calls paid during the construction of the line, after the rate heretofore paid, or after such other rate as the shareholders at such extraordinary general meeting shall determine, such interest to be calculated from the day of payment of the respective calls.

Mr. BENSON, Chairman of the company, explained the objects of the meeting as above, and moved a resolution authorising the directors to pay interest at the rate of seven per cent. on calls, as had hitherto been done, out of the capital or income of the company, pending the construction of the line.

The CHAIRMAN replied—to various remarks—The Brazilian Minister was a member of their board, and he had made no objection to the present proposition. It was entirely a shareholders' question, and the resolution must be passed unanimously, or else they must go to a poll. Those who had not paid calls had no right to vote.

The resolution was then put and carried unanimously, and a second meeting for its confirmation was fixed at an interval of thirty days. Both mover and seconder, who, we understand, are among the largest shareholders, expressed their entire confidence in the directors, from the mode in which they had conducted the affairs of the company, and the almost insurmountable difficulties with which they had been surrounded.

Before the meeting separated, the Chairman announced that the calls were being exceedingly well paid up, they having received £84,000 within the last fortnight. In fact there was nothing remaining due except what they expected from Brazil. The proceedings terminated with the usual vote of thanks.

ATLANTIC ROYAL MAIL STEAM PACKET COMPANY.

On Wednesday the adjourned general meeting of the shareholders of this company was held at the London Tavern; Mr. W. Tollemache in the chair. The Chairman, in opening the proceedings, said that it was again necessary to postpone the business they were originally summoned to transact. He regretted that such was the case, for it was quite contrary to the wishes of the directors to have any more adjournments, but such was absolutely necessary for many reasons. In the first place there were important matters under negotiation, the successful carriage of which might be materially prejudiced if any premature discussion was to take place in reference to them. In the next place he and his colleagues thought it very desirable that a financial statement of the company's affairs for the past year should be produced at the general meeting, and some further time was required for its preparation. With regard to that matter, no time would be lost, and he hoped the result would be in every sense satisfactory to the proprietors. (Hear.) He could assure them the directors of the company had not been idle, for, since the date of the last meeting they had made satisfactory arrangements with the Post-office department, by which the mail service would be recommenced on the 25th of March next. (Hear, hear.) He might mention that there were one or two other important matters under negotiation, from which the company would derive great advantage, but, at present, it was not expedient to enter into any of the details. He concluded by moving the adjournment of the meeting, which was seconded by Mr. Robinson, and unanimously agreed to, as was also a resolution adjourning an extraordinary meeting also convened for Wednesday. The proceedings then terminated in the usual manner.

CULTIVATION OF COTTON IN AUSTRALIA.—What is required to bring the cotton lands of Australia into cultivation is capital and labour. Of these two important essentials, the men of Manchester have no lack. They readily subscribed a hundred thousand pounds when the repeal of the Corn Laws obtained for them cheap bread for their factory hands, and procured them new markets for their manufactures in exchange for the corn and flour which would be imported. The same sum judiciously applied would have gone far to have obtained for them a supply of cotton from Queensland and other parts of the British possessions. With respect to the supply of labour, that is a difficulty which might have been, and would have been, overcome, had the necessary capital been forthcoming, by the importation of coolies and Chinese into the new cotton-growing districts. With such magnificent colonies as we possess; with lands suited in every respect for the culture of cotton, which may be purchased for a merely nominal sum; with all our manufacturing skill for producing the necessary implements; with abundance of capital at our disposal, and with facilities for obtaining labour from India and from China under the new treaty, it will be a crying shame and a disgrace to the country if we continue much longer in our state of precarious dependence upon the cotton-growing States of America. Whatever may be done in directing attention to new fields of productiveness, we hope that the unequalled facilities of Queensland will not be overlooked. We are glad to learn that the colonists are fully alive to the importance of providing additional labour, and a memorial is in course of preparation to the authorities praying for some relaxation in the present regulation respecting the introduction of coolie emigrants. Now that the treaty of Peking recognises the right of emigration to the part of Chinese, there can be no difficulty in affording increased facilities to their leaving the country and settling in Australia.—Australian and New Zealand Gazette.

THE SUPPLY OF COTTON AND BORNEO.—Lord John Russell has proposed to the Manchester Chamber of Commerce to place the services of her Majesty's consuls in all parts of the world at the disposal of any association taking steps to promote the growth of this staple. In his letter he states that the course is an unusual one, but he considers the importance of the case demands it at his hands. Instructions by this mail will be sent to India to increase the growth there. Now is the time for those interested in Borneo to show what can be done there, and it may lead to a protectorate being granted by the British Government to Sarawak.—London and China Telegraph.

Mines.

FRIDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 1.

The market for British mining stocks this week has been generally firm. During the last few days the inquiries have increased, and prices in numerous instances have shown an upward tendency. Stray Park, North Minera, Bryn Gwiog, West Bryn Gwiog, Tolvadden, West Basset, South Frances, Wheal Grenville, Wheal Seton, and Wheal Buller shares, amongst others, have been more inquired for.

The Mining Market to-day was tolerably active. South Wheal Frances, Wheal Seton, North Minera, North Basset, West Bryn Gwiog, Great Retallack, Wheal Margaret, Wheal Crebor, and East Caradon shares were inquired for, and in several instances improved prices were established.

Alfred Consols, 2½ to 3; Camborne Vean, 3½ to 4; Cargoll, 16 to 18; East Basset, 107½ to 110 ex div.; East Caradon, 11½ to 12; East Carn Brea, 7½ to 8; East Russell, 6½ to 7½; Great Retallack, 57s. 6d. to 40s.; Great Wheal Fortune, 9 to 11; Herodsfoot, 33 to 34; Marke Valley, 4½ to 5; North Treskerby, 29½ to 30; Providence Mines, 44 to 45; South Caradon, 300 to 305; South Frances, 177½ to 182½; St. Ives Consols, 42½ to 43½; Stray Park, 37½ to 38½; West Caradon, 78 to 79 ex div.; West Rose Down, 4 to ½; West Seton, 345 to 355; Wheal Buller, 125 to 135; Wheal Clifford, 195 to 200; Wheal Crebor, 13s. to 15s.; Wheal Harriet, 2 to 4; Wheal Ludcott, 3½ to 4; Wheal Margaret, 53 to 55; Wheal Margery, 6 to 8; Wheal Seton, 172½ to 177½.

United Mexican and St. John del Rey Mining shares are in demand, and have risen. Colonial mining securities are quiet.

The shares of the Labuan Coal Company were quoted to-day 2½ to 2¾ prem. There has been a rise in Nerbudda Coal and Iron shares. It is reported that the directors received by the last mail a very satisfactory report from their managing agent.

At the half-yearly meeting of the Cobre Copper Mining Association, held on Monday, a dividend of £2 per share was declared.

On Tuesday an extraordinary general meeting of the shareholders of the Acadian Charcoal Iron Company was held at Rider's Hotel, Salisbury-square; J. Jessop, Esq., in the chair. The usual preliminaries having been gone through, the chairman said they had met to take into consideration what course should be adopted with regard to the litigation now pending between Messrs. Hunter and Chowne, the trustees of the Commercial Bank, and that company. Mr. Crowdy, of Serjeant's-inn, who is conducting the action on behalf of the company, stated at some length the nature and present position of the suits, remarking that the main question of litigation was the denial of the Commercial Bank that they were parties to the taking of certain additional shares. Mr. Livesey (the resident director) then gave a detailed account of the position and prospects of the undertaking. The prospects of the company were such as, after the disagreeable litigation had been got rid of, justified them in expecting a substantial return for their investment. After some discussion, resolutions were come to approving the proceedings of the directors, with reference to the pending litigation between the company and the trustees of the Commercial Bank, and agreeing that the meeting leave the whole of the proceedings in the hands of the directors. Messrs. Chubb, Smethurst, and Bridge being appointed a committee of shareholders to confer with the directors, a vote of thanks to the chairman was passed, when the meeting adjourned.

On Tuesday the annual meeting of the Scottish Australian Mining Company was held at the London Tavern; W. H. Dickson, Esq., in the chair. The Chairman explained the position of affairs at the Good Hope Copper Mine. He observed that the operations which had been carried on had proved the ore at near the surface to exceed in richness any expectation that had been formed of it, the lode yielding about four tons of ore per fathom, and reckoned to be worth from £40 to £50 per ton. He then proceeded to explain the position of the company as regarded its coal properties, stating that the directors proposed to establish a colliery upon a fine coal field of 2,560 acres, in which two seams had been proved to exist, one of 6 feet in thickness having been found at the depth of 103 feet, and another of 8 feet 9 inches in thickness at the depth of 213 feet. He also stated that the Board had recently had under their consideration the offer of an auriferous veinstone, of a character very similar to that now being so profitably worked by the St. John Del Rey Company. That fact, combined with the reasonable character of the offer, had induced the Board to enter into a conditional contract for working it, to become an absolute one if the superintendent in the colony, after thorough investigation, should decide to adopt it. It was computed that £3,000 of capital would be more than sufficient both to produce immediately profitable returns, and to explore and develop the mine, with a view to more extensive workings. The varied and numerous properties of the company were improving in value and importance with the steady growth and progress of the Australasian colonies. He might also state that the directors had agreed to accept a small amount remuneration until they had placed the company in a paying condition. The report and accounts were then adopted.

A meeting of the Mariquita and New Granada Mining Company was held on Thursday; Mr. Routh in the chair. The only business was to receive an account of the operations of the past half-year, by which it appeared that the cost of the Santa Ana mine in the six months from April to Sept. was 82,436 dols., while the earnings were 85,982 dols.; at the Marmato mine they were respectively 57,294 dols. and 70,404 dols.; and at the Purima, for the five months ending in August, 4,017 dols. and 5,040 dols. A profit is thus shown of 17,679 dols., or about £3,000, which, however, is irrespective of charges on this side. The machinery and works are in good order. The cost is being reduced, and within two or three months considerable retrenchments will have been effected. The efficiency of the staff is also in course of improvement. The new El Plato mine shows favourable indications. The political disturbances continue, and have materially impeded the operations of the company, besides producing a complete stagnation in trade. No loss, however, has been incurred beyond the seizure of some gunpowder.

The General Mining Association of Nova Scotia have declared a dividend for the past half-year of 15s. per share free of Income-tax.

The Pachuca Silver Mining Company (Limited) have received the following report from Captain Cyrus Paull, dated Pachuca, December 25. There have been transactions lately in this company's shares at 20s. to 25s. prem. The sum paid is 5s. per share:—

Since my last we have driven 12½ varas in the adit level, cleared San Juan winze, opened, cleared, and driven 3 varas in San Juan level. The adit and San Juan levels are on the same branch, running about 35 degrees north of east, and by the direction we ought to cut the Tapona vein by the middle of January. I shall then drive on that lode towards the junction with the Viscaina and Las Maravillas lodes, which I hope to reach some time in February, and I trust we shall meet with good metal. The lode in San Juan level has every appearance of getting into metal soon; in the adit level it is split up more in branches.

On the 21st Jan. the adjourned meeting of the St. John's United Lead and Copper Mining Company, Newfoundland, was held; C. P. Berkeley, Esq., presided. The usual preliminaries having been gone through, the Chairman stated that he believed the sole object of that meeting was to determine upon the advisability of accepting or rejecting the offer of the vendors with regard to the Turk's Head and English Ridge Mines, and to appoint two directors. Mr. Gisburn having at considerable length stated the terms upon which the amended offer was made, and having also referred to the mineral value of the property in question, a resolution was come to agreeing to accept the offer as made by the vendors. Messrs. Peart and Jones having been added to the direction, the meeting separated.

The directors of the Great Barrier Land, Harbour, and Mining Company (Limited) have just issued a circular to their shareholders, dated January 29, from which we extract as follows:—

"I am desired by the directors to give you a few particulars respecting the proceedings and progress of this company, and to point out briefly the purposes to which the capital is applied. In the first place, I may mention that the call now made is principally required to carry out an agreement which has been entered into for the working of a saw-mill, on the Great Barrier Estate, the cost to be borne by the company (including the purchase of the machinery, &c.), being about £4,000. The mill is leased for 7 years, at a fixed rent of £600 per annum, to be paid the company. The lessee having also granted the right, for the same period, to cut timber in the extensive Kauri forest, is in addition to pay the company a royalty of one-fourth the sawn timber, or marketable produce of the mill, or the money proceeds thereof, as the company, or its agent, may prefer. The directors have ordered the necessary machinery, which they expect will be ready for shipment in a few weeks. Large profits have been made, and are being made, from similar undertakings in New Zealand, and the shareholders may therefore reckon on an excellent return from this source. About £2,000 have also been expended in the establishment of several cattle and dairy stations, which are leased for five years to respectable and energetic tenants on terms which will give a fair return to the company. These stations and farms will require some further outlay of capital, but the direct and collateral advantages to be obtained from them are likely to be very considerable, while at the expiration of the leases they will revert to the company, and probably as valuable properties. The saw-mill is to be erected on the harbour (on the north side of Kaiarara Bay, at the mouth of the river), and from the trade and population it will attract, is likely to assist materially in establishing a township. It is also hoped that arrangements will soon be made with suitable parties for the establishment of a store, which would, from all accounts, probably induce the American whalers and coasters to make this their port of call and general rendezvous; the effect of which in attracting a trading population and causing a considerable town to spring up, and thereby incalculably increasing the value of the company's property, need not be dwelt upon. The directors are disappointed about the copper mine, but they hope, and reasonably look, for improvements. The Eclipse has just arrived with 65 tons of ore, and by the last advices, dated November, 30 tons more were then ready for shipment. On the whole, looking at the short time the property has been in the possession of the company, the directors deem the progress made to have been satisfactory, and there are good reasons for anticipating a continued advance in its value and well doing."

THE ENGLISH AND CANADIAN MINING COMPANY.

An extraordinary general meeting of the shareholders of the English and Canadian Mining Company (Limited) was held at the Company's Office, 38, Broad-street-buildings, on Friday the 25th Jan.; Mr. ALEXANDER MORRISON, Chairman of the Company, presiding, at which shareholders representing more than half of the subscribed capital attended. After the usual preliminary proceedings,

The CHAIRMAN briefly explained the object for which the meeting had been called, which was for the raising of fresh capital to carry on the works, the original capital being nearly exhausted. He observed that the Report presented at the last general meeting, held on the 19th of April, would have somewhat prepared the shareholders for this necessity. He regretted that the operations had not hitherto been so successful as had at first been anticipated, but expressed his own firm conviction, based on his confidence in Mr. Herbert Williams, the able superintendent of their works in Canada, now present, and on the opinions given by Sir W. E. Logan, Captain Otey, and other high authorities, that the mines would speedily be brought into paying condition. He therefore recommended the adoption of a resolution for raising the amount required. He called on the shareholders to address to Mr. Williams any inquiries that they might think proper, that gentleman being prepared to afford them all necessary information.

MR. JAMES ALEXANDER declared that he, for one, was much in the dark as to the recent operation of the company. He proposed various questions, in reply to which

MR. WILLIAMS made the following statement:—He first addressed himself to the quantities of ore raised in the past year, and stated that more than 80 tons, averaging about 30 per cent., had been dressed during the season and was still unsold. Besides this, a large quantity still remains at the mine, to be made available as soon as stamps now in course of erection are completed. By reference to a plan exhibited to the meeting, the extent of the works, including buildings, dressing-houses, &c., could be seen. Out of the total amount expended a large part had been for dead work, quite essential to the progress of the undertaking; amongst which he particularly mentioned Morrison's adit, now extending 180 fathoms in length, which had already intersected Shaw's, Slepser's, Sewell's, and Kent's lodes, and would in the course of the next few months intersect Harvey Hill lode and Fremont's lode, or rather an important interstratified bed coming down from this shaft, containing copper ore, which he is of opinion will be in sufficient quantity to yield large results; and also other lodes to the east, of the most promising description, which has been discovered in costeening Sewell's lode in the adit at a depth of 25 fathoms from surface, measures about 10 feet wide, about 4 to 5 feet on the foot-wall of which is the ore-bearing portion. A stope is now proceeding on a fine branch of ore on the south end, samples of which, one of remarkable beauty, are laid on the table. By the last advices received (this day) from the mine, this branch is improving to the rise. The adit level north on the same lode looks kindly and promising. The cost of continuing the adit to the intersection of Harvey Hill lode, and the bed coming down from Fremont shaft will be about £150 to £200. Most of the lodes marked on the plan have been traced to considerable distances south by costeening. Another very important work was Hall and Campbell's lodes. In the 10 fathom Campbell's lode is about 4 feet wide, and of the most promising kind, fully waiting a further trial in depth, which is now being made by sinking. Hall and Campbell's lode have produced already not less than 135 tons of 20 per cent. ore. The mine has been visited by numerous individuals well capable of judging of its merits. Among these may be mentioned Captain Richard Bray, a gentleman of considerable experience in South America as well as in the various European copper-producing districts; Captain Richard Otey, Sir William Logan's principal mining assistant in the geographical survey of Canada; and Captain Trebilcock, who recently visited the colony to examine and report on the Acton and other mines in the neighbourhood discovered within the last two years. All these scientific gentlemen concur in passing high encomiums on the Harvey Hill Mines. It may be mentioned that Acton Mine has already sent to market more than 1,500 tons of 18 per cent. ore, and is understood to have been sold last summer to an American company for a million of dollars. The general opinion of the best authorities is, that the prospects of the Harvey Hill Mines are not inferior to this or any other. Operations are restricted by the climate. Surface operations cannot be proceeded with in winter, and the dressing must also be nearly suspended during that season. As has already been explained, the value of the ores cannot be realised for nine months on an average, therefore a working capital must be provided. The sum allotted for a general exploration of the company's lands will be gradually and economically expended in the surface explorations necessary to show the probable value of these extensive estates, with a view to disposing of such portions as cannot be worked with the company's present limited means. The buildings are absolutely necessary for the comfort and well-being of the company's workpeople, and the improvement of the roads is hardly of inferior importance to the production of ore itself. Mr. Williams strongly repudiated the expediency of mining for merely immediate results, declaring that such a course of proceeding would be fatal to the interests of the company and discreditable to himself, and that he would rather withdraw than promote so suicidal a policy. He concluded by expressing his own conviction of the ultimate and even speedy success of their operations. Of the sincerity of this belief he could give no better proof than his willingness to remain at the mines on his present limited salary, until his views are properly tested, although he could immediately procure elsewhere a more lucrative reward for his labour.

The CHAIRMAN assured the shareholders that, although authority to raise £8,000 was asked for, no more would be borrowed than was absolutely necessary. Indeed, he and his brother directors were too largely interested in the undertaking not to exercise the utmost vigilance over the outlay of the funds entrusted to them. He then moved a resolution to the effect that the meeting recommend to the shareholders at large the adoption of an offer contained in a letter from a shareholder to the secretary, of the 12th Dec., 1860, for a loan to the company of £8,000, with such modifications as the directors find expedient, and that the directors be requested to call the requisite extraordinary meetings for putting such special resolutions in reference thereto as they think proper.

This was seconded by Mr. HENRY SEWELL, and carried unanimously.

MR. SEWELL proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Herbert Williams, and of confidence in him, which was seconded by several shareholders at once, carried unanimously, and acknowledged by him.

MR. ALEXANDER proposed, and Mr. PORTER seconded, a vote of thanks to the chairman and directors, which was also voted unanimously.

DUN MOUNTAIN MINING COMPANY.

On Wednesday the half-yearly meeting of the shareholders of this company was held at the London Tavern; Mr. Deputy CORNEY in the chair.

MR. SAUNDERS (the secretary) read the notice convening the meeting.

The report of the directors stated that they had much pleasure to inform shareholders that Mr. W. T. Doyne had been despatched to Nelson, with a view to lay out and survey a good line for the indispensable railway from the Dun Mountain Mines to the port of Nelson. That gentleman arrived in the colony in July last, and at once proceeded with energy in the survey, and had since then been employed on the same. The mining engineer, Mr. T. Hackett, had reported by the last mail that there were upon the mines 2,500 tons of chrome ore already prepared for transit; and, in addition to that, upwards of 7,000 tons "in sight,"—that is, that could be depended upon, and there was every reason to anticipate a very large supply (beyond the 10,000 tons) for many years to come. The value of the mineral was satisfactory, and the demand daily upon the increase, both on account of the comparative scarcity of it and the additional uses to which it is now being adapted. The directors, therefore, considered themselves fully justified in assuming that the prospects were most satisfactory, so far as the quantity and the quality of chrome ore were concerned.

The CHAIRMAN having moved the adoption of the report and accounts, said he thought the meeting would agree with him that their prospects were certainly encouraging. Everything depended upon the completion of the railway from the mine to the port of ship ment. That work was now in course of construction, and would in six months' time be in a sufficiently advanced state to convey ore, and in nine months thoroughly completed, when the ore would be brought down at a much less cost and with greater rapidity.

The report and accounts being received and adopted, Alexander Morrison, Esq., and Joseph Stayner, Esq., the retiring directors, were re-elected, and the auditors re-appointed.

A special vote of thanks was then passed to Dr. Munro and the Nelson committee, when the directors were empowered to issue the remaining capital at such prices, and upon such conditions, as they might deem most desirable.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the chairman and directors.

UNITED MEXICAN MINING COMPANY.

On Wednesday the ordinary half-yearly meeting of shareholders was held at the company's offices, Finsbury-circus; Mr. MORRIS in the chair.

MR. W. BROWNE (acting secretary) having read the notice convening the meeting, proceeded to submit the ordinary half-yearly report, which stated that the accounts last received from Mr. Fitzherbert enabled the directors to present a favourable report to the shareholders, and to express their opinion that the prospects of remunerative return had considerably improved, which was the more satisfactory, as hitherto, although the returns had been large, they had been attended with very little profit to the company. With regard to the finances in London, it was stated that a remittance from Mexico of £1,000 had enabled the directors to give notice of the payment of the half-year's interest due March 13, 1860, on the loan account. The statement of accounts showed that the liabilities exceeded the assets by £5,047.

The CHAIRMAN moved the adoption of the report and accounts. Referring to the position of the company, he thought, from the reports lately received from Mexico, that they were justified in hoping that their affairs would soon be placed in a much better position, financially and commercially.

The report and accounts having been duly received and adopted, the meeting was made special for the purpose of taking into consideration certain resolutions affecting the number of directors necessary to form a quorum, when it was decided that for the ordinary business of the company three should form a quorum, and five when any special or important business was to be determined upon.

The proceedings closed with a vote of thanks to the chairman.

THE NEW YORK AND ERIE AND ATLANTIC AND GREAT WESTERN RAILWAYS.

With reference to the New York and Erie and Atlantic and Great Western Railways we find the following in the New York Times of the 15th January:—

The New York Herald of to-day has the following:—

"We have made inquiries at the office of the Erie Railroad Company with regard to the clause in the agreement for the reorganisation empowering the new trustees to assess the stock and bonds. We learn that the mortgage bondholders are not liable to be assessed in money, but that the stockholders and unsecured bondholders are. No one seems to know what may be the probable amount of any assessment in money to be levied after the sale, but it seems to be well understood that there must be such an assessment levied. Some persons think that half a million of dollars will be all that is wanted; others talk of a million."

A well-advised correspondent sends us the following facts, by way of reply:—

"In the above articles the entire facts of the case do not appear."

"By the terms of the agreement for the reorganisation (Article 10), 'an assessment of one-eighth of 1 per cent. is to be paid to the new trustees,' by each bondholder whose bonds are to be exchanged, and by each subscribing shareholder when the exchanges are made, 'said assessment to constitute a fund for the expenses of reorganisation.'

"In addition to the above assessment of one-eighth of 1 per cent., all the holders of mortgage bonds, secured by the mortgage which may be foreclosed, and of unsecured bonds and of stock, are to contribute 'what cash may be necessary to complete the purchase.'

"The amount of said contribution is to be a charge upon the net earnings of the road, to be repaid before the payment of dividends upon the preferred stock, or to be funded as the Board of Directors shall determine."

"The facts in the case are well understood. The plan is one of mutual conciliation. It was conceived, and has been carried on thus far, for the benefit of the unsecured bondholders and the stockholders, as well as that of the younger mortgage bondholders."

"It is a fact that three-fourths of the unsecured bonds are already 'assented.'

"It is a fact that of the 11,000,000 dols. of stock 6,800,000 dols. has also been 'assented.'

"It is a fact that the law allows six months after the road shall have been sold, for the remainder of the stock to come into the arrangement."

"It is a fact that the English bond and stockholders are unanimously in favour of the reorganisation on the terms proposed."

"It is a fact that the net earnings of the Erie Road are sufficient to pay the interest upon its mortgage debt, and at once liquidate whatever assessment (if any) may be necessary 'to liquidate the purchase.'

"It is a fact that the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad, now in successful progress, is but a continuation of the Erie, and the people of this city and of the West comprehend the importance of this auxiliary. They begin to foster its interests and encourage its progress, for these are connected with their own interests and their own prosperity. English, Spanish, and French capital have led the way, and it is gratifying to see the American public following the lead."

"With a steady demand from England and the Continent for Erie stock, and with a growing knowledge of its value in America, as demonstrated by the net earnings of the road under its present wise and liberal management, there is a reasonable prospect that this stock will ultimately take its place by the side of Central in the popular favour of American capitalists."

THE EXTRAORDINARY WEATHER OF 1860.—Near Longhirst station the other day (says the Gateshead Observer) reapers might have been seen, busily engaged in cutting down a field of beans. In our own immediate neighbourhood, though certainly in isolated cases only, ungathered grain still encumbers the fields. On the Yorkshire Wolds the harvest is not yet completed, several patches of grain being still out. Near Sledmere there is a field of grain yet uncut. On the moors, on the opposite side of the great Vale of Pickering, the bean crops are far from being gathered in, although some lots have been carried in during the frost, by hand, and stacked with layers of thorns and sticks to admit air. Near Cropton, on the 16th Jan., some oats were led, and were not nearly in such bad trim as might be supposed.

These changes are not of importance, considered in a numerical point of view, yet are of interest, as marking an improvement. There is an increase of £145,706 in the reserve, and of £96,036 in the coin and bullion. The position of the "other" securities denotes only a moderate demand for money. As the amount of Government securities has not diminished, the recent sales of stock cannot have been for account of the Bank.

THE MONEY MARKET.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 1.

The discount market this week has been decidedly tight. The drain of gold both to America and the Continent has virtually ceased, a circumstance which cannot fail ere long to give a stimulus to commercial confidence. The effect, indeed, is already seen in the anomalous circumstance that, whilst the best short bills are not discounted below 6½ to 7 per cent., 6 months' paper is readily placed at 6½. This discrepancy denotes that the present high rates of discount are not generally expected to be maintained very long. The stringency noticed in the market this week appears to arise in no small degree from a certain mysterious supply of stock in the Stock Exchange, which is popularly attributed to some Government account. A circumstance of this kind can hardly have more than a transient influence. Attention is directed at present to the prospective demand in connection with the mercantile bills falling due in the first week in February, with the negotiation of the Indian Loan, and with the monthly settlement in Consols, fixed for the 7th February.

At the Bank of England there has been throughout the week a steady but by no means pressing demand.

In the Stock Exchange the rate for short loans on English Government securities is about 5½ to 6 per cent.

Since our last report, owing to the cessation of the demand for the Continent, about £240,000 in Australian refined gold has been sent into the Bank. The remittances of specie to New York are now very limited: the Canada took only £53,130 on Saturday, the New York £13,000 on Sunday, and the City of Baltimore £24,000 on Wednesday.

Below is a list of the gold ships now on the way to England with an aggregate of £387,500, viz. :—

Name.	Sailed.	Days. at Sea.	Gold on board. Ounces.	Value.
Strathdon .. .. .	Nov. 15	78	49,040	£196,000
Clutha .. .. .	" 16	77	23,755	95,000

Champion of the Seas .. .. .	" 23	70	9,154	37,000
			96,794	£387,500

The Indus, which will leave on the 4th inst., will take £115,618 in specie, of which £18,068 is gold and the rest silver. Subjoined are the particulars:—For Ceylon, gold 1,000, and silver £100; Madras, 1 ton, £19,705, and gold £17,086; Calcutta, silver £55,980; Singapore, silver £2,532; Hong Kong, silver £1,351; Foo-chow-Foo, silver £753; and for Shanghai, silver £17,111.

THE NEW INDIAN LOAN.

In our advertisement columns will be found the notice of the new India Five per Cent. Loan of £3,000,000. The tenders are to be received on Friday, the 8th Feb. A deposit of 2 per cent. will be required on the sum applied for, and within a week after the adjudication an instalment is to be paid of such amount as will leave a balance due of 80 per cent., which 80 per cent is to be supplied in three instalments—namely, 20 per cent. on the 12th of March, 30 per cent. on the 9th of April, and 30 per cent. on the 10th of May. Five per cent. interest will be allowed on prepayment, and the regular dividends will accrue from the 5th Jan. The minimum price at which tenders will be accepted will be fixed by the India Council on the morning when the applications are to be sent in. It is stated that the raising of this loan is in consequence of the non-payment of sums into the Indian Treasury by the railway companies.

The following is the official form of tender for the new Indian Loan:—

THE BULLION MARKET.

With reference to the movements in bullion and in the Indian Government paper, Messrs. Pixley, Abell, and Langley, report as follows:—

GOLD.—The transactions this week have not been extensive, and the shipments to the United States have been materially diminished, the only amounts forwarded being—Per Canada, £53,130, and City of Baltimore, £24,000. The exchange at New York, on England, has now risen to a point which precludes further remittances, except for special purposes. About £260,000 of the recent arrivals of gold, having been refined, has been sent to the Bank of England. The Delta, Peninsular and Oriental Company's Steamer, which sailed on 27th instant, took £8,925 for Bombay. The Tasmanian, from the West Indies, arrived this morning with £21,195. The Strathdon, from Melbourne, which sailed on 14th November with £196,000, may be expected very shortly.

SILVER.—Our market has been inactive since our last report, but the price still remains as before quoted, viz. 5s. 1¼d. per ounce standard. The Delta had £229,745 on board for Bombay, and the West India steamer Tasmanian, reported this morning, brings £233,000. The shipments to India and China, on 4th February, are not expected to be extensive.

MEXICAN DOLLARS remain as last quoted, viz. 5s. 0¼d. per ounce, but the demand is limited.

EXCHANGE on India remains about the same. Bank Drafts on Bombay, 60 days' sight, 2s. to 2s. 0¼d.; on Calcutta, 1s. 11¼d. to 2s. 0¼d. Bills with Documents, 1s. 11¼d. to 1s. 11¼d. Madras, 1s. 11¼d. to 2s. for Bank 60 days' sight Bills.

INDIA GOVERNMENT LOAN NOTES are rather weaker, and may be quoted 99½ to 100½ for Five-and-a-Half per Cents., and 93½ to 94½ for Five per Cents., with very little doing.

The report of Messrs. Haggard and Co., dated this day, observes:—

Since the date of our last Circular our market has been only moderately active, the principal feature being the falling off in the shipment of gold to America, and the purchase by the Bank of England of a portion of the recent Australian arrivals.

The imports, which have not been large, include the Tasmanian, from the West Indies, with £256,910—of which £21,331 gold, and £233,863 bar silver and dollars; the Bremen, from New York, with £5,000; and a moderate amount of gold from Constantinople.

The exports include the Delta, to Bombay, with £228,745 silver, and £8,925 gold; the City of Baltimore, to New York, with £24,000; and a portion of the late Australian and other arrivals to the Continent.

The export of gold to New York has sensibly decreased, and it is thought that some of the later shipments may be returned to this country, in consequence of the rise in sterling exchange. The amount of bar gold sold to the Bank of England is £260,000.

There has been a moderate business in bar silver, at 5s. 1½d., for the Calcutta mail of the 4th February.

Dollars remain without alteration at 5s. 0½d., at which some small amounts only have been sold for the next China steamer.

THE EXCHANGES.

The Continental Exchanges are not quite so high as last week, but the appearance of the quotations is steady and less distrust is observable.

REFLUX OF GOLD TO FRANCE.

To show the extent of the exertions which have been made of late by the Greek and Levant houses to sustain themselves, it may be mentioned that about £400,000 in gold is computed to have reached Marseilles from Turkey and the Levant since the commencement of the present month, and that an additional sum of £300,000 is looked for within the next few days. The Marseilles houses do not remit any of this gold to London, but, in its place, short bills, which answer equally well. Additions are being made by these means to the bullion in the Bank of France.

THE DOUBLE INCOME-TAX ON INDIAN PAPER.

It is understood (says the Times) that Mr. Gladstone has abandoned his attempt to extract double Income-tax from the holders of Indian securities. Among the commercial public there has from the first been but one opinion as to the character of the proceeding, and it has always been reported that Sir Charles Wood and the Indian Council were equally convinced of its impropriety. The holders, however, were forced to the annoyance and expense of taking measures to assert their rights, and it was only then that the Government found it expedient to ascertain their legal standing. According to a notice from the Indian Revenue-office, it now appears that the opinion both of the Attorney and Solicitor-General is that the double tax cannot be enforced, and the claim has accordingly been given up. The amounts already deducted will, of course, have to be refunded.

FRAUDS IN THE TALLOW TRADE.

Some sensation was created on Thursday, particularly in the Baltic Coffee-house and in the tallow trade, by the announcement of frauds to a large amount. It appears that Robert Fraser North, partner in the firm of Nickoll and North, described as oil, seed, tar, and tallow brokers, a house which has occupied a respectable position, has absconded, after having obtained by fraudulent means warrants for the delivery of tallow to a reported amount of £12,600. He has, it is said, obtained possession of them by passing cheques on his bankers for this amount, whilst his balance there was only £9. Mr. Nickoll, the senior and "sleeping" partner, is a respectable man, and is understood to be in no way implicated in his partner's misdeeds. The firm of Nickoll and North were to-day made bankrupts. Their liabilities (including the sum fraudulently contracted) are computed at £25,000 or £30,000. Prompt measures have of course been taken to trace the offender, and to prevent the further negotiation of the warrants.

A PRAISEWORTHY EXAMPLE.

It is announced that the outstanding liabilities of Messrs. Hoare, Buxton, and Co., who suspended on the 17th Nov., 1857, are to be paid in full. The assets of the firm being insufficient for the purpose, the partners have made an arrangement apart from the estate, which enables them to pay the whole of the remaining balance.

A RECTIFICATION.

It may be useful to state that Messrs. Thomas and Robert Lunham, bacon curers, of Dublin, whose names appear in the Gazette of the 29th Jan., are in no way connected with the house of James Lunham and Co., of 231, High-street, Borough.

THE PROPOSED BANKRUPTCY BILL.

The Mercantile Law Amendment Society have issued a very clear and useful report of their proceedings during the past year, especially in relation to the proposed Bankruptcy Bill. They state that they have the most implicit confidence both in the desire of the Attorney-General to satisfy commercial requirements, and in his ability to frame such a Bankruptcy Bill as will rank among the highest legal reforms, and they publish a copy of a petition in support of the measure which is now receiving the signatures of the great majority of influential firms throughout the country.

TELEGRAPHIC COMMUNICATION WITH THE CONTINENT.

The commercial public have received with satisfaction the announcement of a considerable reduction in the rates for telegrams to the Continent by the Submarine Telegraph Company.

MEXICO.

The advices from the United States fully confirm the statement that Miramon has been completely defeated, and the capital of Mexico occupied by the liberal forces.

MEXICAN BONDS.

It appears that of the funds belonging to the Mexican bondholders at Mexico a sum of about £45,000 was saved, owing to that amount being represented by bills of exchange which had not fully matured. These have since been collected, and the proceeds are believed to be secure. Upon their arrival on this side they would, with the £16,000 already in the Bank of England, make a total sufficient to meet the 12s. remnant of the last distribution in the shape of dividend.

The following memorandum from the Committee of Mexican bondholders was published this morning. It corroborates the accounts of the complete overthrow of the Miramon party. The closing paragraph reports an act by the Juarez administration which will be received with satisfaction by the creditors:—

The Committee of Mexican bondholders have received advices from Mr. Whitehead, dated Mexico, the 28th ult. Miramon had marched out of Mexico on the 14th December, with 8,000 men and thirty or forty pieces of cannon, was utterly routed on the 22nd by the forces of General Ortega, near San Miguelito, a village twenty leagues off, and arrived as a fugitive at the palace early on the 22nd. With the small garrison of the capital (less than 2,000) defence was out of the question, and after a council held at the house of the Spanish ambassador, the latter and the French minister, accompanied by two generals, went to meet General Ortega at Tepeji, fifteen leagues off, to arrange with him the terms of surrender. Ortega assured safety to the city, but required the chiefs to surrender as prisoners of war. When this was made known to Miramon he left the city during the night of the 24th, together with the others and about 1,000 men, as it is said, but many doubt his having left Mexico at all. General Ortega with about 4,000 men entered the capital in the course of the day, the occupation of the city being effected without the least disorder. Mr. Mathew was expected in the capital after the packet, and Juarez about the 1st instant. Captain Aldham had arranged that the payment of the assignments in Vera Cruz and Tampico should be resumed on the 1st of January, and that to make up the arrears at Vera Cruz and Tampico during the last year an additional five per cent. at those two custom-houses has been placed at the disposal of the bondholders, which is confirmed by a letter from the agents in Vera Cruz of the 2nd inst.

THE GREAT EASTERN.

A number of workmen are now employed on board the Great Eastern, preparing her for sea. She is expected to be ready early in April. Her destination is stated to be New York. The directors will issue their report in a week or two, previous to the meeting of shareholders.

THE RED SEA TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

The directors of the Red Sea Telegraph Company have issued their report, to be submitted at the meeting on the 15th February. Considerable importance attaches to this document. The directors have just received a letter from the Treasury, from which it appears that her Majesty's Government have come to the following decision:—

1. That they are not prepared to authorise the issue of money for a dividend, which they are advised by the law officers of the Crown that they have no authority to pay. 2. That they nevertheless consider that, according to the view held in common by Parliament and by all the parties, the liability to pay the guaranteed interest was not to be absolutely dependent upon the continued working of the line, and that they intend upon the opening of the session to submit a Bill to Parliament to give effect to the understanding with which the Act was passed, and after the second reading of such Bill to propose that it should be referred to a select committee. Under these circumstances, my lords can give no directions at present with regard to the payment of a dividend.

This matter will doubtless give rise to a great deal of discussion. It is not to be imagined for a moment that any measure short of full justice will be dealt out to a company which had expended a large amount of capital under a specific agreement with the British Government of a nature virtually tantamount to a guarantee.

FOREIGN AND COLONIAL BONDS.

The Peruvian financial agents publish the numbers of bonds to the amount of £39,200 of the Four-and-a-Half per Cent. Uribarren Debt, and of bonds representing £10,400 of the Arica and Tacna Railway Loan, which have been purchased for redemption and cancelled. In the latter instance the government have again been obliged to pay nearly par.

Messrs. Rothschild have announced the particulars of the progress of the Brazilian sinking fund.

The half-year's interest is advertised on Cape of Good Hope Government Six per Cent. Debentures.

The Portuguese financial agent has published a further statement of stock cancelled.

It is understood that a portion of the sum required for the dividend, due the 1st March, on the Turkish Six per Cent. Loan of 1858, is now in London in bills.

"RAILWAY INTELLIGENCE."

We are glad to perceive that Mr. M. Slaughter, the able Secretary to the Railways' Department of the Stock Exchange, announces a new edition of his valuable work, "Railway Intelligence," as to be ready about the 10th February. The present issue will probably be of especial interest to shareholders in the Canadian and Brazilian railways, for it is notified that the publication has been delayed beyond the usual period in order, if possible, to include accurate details of important pending arrangements connected with those undertakings.

RAILWAY TRAFFIC.

The Brighton railway traffic return shows this week a decrease of £190; the South-Eastern a decrease of £1,327; the London and North-Western, an increase of £1,057; the London and South-Western, an increase of £621; the Lancashire and Yorkshire, an increase of £1,540; the Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire, an increase of £59; the Midland, an increase of £2,327; the North-Eastern, an increase of £820; the Great Northern, an increase of £793; the Great Western, an increase of £1,105; and the Caledonian, an increase of £1,330.

The traffic receipts of the Great Western Railway of Canada for the week ending January 11, were £8,638 sterling, being £1,489 more than for the corresponding week of last year.

The traffic receipts of the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada for the week ending January 5, were £12,244 sterling, being £2,107 more than for the corresponding week of last year.

THE INDIA COTTON COMPANY.

We are requested to state that the share list of the India Cotton Company will be closed on Friday next as regards applications from London, and on the following day as regards those from the country.

RAILWAYS.

The half-yearly meeting of the Great Northern Railway Company is convened for the 23rd Feb., and will be made special to approve agreements with the Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire, and Hertford, Luton, and Dunstable Railway Companies.

The final call of £5 is to be paid on the Fourth Extension Shares of the Madras Railway Company by the 26th Feb.

An extraordinary meeting of the Ceylon Railway Company is called for the 14th inst., to take into consideration certain resolutions of the Legislative Council of Ceylon, together with a letter from the Colonial Secretary of State. The resolutions of the Council provide for the repayment to the company of the whole of its paid-up capital, with interest, whilst the Colonial Secretary has requested the directors to inform him, with as little delay as possible, whether the company are prepared to accept the offer of the Government.

The half-yearly meeting of the North-Eastern Railway Company is called for the 8th inst., at York, and will be made special, to authorise the directors to pay off the Hull and Selby purchase capital.

A call of £5 is to be paid upon the Omagh Extension shares of the Portadown, Dungannon, and Omagh Junction Railway Company by the 13th inst.

Much disappointment is felt by many English proprietors of Nassau Railway shares at being unable to learn anything concerning their property or prospects. Some objectionable Government compromise was talked of about a year back, but it was then considered that the Duke was really not aware of the effect of the proposed measure, and was, in fact, merely in the hands of bad advisers. A meeting was to take place at Wiesbaden on the 6th of December last, but nothing has yet transpired on the matter.

BANKS.

At the half-yearly meeting on Friday last of the shareholders in the English, Scottish, and Australian Chartered Bank, the accounts presented showed an available balance of £19,402, after making provision for estimated losses. The dividend agreed to was at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, free of Income-tax.

At the half-yearly meeting of the Bank of Manchester a dividend has been declared of 5 per cent. for the six months, with a bonus of 1 per cent. The business of the establishment continues to show a steady augmentation. This bank has adopted the plan of limited liability.

ASSURANCE COMPANIES.

The directors of the Ocean Marine Insurance Company, which was established at the close of the year 1859, have issued the following report for presentation to the first general meeting of shareholders, which is fixed for the 5th February. This document has been looked for with considerable interest:—

The directors submit to the shareholders the accounts of the company, showing the results of its operations up to the 31st December last, embracing the period that has elapsed from the commencement of business on the 19th December, 1859. These accounts, which have been duly examined and verified by the auditors, nominated for that purpose in the deed of settlement, show that after having paid all claims for losses, averages, and returns, adjusted to the 31st December last, together with all expenses, charges, salaries, &c., and having further made provision for one-third of the preliminary expenses incurred in the formation of the company, there remains a surplus of £75,478. 4s. 7d. In this amount is included interest accrued upon the company's investments, as well as the balance of the underwriting account; and the directors recommend that £10,000 be applied in payment of interest at the rate of 5s. per share (being £5 per cent. upon the paid-up capital of the company); and that the residue be carried forward against the outstanding risks and liabilities of the company. The directors report that, for the purpose of conducting the business of the company, they have secured the freehold site of No. 2, Old Broadstreet, upon which they propose to erect a building for the company's offices. From the eligibility of its position, and the terms upon which this property has been acquired, it will not only be of great advantage to the increasing business of the company, but will also be a safe and remunerative investment. In accordance with the provisions of the deed of settlement, the four following directors retire by rotation:—Charles Bell, Esq., John White Cater, Esq., Edward Cohen, Esq., and Sir Samuel Cunard, Bart. These gentlemen offer themselves for re-election. The deed of settlement of the company further prescribes the annual election by the shareholders of two auditors, whose remuneration has also to be fixed by the meeting. The directors, a ter careful consideration, think that it will be beneficial to the interest of the company to increase the board of direction from twelve to sixteen members, and they recommend the following gentlemen for election:—Alexander

Henry Campbell, Esq. (Messrs. Finlay, Campbell, and Co.); George Garden Nicol, Esq. (director of the Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London, and China); John Henry William Schroder, Esq. (Messrs. J. Henry Schroder and Co.); and Robert Smith, Esq. (Messrs. Robert Smith and Co.).

A petition for the dissolution of the British Provident Life and Fire Assurance Society is to be heard before Vice Chancellor Kindersley on the 8th Feb.

OTHER PUBLIC COMPANIES.

The half-yearly meeting of the Anglo-French Steamship Company is convened for the 23rd February, at Grimsby.

The annual meeting of the Westminster Palace Hotel Company is called for the 4th February, and will be made special, to increase the share capital.

THE STOCK AND SHARE MARKETS.

The English funds have improved, notwithstanding the announcement of the new Indian loan of £3,000,000 which was made on Monday morning. Consols, which closed on Friday last at 91½ to 9-16 for the 7th February, have gradually risen, and closed to-day at the best point yet touched, namely 92 to ¼. The rise since last Friday is, therefore, fully ½ per cent. For money, the last price to-day was 91½ to 92, and for the 7th March 92½. A favourable feeling has been occasioned by the news of the progress of the American money market towards ease, combined with an advance on the Paris Bourse, and purchases of gold by the Bank of England. The improvement would have been more decided but for the tightness of the money market and the threatening appearance of politics in America. There have also been some heavy sales of stock which are attributed to Government, to-night's return showing no change in the amount of Government Securities held by the Bank of England.

The official list of to-day's actual business in the English Funds, Exchequer Bills, and Indian Government Securities, is annexed:—

Three per Cent. Consols, for money, 91½, ¾, 92, 91½, 92; ditto for account (Feb. 7), 91½, 92, ¾; Three per Cents. Reduced, 91½, ¾, 92; New Three per Cents, 91½, ¾, 92; Bank Stock, 232½; India Five per Cent. Stock, 1859, 99½, 99, ¾; ditto Four per Cent. Debentures, 1858, 95½; ditto 1859, 95½; ditto Bonds, 17s. dis.; Five per Cent. "enfaced" Rupee Paper, 94; and Exchequer Bills, 7s., 8s., dis.

Owing to the announcement of the new loan, and owing also to the distrust caused by the recent secret creation of stock, the price of the Indian Five per Cent. Loan of 1859 has fallen to 99 to ½.

The Five per Cent. Rupee paper was quoted to-day 93½ to 94½; the Five-and-a-Half per Cent., 99½ to 100½; and Exchequer Bills, 7s. to 3s. dis. India Bonds are decidedly heavy. Transactions are recorded to-day at 17s. dis.

In the Foreign Stock Market the principal feature has been a fresh rise of 1½ per cent. in Mexican Bonds, which closed to-day at 23¾ to 24. Turkish Bonds are decidedly firmer, and have risen—the loan of 1854 ¾ per cent., and that of 1858, 1½ per cent. Other Foreign Stocks are firm, and in most instances an upward tendency is shown.

The market for British Railway Stocks has been decidedly better. A favourable effect has been produced by the rise in Consols, combined with the publication of better traffic returns than had been generally expected. The statement given below exhibits a general and marked improvement. Lancashire and Yorkshire, Midland and Caledonian Stocks, have been in chief favour. Yesterday's settlement in British Railway Stocks indicated that the floating speculation is now reduced in amount, and that the supply of stock actually afloat is limited. The rates of "continuation" in most instances were moderate, especially considering the high value of money. Midland Stock was chiefly supplied, and the "continuation" at the close was ½ to ⅝ per cent. Great Northern was scarcer, and a "backwardation" of ¼ per cent. was paid.

The following shows the closing prices of the principal British Railway Stocks to-day, and the result of the week's variations. The share list in detail will be found in another column:—

The demand for American Railway Securities has this week decidedly increased, and an important advance has taken place, particularly in Illinois Central and New York and Erie shares. The former closed to-day at 26 to 25 d's., and the latter at 32 to 33.

The three years' options of the Illinois Central Railway Company were quoted to-day at 8 to 9. The last transactions previously reported were at 7. The one year's options were quoted 3½ to 4½, and the two years', 6 to 7.

Atlantic and Great Western Railway Bonds have been dealt in in the Stock Exchange at 77.

The shares in the New Marine Insurance Companies have been flatter pending the explanations to be given at the approaching meeting of the Ocean Marine Company.

The closing quotations for shares in new undertakings to-day were as follow:—Ocean Marine Insurance, 3¼ to ¾ prem.; Thames and Mersey Marine, 19-16 to 11-16 prem.; Universal Marine Insurance, 1½ to ⅝ prem.; London and Provincial Marine, ¾ to ¼ prem.; East India Irrigation, ¾ to ½ dis.; East India and London Shipping, ¼ to ¾ prem.; and India Cotton, ¾ to ⅝ prem.

THE PARIS BOURSE.

At Paris to-day the Three per Cent. Rentes opened at 67.95 being 5c. lower than yesterday afternoon, but nearly ½ per cent. higher than on last Friday. To-day's final prices did not reach the City this evening. The advance is attributed partly to the improved character of the financial accounts from America, and partly to a scarcity of stock for immediate delivery, occasioned by investments.

AMERICAN SECURITIES.

With reference to the market for American Securities, Messrs. D. Bell, Son, and Co. report as follows:—

The business in American Securities during the past week has been very much confined to the Federal Five per Cent. Bonds; and in these there have been numerous transactions, at prices varying from 84 to 87.

The report of Mr. E. F. Satterthwaite, dated Wednesday evening, is annexed:—

Since our last, the market in London for American securities has steadily improved, the low prices then ruling brought in a number of fresh buyers. Illinois shares have risen from 35 discount to 28, at which point there has been a supply of shares, and they close sellers, at 29. In Erie shares the advance has not been so marked, being about 3 dols. per share. We note rather more disposition to take hold of sound railroad bonds. For United States Five per Cent. there is more inquiry from 86 to 87.

The American advices mention the announcement of the undermentioned dividends:—

Buffalo and State Line, for past six months, 5 per cent.; Norwich and Worcester, for ditto, 2½ per cent.; Terre Haute and Richmond, for ditto, 5 per cent.; Central and New Jersey, for past three months, 2½ per cent.; Macon and Western, for ditto, 3 per cent.

Mem.—All dividends reported are so much per cent. on the capital stock, and not, as usual here, at rate of so much per cent. per annum.

The London agents of the Illinois Central Railway Company on Saturday received the following favourable statement from the chairman of the executive committee at New York:—

Office of the Illinois Central Railway Company,
New York, Jan. 11, 1861.

Gentlemen,—The traffic the first week proved larger than was anticipated, 72,750.55 dols.—a gain of 28,894 dols. over the same week last year. 6,750 tons of freight were delivered at Cairo during the week, chiefly corn. St. Louis is at this moment shut out from the Southern trade by the river, which is closed with ice, and the water is very low.

We send with this our December statement. The comparative exhibit of business for three years is favourable.

The commissioner reports increasing inquiries for land from all parts of the country. The advertisement we are now circulating widely in the newspapers, copied on the December statement, may be of interest to some of our shareholders.

Yours respectfully,

THOMAS E. WALKER,

Messrs. Robert Benson and Co., London.

Chairman Ex. Committee.

The following report was received on Monday by the London agents of the Illinois Central Railway Company:—

(Copy—Australasian.)

Office of the Illinois Central Railroad,
New York, January 15, 1861.

Gentlemen,—Three days of severe cold weather have probably closed the Mississippi River so firmly that it cannot open for a month. Our business towards Cairo is increasing, and the superintendent writes that large quantities of corn have been purchased. The quotation from New Orleans is 75c. to 80c. per bushel; from Chicago, 29c. per bushel.

Our last advices from the Land-office report 34,300 dols. of cash collected, and 70,365 dols. of lands sold this month.

The aspect of political affairs seems more likely to improve. Southern politicians do not take into consideration the certainty that their movement involved almost a reconstruction of the commercial relations of the entire country, and that the Southern merchants' credit would be utterly destroyed until the elements of disturbance are adjusted.

The accumulation of capital in our Northern cities indicates only a partial suspension of active business; and it is certain that the tendency of specie to accumulate in New York will not be checked until more confidence is entertained in the ability of the conservative portion of the Southern people to control the masses who now govern public opinion there. Hence we anticipate low rates for money, and that our banks will hold by 1st March double the specie held 1st December.—Yours respectfully,

(Signed)

THOMAS E. WALKER,

Messrs. Robert Benson and Co., London.

Chairman Ex. Committee.

5 P.M.—A letter from W. R. Arthur, general superintendent, dated 12th inst., says:—

Business increasing, the largest freight earnings ever made by the Illinois Central was made yesterday, 15,676 dols. The weather is fine for farmers to gather their corn and take it to market.

T. E. W.

The London agents on Thursday received the following further very favourable report:—

Office of the Illinois Central Railroad Company,
New York, Jan. 17, 1861.

Gentlemen,—The earnings of the Illinois Central Railroad the second week of January show an enormous increase. They were as follows:—

	1860. Dols. c.	1861. Dols. c.	Increase. Dols. c.
Freight .. ..	26,039 15	70,002 60	43,963 45

Total two weeks .. 86,876 55 .. 161,941 60 .. 75,065 05

The earnings for the entire month of January in previous years have been as follows:—

1856 .. ..	134,096 30
1857 .. ..	150,000 84
1858 .. ..	130,060 99
1859 .. ..	132,024 80
1860 .. ..	186,741 94

The earnings are exceeding our expectations, and the excess is from freight only. We have every reason to expect a large increase in passenger earnings, and therefore have good ground to anticipate a very satisfactory business for the present year.

Yours respectfully,

(Signed)

THOS. E. WALKER,

Messrs. Robert Benson and Co., London.

The Michigan Central Railroad Company have issued the following report upon the financial condition of the company to the 1st Dec. Upon this statement, as already mentioned, the directors have declared a dividend of 3 per cent. on the stock. The state of the income account is as follows, viz.:—

FRAUDULENT TRADE-MARKS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "MONEY MARKET REVIEW."

SIR,—I very much fear that the manufacturers of this country are not aware of the great extent to which our trade-marks are forged and stamped on goods, for which England is so justly celebrated.

And not only are the goods stamped exactly as we stamp them, but our labels are so closely imitated, that it is almost impossible, even for an experienced person, to detect that they are false and fraudulent imitations.

We find that the Continental manufacturers, without the least scruple, stamp our exact names and trade-marks on their productions, thereby deceiving the consumer and injuring the reputations of English manufacturers in various branches of trade.

I have just been sent for to the Custom-house for my opinion on some goods just landed via Ostend; and what do I find? A large importation of files, scissors, needles, and blacklead pencils, all stamped in full with the names of our most celebrated makers. In the case of Brookman and Langdon's pencils, the labels actually caution the purchasers to be particular and see that they get the real makers' goods. In the scissors, not only is Rodgers and Son's name stamped on, but also their corporate mark (which, by the act of the Cutlers' Company of Sheffield, is punishable by summary conviction before a magistrate). In fact, it is barefaced fraud and robbery of the good name of British manufacturers, and it is high time that our Government interfered to put a stop to it. In this case the goods will be destroyed, but I would have the agent here punished for lending himself to such dishonourable transactions.

Pray, sir, use your powerful pen on our behalf, and endeavour to get us some protection for having our good reputation stolen from us by these Continental manufacturers, for none of us know how much we suffer by these stabs in the dark, and from which we have no power to protect ourselves.

Pardon the trespass on your valuable space, but it is, in my opinion, a very important subject.—Sir, yours faithfully,

EDWARD MAPPIN.

London-bridge, Jan. 28.

MEETING OF PARLIAMENT.—The following circular has been addressed to the liberal members of the House of Commons:—"94, Piccadilly, 22nd January, 1861. Sir,—As matters of considerable importance will come under discussion at the meeting of Parliament on Tuesday, the 5th of February, I shall feel greatly obliged by your attendance in the House of Commons on that day.—I have the honour to be yours faithfully, PALMERSTON."

THE late Mr. Mathew Uzielli headed the list of guarantees for the Exhibition of 1862 for the munificent sum of £10,000. It appears that the executors under his will have no legal power to continue this guarantee. However, Mrs. Uzielli, his widow, supplies his place for the amount of £5,000, whilst his brother, Mr. Theodorius Uzielli, has added his name for £3,000.

MISSISSIPPI declares herself out of the Union, and proposes to amend her constitution so that she can borrow money. Perhaps she had better begin by paying back that which she borrowed years ago, and out of which she has ever since been swindling her creditors.—New York Tribune.

THE Dagbladet states that on the 17th inst., the submarine telegraph between Denmark and Sweden, which had been for some weeks broken, was repaired.

MERCANTILE EMBARRASSMENTS.

The embarrassments in the Levant trade, chiefly amongst Greek houses, have now extended so far as to force themselves upon public notice. Numerous failures were announced on Saturday both in London and Manchester. Omitting from the account certain small houses, the undermentioned firms have succumbed:—1. Mr. Dominic Navone, of London; 2. Mr. S. P. Zizinia, of London; 3. Mr. P. C. Selvago, of Manchester, but more recently of London; 4. Messrs. Demetrio Pappa and Co., of Manchester and Smyrna; and 5. Mr. D. E. Rodomanchi, of Manchester. In the first case mentioned (Navone), it is thought that the liabilities will be about £20,000, and it is said that the prospect of a surplus depends upon the liquidation of the debts in Constantinople. In the second case (Zizinia), the liabilities are about £85,000, whilst the assets in some quarters are alleged to be £93,000. In the third case (Selvago), the liabilities may be £12,000 or £13,000. As regards the case of Mr. D. E. Rodocanachi, of Manchester, a favourable liquidation is looked for. Messrs. Demetrio Pappa and Co., of Manchester and Smyrna, whose liabilities are about £35,000, show a surplus, and propose to pay in full within twelve months, provided the billholders will afford time. These anticipations may prove rather sanguine, but the general result does not seem likely to be a heavy loss. The reluctance to discount Greek paper has contributed to the present suspensions. All the principal houses in the trade have for some time been engaged in strengthening themselves, in preparation for the difficulties which have now occurred. The satisfactory character of the balance-sheets lately submitted by some of the failed houses in the Levant trade is calculated to discourage excessive distrust.

The subjoined circular announces a meeting of the creditors of Messrs F. Ede, Son, and Co., for Tuesday next:—

16, Tokenhouse-yard, E.C., London, Jan. 30.
RE F. EDE, SON, AND CO.

At the request of several parties who are deeply interested in this estate, we have delayed convening a meeting until after the arrival of the next mail from Constantinople and Smyrna, which is due on Friday or Saturday next.

We now beg to inform you that a meeting will be held at the London Tavern, Bishopsgate-street, E.C., on Tuesday next, the 5th day of Feb., at one o'clock in the afternoon punctually, when a statement of the affairs of the above firm will be submitted, in order that the creditors may be enabled to consider and determine on the best course to be adopted for their general benefit.—Soliciting your attendance, we are, your obedient servants,
COLEMAN, TURQUAND, YOUNGS, AND CO.

The books of Messrs. C. W. Ede and Co. have been placed in the hands of Mr. C. F. Kemp, the accountant, who will present a balance-sheet to the creditors at the earliest opportunity.

The Notts Guardian of January 31, says:—

We regret to learn that one of our lace manufacturers (Mr. J. H. Wardle, of Short Hill), after being in business 32 years, has been obliged to succumb to the disastrous results of the last three years, commencing with the panic of 1857. The liabilities, however, are only hundreds where they might have been thousands, the whole extent of the failure being for £4,600. We understand Mr. Wardle offers a composition of 6s 8d. in the pound, and from the character he bears for probity and high-principle in mercantile circles, it is more than probable this offer will be accepted.

Advices from Lyons mention the stoppage of Mr. G. Armand, silk merchant, with liabilities to the amount of about £60,000. This failure, which will not affect houses here, has occurred through heavy losses, principally in Italian silk, in which a considerable fall has taken place lately.

The letters from Berlin mention the failure of a money-dealer in that city, who had absconded after committing forgeries. His liabilities are not supposed to be extensive.

At the adjourned meeting of the creditors of Messrs. Holdsworth and Co., sugar refiners, held on Monday, a resolution was passed, with one dissentient, who threatens bankruptcy proceedings, in favour of winding up the estate under inspection. Provided it be kept out of the Court, the dividend is expected to be from 4s. to 4s. 6d. in the pound.

In the Court of Bankruptcy, on the 26th January, in the case of Laurence, Mortimore, and Schrader, the hearing was further adjourned to Saturday, the 2nd February.

In the Court of Bankruptcy on the 30th Jan., in the case of John Dales, merchant, of Gresham-house, the adjourned examination meeting took place, but no accounts have yet been filed. The liabilities are between £40,000 and £50,000; the assets consist principally of patents, including one for a disinfecting fluid. The Commissioner directed an adjournment sine die, with protection for two months, and liberty to the bankrupt to come up earlier, if prepared with his accounts.

In the case of Joseph Clarke, tanner, of Kidderminster, there was a dividend sitting on Wednesday. The proofs against the estate amount to £60,000, and the assets in hand to about £9,000. Mr. Murray, representing the assignees, stated that the bankrupt died on Saturday last. The amount of dividend cannot be accurately ascertained at present, but will be shortly advertised.

In the Bankruptcy Court on Tuesday there was the adjourned examination meeting in the case of Messrs. Davies and Troughton, bankers, of Shoreditch. The dividend sitting is fixed for the 19th of Feb.

The Lords Justices on Thursday reversed the decision of the Commissioner in Bankruptcy, in the case of Mr. Mortimore, tanner, of Andover. The winding up will therefore take place under the Private Arrangement Act, instead of in the open court. Although the former course had met with the concurrence of nine-tenths of the creditors, who signified their acceptance of a composition of 10s. in the pound, the commissioner had ruled that it could not be permitted.

The Produce and other Markets.

COLONIAL PRODUCE.

LONDON, FRIDAY AFTERNOON, FEB. 1.

The Colonial Produce Markets have experienced little alteration this week, the public sales in most instances being of moderate extent, but the general tone of business remains quiet. Coffee is firmer, and the reduced supplies of Plantation Ceylon offered have realised extreme rates. Rice has sold upon slightly easier terms, the late speculative demand having subsided. Sugar continues depressed, and the numerous arrivals, coupled with large public sales, have led to a decline of 6d. to 1s. per cwt. on most kinds. The principal feature to notice in Spice is the advance of  $\frac{1}{2}$ d. for Pimento. The Cinnamon sales on Monday passed off without animation, the middling sorts occasionally ruling rather cheaper. Saltpetre has recovered 1s. 6d. to 2s. per cwt. of the recent fall, a large business being done at the improvement, but the inquiry subsided to-day. The Tea Market is well supplied from recent arrivals, but general quotations are nearly the same as last week. Rum continues to be but little inquired for. The Cotton Market has been dull this week, and prices have given way about  $\frac{1}{2}$ d. per lb.

THE TALLOW TRADE.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 1.

The Tallow market has presented increasing dullness during the week from that noticed in our report of last Friday, without, however, any decline of moment being established in prices of Y.C. on the spot, but for most other descriptions quotations have receded 6d. to 1s. per cwt. For forward delivery—more particularly for the later periods of the year—the tendency has been downward; and, notwithstanding there are sellers at a reduction of 6d. to 9d. per cwt. on last week's prices, the amount of business passing has been comparatively limited.

To some extent the want of demand may be attributed to lower prices being current in Liverpool; at the same time, there can be no question that the high rates now ruling tend greatly to lessen the consumption. That this is so, is evidenced by the fact of the deliveries, during the past month, showing a falling off of about 3,500 casks, when compared with those in the same period of 1860.

With liberal imports since the commencement of the year, the total stock is about equal to that on the 1st ultimo; and, from what we can learn, the supplies during the spring and summer months are likely to be of full average extent,

[For remainder of Produce Markets, &c., see page 102.]

Imports of "sorts" leave a good result at present rates, and holders of these descriptions will doubtless continue to realise, regardless of whatever may be the means employed by speculators to uphold prices of Y.C.

To-day much heaviness has prevailed; in fact there has been scarcely anything doing in Y.C. for consumption, and the following are current quotations, viz.: 59s. 6d. for fine tallow on the spot; 59s. 6d. for delivery in February and March; 60s. "sellers" for March alone; 58s. for April to June, and 56s. 6d. per cwt. for October to December.

The imports since Monday up to last evening have been 220 casks. The deliveries have been only 620 casks, and the present stock of all kinds is 72,537 casks, being an increase of 1,189 casks, when compared with the quantity on hand this day week.

Town Melled has been offered more freely during the week, and to induce purchases some melters have been sellers at 6d. below the official quotation, in anticipation of a reduction in "the Letter price" that has appeared inevitable to-day, and we have to note a decline of 1s. 6d., "the Letter price" now being 60s. 3d., or say, 57s. 9d. per cwt. net. In the ordinary course of things the requirements of the chandlers naturally begin to lessen at this period of the year, and in the present general dull state of trade it is only reasonable to suppose that melters will so regulate their prices as to prevent an accumulation of stock.

The public sales yesterday resulted as follows:—

South American continues in very limited request, and notwithstanding a concession of 9d. to 1s. per cwt. was submitted to, it was found impossible to effect a clearance of the small quantity offered. Of 300 boxes brought forward, 237 were sold as follows:—Fine bright, hard and pure, 59s.; rather dark, good body, 58s. 3d. 58 casks realised 58s. 3d. for fine, and 56s. 9d. to 57s. per cwt. for fair to good deep yellow.

East India is very difficult of sale, despite the very low comparative prices accepted. Of 193 cases Calcutta submitted, only 50 cases were sold at the sale, at 58s. for fine, being very cheap, and showing a decline of fully 1s. on late rates. 20 hogsheds Singapore, of dark quality, were held firmly, and bought in at 55s. per cwt.

Palm Oil.—This article presents no new feature to report. Holders continue firm at 47s. for fine Lagos, which tends to restrict business; in fact there may be said to be almost an entire absence of demand, and the tendency must be regarded as downward. The 79 casks at auction were of middling to common quality, and being held for above buyers' ideas of value the whole were bought in.

Cocoa Nut Oil is in very limited request, and the course of the market is to lower prices. 47 pipes Cochin having elicited no offer were all taken out. Of 87 casks Ceylon, only a few lots were sold at 52s. 3d. per cwt. for very fine.—Furnished by Messrs. Culverwell, Brooks and Co., Brokers.

LIVERPOOL COTTON MARKET.

LIVERPOOL, FRIDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 1.

Influenced by the tenor of the advices from the United States, the cotton market has been heavy this week, and, with very moderate transactions, prices have declined. Compared with Friday last, some descriptions of American (7½d. and upwards) are nearly ½d. per lb. lower, while other sorts (under 7½d.) show a reduction of ¼d. to ½d. Surat has also receded ½d. In other kinds no change has occurred. The sales on Saturday were to the extent of 6,000 bales; Monday, 7,000; Tuesday, 5,000; Wednesday, 5,000; and Thursday, 8,000 bales.

[BY ELECTRIC TELEGRAPH.]

LIVERPOOL, FRIDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 1.

The market has been rather firmer to-day, and the sales have reached 10,000 bales, including 3,000 on speculation and for exportation. The imports to-day are 12,646 bales. The sales of the week represent only 33,400 bales (against 87,640 bales last week), of which 2,310 were taken on speculation, and 10,930 for exportation. The imports within the same period are 87,231 bales. The stock now stands at 660,900 bales.

The Corn Trade.

GENERAL REMARKS.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 1.

The weather in the United Kingdom during the last eight days, has been slightly frosty at night, with thaw in day-time; the sky mostly cloudy, damp; with occasional sunshine; and with but little rain; the wind predominating from the South-West. Agricultural field-work has been partially resumed. Farmers have many arrears to bring up. Owing to the lateness of the last harvest, and to the severe frost which set in last December, not one-half of the area intended for wheat cultivation has been prepared yet. Altogether, the prospects of the next harvest in the United Kingdom are not considered satisfactory. The potatoe disease has in some parts of England destroyed the whole crop, and this loss is now severely felt.

The supply of English wheat has increased in most corn markets of the United Kingdom during the last fortnight, in consequence of the late frosty weather, which set the thrashing machine into motion, in the absence of other farm work to do. The condition of the crop appears but little improved by frost, and proves to be one of the worst in condition ever gathered in the United Kingdom. Nearly the whole of last crop will have to be consumed before next harvest. Except a very small portion of superior grain, the bulk is totally unfit for keeping over another year—some only suitable for pig-feeding. Barley continues to be brought forward liberally. The quantity of oats is but small.

The Baltic and other North European ports being still closed by ice, no shipments from that quarter have taken place for some time past. The imports of foreign grain have lately been reduced to arrivals principally from America. Excepting the large fleet from the south of Europe, now off the coast, probably the imports from the United Kingdom will continue small from this time up to next May.

The British corn-trade has moved this week at a very slow pace. The breaking up of frost exercised as usual its dull influence on the corn-market, magnified by the existing discount-rate, and the recent large arrivals of grain-laden vessels off the coast. Most of the English being out of condition, owing to the dampness of the air, has sold slowly at an abatement of 1s. to 2s. per qr. from last week's rates. Inferior foreign wheat was also 1s. to 2s. per qr. cheaper. Superior sorts, however, being scarce and much wanted, were firmly maintained on last week's quotations. Owing to large American imports pressing on the market, prices of flour gave way 1s. per barrel and sack. Fine sorts continue supported in value, but grinding grain has been cheaper to buy. Owing to the almost complete cessation in the imports, prices of oats are fully supported. Maize has improved in value in consequence of the small number of maize-laden vessels in the fleet now off the coast. The demand for beans and peas has somewhat fallen off, but prices remain unaltered.

Considering that our principal supply of grain is at present confined to the quantity just arrived, or still on the way from the south of Europe—that the Baltic is still closed by ice, and that there is another severe winter month (February) to be got through before shipments in the Baltic can be resumed; considering, also, the disturbed political state of America, and that a further decrease in American grain-imports is to be expected; considering the extraordinary inferiority in the quality, and the deficiency in the quantity of last year's English crop, with, at present, rather unfavourable harvest prospects in England, and no large foreign grain-imports to reach the United Kingdom till next May, whilst the consumption of bread-stuffs in the United Kingdom continues on a very large scale, the conclusion points to the probability of present prices of grain being maintained. The pressure of a tight money market is the only circumstance now bearing down the grain market.

In Mark-lane to-day the attendance of the trade was fair, and the tone quiet, but firm. Wheat—English, was slow of sale, at last Monday's prices; Foreign—dull, at last Monday's rates; Flour—nothing doing—quotations nominal—Norfolk, 40s. to 41s. per 280 lbs.; Barley—unaltered, at last Monday's quotations; Oats—quiet demand, at last Monday's prices; Beans and Peas firm.

STATISTICS OF 1860.—A useful and elaborate table has been issued by Mr. S. Mendel, of Manchester, showing the amounts of bullion in the Banks of England and France during each month of the past eight years, together with the fluctuations in the Bank of England rate of discount, Consols, cotton, yarn, and cloth. From this it appears that the average of bullion in the Bank of England was £14,220,983, which is £2,445,620 in excess of the total in the last return. Our stock, therefore, is now about 17 per cent. below the average from 1853 to 1860. The amount held by the Bank of France, on the contrary, is not below the average of that period. The average was about £13,800,000, and the last return was £13,980,000, but it consists chiefly of silver, and the amount of notes in circulation is unprecedented. The average price of Consols has been a fraction under 94 (93 15-16), and the market is now 2½ per cent. below that point. The average rate of discount was 4 9-16, and the average price of cotton (middling fair Orleans) was 7d. The highest year for the latter was 1857, when 9½d. was touched, and the lowest 1855, when it went to 5½d.

This Company is established to procure, by a system of direct dealings with the Cotton Growers in India, an increase in the importation of Indian Cotton into this country, an improvement in its quality and greater freedom from adulteration.

The necessity for obtaining increased supplies of cotton is everywhere recognised, and becomes daily more pressing. Statesmen and manufacturers alike feel the danger which threatens the nation, obliged, as it is, to depend upon a single country for five-sixths of the raw material of a manufacture worth more than seventy millions sterling, and on the success of which from three to four millions of persons in the United Kingdom are dependent. Apart from the possibility of a failure of the existing supply from the United States, it is a matter of the first importance to the growth of English manufacturing industry, to get more cotton than is at present grown.

Only in America are the three great requisites for the growth of tropical produce—soil, labour, and capital—found combined; none but slave labour can there be employed, and the limit of productiveness in the Slave States, is perhaps already reached. The West Indies and our colonies in Australia and South Africa are suited for the culture of cotton, and the parent country can supply any amount of capital, but labour is universally wanting. In the East Indies we have the cotton soil, and the men whose forefathers have been accustomed to till it from time immemorial.

The Blue Book on East India cotton, published by order of the House of Commons in February, 1858, contains the result of queries, addressed by the Court of Directors to all their Boards of Revenue and Collectors throughout India, with regard to the growth and price of the article, and the means of extending its cultivation. It establishes, beyond doubt, that over immense tracts of country where the culture can be pushed to an almost indefinite extent, the ryot receives less than twopence per pound for clean cotton, and that, with care and encouragement, the yield per acre, as well as the breadth under tillage, might be largely increased.

Many thousand pounds worth of cotton are annually wasted and lost in the course of transmission from the fields to the seahoard; and adulteration is practised to such an extent as to affect most seriously the reputation and consequent value of Indian cotton.

The Company's agents being resident in the localities where it shall be decided to commence the Company's operations, and in immediate communication with the ryots, will purchase the cotton direct, while using every endeavour to improve the process of picking and cleaning the cotton, and employing the best machinery. Particular attention will be paid to the pressing and baling of the article, so that it may leave the port of shipment without the original packages being disturbed, thus excluding the opportunity for the present adulteration.

The average quotation of good Broach and Dhollera cotton on the 31st December, 1860, was 5½d., and there is every reason to conclude that the carefully prepared shipments of the Company, wholly free from adulteration, would obtain enhanced rates. The well-known statistics of the cotton trade give reasonable expectations that a profit of 15 or 20 per cent. may be realised.

It is intended to commence the operations of the Company in Guzerat. To command the cotton supplies of this extensive territory, including Kattywar, it is proposed to place the head-quarters at Broach on the Nerhudda river, with Agencies at Gogo, a fine sea-port on the West coast of the Gulf of Camhay, at Dhollera a sea-port creek, and at Dhundooka, forty-five miles inland, a large town and a central point for numerous cotton districts.

The aim of the proposed Company is to improve the cultivation of cotton in India, and to endeavour to raise its value in the market in comparison with American descriptions. The Directors have therefore avoided entering into calculations as to the precise prospects of success, great as they are acknowledged to be. They content themselves with stating their belief that profitable results are to be obtained in the present state of the trade in Indian cotton, by the establishment of an organised system of agency, such as is proposed by this Company. Its operations need not be confined exclusively to India should a favourable field hereafter present itself in the South African or any other colony.

Through the agency of this Company the English manufacturer will obtain a better supply of cotton than at present, and in the success which the Directors believe awaits their efforts, the public will discern a path towards the extinction of slavery, and an increase of the common prosperity of England and India.

Applications for shares addressed, in the annexed form, to the Directors, may be sent to the Secretary, at 33, Throgmorton-street, London, E.C.; or to Messrs. Towgood and Strachan, Brokers to the Company; but no application will be considered unless a deposit of 10s. for each share applied for, shall have been previously made with the Bankers of the Company.

MR. PIKE'S ANNUAL CIRCULAR.

MR. JOHN ROBERT PIKE begs to tender his warmest thanks to the numerous patrons and friends who have favoured him with commissions during the year 1860. To many it has been a period of varied success in speculation, although, on the whole, a satisfactory balance of profit has been realised. Looking at the courses of other branches of speculative enterprise during the last twelve months, the comparative firmness which has characterised the Mine Share Market is highly encouraging. Usually speaking, the prices of mine shares fluctuate with the value of money and the necessary staples of consumption, affected at the same time by the soundness or otherwise of trade, conditions which, during the period under review, have been sensibly modified. We have had disasters in trade, complicated international politics, money dear almost to panic point, and convulsions rather than variations in other share markets; but, through all, the demand for British mines, both for investment and speculation, has been, all things considered, remarkably good. As a matter of course, copper shares have fluctuated with the variations in the standard, which is a principle unquestionably sound, and beneficial alike to the investor and speculator, apart altogether from the fluctuations in prices consequent on the usual accident of supply and demand.

In some quarters it might be construed as rudeness even to offer any advice to the investing public on the management of their own affairs, but speculation in mining property is of such an exceptional character as to warrant him, at the risk of displeasing a few, in making his long experience in some measure available for the benefit of the many. He has addressed the public interested in mines, both through the medium of the newspaper press and in printed books on this subject. For years he has in this way been warning and advising, and now, at the commencement of another year, he would impress upon the minds of investors a few very ordinary, but in practice very valuable, truisms:—

1.—Never speculate without careful and diligent inquiry. The answer to this may be that no persons but those heretofore of reason ever do; to which he would reply, assuming the correctness of the hypothesis, that a frightfully large number of the investing public must be in that lamentable mental condition.

2.—The prices at which shares may be negotiated on 'Change is no guide whatever to the intrinsic value of the mines represented. Then how comes it, says the sceptic, that men, confessedly knowing better, should every day of their lives give more for shares than they are really worth? To which he would answer, that there are both values fictitious and values real. By the former the members of a guild may be benefited, but the latter can alone satisfy the investor who specifically exchanges money for an equivalent value.

3.—Seek the assistance of a reliable agent, a course which is perfectly consistent with the full exercise of personal judgment. In negotiating the purchase or sale of mine shares, the services of a respectable and competent agent are indispensable. Any person of average intelligence, after a very slight acquaintance with the forms of the House, can properly conduct the business of a client in railway stock or Government securities; but to creditably conduct a negotiation in mine shares an amount of special knowledge on the part of the agent is necessary, which can only be acquired by long experience from actual observation in mining matters.

4.—Having selected an agent, be influenced by his advice until you discover it is no longer reliable. To neglect of this rule alone may be traced a large percentage of losses in mining transactions. Excessive acquisitiveness, when placed against the judgment of an agent, usually triumphs, and the result, in too many instances, is either gain deferred or serious loss. Apropos of this is the old saying, that "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush."

The reiteration of the foregoing, if productive of little good, cannot in any case do harm. Long experience has convinced him of their soundness, an opinion which he feels convinced the most respectable mine share agents will unhesitatingly endorse.

As regards local mining connection, he has much pleasure in announcing that this branch of his business has been greatly extended. His long residence as a sharebroker in Cornwall has enabled him to establish a network of correspondents, by whom he is kept well advised of any change of importance in the mines of Cornwall and Devon, as well as those in the northern districts. The information thus derived is now, as heretofore, at all times at the service of his clients.

To one new feature, however, he begs respectfully to direct public attention—viz., the selection "of a set of six mines, three dividends and three progressive, for speculation and investment in the year 1861." In this task he has been aided by some of the best practical miners in Cornwall. In the choice of these mines no expense nor labour has been spared, and so strong is his personal faith in the selection that, if called upon at the time of purchase so to do, he will unhesitatingly undertake a moiety of the risk, by paying or receiving one-half of either profit or loss on the transaction; whilst an uniform charge of one guinea will be made to the public on application, either by letter or personally, for the desired information.

Mr. PIKE continues to buy and sell for the fortnightly and monthly accounts, on receiving a remittance of 25 per cent. on the current market prices, as a deposit to cover risk. In conclusion, Mr. PIKE begs to assure his friends that all communications respecting business will meet with the same attention as heretofore, and to state that his facilities for negotiating shares in British, Foreign, and Colonial Mines remain unimpaired.

BRITISH MINE SHARES pay 25 per cent. per annum in dividends, and often advance 1,000 per cent. on outlay. (Thirteen Mines, on an outlay of £56,316, paid in dividends £3,747,035.) Capitalists should act only on sound advice and reliable information, which can be obtained of HY. GOULD SHARP, Share-dealer, 32, Poultry, London, E.C. N.B. The Capitalist's Guide and Share List gratis and post free.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN INVESTMENT.

MR. THOMAS SPARGO, of Nos. 224 and 225, GRESHAM HOUSE, OLD BROAD-STREET, LONDON, E.C., TRANSACTS every description of BUSINESS in the PURCHASE and SALE of SHARES in BANKS, CANALS, RAILWAYS, BRIDGES, INSURANCES, and all other BRITISH and FOREIGN STOCK.

MR. SPARGO has FOR SALE SHARES in ENGLISH MINES paying from 20 to 25 per cent. upon the present price in bi-monthly and quarterly Dividends, as also a number of Shares in good progressive Mines, some of which he specially recommends to the public as sound investments.

MR. SPARGO GIVES ADVICE and ACCURATE INFORMATION as to the position and prospects of all mining undertakings upon application, either personally or by letter, and has published the following, from which those unacquainted with mining can enlighten themselves thereon, viz.:—Statistics and Observations upon the Mines of Devon and Cornwall, for 1859, price 2s. 6d.; ditto for 1860, 2s. 6d.; Physical, Geological, and Parish Map of Cornwall, 10s. 6d.; Geological Maps of various Mining Districts of Cornwall, showing Boundary Lines of every Mine, with the Lodes, Cross-courses, and Elvans traversing each, 2s. 6d. each; and a Relief Model Map of Cornwall, price £5. 5s.

Dividends received, Calls paid, and all orders negotiated on a Commission of 2½ per cent.

MINES, RAILWAYS, BANK, STEAM-SHIP, and INSURANCE SHARES BOUGHT, SOLD, or EXCHANGED.

Capitalists who seek safe and profitable investments, free from risk, should act only upon the soundest information; the market prices of the day are for the most part governed by the immediate supply and demand, together with the operations of speculators without reference to the bona fide merits of the property.

Mines afford a wider range for profit than any other public securities, and pay dividends bi-monthly, varying from 15 to 30 per cent. per annum. Instances frequently occur of young Mines rising in value 400 to 500 per cent. The undersigned devotes special attention to the above, and affords every information to capitalists, and effects purchases or sales upon the best possible terms.

par, bearing interest at 5 per cent. per annum, payable by coupon, half-yearly, at the Union Bank of London.

The payment of the principal and interest is guaranteed by the Secretary of State for India in Council. The Debentures will be for five years, from the 1st of January, 1861, transferable by endorsement without stamp, and renewable at the option of the holder for a second term of five years, at the same rate of interest, upon notice being given by him twelve months previous to the expiry of the first term. Failing such notice, the Debentures will be paid off at the expiration of the first five years.

Debentures will not be issued for any less amount than £50.
The Directors will also receive applications for the limited amount, £194,000, which remains to be allotted of the previous Debtenture Loan of £1,000,000 convertible into Stock of the Company. These Debentures are for five years, or four years, at 5 per cent. per annum, payable by coupons, half-yearly, at the Union Bank of London.

The payment of the principal and interest is guaranteed in like manner by the Secretary of State for India, and the holders of these Debentures have the option at the end of twelve months from their date, and thereupon, upon giving notice at any time hereafter the Debenture becomes payable, of converting it into Capital Stock of the Company, bearing 5 per cent. interest, guaranteed under the contract entered into with the East India Company.

Forms of application for either or both descriptions of Debentures may be obtained at the Offices of the Company.

By order of the Board,

JAMES WALKER, Managing Director.

Accidents from the Breaking of Tyres effectually PREVENTED by the use of R. BROTHERHOOD'S PATENT FASTENINGS, by which the tyres are so firmly fixed to the wheel that, should they become broken, they cannot possibly fly from their proper position.
This mode of fastening can be adapted to nearly every kind of wheel, whether new or old. Hundreds of those wheels have been running for some years on the Great Western, Wilts, and Somerset, and other Railways, and some have just returned to the Works, which have been working constantly for nearly seven years with heavy loads, and have run upwards of 115,000 miles with the tyres severed in two without failure, and are still in working order; and £1,000 will be paid to any party using these wheels should any tyre fly off from the effect of crystallisation or frost.

THE FAILURES AMONGST THE GREEKS—THEIR INFLUENCE UPON THE MONEY MARKET.

THE wide-spread embarrassments amongst the Greek interest possess more importance than is generally attributed to them. In the first place they cripple the trade between this country, Turkey, and the Levant—a trade from which large profits have been derived, and the growth of which has been one of the few advantages derived from our costly war with Russia. The paralysis of this branch of trade is keenly felt in some of our manufacturing districts. The Greek embarrassments have also considerable effect upon the money market, both in England and France. They keep alive the feeling of timidity and suspicion amongst discounters which was naturally created by the explosion in the leather trade. The probable withdrawal of a large mass of Greek paper by the summary process of extinction will relieve the discount market of a weight which has pressed upon it with a force not generally suspected. Finally, the influx into France and England of large amounts of gold which the Greek houses in both countries are hastily beckoning over from Constantinople and other points in order to sustain their credit, will operate in some degree to relieve the bullion pressure upon the Banks of England and France. We are sure our readers will agree that a branch of enquiry which embraces points of so important a character is well worth pursuing.

The system which many Greek houses have been pursuing for years past has had no small effect upon the money market in this country. We ask any observer of financial affairs to mark the extent of the Greek engagements afloat. He will find every banker and discounter in the metropolis and provinces—aye, and in France—supplied with Greek paper to an extent fully equal to their capacity for absorbing it. The Liverpool and Manchester banks, the London Joint-stock banks, the Bank of England, and the London discount houses, all have their share. The Bank of France are said to be so full of this kind of paper that they have latterly resolved to cut the system short. They are said to have taken the initiative in throwing out Greek paper—a course which is now being very generally, though, it must be owned, unfairly, because indiscriminately, acted upon by bankers in England. Far be it from us to insinuate that our financial establishments have committed the error of saddling themselves to an unsafe extent with this description of bills, that they have encouraged any class of traders to go beyond their depth, or that any danger is entailed upon our banks. The caution which these establishments are now displaying of itself attests their vigilance, and their readiness to take warning in time. Our object is not to aggravate the existing tendency to distrust, but merely to show that the excess which has occurred in the creation and circulation of Greek paper is a fact which cannot be gainsaid. There are few bankers or discounters in a large way of business who have not been struck by the magnitude of the amount afloat, and by the evident involvements of the paper chain which has been woven within a comparatively narrow circle of firms. Bills are presented for discount drawn by A upon B, and endorsed by C. Next, B is found to have drawn upon C, with A's endorsement. Thirdly, C draws upon A, with B's endorsement. What discounter has not thrown out scores of such bills, simply because he became involuntarily suspicious at discovering the narrowness of the basis upon which an enormous amount of paper liability reposed?

It is abundantly evident that, in addition to the regular and legitimate trading transactions which are carried on by the Greek community in this country, some of its members have embarked deeply in a distinct business of a purely financial—as distinguished from a mercantile—character. They have been very anxious to keep in their own hands the whole of the financial business connected with Turkey, more particularly with the Turkish Government. That Government has long been the milch-cow of the Greek and other capitalists of Constantinople. Whilst it has sunk deeper and deeper in embarrassment—embarrassment which may really be considered hopeless, seeing that it leads to no reform—the Constantinople money-lenders have reaped enormous profits. Year after year they have extended their transactions in this direction until they have almost monopolised the banking business of the Government. They have made advances to the extravagant Sultan, to the various extravagant departments of the State, to each extravagant minister individually, and to the dignitaries of the empire, all more or less of a spendthrift turn, until—as a kind of retaliation, perhaps, for the political subjugation in which the Turks formerly held the Greek nation—the Greeks now hold the Porte in complete financial subjugation. They have entire possession of its purse-strings. They virtually handle the bulk of the revenues before they reach the national chest. In many instances they act as farmers of the revenues; that is to say, they give the improvident Turk an immediate 50 per cent. for what ultimately brings them in 100 per cent. It is an extensive system of advances forestalling the revenue. The Government habitually consumes its income before it is due.

The point to which we are desirous of drawing especial attention is the bearing which these transactions have had upon financial affairs in England and France. The Greeks have really, by means of their credit and of a lavish creation of bills for which discount has hitherto been procured readily enough, made the money markets of these countries to a considerable extent supply the capital which has been embarked in this financial business at Constantinople. As long as great masses of paper could be kept afloat in the Western money markets at 4, 5, 6, or 7 per cent. per annum, and a considerable portion of the proceeds be diverted directly to Turkey, for employment there at 20, 30, and 40 per cent. per annum, were the houses engaged in the operation likely to stay their hands? The immediate profits attaching to such a business must be apparent to every one. The fact to be kept closely in view is, that it is our capital which has been drained away to a considerable amount to be employed at exorbitant rates of interest in Turkey. The operation is far more disturbing to our market than a direct loan would have been, for when a loan is once paid up and remitted, there is an end of the transaction, except that the borrower must remit back periodically the sum accruing as interest. On the other hand, under the plan which has been adopted, which is that of a disguised loan, the constant pressure occasioned in the discount market by the renewal of these transactions—that is to say, by the creation and negotiation of fresh bills—has many injurious effects. The negotiators of such bills could well afford to pay, if need be, an advance upon the terms offered by other houses; and it is unquestionable that their competition has prejudiced legitimate traders.

We disclaim the idea of making any wholesale reflection upon the Greek community. In that community are included houses of large wealth, which have held aloof from the kind of business described, and which embark in no transactions except of the most regular character. Other houses there are which have carried on, upon legitimate principles, a bona fide business solely as merchants. The hardship inflicted upon these is very great, for their paper is included in the kind of proscription to which Greek bills are at present subjected. We have no doubt that, in numerous instances, a stoppage of payment will be found to have been caused, not through insolvency, but through the sudden cutting off of those ordinary pecuniary facilities upon which most traders consider themselves entitled to rely. Under these circumstances it is very possible for houses to fail which possess twenty shillings in the pound. Their fall may be viewed with a selfish satisfaction by traders here who have grown jealous of the signal success with which the Greeks conduct their business. Shrewd, pains-taking, highly intelligent, and omitting no opportunity of mutually helping each other, the Greeks have of late years entered several branches of foreign trade with which they had previously little or nothing to do. By the exercise of thorough business-like qualities, they have shouldered out many of their English competitors, who are not likely to lament over the embarrassments—however undeserved—of the interlopers. This is a feeling with which no generous mind can have any sympathy.

We would also in fairness observe, on behalf of the Greek community generally, that, although so many of its members who are connected with Constantinople have committed the grave error of extending their engagements far beyond their means, and of relying upon a system of paper which is now failing them at a critical moment, it does not follow that their embarrassments portend real insolvency. Their business has been highly profitable, and they ought to have ultimately a considerable surplus to fall back upon. The evil is, that their resources are locked up in securities which are not convertible in Turkey, and less here. The houses which have stopped show very large assets, which is a very encouraging indication. The only really bad exposé yet submitted to the public eye is that made by Messrs. F. Ede and Sons; and in this case, be it marked, it is not a Greek house that has fallen, but an English house which has quitted the silk trade in order to embark in the Levant trade, and which has not been able to do what the Greek houses have contrived to do—namely, make it pay. No small portion of the present discredit of the Greek interest arises from the effect of Messrs. Ede and Son's disastrous stoppage, for which the Greek interest is not responsible. It may well be asked, in depreciation of the sudden caution adopted by discounters, without discrimination, with regard to all Greek paper—what would become of any branch of trade, home or foreign, were it to be placed under a ban? Considering the circumstances, the Greek interest has so far exhibited unexpected strength.

It is encouraging, amid these difficulties, to look forward to the relief which will be given to our discount market by the extinction of a large mass of paper, and to the additional relief which will be derived from the influx of gold. It is computed that within the last three weeks about half a million sterling in specie and bullion has arrived at Marseilles from Constantinople and the Levant, and further large amounts will certainly come forward. Hitherto it has sufficed for Greek firms in Turkey to draw upon their connections in France or England; and the bills have been, to all intents and purposes, as good as hard cash. But this system is now at an end. The bills cannot be negotiated. Telegram after telegram, urgently pressing for the transmission of gold, have been sent to Constantinople from this country and France, and, as we see, have been responded to to the full extent of the means of the Constantinople houses. It is easy to say that the influx of specie will slacken as soon as the immediate pressure upon the Greek interest subsides, but we think it will be found, upon examination, that a limit cannot at present be fixed to the movement. The large amounts of Greek paper held by the Bank of France, and other discounters, both in France and England, must be provided for when they arrive at maturity, and, unless more paper can be set afloat for the purpose, which seems impossible in the present condition of affairs, gold must continue to come from Turkey and the whole of the Levant. The credit of the important Greek houses here must be supported. The operation now is simply a reversal of the one previously carried on. The capital which was draughted away from the Western markets for employment in Turkey is now coming back, and in a form which will tend to relieve our money market. The increase which is understood to be taking place in the bullion in the Bank of France is partly owing to this cause.

To all interested in Turkish securities the position of financial affairs at Constantinople is justly a cause of great anxiety. It is becoming more than ever clear that affairs there will be much worse before they will be really better. It is felt that before financial reform comes there will be a crash. The Government will not fail in its obligations from choice, but from absolute inability. It will pay dividends as long as it can borrow money for the purpose, no matter at how exorbitant a rate. It needs no demonstration that the present system must soon come to an end. At present, as appears from the telegrams from Constantinople, the Government is doing its best to sustain the credit of the Greek houses, upon whom its own financial existence may be said to depend. Unless affairs turn out more auspiciously, however, than is at present probable, a total collapse of the Turkish finances seems to be drawing near.

THE ADJUDICATION OF THE INDIAN LOAN.

YESTERDAY (Friday) was the day fixed for the adjudication of the Indian five per Cent. Loan of £3,000,000. The result was a success for the Government to an extent which had not been anticipated in any financial circle. The tenders represented an aggregate of about £13,270,000, or more than four times the amount asked by Government, who are, therefore, in the sufficiently brilliant position of being called upon to reject the proffer of more than £10,000,000 sterling of money. The official reserved price was fixed at 98½. Owing to the great labour involved in the sifting of such a mass of tenders, full and exact particulars of the result of the bidding could not be procured from official quarters up to a late hour last (Friday) evening. It appears, however, that the tenders at 98½ amounted to about £637,000. These are all rejected, as well as all those below 98½, which amounted to about £7,000,000. It is worthy of remark that about £5,000,000 of the latter were between 98 and 98½, principally for account of the Stock Exchange. Consequently, had the Indian Secretary fixed the minimum at 98 the bids at and above the minimum would have been fully £10,000,000.

So much as regards the unsuccessful tenders. Let us now glance at the successful ones. It is certain that all bidders from 98½ upwards will receive the whole of the amount written for, although Messrs. Rothschild have carried off nearly one-third (namely £950,000) of the entire loan by a bid at 98½. The success of this firm is very remarkable, yet cannot be considered singular, for, upon the last occasion, when the Indian Secretary was a borrower, and when the tenders at 97 were the class selected for excision, this house was lucky enough to obtain one million at £97. 0s. 6d. This, however, is perhaps a digression. Some uncertainty prevails with regard to the bidders at 98½, but it is at present believed that the stipulation of a pro rata reduction will apply exclusively to this case; that is to say, they will probably receive a large portion of the amount applied for—the exact proportion has yet to be ascertained.

It is probable that a considerable draught will be made upon the money market next week in the shape of payments in advance of the instalments, the 5 per cent. discount allowed on prepayments being an important consideration to the investing classes, into whose hands the stock will speedily fall.

In every sense the result of this operation is to be regarded with satisfaction. It proves that there is abundance of capital available for investment in good securities; and that the credit of the Indian Government, instead of being on the wane, is increasing, as its finances improve through the salutary retrenchment of the military and other expenditure. Finally, the event is full of encouragement to the holders of Indian railway shares and debentures. The debentures intrinsically are more advantageous than the loan just negotiated, for they possess the additional security of the railways themselves, and the capital is to be repaid at a fixed date, so that any serious depreciation is out of the question. On the other hand the subscribers to the loan negotiated yesterday have not lost sight of the official assurance that the probability of any further large issue of 5 per cent. stock for ordinary purposes is greatly weakened by the improvement in the Indian finances.

ARE RAILWAY TRAFFIC RETURNS A SAFE GUIDE?

HOLDERS of British railway stocks are reasonably dissatisfied with the dividends recently announced. The effect of their disappointment is seen in the considerable fall which has taken place during the last week in this class of property. Railway shareholders have been in the habit of watching the weekly traffic returns, as a criterion of the progress of their business. They are now greatly surprised to find that the traffic returns are no guide—that they are, in fact, delusive. It is found that railway earnings and railway profits are by no means synonymous; that the former may grow whilst the latter decline. Railway revenue increases whilst railway dividends are stationary, or even, in some instances, decline. A few examples will illustrate this apparent contradiction.

The Great Northern Railway Company received during the past six months some £25,000 more than in the corresponding period of the previous year, yet have declared a dividend of only 6½ per cent. per annum against 7 last year. The North Staffordshire Company had an increase of £15,000 in their traffic, yet pay only the same rate of dividend as for the corresponding half-year, and carry forward a smaller balance. A still more striking instance is presented by the Great Western Railway Company, who received an increase of £31,000 in the half-year's traffic, yet pay only the same rate of dividend as last year, and carry forward only £13,000 against £25,700 last year. The shareholders are wondering what has become of a sum of more than £40,000, represented by, firstly, the increase in the traffic, and secondly, the diminished balance carried forward. Had this £40,000 been available, the dividend might have been 4½ per cent. per annum, instead of 3½.

How are these discrepancies to be explained? Can it be that charges which ought to come against revenue in one half year are improper?

postponed until a more prosperous period? Or can it be that the wet summer and autumn have caused a huge increase in the permanent way and other expenses? Are railway shareholders to confide in the weekly returns of the progress of their business, or are they to regard them as fallacious? These are questions which it is imperative for railway proprietors to put, and for railway managers and directors to answer at the approaching meetings. We have repeatedly expressed our conviction that British railway property is one of the most promising investments in the kingdom; but investors naturally require a special explanation when they find that a prosperous period for railways may be unaccompanied by any increase in their nett income, and that the growth of their business may be outstripped by the growth of expenses. We trust the proprietors will not fail to take advantage of the opportunity about to be presented to them to clear up these and kindred doubts.

THE RECENT REPORTS OF THE LONDON JOINT-STOCK BANKS.

THE various Metropolitan Joint-Stock Banks having now held their half-yearly meetings, and laid before their shareholders their several statements of accounts, we are enabled to form a correct estimate of their condition. There were, during the six months embraced in the review, various material disturbing causes, which affected not only public securities but nearly all mercantile operations. One of them was an unusual number of mercantile failures, involving large amounts, which caused great losses to the banking interest generally, as well as to Discount Companies, several of which have, in consequence, been compelled to retire altogether from the business. The rise in the rate of discount must materially have enhanced the profits of banking, and had it not been for the counteracting effect of the losses in the leather and other trades, those profits would have been considerably larger.

The London and Westminster Bank appear to have suffered less than any of their contemporaries, their losses in the leather trade being very little more than £5,000. This is the more remarkable, seeing that one of their most important branches is situated almost in the very heart of the leather market. In our impression of the 26th ult. we noticed the prosperous condition of this bank, which renders any further special reference to it unnecessary.

The report of the London Joint-Stock Bank shows that the gross profits for the past half-year were £117,717. 19s. 8d., and in order to enable the bank to pay the usual dividend of  $12\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. per annum, free of Income-tax, the directors have added to the above sum £24,534. 13s. 9d., being that portion of the profits of the preceding half-year, which was left undivided. There was thus a total of £142,252. 13s. 5d., applicable to the payment of dividend, and as that payment, together with a loss of £60,000, occasioned by the failures in the leather trade, absorbs the whole of this sum, there is no balance of undivided profit to be carried to the current half-year. This is almost an unprecedented event in the history of this bank. As regards the guarantee fund, which at the end of the previous half-year, together with the accumulated interest, stood at £214,733. 18s. 1d., the report states that the sum of £6,500 must be deducted for the depreciation in the value of Government Stock and Indian Securities.

It would not be doing justice to the directors of this bank if we omitted to recapitulate the particulars relating to its previous career, mentioned at the recent meeting. The shareholders were reminded that taking the twenty-three years of the bank's existence, up to the end of 1859, the shareholders had received, on a capital of £600,000, in the shape of dividends and bonus, the sum of £1,491,913; that £29,632 had been paid in addition for Income-tax; and that a guarantee fund had been created of £205,195. Any one holding 500 shares from the date of the establishment of the bank, on which he has paid £5,000, must be well satisfied with his investment, seeing that he has received £12,500, and that his original investment of £5,000 would now realise £15,000, making together £27,500. The whole amount of the bad debts incurred by the bank during this period of twenty-three years, if we except the recent losses in the leather trade, amount to £124,000, or an average of £5,435 in each year.

A feature noticeable in the balance-sheet of the Union Bank is the amount of cash in the bank unemployed and in the Bank of England, the former being £334,914. 13s. 7d., and the latter £612,209. 17s. 7d. These two items nearly equal the amount invested in Government Securities, Exchequer Bills, City Bonds, &c. The net profit of the past half-year, after deducting all expenses, and interest paid or due to customers on their current and deposit accounts, amounted to £63,063. 19s. 8d., to which was added the sum of £3,406. 18s. 4d., being the unappropriated profit of the preceding half-year ending 30th June, 1860. After payment of the dividend of 12s. per share, amounting to £36,000, the balance of £30,470. 18s. is carried to the next half-year's account, and will, doubtless, form the nucleus of a new guarantee fund. The value of a guarantee fund has received a remarkable illustration in the case of this bank. It does not appear that the Union Bank has sustained any material loss by the late failures. This may be partly accounted for by the fact that the bank does not discount for any but its own customers.

The London and County Bank held their half-yearly meeting on Thursday last. Since the last meeting of shareholders the directors have opened a branch at Shoreditch, in the house lately occupied by Messrs. Davies and Co., the bankers, who failed a few months ago. The profits for the past half-year, after the usual deductions for expenses, are £48,728. 14s. 11d., including the balance from the previous June of £3,708. 19s. 7d. A dividend was declared of 6 per cent. for the last half-year, free of Income-tax, which, with 5 per cent. already paid, will make 11 per cent. for the year 1860. Moreover, the satisfactory appropriation of £150,000 is made to the reserved fund, and £3,728 is carried to the credit of profit and loss new account. The course of this bank during the last few years has been one of unchecked prosperity. Notwithstanding the depression of the agricultural interest, with whom this bank deals largely, its deposits and current accounts have increased £500,000 during the past year. The fact that scarcely any losses have been sustained during the last trying six months, says much for the caution of the management. The profits are larger than at any former period.

The report of the Commercial Bank contains little that is new. The establishment appears to be progressing; it has now been established upwards of twenty years, and why banks of only a few years' existence should outstrip it was one of the queries started by a shareholder at the late meeting. It is possible that one answer to this question may be found in the restrictive clause in the deed of settlement, which prohibits the formation of any other branch of the bank than the one in Henrietta-street, Covent-Garden. Were the shareholders to rescind this prohibition they might, perhaps, find the prosperity of the Commercial Bank keeping pace with that of its contemporaries. The dividend declared was at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum on the paid-up capital of £300,000. The half-years' profit, including £551 of undivided profit left from the 30th June, 1860, was £17,109. 11s. 1d.

The City Bank is the only Metropolitan Joint-Stock Bank that has no branches, its business being confined to the City. It, perhaps, finds its advantage in this isolation, but the fact of the greater success of those banks which have branches over those which have none, might, we think, be studied with advantage.

The gross profit on the past half-year was £30,698. 12s. 7d., to which has been added the surplus profit brought from the previous half-year, amounting to £8,037. 17s. 9d. This latter sum has enabled the directors, after providing for losses, to declare a dividend at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum on the capital of £300,000, amounting to £9,000. It will be seen that the surplus of £8,037. 17s. 9d. brought forward almost equals the amount paid as dividend. This fact proves the advantage of the system of not appropriating the whole of the profits at any half-yearly meeting, but of reserving a portion in order to make good any subsequent deficiency.

The Bank of London appears to be progressing very favourably, inasmuch as the Directors have been enabled to declare a dividend at the usual rate of 5 per cent. per annum on their capital of £300,000 entirely out of the profits of the past half-year. There is also a surplus of £4,000 to be added to the guarantee fund. That fund at this time last year stood at £12,000; it was subsequently increased to £27,000, and, with the above addition, is now as much as £31,000. This result has been attained, notwithstanding losses by failures in the leather trade amounting to £12,674, the whole of which have been written off. The shareholders have abundant reason to be satisfied with the management under which progress of this steady character has been secured. The Bank of London has judiciously limited its dividend to 5 per cent. per annum. Should its affairs proceed with equal success, it will shortly be in a position to increase its dividend, and the amount added to the reserve fund affords a warranty that, when the increase is decided upon, there will be no subsequent retrogression.

The Unity Bank has at last been enabled to declare a dividend. Although small—namely, 2 per cent. per annum—this dividend is still some return to the proprietors who have invested their money in the bank. The dividend has been obtained by adhering to the strictest economy in the management, and by avoiding additional bad debts. By steadily pursuing this course, the only sure road to success, the bank will ultimately overcome the difficulties entailed upon it, which have been such as few institutions of the kind could have survived.

There is one infallible test of the amount of confidence reposed in the Metropolitan Joint-Stock Banks, and that is, the extent to which they are trusted. We find that on the 31st Dec., 1858, the aggregate amount of deposits and current accounts in the eight banks was £39,303,059; and the 31st Dec., 1859, £39,855,070; and on 31st Dec., 1860, it was £44,247,000. This comparison affords conclusive proof of progress.

It would add very much to the interest attached to the periodical returns, if all the Joint-Stock Banks were to adopt one uniform plan in drawing up their balance-sheets. Whilst one bank gives the amount of its gross profits another gives only the net profits. Fuller accounts are also desirable, after the plan adopted by the London and County Bank. The following tabular statement shows the date of the formation of each bank, the capital subscribed, the amount paid-up, the amount of the deposits and guarantee fund, the present rate of dividend, the amount paid up per share, and the market price of the shares of each bank:—

COMING RAILWAY DIVIDENDS.

The dividend of the Great Northern Railway Company was officially announced on Tuesday evening at the rate of  $6\frac{3}{4}$  per cent. per annum, against 7 per cent. per annum for the corresponding period of 1859. The announcement occasioned a feeling of disappointment,  $6\frac{3}{4}$  per cent. having been looked for until within the last few days, when  $6\frac{1}{2}$  was considered the probable minimum. The dividend now proposed will give for the last half-year, £3. 3s. 9d. per £100 original stock; £3 per £100 B stock; and £3. 7s. 6d. per £100 A stock.

The dividend on Midland Railway Stock is also officially announced at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum (making  $6\frac{3}{4}$  per cent. for the whole year, 1860) against 6 per cent. per annum for the corresponding six months of 1859,  $5\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. in 1858, and 5 per cent. in 1857. The announcement, though fairly satisfactory, barely equalled expectations.

The official announcement of a half-yearly dividend at the rate of £5. 5s. per cent. per annum has been made on London and South-Western Railway stock. The dividend for the corresponding six months of 1859 was at the same rate, and that for the six months of 1858  $5\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. per annum. The dividend for the whole year 1860 becomes  $4\frac{3}{4}$  per cent. That for the whole year 1859 was also  $4\frac{3}{4}$ .

The dividend recommended by the directors of the Great Southern and Western of Ireland Railway Company is at the usual rate of 5 per cent. per annum.

The proposed dividend on Great Western Railway stock was officially announced on Thursday at the rate of  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. per annum, being only the same as that paid for the corresponding period of 1859, notwithstanding a considerable increase in the receipts. The balance brought forward upon this occasion is £5,486; the balance carried forward is about £13,000. The Company's stock fell 1 per cent. upon the announcement.

The dividend on North Staffordshire Railway stock was announced on Thursday at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum, being also the same as that paid for the corresponding six months of 1859. The shares were heavy upon the announcement.

The half-yearly accounts of the Bristol and Exeter Railway Company to the 31st of December last were submitted to the Board on Thursday, and the directors resolved upon recommending to the proprietors at the approaching meeting a dividend at the rate of  $5\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. per annum. The dividend for the corresponding six months of 1859 was at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum.

LORD PALMERSTON AND THE PUBLIC EXPENDITURE.

The following merely formal and really meaningless reply has been addressed by Lord Palmerston to a letter from Messrs. Crawford, Baines, and Buxton, accompanying the memorial signed by sixty Liberal members of the House of Commons, urging the necessity of retrenchment in the public expenditure:—

94, Piccadilly, Jan. 30, 1861.

My dear Mr. Crawford,—I have to acknowledge the receipt of the letter signed by yourself, Mr. Baines, and Mr. Buxton, which transmitted to me the memorial addressed to me by some members of the Liberal party in the House of Commons, who have generally supported her Majesty's present Government. I beg to assure you that I am much gratified by the friendly spirit in which this memorial has been drawn up; and I entirely concur in the opinion it conveys, that a due regard to economy should be observed in making arrangements for the public services of the nation. It is the duty of the responsible advisers of the Crown to propose such establishments and such estimates as, according to the best judgment they can form upon the knowledge they possess of the general state of affairs, may appear to them to be requisite for the interest and security of the empire; and it will be the endeavour of her Majesty's Government so to perform this duty as to obtain the approval and support of Parliament and of the country.

My dear Mr. Crawford, yours sincerely,

R. W. Crawford, Esq.

PALMERSTON.

PREPARATIONS are now in progress for establishing a new line of electric telegraph between Paris and London by Dieppe and Newhaven. Three wires from Paris will meet one from Havre at Malaunay, and the four will cross the Channel from Dieppe to Newhaven. When this line is completed, France will be connected with England by twelve wires—four from Calais to Dover, four from Boulogne to Folkestone, and four from Dieppe to Newhaven. These last are especially intended to connect Lyons, Bordeaux, and Marseilles directly with London.

THE STATE OF TRADE.

(COMPILED FROM NUMEROUS LOCAL REPORTS.)

THE reports from the manufacturing districts continue to indicate dullness. The check to trade with America is a good deal felt. Except in certain quarters, however, there is no absolute depression.

With regard to the general condition of trade, the monthly circular of Messrs. Trueman and Rouse has the following:—"The high rates for money, and the unremunerative trade with distant markets for some time past have combined to check several branches of our manufacturing industry, and considerable numbers of the population have been thrown out of employment; in addition to which there has been frequent failures in various trades, which tend to impair confidence, so that the prospect of the future is for the moment by no means encouraging."

The accounts from Manchester report very little business in yarns. Buyers for all markets (India, China, Mediterranean, Germany, and home trade) have kept aloof, and prices are a shade under the rates of last week. Business in cloths has also been quiet, and prices a shade easier, owing chiefly to unfavourable accounts from India. Letters from Calcutta are to hand of the 4th Jan., and telegrams to the 11th, but all contain discouraging advices as to the state of trade. In long-cloths and T-cloths there is no change of price, but a fair amount of business in them. Printing cloths are quiet, and rather easier in price. The Greek failures have affected the market unfavourably, though they will not directly affect Manchester much.

At Leeds the market has been only indifferently attended in the coloured cloth hall, and the business was mostly confined to a few transactions in Meltons and other spring goods. Ordinary cloths were little in request. In the white market a rather better feeling prevailed.

At Huddersfield the market is still very quiet, and the prospect of amendment is, for the present, very obscure. The few buyers who have been about the Cloth Hall and the warehouses have kept the trade alive, and that is all. Stocks are still on the increase, and prices rather more in favour of the buyer.

The report from Bradford, dated Thursday, states that the dullness in the wool trade continues, spinners buying only to meet immediate requirements. In wools and shorts so very few are making that they are taken into consumption as produced, at full prices. The dullness in the export trade is quite unprecedented, there being literally no trade doing. There is no improvement in the home consumption. The quantity of idle machinery and frames running short time exceeds that which existed at the time of the panic in the spring of 1858. There is an improved inquiry for pieces, but the sales effected are only to a moderate extent. The opinion, however, appears to be gaining ground that the worst is over. Manufacturers are acting with great caution, and the number of looms standing is rather on the increase.

From Halifax the reports are most gloomy; several manufacturers have commenced running their machinery a short time, and "the carpet trade is most depressed."

At Nottingham there continues to be a little more doing in some departments of the lace trade, but still the present amount of business is much below an average for the time of the year. In a few weeks the trade will be more animated. There is a little improvement noticeable in the hosiery trade, more hands are being set on, some orders having been left by the home buyers. Stocks are low, and manufacturers continue working to order.

At Leicester there is a little more animation perceptible in the hosiery trade, and as the spring advances further activity is anticipated. Business is quiet in the districts adjacent, and the operatives are only partially employed.

At Birmingham the depression to which we have had occasion frequently to refer of late in connection with the manufacturing trades continues; the slackness is general in both the home and foreign departments. At present there has been little doing in the way of goods for the spring trade; at many of the principal manufactories the men are not making more than four days a week; where they are working full time it is upon the execution of old orders, those recently given out having been on a very moderate scale. The iron trade is dull; there are no American orders in, and few of the mills and forges are in full operation. The bad state of the trade has led to a reconsideration of the wages scale: at a special meeting of the iron and coalmasters, at Wolverhampton, it was resolved to increase the colliers' "stints" immediately, but the question of a reduction of wages was postponed for the present.

At Wolverhampton trade is bad. Some manufacturers are doing an average trade, but in the general trade there is dullness. Buyers of every class, whether connected with the home or foreign markets, are purchasing goods in very small quantities; and the country ironmongers give anything but a satisfactory account of the prospects of the spring trade. Already there has been sufficient experience of the state of business in the country to show that the first quarter of the year will be an unfavourable one.

THE AMERICAN SECESSION MOVEMENT AND THE UNDERWRITERS.—The underwriters of Liverpool and London have determined to raise their rate 1 per cent. on cargoes from the Southern ports of the United States, in order to cover the war and other expenses.

MERCANTILE EMBARRASSMENTS.

We have to record several more failures amongst the Greek houses. Four firms failed in their engagements on Saturday last. Messrs. Bello Brothers have stopped, because £11,000 of remittances on failed firms have come. Their liabilities are stated at about £90,000. Mr. Edward Vitalis has sufficient means to go on some time longer, but has stopped payment on account of the impossibility of getting his remittances cashed. His liabilities are put at about £80,000. Messrs. Schilizzi and Vuros (who have no connection with the larger house of Schilizzi and Co.) are likewise not under any immediate necessity of stopping, but have done so in consequence of the uncertainty attaching to the future, and of the disorganised state of the Greek trade generally. It is thought that the amount of their liabilities will not exceed £35,000. In all the three cases referred to, favourable estimates of the estate are made; it is said that in more than one there is a prospect of a surplus. Each of the three houses has occupied a respectable position.

The liabilities of Messrs. Artin Pascal and Co., Greek merchants, who stopped payment on Saturday last, amount to about £35,000. The accountants employed are Messrs. Harding, Pullein, and Co.

The failure of Messrs. Nickoll and North has caused that of Messrs. W. Tozer and Son, oil and lead merchants, of Bishopsgate-street, but their liabilities are understood to be of small amount.

The advices from Constantinople affirm that there is now no doubt of the bills which are falling upon Messrs. T. N. Black and Co. being provided for there.

A meeting of creditors of Messrs. Francis Ede, Son, and Co., Levant merchants, who stopped on the 19th Jan., was held on Tuesday, when a statement, showing the position of the firm on that day, was read by Mr. Coleman, the accountant. It stated the net liabilities at £156,343 (irrespective of a far larger sum which is expected to be otherwise provided for), and the assets at £58,190. Mr. Coleman explained that the debts on open accounts were contracted in the ordinary course of trading. Of the £318,913 of bills payable, expected to be paid by parties on whose account they were accepted, £224,600 are for Messrs. Black and Co., Ede's correspondents at Constantinople, and from the latest information, it is fully believed, will be provided for by that firm. The remainder represent houses who have already suspended, or are expected to do so. A careful examination of this paper has been made by persons well acquainted with Smyrna and Constantinople, and they consider that the sum at which it stands in the present account leaves a more than ample margin for adverse contingencies. The creditors partially secured are brokers holding produce against advances. The £21,803 bills receivable estimated to rank on the estate represent liabilities on account of firms who have publicly stopped—viz., Bello, Brothers, C. W. Ede and Co., Navone, Pappa, L. Rodocanachi, Schilizzi (of Liverpool), Schilizzi and Vuros, E. Vitalis, and S. P. Zizinius, of whom C. W. Ede and Co. and L. Rodocanachi, who appear for about half the whole sum, expect to pay in full. Of the remaining bills receivable over £103,000 have run off since the stoppage, and the rest are of the highest class. The foreign bills are of like character. The total liabilities at the time of the suspension were £941,305. In addition to the £57,840 assets, £107,492 will be due from debtors, supposing their drafts to continue to rank upon this estate. With reference to the advance made by Messrs. Black and Co., in conjunction with Messrs. Ede, to the Turkish Government, it was mentioned that the transaction took place last May, and that the original amount was £182,000, for which bills were drawn on Messrs. Ede, in that month and June of about £181,000. If the arrangement had been carried out on the original basis, this account would now be reduced to £117,000, but it stands instead at £183,000. It appears that a second agreement was entered into with Messrs. Black by the Government, by which the latter were enabled to divert to their temporary financial necessities the resources which should have been sent to England according to the terms of the first proposition. No discussion took place, and a resolution to wind up under a deed of inspectorship was adopted. On paper Messrs. F. Ede and Co. show about 7s. in the pound, but, as will be gathered from the particulars already afforded, the ultimate result must remain for some time a matter of conjecture, owing to the magnitude of the liabilities in connexion with third parties. It was explained that the partners are desirous of rendering every assistance towards the liquidation of the estate under inspection, and the show of hands was in favour of this course. The attendance was numerous, comprising representatives of most of the Greek houses in London.

A meeting took place on Wednesday of the creditors of Messrs. E. Wackerbarth and Co., sugar refiners, of Ratcliffe-cross, who stopped payment on the 25th ult. The balance-sheet prepared by Mr. C. F. Kemp, the accountant, shows liabilities expected to rank upon the estate to the amount of £26,439, with net assets of £21,688. The liabilities are represented by ordinary trade debts for sugar supplied and work executed. Of the bills receivable, amounting to £12,072, of which are considered good, £3,000 has run off since the date of the stoppage. The plant, estimated to be worth about £10,000, originally cost £14,000. The business was carried on at a profit up to 1854, but has since shown a continuous loss. The capital of Mr. Wackerbarth in 1858 was £15,057, but this was subsequently reduced to £6,945 by the overdrawings of another partner, Mr. Redpath. The former afterwards brought in an additional sum of £1,523. The trading, from the 1st of Jan., 1859, up to the date of the stoppage, shows a loss of £6,418, and the drawings during this period were—by Mr. Wackerbarth, £3,771; and by Mr. Redpath, £2,275. It was explained that the partners were not in a position to offer a composition, not being provided with security, and it was consequently determined to wind up the estate under inspection.

In the Bankruptcy Court on Wednesday the speeches of counsel in the case of Messrs. Laurence, Mortimore, and Schrader were brought to a close. The commissioner intimated that in consideration of the importance of the case, he would take time to deliver judgment.

In the Bankruptcy Court on Thursday, Mr. J. H. Smith, tanner, of Bermondsey, passed his examination.

Advices from Havannah mention the stoppage of Messrs. Sthamer and Co., a house of high standing. The letters state that the aggregate liabilities are no less than £600,000, of which about £70,000 is in connection with firms here. They also contain the extraordinary statement that there is little or nothing in the shape of assets. Heavy losses on the exportation of sugar are assigned as the cause of the strangely disastrous position of the estate, but it is probable that more has yet to be told.

LAW LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY.

The annual Court of proprietors was held at the Society's Offices, Fleet-street, on Feb. 2; JOHN YOUNG, Esq., in the chair.

W. S. DOWNES, Esq., the actuary, having read the advertisement calling the meeting,

The CHAIRMAN alluded to the great loss the society had sustained by the death of one of its trustees, Mr. Cancellor, and also by the death of Mr. Richards, one of the directors. It was proposed to appoint, in the room of their late lamented trustee, Lord Middleton—a nobleman whose rank, station, and personal character rendered him eminently eligible for the office of trustee. His lordship was better known as Mr. Charles Broderick, formerly a distinguished member of the bar.

The proposition being put, Lord Middleton was unanimously elected a trustee.

The CHAIRMAN then said they had to elect a director in the place of Mr. Richards, who was one among the first of the directors of the society, and whose great loss they all deeply deplored. That vacancy they proposed to fill up by the appointment of Mr. W. H. Walton, who held the position of Queen's Remembrancer, and Master of the Court of Exchequer. That gentleman had already been a most valuable officer in the character of auditor, and he (the chairman) was quite sure if it should be the pleasure of the Court to elect him a director, that the interests of the society could not possibly be placed in better hands.

Mr. Walton having been duly elected auditor,

Mr. DOWNES proceeded to read the report, from which the following is condensed:—It appeared that during the past year there were issued 285 new policies assuring £363,210 at premiums amounting to £15,446, being £2,237 more than in 1859. The renewal premiums amounted to £287,773, and the profit and loss on the Assurance Fund, after deducting commissions, income-tax, &c., to £132,599. The amount paid as claims upon death under 188 policies was £218,832, and as bonuses £91,432, making together £310,264, as compared with £224,979 under 200 policies and £76,692, together £301,671 for 1859, being a difference of £8,593; the principal cause of increase being the additional bonuses to which policies became entitled in 1860. The amount paid on account of surrender of policies and bonuses in 1860 was £24,520, against £10,212 in 1859. The difference was attributable to the division of profits, the surrender being more numerous after such distribution of profits. £36,509 of bonuses had been surrendered for cash or reduction of premium separately from the policies to which such bonuses were allotted. The cost of management was £6,908. The total number of policies struck off the books from all causes was 272, insuring £316,523, with premiums of £117,060. The increase in the assets after payment of all claims, surrenders, and outgoings was £93,912. The net income of the Connemara and Mayo estates was £9,450 for the year, being at the rate of £4. 10s. per cent. on the £208,740 advanced. The unsold portion of the estates in Connemara comprised 17,444 acres, and 9,565 in Mayo. £119,184, being the one-fifth part of the surplus transferred from the assurance fund at the division of profits in 1859, raised the proprietors' balance of principal to £735,043. Out of the profits the Board proposed to pay a dividend of £3. 1s. per share free of Income-tax. It appeared from the balance-sheet that the proprietors' guarantee fund on the 31st of December last was £778,141; the assurance fund, £4,217,761.

The CHAIRMAN said it now became his duty to move the adoption of the report, which he should do in a very few words, for the report itself had anticipated any remarks the chairman could make. The Court would observe, without any observations from him, that the report furnished matter for unmixed congratulation. Whilst they rejoiced in the continued prosperity of that great society, they were to recollect that, within a lifetime of thirty-six and a-half years, they had paid in claims, including bonuses, the sum of £5,000,000 sterling, and moreover, that at the present time they had an invested fund of nearly £5,000,000 more; perhaps, there was scarcely on record an instance of such marvellous prosperity achieved in so short a time. He believed it would be found that the care with which the affairs of that society had been conducted, the prudence and discretion with which its lives had been selected, and the basis upon which the society's calculations had been from its initiation rested, had materially contributed to that career of remarkable prosperity. The first point to which he might call attention was the increase in the number of new insurances effected during the year. It was to be recollected, when that society was first established, it was in possession of the monopoly of the field, there being no competing societies connected with the legal profession; but, at the same time, notwithstanding the great severity of competition to which they were now exposed, they had had more additional business during the past year than for many previous corresponding periods. As regarded the claims, he need hardly say that was an item which would necessarily be subjected to some variation from accidental causes. Of course, the first years of all such societies were years of receipts; but as time rolled on and they became older, and lives dropped off, they must expect the claims upon them would increase. Relative to that point the report fully explained the society's affairs during the past year as compared with previous years. The next point to which he moved the attention of the Court was the subject of recent bonus. In adverting to which, he believed he could state that the bonuses divided had given unqualified satisfaction, for amongst the nearly 8,000 assured they had scarcely, if ever, heard a single murmur, while upon all hands they had elicited the greatest possible satisfaction. With regard to the position of proprietors he need hardly say that the affairs of the proprietors, as a distinct class, could not flourish, unless the Office as regarded the assured, flourished too. Therefore, it could not fail to be exceedingly satisfactory that the Board were enabled to increase the annual payment in the way of dividend to proprietors upon their shares. At their last Court some observations fell from the gentleman then occupying the chair, and who fulfilled the duties of the position much more to the advantage of the society than he could possibly hope to do—to the effect that the principle which governed the directors in declaring dividends was not to divide too closely, but to keep a sum in hand with a view to equalise the dividends. So far their principle had acted most satisfactorily, for at the present meeting they were able to declare a dividend of £3. 1s. per share, as compared with £2. 10s. the previous corresponding period—(hear, hear.) and moreover, the Board had the most confident expectation that they would be able to continue the same amount of dividend until the next quinquennial division. (Hear, hear.) The Board felt they were consulting the best interests of the proprietors by keeping something like a reserve in hand, so that, notwithstanding every eventuality, there would be no occasion for a reduction in the rate of dividend. Really, when they recollected the enormous figures to which he had alluded—that they had £5,000,000 sterling in claims, that they still had an invested fund amounting to a similar sum, and that they were actually paying a dividend at the rate of £3. 1s. per share, free of Income-tax, upon every £10 paid up on the shares—he thought proprietors had no reason to be dissatisfied with the result of their thirty-six years' working. (Hear, hear.) With regard to the Assurance Fund, that spoke for itself, and a reference to the balance-sheet would show that the society's investments were as safe and as productive as they possibly could be. As regarded their Irish estates, undoubtedly there was a time when that investment was a source of very much anxiety both to directors and proprietors, but now he was happy to state that there was no portion of their invested capital upon which they had a right to look with more confidence than their Connemara and Mayo estates. Already, deducting the Income-tax, that particular investment yielded a nett return of  $4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent., and they had reason to believe that it was an improving rental. The society, however, were not landowners, but these estates had been forced into their hands, and proprietors might rest assured the directors would realise these estates whenever an eligible opportunity presented itself, the object of the society being rather to advance money upon securities than to invest money upon the purchase of land; but at the same time it was satisfactory to know that they were producing a rental of  $4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. per annum. He was not aware that there was any other point to which he need advert; he would, therefore, conclude by congratulating the proprietors upon the extraordinary prosperity of the society. (Hear, hear.)

C. R. TURNER, Esq., having seconded the resolution of the adoption of the report, it was put and carried unanimously.

It was then proposed from the chair to alter the 52nd clause in the deed of settlement, the object being to enable the Board to deal with cases where persons had died, either by their own hands, by duelling, or by the hands of justice, which discretionary power the directors, according to the existing claim, could not legally exercise.

Mr. WILLOUGHBY having, in a few remarks, advocated the policy of the proposed substitution, the resolution was put and carried unanimously.

A vote of thanks to the chairman, directors, and actuary, brought the proceedings to a close.

THE OCEAN MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY.

The first ordinary general meeting of shareholders was held on Tuesday, Feb. 5, at the London Tavern, Bishopsgate-street; Mr. JOHN WHITE CHATER presiding.

The following report was read by the Secretary (Mr. H. S. SMYTH):—

"The directors submit to the shareholders the accounts of the company, showing the results of its operations up to the 31st December last, embracing the period that has elapsed from the commencement of business on the 19th December, 1859. These accounts, which have been duly examined and verified by the auditors nominated for that purpose in the deed of settlement, show that after having paid all claims for losses, averages, and returns, adjusted to the 31st December last, together with all expenses, charges, salaries, &c., and having further made provision for one-third of the preliminary expenses incurred in the formation of the company, there remains a surplus of £75,478. 4s. 7d. In this amount is included interest accrued upon the company's investments, as well as the balance of the underwriting account; and the directors recommend that £10,000 be applied in payment of interest at the rate of 5s. per share (being £5 per cent. upon the paid-up capital of the company); and that the residue be carried forward against the outstanding risks and liabilities of the company. The directors report, that, for the purpose of conducting the business of the company, they have secured the freehold site of No. 2, Old Broad-street, upon which they propose to erect a building for the company's offices. From the eligibility of its position, and the terms upon which this property has been acquired, it will not only be of great advantage to the increasing business of the company, but will also be a safe and remunerative investment."

The CHAIRMAN said as the report was in the hands of every proprietor, it would not be necessary for him to detain them with any lengthened remarks upon it. As regarded the general account, he might remark that the securities consisted of £210,000 Consols and Three per Cent. Reduced Annuities, £20,000 in Five per Cent. India Bonds, and £10,000 in Canadian Bonds. It was very true that these securities might have been of a different nature, that they might have been such as would have given higher interest; but when it was considered that it was essential in an office like this to have its credit secured upon a sure basis, he thought the meeting would see that the course the directors had adopted was one which under these circumstances should be sanctioned, and that they should look to security before emolument. (Hear, hear.) With regard to the new premises, that was an item which stood only in part, they having paid £15,350 towards the expense. They had hitherto been inconvenienced by temporary premises, but they had purchased for new offices an eligible site in Old Broad-street, of which they first bought the lease and afterwards the freehold. This would cost altogether about £28,000, and about £7,000 would be required to complete the building, making the whole outlay for the premises £35,000. Their architect valued the rent of the premises at £2,600, so he thought they would see that as an investment this was an expenditure which should meet with the approval of every individual present; it would give them £1,100 or £1,200 a year, and they would thus stand at a less rent than they were now paying for temporary and inconvenient premises. With regard to the detailed account it would be seen that they carried over £75,478. 4s. 7d., but it must be borne in mind that it was necessary to set aside a large amount to meet the outstanding risks and liabilities of the company. It was no ordinary business that they had before them; theirs was an underwriting business, and it was well known to the underwriters of Lloyds, and to every merchant, that it was impossible to tell whether a time policy for 12 months, opened that day, might involve a loss of £9, 40, 30, or 20 per cent. Every outstanding liability must be considered as to a certain extent a bill payable; not that the directors anticipated any serious loss on this account, for he had much satisfaction in stating that their underwriter was of opinion that there was not a single risk outstanding which he would not be very happy to take to-morrow. The company did not seek a large business at the expense of incurring great risk, for it was not the largest business, as they all knew, that gave the largest amount of profit. He had no doubt he should be asked questions with regard to the figures showing the satisfactory results to which he had referred, and he would, therefore, at once state that the gross amount of insurances which had been taken from the commencement of their business reached about £10,000,000 of money, and the outstanding liabilities on the 31st December were about £2,700,000, and this amount he was happy to say had been considerably reduced since that date. But these figures would give very little information, because an insurance account depended not very often upon what were the actual total losses, but more upon losses which were payable upon risks upon which very extraordinary averages arose, and their losses, with returns and averages, though they amounted to £60,000, yet a large proportion was for these very averages, and a small amount for insurances they had re-insured. The items on the debit side of the account spoke for themselves, and he had only a few remarks to make with regard to the preliminary expenses. They had written off one-third merely for the purpose of showing the views of the Board with respect to this item alone, and they were of opinion that it would take three years before they could ascertain the true position of their underwriting account, that it was not possible they could frame a profit and loss account under a three years' average of business. As a new institution seeking to establish itself in the underwriting business of London they had taken a first-rate position—a position equal to that of the oldest established offices in the city. (Cheers.) Before sitting down he wished to say, with regard to the interest proposed to be paid, that the greater part of the amount was realised on interest, and if they had borrowed the money they must have paid five per cent. for it, so that the Board did not think they could give the shareholders less, and if they had given more they must have given profits which they could not say for three years to come that they had fairly earned. Therefore, looking at their position in every way, he thought the directors had done their duty, and had acted consistently with the best interests of the company. He concluded by moving the adoption of the report.

Mr. BELL, in seconding the motion, mentioned that from the moment the company's office opened business flowed in from the first mercantile houses in the City, to an extent that enabled them to establish their premiums at the rate of the oldest offices in the City, and they had been progressing ever since.

A PROPRIETOR referred to the item in the accounts of £11,800 for debts and premiums outstanding, and asked whether there was any likelihood of loss upon this amount?

The CHAIRMAN said the premiums included were due only in the month of December, and were not payable till the 8th of January. They had only had one bad debt, and the loss from that was but 9s. 1d.

Another PROPRIETOR wanted to know what was the total amount of the premiums collected by the company in the twelve months?

The CHAIRMAN replied that the amount was £140,000.

The report was then unanimously adopted.

The directors retiring by rotation, Messrs. Charles Bell, J. W. Chater, Edward Cohen, and Sir S. Cunard, were re-elected.

Mr. THOMAS CURTIS proposed as auditors Mr. Thomas Brown (Messrs. Brown and Co.), and Mr. Alexander Mackenzie (one of the directors of the Oriental Bank).

The motion was seconded by Mr. GOULDNEY, and carried.

Mr. TITE, M.P., moved, and the Rev. Mr. OWDEN seconded, a resolution fixing the remuneration of the auditors at £31. 10s. each, or £15. 15s. for each half-yearly audit.—Carried.

The meeting was then made special, and a resolution passed increasing the board of directors from twelve to sixteen members, and appointing the following gentlemen: Messrs. A. H. Campbell, J. G. Nicol, J. H. W. Schroder, and R. Smith.

On the motion of Mr. TITE, seconded by Mr. THOMAS HILL, a vote of thanks was accorded to the chairman; and a similar compliment to the underwriter and secretary terminated the proceedings.

The immediate tendency of the Bank accounts is rather favourable. The decrease in the private securities indicates only a moderate demand for money. The reserve and coin and bullion have increased.

THE MONEY MARKET.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 8.

The Discount Market this week has been tight. The rate for the best bills has been  $6\frac{3}{4}$  to 7 per cent. There has been no absolute pressure, until this day, when great tightness prevailed in all quarters. It was difficult to get the best bills negotiated at the Bank minimum, and the demand at the Bank was rather urgent. The payments in advance on account of the Indian loan will probably be very large during the next two or three weeks, and may keep the market tight. Attention is also directed to the increase in the demand for silver for India in payment for cotton. This drain will be watched closely. Otherwise there is no draught upon our bullion reserves for abroad. The remittances of gold to America have virtually ceased, as we anticipated.

In the Stock Exchange to-day the pressure for money attained a severity rarely witnessed. The extraordinarily high rate of 8 to 9 per cent. was paid on loans of Consols from day to day.

The remittances of specie to New York are now ceasing. The Africa, which left on Saturday last, took only £13,338, and the Kangaroo, on Wednesday, £3,900. The aggregate sent since the 28th November is £3,162,000. The Oneida, which is to sail to-morrow for Brazil, has on freight £14,000 in silver, and £1,270 in gold.

The Bank of England on Wednesday sold £300,000 of silver, which, it is presumed, will be sent to India by the next steamers.

The Bank of England on Thursday sold a further amount of silver—about £40,000—to meet the demand for shipment to India by the next mail. The sudden increase of specie remittances to that country is attributable to the large orders sent out for the purchase of cotton.

The remittances of silver by the next outward Bombay steamer are expected to exceed £450,000.

The Strathdon has arrived to-day from Melbourne with 49,040 ounces of gold, valued at £196,000. The following gold ships are known to be still at sea, viz.:—The Clutha, out eighty-four days, with £95,000; the Essex, out eighty-three days, with £59,000; and the Champion of the Seas, out seventy-seven days, with £37,000.

THE BULLION MARKET.

With reference to the movements in bullion and in the Indian Government paper, Messrs. Pixley, Abell, and Langley, report as follows:—

GOLD.—There has been very little doing during the past week, and the shipments to America have materially declined, having been only £13,338 per Africa, and £3,800 per Kangaroo.

SILVER.—The silver brought by the Tasmanian has been sold at 61½d. per ounce standard, and a considerable amount is likely to be sent to Bombay by the steamer leaving Southampton on the 12th instant. The Indus took £97,550 to India and China on the 4th instant.

MEXICAN DOLLARS.—The dollars per Tasmanian have not yet been sold; we can therefore only quote the last price of 60½d. per ounce, with a quiet market.

EXCHANGE on India remains as before, for sixty days' sight Bank bills on Bombay and Calcutta—viz., 2s. to 2s. 0½d. Bills with documents, 1s. 11½d. to 1s. 11½d. Bank drafts on Madras, sixty days' sight, 1s. 11½d. to 2s.

INDIA GOVERNMENT LOAN NOTES are very quiet, and without change. Prices are nominal, at 99½ to 100½ for Five-and-a-Half per Cents., and 93½ to 94 for Five per Cents.

The report of Messrs. Haggard and Co., dated this day, observes:—

During the last week the bullion market has been more active than for some time past, owing chiefly to the increased demand for silver to Bombay. The bar silver by the last Mexican packet has been sold at 5s. 1½d., showing no alteration in price as compared with that by the last steamer. The dollars are not yet disposed of.

There have been no imports at all this week of any importance; small amounts of gold still continue to arrive from Constantinople.

There have been no gold operations at all at the Bank of England during the last week.

The export of gold to New York has almost entirely ceased, owing to a further rise in sterling exchange, and it is expected that some of the recent shipments of sovereigns from this country will shortly be returned.

The price of Mexican dollars remains nominally the same, viz. 5s. 0½d., though at the moment there are very few purchasers.

THE EXCHANGES.

The Foreign Exchanges this week have been steady. The prominent feature which attracted great attention this afternoon is an important fall in the Exchange on Vienna. The rate last Friday was 15·90 to 16 fl., and to-day 14·80 to 15 fl.

THE BANK OF FRANCE.

The accounts from Paris continue to state that the bullion in the Bank of France is increasing, owing to the reflux from Turkey and elsewhere.

THE NEW INDIA LOAN.

In another column we give an account of the biddings, made this day, for the new Indian loan. The result has been received with great satisfaction. We will merely observe here that the price of the Indian Five per Cent. Stock of 1859, which was quoted yesterday afternoon 99 "sellers," for the account, rose this afternoon to 101, and closed at 100½ to 101. The Scrip of the new loan passed 101, and left off at 100½ to 101, so that a subscriber at 99 has already 1½ per cent. profit.

THE INDIAN FINANCES.

In the House of Commons on Wednesday afternoon, Sir C. Wood, in reply to a question, explained that large funds had to be provided in England for the service of India, and, on the other hand, the main portion of the means required for railroads in India required large remittances to India, which were paid into, and drawn from, the Home Treasury. The sum expected to be paid in England was £7,000,000, and £2,500,000 had been expected from India on account of Indian expenditure at home; but the home expenditure on account of India in this country had exceeded the estimate, while the railroad payments had fallen short, and the Indian Government had remitted £1,250,000 less than had been calculated upon. The whole amount was £2,750,000 short of what he had expected, and he had, therefore, found it necessary to exercise the power given by Parliament last Session. As to the bulk of the expenditure in India, he was happy to say that there was no necessity for borrowing a single shilling. The expenditure had been very considerably reduced since he had last addressed the House upon this subject. The military expenditure would be reduced in the course of the year £3,300,000, following a reduction last year of £3,500,000, making a total reduction in the course of two years of £6,800,000; and next year, 1861-2, if no unforeseen circumstances arose, the income and expenditure would be almost balanced.

THE DOUBLE INCOME-TAX QUESTION.

The following notice has been issued by the Oriental Bank:—

The Oriental Bank Corporation have the satisfaction to announce to their constituents that the proceedings they have taken in the matter of deduction of English Income-tax from drafts issued on the Presidencies for interest on Indian Government paper have resulted in the abandonment by the Commissioners of Inland Revenue of all claim to such deduction. The commissioners further intimate their readiness to return any duty which has been deducted in respect of such bills, and paid over to the revenue. The corporation will be happy to afford facilities to their constituents in recovering the tax wrongfully charged upon receiving the necessary particulars and authority.

THE PARIS BOURSE.

At Paris the Three per Cent. Rentes opened this morning at 68.45, and closed at the same quotation both for money and the account, being  $\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. higher than yesterday, and  $\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. higher than on last Friday. A favourable effect was produced to-day by the financial improvement at Vienna.

THE VIENNA BOURSE.

The latest telegrams from Vienna report a reaction in the exchange in favour of Austria to the extent of about 4 per cent. In some quarters importance is attached to this movement, in the belief that it has a political significance.

THE TURKISH LOAN OF 1858.

Some attention is directed to the delay in the transmission of the balance of the funds required for the dividend due the 1st proximo on the Turkish Loan of 1858, but it probably admits of explanation.

THE RED SEA TELEGRAPH.

It appears from the proceedings in Parliament on Tuesday night that the Chancellor of the Exchequer will immediately introduce a Bill for "amending" the Red Sea Telegraph Company's Act, and, we presume, satisfying the scruples of Sir R. Bethell.

THE CONVERSION OF BRAZILIAN RAILWAY SHARES.

The advices from Rio de Janeiro to-day state that the home Six per Cent. Stock (into which the holders of Brazilian railways have the option of converting their shares) was steadily maintained at par, ex dividend.

AFFAIRS IN AMERICA.

The steamer Canadian, on Thursday, brought advices from New York to the 26th of January. Stocks were rather flatter, Illinois Central shares being last quoted 80; New York and Erie,  $36\frac{1}{2}$ ; and New York Central,  $79\frac{3}{4}$ . The exchange on London, however, was again better, at  $106\frac{1}{2}$  to 107. The quantity of sovereigns in New York is so large, and the difficulty of getting gold recoined so great, that some of the advices express a belief that, should the exchange recover to  $107\frac{1}{2}$ , sovereigns will begin to be sent back to England in lieu of bills.

According to recent New York advices, the total of gold received from this side had reached £2,166,000, leaving £915,000 yet to arrive. Of the amount received, however, about £1,000,000 or £1,200,000 had not yet passed into circulation, owing to delay at the Mint.

STOPPAGE OF A PRIVATE BANK.

Messrs. Ledgard and Sons, bankers, of Poole and of Ringwood (Dorset), have stopped payment. This is an old established and very respectable though small firm, and the event has occasioned a good deal of surprise. It is a bank of issue, and the amount of its fixed circulation is £11,856. There does not appear to have been any immediate want of funds, as there is some amount in hand in London. The London agents are Messrs. Rogers, Olding, and Co., who are fully covered. The cause of the stoppage is conjectured in some quarters to arise from too large advances having been made to shipping or other firms. A favourable impression prevails at present with regard to the probable result of the liquidation, but the amount of the liabilities has not transpired.

THE CORFU AND OTRANTO TELEGRAPH.

A telegram received to-day by the Mediterranean Extension Telegraph Company announces the successful submersion of the telegraph cable between Corfu and Otranto, a distance of about seventy miles.

THE SOUTH ITALIAN RAILWAYS.

It is stated that Messrs. Adami and Lemmi are now in negotiation with the Sardinian Government regarding the South Italian Railways, of which they have the concession, and that the preliminary arrangements have been already made.

STOCK EXCHANGE DISCIPLINE.

The following resolution has just been unanimously adopted by the Stock Exchange Committee, and posted up in the house. It speaks for itself:—

Mr. Theodore Habershon having been found guilty of disgraceful and dishonourable conduct in a transfer for a principal, wherein he practised gross and systematic deception, which he attempted to conceal by means of a fictitious cheque; a false entry in his books; and also by statements utterly devoid of truth made to the Committee during their investigation of the case. Resolved:— "That Mr. Theodore Habershon has incurred the extreme penalty contained in Rule 17, and that he be expelled from the Stock Exchange."

By order of the Committee. (Signed) GEORGE LOVELESS, Secretary.

BUENOS AYRES BONDS.

It is understood that Messrs. Baring Brothers and Co. will take immediate steps for carrying out the exchange of each £500 Buenos Ayres Six per Cent. Bonds for five new bonds of £100 each. Certificates will probably be issued, representing the new £100 bonds, pending the formalities connected with the signature of the latter by the proper authorities at Buenos Ayres.

Messrs. Baring Brothers and Co. have published the correspondence which has taken place between Mr. David Robertson, M.P., and the Government of Buenos Ayres, with regard to the conversion of the bonds of £500 into others of £100 each. Messrs. Baring add that they "will be prepared as soon as practicable to carry into effect the arrangements referred to."

THE JAMAICA COTTON GROWING COMPANY.

All efforts to promote the production of cotton must be regarded with approbation. The prospectus has just been issued of the Jamaica Cotton-Growing Company (Limited). The capital is fixed at £20,000, so that the experiment about to be instituted in Jamaica is not framed upon any immoderate basis. The object is to procure a supply of good cotton by means of free labourers. The chief originators of the company are persons who have long lived in the West Indies, and have acquired great experience as to the capabilities of those colonies.

THE INDIA COTTON COMPANY.

Mr. Nathaniel Alexander, of the firm of Messrs. N. Alexander, Son, and Co., and Mr. Edgar P. Stringer, of the firm of W. S. Lindsay and Co., have joined the Board of the India Cotton Company. The share list will be closed, as regards country applications, to-morrow (Saturday) evening. The London list was closed this (Friday) evening.

THE ALLEGED FRAUD IN THE TALLOW TRADE.

At the Mansion-house, on Tuesday, Robert Fraser North, of the firm of Nickoll and North, tallow-brokers, was placed at the bar, charged with obtaining by fraudulent means warrants for the delivery of tallow. The prisoner was remanded until Monday next. Mr. Alderman Rose, who presided, acceded to the application for bail, but required two securities of £4,000 each.

RAILWAY TRAFFIC.

The Brighton railway traffic return shows this week an increase of £321; the South-Eastern an increase of £837; the London and North-Western, an increase of £2,774; the Great Western, an increase of £2,674; the Great Northern, an increase of £1,084; the London and South-Western, an increase of £991; the Eastern Counties, an increase of £167; the Lancashire and Yorkshire, an increase of £1,620; the Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire, an increase of £459; the Midland, an increase of £3,423, principally in the merchandise and mineral traffic; the North-Eastern, an increase of £3,118; and the Caledonian, an increase of £1,344.

The traffic receipts of the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada for the week ending January 19, were £11,414 sterling, being £1,120 more than in the corresponding week of last year.

The traffic receipts of the Great Western Railway of Canada for the week ending January 18, were £8,975 sterling, being £2,368 more than in the corresponding week of last year.

The traffic on the 748 miles of the South-Austrian line of the Lombardo-Venetian Railway Company for the week ending January 28, was £33,337, being £5,240 more than in the corresponding week of 1860 on 748 miles; and that on the Lombardo-Venetian line, £4,010, showing an increase of £1,036.

RAILWAYS.

The select committee of share and bondholders of the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada have issued their first report. The committee have taken a considerable amount of evidence, but consider that until the report of the three commissioners appointed by the Canadian Government to investigate the position of the undertaking, which is expected in a few weeks, shall have been received, it would be premature to send from this country any second commission of inquiry. Meanwhile the committee feel that the proper course for the share and bondholders will be to present a petition to the Canadian Legislature, which will assemble about the end of the present month, for relief generally, leaving it to the wisdom of the members of the Assembly to determine the manner in which it may best be given. A petition in that sense, which will lie at the offices of the company, has accordingly been prepared, and assigns a number of cogent reasons why relief must be accorded, in the interest of the province as well as of the company.

Subjoined is a statement (from Mr. Slaughter's Weekly List) of the railway calls falling due in the month of February. The sum to be paid is moderate:—

The report of the directors of the San Paulo (Brazilian) Railway Company states that the progress of the works is in all respects highly satisfactory, and that all their experience fully confirms the views originally entertained of the soundness and favourable prospects of the line. Of the call made in November, only £900 remains at present unpaid. The directors express their sense of the support and co-operation which they have received from the Brazilian authorities here and abroad.

A general meeting of the Dublin and Meath Railway Company is called for the 15th inst., at Dublin, and will be made special, to approve a Bill, enabling the company "to relinquish the junction of their main line with the Midland Great Western Railway of Ireland, and to substitute an extension direct to Dublin, with a branch."

The half-yearly meeting of the Mid-Kent Railway Company is called for the 18th inst.

The half-yearly meeting of the Norfolk Railway Company is called for the 26th inst., and that of the Victoria Station and Pimlico Railway Company for the 20th inst.

The half-yearly meeting of the Salisbury and Yeovil Railway Company is called for the 28th instant, and will be made special, to authorise the consolidation of the shares into stock.

The fourth call of £2 is to be paid on the shares in the Hereford, Hay, and Brecon Railway Company by the 25th inst.; and the tenth and final call of £1 on the shares in the Nottingham and Grantham Railway and Canal Company by the 1st of March.

The railway between Riga and Dunaburg is so far advanced that an experimental train went over it a few days ago, accomplishing the distance between the two towns in eight hours. When the line shall be quite completed, it is believed that the journey will only occupy from five to six hours.

BANKS.

A further call of £3, completing the moiety of the capital which is required by the royal charter before the commencement of banking business, is to be paid on the shares in the London and South African Bank by the 4th of March.

The annual meeting of proprietors of the Bank of Egypt is called for the 25th inst.

A vacancy has to be filled up in the direction of the Bank of Australasia in consequence of the decease of Alderman Sir George Carroll.

ASSURANCE COMPANIES.

At the annual meeting of proprietors of the Law Life Assurance Office, held on Saturday last, the chairman (Mr. J. Young) referred to the directors' report, as furnishing matter for great congratulation. During its existence of thirty-six years, the society has paid in claims and bonuses a sum of no less than £5,000,000 sterling, notwithstanding which it has still a fund of £5,022,542. In spite of the prevailing competition it has transacted more new business in the past year than in the previous one. The increase in the assets for the past year, after payment of all claims, surrenders, and outgoings, was £93,912. Out of the profits the Board propose to pay a dividend of £3. 1s. per share, free of Income-tax. The projectors' guaranteed fund on the 31st December last was £778,141, and the Assurance fund £4,217,761. The report was unanimously adopted, and thanks were voted to the chairman.

A special general meeting of the Law Life Assurance Society is convened for the 15th instant, to confirm the resolution passed at the meeting on the 2nd instant, for altering the deed of settlement.

At the first general meeting on Tuesday of the Ocean Marine Insurance Company a dividend of 5 per cent. was declared, as recommended in the directors' report, which was adopted. This document has already been given in the MONEY MARKET REVIEW.

A petition for the winding-up of the British Provident Life and Fire Assurance Society is to be heard before Vice-Chancellor Kindersley on the 15th instant.

OTHER PUBLIC COMPANIES.

The annual general meeting of shareholders in the City of London Brewery Company (Limited) took place on Thursday. The gross profit during a period of eleven months has reached £43,155, out of which a dividend of six per cent. per annum, both on the preference and ordinary shares, was declared. The amount carried over to the reserve fund is £1,704; leaving a balance of £754 to be carried to the credit of the next half-year's account. In concluding their report the directors remark:—"Making due allowance for the unfavourable weather throughout the past year for the consumption of ale and beer, and the great and unforeseen rise in the price of malt and hops, the directors think that, when they can lay before the shareholders a statement showing a bona fide gross profit approaching £50,000 a-year, they are fully warranted in stating that the successful establishment of the company is now placed beyond all question."

At the meeting on Thursday of the Mediterranean Extension Telegraph Company the directors' report was agreed to. It stated that they were unable to recommend at present any dividend on the original shares, but expressed an opinion that the dividend should be paid on the first issue of preference capital. The directors are hourly in expectation of receiving a telegram announcing the safe submersion of the cable for connecting Corfu and Otranto.

The directors of the Rhymney Iron Company have declared a half-yearly dividend of 15s. upon each £50 share, and 4s. 6d. on each £15 share.

The half-yearly report of the directors of the Peel River Land and Mineral Company, to be submitted at the meeting on the 15th inst., congratulates the proprietors on the highly satisfactory state of the live stock, and on the prospect of more than an average wool clip, with an adequate supply of labour for shearing it. The prices for wool continue good, and offer a fair prospect for the new clip.

The annual meeting of the Berlin Water Works Company is convened for the 14th inst.; the half-yearly meeting of the General Steam Navigation Company for the 26th inst.; that of the Thames Haven Dock Company for the 18th inst.; that of the Peel River Land Company for the 15th inst.; and a general meeting of the London Cemetery Company for the 13th inst., to declare a dividend.

THE STOCK AND SHARE MARKETS.

The English funds, upon the whole, have not been quite so firm as last week, yet retain considerable steadiness, especially if regard be had to the pressure for money. Consols, which closed on Friday last at 92½ for the 7th March, left off to-day at 92½ to ¼. For money the last price was 91½ to 92. The market was rendered dull early in the week by the unsatisfactory character of the speech of the Emperor of the French.

The official list of to-day's actual business in the English Funds, Exchequer Bills, and Indian Government Securities, is annexed:—

Three per Cent. Consols, for money, 92, 91½, 92, 91½; ditto for account (March 7), 92½, 91½, 92, 91½; Three per Cents. Reduced, 91½, 92, 91½; New Three per Cents., 91½, 92, 91½, 92, 91½, 92, 91½, 92; Thirty Years' Annuities, expiring in April, 1885, 16½; Bank Stock, 231, 233; India Stock, 219, 218½; ditto, Five per Cent. Stock, 99½, 99½; ditto for account, 99½, 98½, 99½; ditto Four per Cent. Debentures, 1858, 95½; ditto 1859, 95; Five per Cent. "enfaced" Rupee Paper, 95; and Exchequer Bills, 5s., 3s., 1s. dis., par.

At the monthly settlement, this week, the "continuation" on Consols to the 7th March was 5-16 to ¾ per cent., or at the rate of about 5 per cent. per annum, indicating an adequate supply of stock.

Exchequer Bills rose this afternoon to 4s. dis. to par—a somewhat remarkable feature considering the pressure for money.

Owing to the favourable character of the explanations given by Sir Charles Wood yesterday with regard to the Indian finances, a rise of ½ per cent. occurred yesterday in the rupee paper. The Five per Cent. was last quoted to-day 94 to 95; and the Five-and-a-Half per Cent., 100 to 101.

In the Foreign Stock Market business has not been by any means active. Mexican Bonds exhibit a partial reaction from last week's improvement. Turkish Bonds are flat, owing to the growing embarrassments of the Turkish Government, and to the delay in the remittance of the dividend due on the 1st of March on the loan of 1858. Peruvian Bonds are firmer, and Sardinian flat.

The nominal closing quotations of the principal Foreign Stocks this afternoon are given below:—

The market for British Railway Stock has shown decided depression. In nearly every instance prices have fallen, and in some cases the reduction is severe, particularly in Great Western. Much disappointment has been occasioned by the dividends announced this week (as noticed in another column). The principal sales have been for account of speculative holders in the provinces.

The following shows the closing prices of the principal British Railway Stocks to-day, and the result of the week's variations. The share list in detail will be found in another column:—

Red Sea Telegraph shares have rallied to 17 $\frac{3}{4}$  to 18 $\frac{1}{4}$ , owing to an increasing belief, that whatever may be the nature of the measures proposed by Government, they must tend to consolidate the company's original guarantee.

There have been some transactions in the shares of the Trust and Agency Company of Australasia at  $\frac{3}{4}$  prem.

The closing quotations for shares in new undertakings to-day were as follow:—Ocean Marine Insurance, 2 $\frac{5}{8}$  to  $\frac{7}{8}$  prem.; Thames and Mersey Marine,  $\frac{5}{8}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$  prem.; Universal Marine Insurance, 1 $\frac{1}{8}$  to  $\frac{1}{4}$  prem.; London and Provincial Marine, par to  $\frac{1}{8}$  prem.; East India Irrigation,  $\frac{3}{8}$  to  $\frac{1}{4}$  dis.; East India and London Shipping,  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$  prem.; and India Cotton,  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{3}{8}$  prem.

AMERICAN SECURITIES.

The report of Mr. E. F. Satterthwaite, dated Thursday, is annexed:—

Since our last, the market in London for American securities has been firmer, but the recent advices being unfavourably regarded have produced a dull feeling. Until politics assume a more settled character we cannot expect investments to be freely made as heretofore. Illinois shares, which advanced during the week to 25, have declined to 29 $\frac{1}{2}$  discount, closing 29 bid. Erie shares advanced to 32 $\frac{1}{2}$ , and close at 29.

With regard to the position of the Detroit and Milwaukee Railway Company, Mr. Satterthwaite says:—

We are informed that the bondholders are steadily coming in to the proposed arrangement for reorganising this Company. The First Mortgage Bondholders appear willing, for the sake of harmonious action, to fund their over-due coupons, and those to come due up to and including that of 15th May, 1862, rather than to stand upon their position as holders of a first mortgage on the property, and proceeding to sell the railroad under it, in satisfaction of their own just claims. In the statement put forward by the Great Western of Canada Company, in reference to Detroit and Milwaukee affairs, we do not find an account of the existing floating liability of the Company, or of the sums ordered by the Court to be paid in cash, neither do we find any account of how the net earnings shown to have been made have been appropriated.

The London agents of the Illinois Central Railway Company on Wednesday received the following report:—

Office of the Illinois Central Railroad,
New York, January 22, 1861.

Gentlemen,—We have had unsettled weather the past week. It has finally cleared up cold, and it is reported that the Illinois river is very low, and closed with firm ice. Mr. Arthur writes that he looks for 75,000 dols. traffic this week, for the Southern trade is good, and cars are in demand.

The land commissioner has collected 48,500 dols. this month, and the sales are 122,366 dols. He writes that inquiries for land are pouring in from all parts of the country. We are every day strengthened in our belief that the political troubles will build up the North-western States with rapidity. The census just taken shows a gain of 3,000,000 in the six States in the last ten years; nearly one third of this was in Illinois.

The position of Illinois as the greatest grain-producing State is now so marked, that this comparative ratio of increase must continue, especially under the present difficulties in the Southern States. It is scarcely necessary to say that the demand for, and value of, land will keep pace with the increase of population.

Yours respectfully,

(Signed)
Messrs. Robert Benson and Co., London.

THOS. E. WALKER,
Chairman Ex. Committee.

THE SPELTER TRADE.

The circular of Messrs. Von Dadselzen and North states that the misunderstanding between Denmark and Prussia on the Schleswig-Holstein question has an influence on the spelter market, sellers for future delivery requiring the insertion of a clause in such contracts that they shall be void in case of war.

THE BANK OF ENGLAND.

A special General Court of Proprietors of the Bank of England was held on Thursday, the Governor, Mr. Bonamy Dobree, in the chair, pursuant to a notice which was issued on Saturday last, and the appearance of which excited great attention. The business to be considered was a proposal from the Chancellor of the Exchequer to modify the terms for the management by the Bank of the public debt. It appears that the allowance at present paid under the Act of 1808 is £340 annually per million up to 600 millions, and £300 per million beyond that limit, terminable annuities being reckoned at 25 years' purchase. These terms it is intended to reduce to £300 in the first instance, and £150 in the second, with a stipulation that annuities of originally more than 50 years to run shall be reckoned at 15 years' purchase, and those for a less term at 10 years, and that the payment of £4,000 per annum, termed "house-money," and the £1,579 on account of South Sea debt shall be discontinued. By this change the allowance to the Bank, which, under the present arrangement, is £244,883, will be reduced by £50,021. It is, however, provided that the new plan shall remain in force for 25 years certain. It was stated that, after mature deliberation, the directors of the Bank had resolved to recommend the proprietors to accede to the measure. They have had long interviews with the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and have pointed out that the Bank under the existing arrangement is not overpaid. These representations, however, were unsuccessful, and the question ultimately terminated in the present proposal. In the discussion that took place the chief point relied upon was the desirableness of effecting an arrangement with the officers of the Crown not liable to be suddenly changed, and this advantage the new scheme was held to possess, as it is to remain undisturbed for twenty-five years. In answer to questions, it was mentioned that the present proposal has nothing to do with the Bank Charter Act of 1844, and merely involves the alteration of the clause in the Act of 1808, vesting the management of the debt in the Bank, by which the remuneration of the Bank is fixed. With reference to a suggestion of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, it was announced that increased facilities will be afforded to the public in the transfer of stock and payment of dividends, but that some of the changes mentioned by the Government would be impracticable on the extensive scale proposed. The periods during which the transfer books are closed are to be shortened. Ultimately, a resolution acceding to the terms specified, which had been moved by Mr. Prescott, and seconded by Alderman Salomons, M.P., was agreed to unanimously. The attendance was numerous and influential.

The following is the text of the reply addressed by the Bank to the Chancellor of the Exchequer:—

"Bank of England, Feb. 6, 1861.

"Sir,—We have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 31st ult., which we have submitted to the consideration of the Court of Directors, and they have resolved to recommend to the Court of Proprietors to accept the proposals of her Majesty's Government, contained in the letter of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, dated the 31st January, 1861, for regulating the remuneration to the Bank of England for the management of the National Debt, for the period of twenty-five years.

"As these proposals involve a very considerable reduction in what has always been regarded as only an adequate remuneration for the services performed and the risks incurred, the Court of Directors desire to express to her Majesty's Government, that they are induced to accede to this reduction, mainly because the combined management of the national debt, and of the collateral department of issue and banking, enable them to exercise a very important economy in the labour charge, and in the other expenses of bank administration.

"The directors will also be prepared to make arrangements for facilitating transfers in the public funds, by limiting the closing of the books to the shortest period possible; but for this purpose the authority of Parliament will be necessary; and in regard to the payment of dividends to the fund-holder at places where the Bank has branches, the views of her Majesty's Government shall be carried out to the utmost practicable extent.—We have the honour to be, sir, your most obedient and humble servants, (Signed) "BONAMY DOBREE, Governor.

"ALFRED LATHAM, Deputy-Governor.

"To the Right Hon. the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Downing-street."

LONDON AND COUNTY BANK.

The half-yearly meeting of proprietors of the London and County Bank took place on Thursday afternoon, Mr. W. Nicol, M.P., presiding, when the report recommending a dividend of 6 per cent. for the past six months, making 11 per cent. for 1860, free of Income-tax, was adopted unanimously. £15,000 was also carried to the reserve, which now stands at £125,000. The progress of the business has been satisfactory, the amount due to customers showing an increase compared with the previous year of £557,000. The augmentation, however, was not so large in the second half of the year as in the first, owing to the unfavourable harvest, the farmers not having been able to increase their balances, but rather requiring assistance, which the bank have readily afforded. The gross profit in the past six months is larger than on any previous occasion, and no losses of any importance have been sustained, nor are any anticipated. The cash in hand is rather higher than last half-year, from exceptional circumstances. The cash of the bank at call with the discount houses is less, the difference of £337,000 being more profitably employed in discounting commercial bills. The investments in Government securities show an augmentation of £101,000. There is an increase in the expenditure, owing chiefly to Income-tax. Notice has been given of an appeal to the House of Lords from the decision lately given in the Irish courts in favour of the claim of the bank upon certain estates belonging to the late John Sadleir. The directors have no reason to anticipate an adverse result, but have increased the reserve so as to be prepared for any contingency. In the year 1860, 2,694 new accounts were opened, making the present total 27,186. The new branch at Shoreditch, founded after the failure of Davies and Co., the Shoreditch bankers, is going on well. Owing to the assistance rendered on that occasion to Davies's customers a large number have transferred their accounts to the London and County, and many new ones from the neighbourhood have been opened. The Islington branch is also proceeding favourably. Since the 1st of January £45,000 has been received from Ireland, and the greater part of the property is now sold. The Westminster property is receiving considerable improvements and the rental is increasing. The auditors reported that they have personally examined the securities and the balance at the bank, and that, in their opinion, the checks adopted at the branches are as good as can be devised. The report and accounts will be found in our advertisement columns.

PETROLEUM, THE NEW ITEM OF AMERICAN COMMERCE.

Annexed is a communication (says the Times' City Article) containing some precise particulars as to the sources of production in America of the Petroleum, or Rock Oil, which promises to exercise a most important influence in adding to the wealth of the country, and also in improving the traffic of the several lines of railway over which it has to be transported. The only question regarding the worth of the discoveries seems now to relate to the probable permanence of the yield. If the experience in this respect should be satisfactory, the annual money value of the article is likely to rival that of some of the richest branches of existing industry. The railway lines which seem at present to be mostly interested in the matter are—first, the Atlantic and Great Western, a new road which connects with the New York and Erie; and, secondly, the Great Western of Canada, several wells being alleged to have been found on the flats of the Thames about a mile from the Bothwell station on that line. For a long time similar oil deposits are known to have existed on the banks of the Irawady, in Birmah, but they are worked as a Royal monopoly. The belief is that they have always yielded steadily, and commanded a good market, notwithstanding the absence of facilities and enterprise in that region, and any information that might be furnished with regard to them would now be peculiarly opportune:—

“Erie, Pennsylvania, United States, Jan. 3.

“Sir,—From a recent paragraph in your City Article, I am glad to find that Petroleum, as a new item of American commerce, is likely soon to attract the notice in England its importance demands, and I write to define correctly the districts of its production, and to furnish some additional information. If you have Colton's or any other large map of Western Pennsylvania you will observe that the place called Union Mills is situated in Erie county, Pennsylvania, instead of New York State, and that Oil-creek, a branch of the Allegheny River, has its origin a few miles south of Union, and discharges its waters in the Allegheny, at the distance of about 30 miles. Ever since my earliest recollection (30 years or more), and for a time whereof the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, oil has been obtained from the surface of the water of Oil-creek in eddies, by spreading a woollen blanket on the water, and then wringing out the oil, and been used for medicinal purposes, by external applications, for rheumatism, &c., and sold under the name of ‘Seneca oil,’ from the Seneca tribe of Indians, who at one time roamed over this part of the State. About eighteen months ago a Mr. Drake sunk a well at Titusville, on Oil-creek, by way of experiment, to the depth of about 74 feet, and had the good fortune to strike a vein of oil, the product of which has yielded him a handsome fortune. His success incited others to make experiments, and the whole country for more than a hundred miles on the Allegheny River and along Oil-creek has been carefully examined, with the result that fortunes are being rapidly realised by many. I am not correctly informed as to the number of wells on Oil-creek, but they are numerous. At Tidionte, in Warren county, further up the Allegheny, 17 wells are in operation, producing not less than 10,000 gallons per day. There are probably a hundred wells more being sunk at Tidionte, and within three miles each way. The ‘Crescent Oil Company,’ an incorporation having their business office at this city, own a large tract of land at Tidionte, and are producing great quantities of oil. By the 1st of April next they will have at least twenty wells in operation. At Mecca, a small town in the eastern part of the State of Ohio, is a large tract of oil country, which is now being worked, in which the Aurora Oil Company of this city are largely interested. Considerable quantities are also produced from wells on the little Kanawha River in North-Western Virginia. The supply obtained also from a large territory on the Thames River, in Canada West, is almost fabulous. These several oil territories are favourably situated for getting the oil to market. From Titusville and Tidionte during the season of navigation the oil can be run down the river in flat boats to Pittsburg at a very low price. Tidionte is 14 miles from the railway; Titusville, 22 miles; Mecca, 9 miles; and the Canada oil lands, from 3 to 10 miles. The wells are mere holes in the ground, about 6 inches in diameter. They are dug by driving cast-iron pipes, 4 inches inside diameter, to the rock, varying in depth from 10 to 60 feet. After finding a “good show” of oil, a pump is put in the well driven by steam, and the oil and water pumped into large vats holding a hundred barrels each, the oil rising to the top while the water is drawn off at the bottom.

“The crude oil is sold readily at 1s. 2d. to 1s. 4d. sterling per gallon at the well, and the barrels paid for extra. It makes a better light when refined than any other burning fluid I have ever seen—second only to best coal gas, with no liability to explode like many illuminating fluids that have been from time to time offered to the public. It is also in its raw state an excellent lubricator.

“The phenomena produced upon opening some of these wells are very singular. One opened at Tidionte, a week ago, spouted the oil and water to the height of 60 feet, forced by the gas, the generation of which seems at all times to be going on.

“This new trade is worthy the attention of your oil dealers, and I hope will receive it. The supply seems inexhaustible. Wells that commenced pumping at the rate of 160 gallons per day, are now pumping six or seven times that amount, while a few, from which at their opening the oil was forced in large quantities by the pent-up gas, have fallen off; but if the pump is stopped a few days (as has happened by the breakage of machinery), the oil commences to flow of its own accord. Most of the works are rude, and scarcely a well is worked to its capacity. Much of the oil territory is in the forest, the fuel for generating steam is green, and the whole thing is in its infancy. When a year shall have passed, and experience shall have taught owners and operators the true system to be pursued, the supply will be very much increased. The demand seems to augment with the supply. The refineries are not able to fulfil their orders, and it is scarcely used in the rural districts. I hope scientific men, as well as dealers, will turn their attention to it. It is understood here that large quantities of a similar product from the valley of the Irawady finds a market in London. How is this?

THE PROPOSED NORTHFLEET DOCKS. By John Loude Taberner. Effingham Wilson, Royal Exchange.

THIS pamphlet cleverly advocates the formation of additional dock accommodation for the port of London, and points out the many advantages that would be derived by forming Docks at Northfleet, near Gravesend. Among other advantages, it is mentioned that the proposed site comprises an area of 185 acres, which for upwards of a century had undergone the process of excavations for chalk, so that a deep waterway quay of nearly a mile in length may be said to be already formed capable of easy access at all states of the tide. The cost of constructing wet and dry docks at Northfleet and for the purchase of the freehold, &c., is estimated at £1,500,000, being about one-half the cost of the St. Katharine Docks.

It is somewhat remarkable that not a single dry dock exists, in connection with any of the wet docks on the North side of the Thames, if we except that of the Thames Graving Dock Company, adjoining the newly constructed Victoria Docks. Even within the last few years vessels requiring repairs were, for want of dry dock accommodation, compelled to go as far as Hull, no similar docks having been formed between Harwich and the port of Hull. We can build the largest ship in the world in the Thames, but when she requires repairing, we have no place to receive her, but she must go to Milford Haven to be dry docked. This remarkable fact affords abundant evidence that there is a want within the port of London of dry docks where ships of any size may be overhauled.

The author of this pamphlet has brought together a large amount of interesting matter in his advocacy of the proposed new docks, well worthy the attention of the shipping and commercial interests, especially as regards the crowded state of the Thames from Woolwich to London Bridge. During the up-tides the river is often most seriously obstructed. Complaints of the damage to vessels navigating the Pool on such occasions are of constant occurrence.

THE CANADIAN ALMANACK. London Agent, G. Street, Cornhill.

THIS is a very complete work. Upon every imaginable subject connected with Canada it affords full and valuable information. The commercial details and statistics are copious and trustworthy, and must commend the work to the attention of all interested in the trade or finances of Canada. The general inquirer also will find a large mass of matter which is not to be met with in any other form equally accessible.

JAMAICA COTTON-GROWING COMPANY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE “MONEY MARKET REVIEW.”

Sir,—Your readers who take an interest in Jamaica will be glad to find that the people of that country are at length alive to the importance of growing cotton on an extensive scale, for the supply of our manufacturers. Mr. Codrington, of Manchional, writes to me, that he is preparing to send home cotton picked from trees that were planted fifteen or sixteen years ago; that he is about to plant 100 acres; his father 50 acres, and many other estate-owners in the neighbourhood are willing to plant. The negro-settlers are eager to plant. They have over planted ground provisions which they find it difficult to sell, and are now applying to him for more land, or to plant to halves. He considers that 700 or 800 trees may be planted to the acre, and that 1lb. may be looked for as the return from each tree; so that 600lbs. or 700lbs. the acre may be considered a moderate crop. He states that he has it from good authority that persons have seen the trees in years past bear such heavy crops of cotton that the branches had to be propped up. The Wesleyan ministers, as well as those of other denominations, encourage the efforts of the people. He states that 2½ acres of land in arrow-root, planted by some people who could get no work, gave them a money return of £72. The wages in his district average from 1s. to 6d. per day, and there are no sugar estates, but 200 acres of canes he has planted, within thirty miles of his residence, although the population is at least 6,000. Now, when it is considered that there are above 30,000 negro freeholders in Jamaica, and that each family could, with ease, cultivate five acres, it is obvious that a large supply of cotton may be exported from this quarter before the end of the year. If each family should produce seven bales of cotton, in addition to what may be grown by estate owners, we may reckon on 300,000 bales. The example will not be lost on other colonists.—I am, Sir, yours truly, 55, Charing-cross, Feb. 6, 1861.

STEPHEN BOURNE.

THE BANK FAILURE AT POOLE.—This town was thrown into a state of great excitement on Monday last, consequent on the suspension of business of Ledgerd and Sons, whose bank has for many years been most widely known, and in the management and safety of which the most implicit confidence has been placed. Up to Tuesday evening no statement or explanation of any kind had been issued from the Bank, and rumour was busy as to the cause of suspension, and the probable result to the unfortunate depositors and holders of notes. It is currently reported and believed that the recent failure of a large mercantile firm in the town, with whom it is supposed the bank had extensive dealings, is the primary cause of the suspension. The town is in a state of great consternation, many of the tradesmen having the whole of their floating capital in the bank, and a communication to the creditors as to the state of affairs is most anxiously looked for.—Sherborne Journal.

Mines.

FRIDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 8.

THE Mining Market this week has shown a tendency to improvement. The inquiries have increased, and more confidence is shown. Wheal Seton shares have risen considerably.

A fair amount of business was done to-day in the mining market, Wheal Seton shares continue in request, and are very strong. There was also a good demand for Bryn Gwiog, West Bryn Gwiog, North Minera, East Caradon, West Caradon, West Sharp Tor, South Wheal Frances, Wheal Buller, Wheal Crebor, North Treskerby, Alfred Consols, and Dale mine shares.

The following prices are reported to us from the Stock Exchange this evening:—

There are continued inquiries for St. John del Rey mining shares. There is also more demand for those of the Nerbudda Coal and Iron Company, which have been marked 4 and 4½. Colonial mining shares are steady.

The Stock Exchange Committee, on Monday, appointed this day (Friday) a special settling day in the shares of the Wheal Ellen Mining Company (Limited) of South Australia, but they are not to be marked in the official list.

The annual meeting of the Clarendon Mining Company of Jamaica is convened for the 22nd inst.

The following has been received from the Mosely-green Coal and Coke Company:—"All arrangements having been completed, this property will at once be vigorously worked. Orders have been given by the directors for the immediate erection of the necessary machinery."

The despatches received by the St. John del Rey Mining Company show that the produce for November was 39,862 oitavas, and for twenty days of December, 23,922 oitavas. The cost for November was £9,202, and the profit for that month £5,833.

A special meeting of the United Mexican Mining Association is called for the 28th inst., to confirm the resolution passed at the recent meeting, determining the number of directors competent to constitute a court.

South Wheal Basset, on Tuesday, made a call of £1 per share.

Mr. G. F. Goodman, the secretary of the Watermouth Great Silver Lead Mining Company (Limited), has furnished us with the following report, received from Mr. Josiah H. Hitchins, dated Coombmartin, Feb. 2:—

I am glad to say that we are getting on very well with our preparatory work for the sinking of our engine shaft deeper, but I am more particularly glad to be able to say to you that our lode in the 20 fathom level, south, never looked anything like so well and promising altogether, and, indeed, so much like being close upon a good course of silver lead ore as at the present time. We prefer waiting, however, a few days or so longer (which will enable us to take down more of the lode and show the hanging wall) before entering fully into the particulars of the case. We have this day, however, broken from the lode in the level in question (the 20 south), stones of rich silver lead ore, much larger than any ever before broken by us since the commencement of our operations, and looking altogether at their mineralogical properties and combinations, together with the very promising general character of the lode, and the very congenial ground for silver lead ore formations that we are driving through, I am induced to believe, and indeed feel justified in believing, that the present "end" (that is to say, the 20 south) is not far off from such a decidedly valuable discovery as we have for many months past been very actively engaged in the pursuit of.

At the next sale, fixed for the 19th inst., 1,181 tons will be offered for sale, viz.:—Ookip, 197 tons; Wheal Maria, 190; Springbok, 45; Cuba, 371; Bearhaven, 164; Cobre, 89; Ballycummisk, 78; and English and Canadian, 47 tons.

On Thursday the standing orders of both Houses of Parliament were declared complied with in the case of the East India Irrigation Company, the object being the construction of works in the East Indies for the irrigation of land combined with navigable canals, and to afford additional means of transport and water supply. It is proposed to commence in the Deltas of the Mahanuddy and the Byturny, in the province of Orissa; and that the carrying out these objects will be of great public advantage, not only to the inhabitants of India, but to its commerce. Powers are proposed to be taken to enter into terms with the Secretary of State in Council, or the supreme local government for these purposes, and to raise in the first instance a capital of £2,000,000, with power to increase it.

The Produce and other Markets.

COLONIAL PRODUCE.

LONDON, FRIDAY AFTERNOON, FEB. 8.

There has not been any improvement in the Colonial Produce Markets, which continue rather quiet, and prices are nearly the same as at the close of last week. The low to middling descriptions of Sugar sell more freely at about 6d. decline, crystallised and fine grainy sorts finding ready buyers at extreme rates. The Coffee market has been very firm, and a few parcels Plantation Ceylon of the new crop offered by auction obtained full quotations. Rice is quiet, and several sales have occurred in soft grain descriptions at barely former prices. Pimento is  $\frac{1}{4}$ d. per lb. cheaper, owing to the large arrivals. Sales of Ginger have been made at fully 2s. per cwt. reduction. Other Spice exhibits little alteration to notice. The Tea market is steady, and the large public sales have gone off with fair spirit. As regards Rum, the market for West India descriptions has a more active appearance, while East India is still in some request. With a good demand, business was done in Cotton early in the week at rather stiffer prices, but there is now less disposition to buy.

THE TALLOW TRADE.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 8.

The Tallow Market presented the same dullness and inactivity in the earlier part of the week, as for some weeks previous, and the tendency of prices for Y.C., in all positions, hence to the end of the year, inclined downward—more particularly so for delivery in the later periods; but on its being known yesterday, that about 1,500 to 2,000 tons Y.C., on the spot, had been sold to the Moscow speculators, the market at once assumed more firmness, and prices advanced 3d. to 6d. per cwt.

It remains to be seen what will be the effect of this operation so far as relates to the course of speculation during the next few months. It is reported that the monopolists now hold nearly the whole of stock of Y.C. here available for contract purposes, while it is stated that there are many engagements for delivery up to March still uncovered, so that it is not unlikely prices may be forced for a time, pending settlements. But while that may be so, there would appear to be but little probability of quotations for "sorts" being disturbed; on the contrary, holders of those descriptions will doubtless continue to evince a desire to realise, irrespective of fictitious prices that may be current for Y.C. That this is a reasonable conclusion, the result of to-day's public sales is evidence.

To-day the market has been steady at the following quotations for Y.C., viz.: 60s. for fine tallow on the spot; 60s. for delivery in February and March; 58s. "buyers" for April to June; and 56s. 6d. to 57s. per cwt. for October to December.

The imports since Monday up to last evening have been 331 casks. The deliveries have been only 569 casks, and the present stock of all kinds is 72,266 casks, being a decrease of 271 casks when compared with the quantity on hand this day week.

Town Meltd.—The low comparative price (57s. 9d.) fixed last Friday has tended to a good demand. In some instances higher rates have been obtained. To-day "the Letter price" has been unaltered from 60s. 3d.—or say 57s. 9d. per cwt. net.

P. Y. C.—26 casks "unbracketed" of fair quality were sold at 56s. 6d. (one lot 56s. 9d.) per cwt., being very cheap.

South American.—The finer qualities of box tallow sold with fair competition, and chiefly at 3d. advance on last week's prices; the following being the rates obtained for the 269 boxes submitted, viz.:—59s. to 59s. 3d. for fine to very fine, hard and pure; 58s. to 58s. 6d. for rather dark, good body; and 55s. 9d. for rather dark and slightly dregged. Cask tallow, on the contrary, was in very limited request, and of 409 casks brought forward, only 41 casks were sold at 58s. 9d. for very fine, good body; 57s. 6d. for fine, and 55s. 6d. per cwt. for rather dark, deep yellow.

North American was in limited request. Of 85 casks submitted only 12 casks were sold at 58s. 6d. for fine, and 57s. 3d. to 57s. 6d. per cwt. for fair to good.

East India continues in limited request, and to sell at low comparative prices. Of 262 packages offered, 194 found buyers as follows: middling to dark, fair to good body, 55s. 3d. to 56s.; and 52s. 9d. to 54s. for weak and doubtful as to being wet.

Australian.—That offered was of very middling to common quality, and being held firmly the chief portion offered was bought in, only 12 casks of 73 offered being sold at 56s. 9d. for middling to fair, and 55s. 6d. to 55s. 9d. per cwt. for rather dark and rather strong smell.

Cocoa Nut Oil.—This market is in a very depressed state, and had sales been pressed, a decline of 2s. to 3s. per cwt. would have had to be submitted to, and hence the whole of the Cochin and Ceylon offered was bought in. 36 casks Sydney sold at low prices, viz.: 47s. 3d. for fair to good, down to 44s. 9d. to 45s. 6d. per cwt. for dark to middling.

Palm Oil continues very dull, and notwithstanding a decline of 1s. per cwt. was conceded—46s. having been accepted for fine Lagos—only a few casks were sold, the remainder being chiefly passed for want of an offer.

Palm Nut Oil was in fair request. Of 103 casks offered, 66 casks found buyers at 40s. to 40s. 3d. for fair quality but part dark, with one cask 39s. 6d. per cwt.

South American Horse Grease.—The 200 cases offered being held for 40s. were all bought in. At 39s. per cwt. there appeared to be buyers.—Furnished by Messrs. Culverwell, Brooks and Co., Brokers.

LIVERPOOL COTTON MARKET.

LIVERPOOL, FRIDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 8.

On Saturday an active demand prevailed for cotton, and the sales amounted to 12,000 bales. On Monday there was again a good inquiry, with sales to the extent of 12,000 bales, and prices showed an advance of about  $\frac{1}{4}$ d. per lb., compared with those current on the previous Friday. On Tuesday, however, the market was quiet, and the supply disposed of was only 3,000 bales, while prices were slightly easier. Flatness was the characteristic on Wednesday and Thursday, and the business comprised only 6,000 and 7,000 bales respectively. Compared with Friday last, prices of American are nearly  $\frac{1}{4}$ d. per lb. lower, and a slight reduction is also observable in Surat descriptions. Other kinds are without change.

[BY ELECTRIC TELEGRAPH.]

LIVERPOOL, FRIDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 8.

The market has been very quiet to-day, and the sales have reached only 6,000 bales, including 1,000 on speculation and for exportation. The imports to-day are 9,568 bales. The sales of the week amount to 48,790 bales (against 33,400 bales last week), of which 3,700 were taken on speculation, and 11,170 for exportation, and the imports to 99,264 bales. The stock now stands at 719,500 bales, being 58,600 bales over that of last week.

The Corn Trade.

GENERAL REMARKS.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 8.

Agricultural out-door labour has been actively pursued since our last report, and farmers have been fully engaged with ploughing and sowing, for which the ground appears to be in first-rate order. The autumn-sown wheat plants are generally recovering from the effects of late severe frost, but most of those sown at the beginning of winter wear a sickly appearance, a large portion of the seed in the ground not having germinated. The supply of home-grown wheat at most of the British markets held this week shows a further falling off of about 10 per cent., compared with the preceding eight days, which may be accounted for by farmers being now busy with preparing the land for spring tillage. The quantity of barley and oats brought forward this week has been to about the same extent as in the preceding one. The latest official returns of the quantity of grain sold in England and Wales were as follows:—Wheat, 70,416 qrs. at 55s. 6d.; barley, 78,223 qrs. at 40s.; oats, 16,771 qrs. at 23s. 3d. per qr.

The imports of wheat into the United Kingdom have again increased this week, compared with the returns of each of the three preceding weeks; the principal portion being still from the United States of America, including some from San Francisco. Flour continues to arrive chiefly from America. The quantity of barley imported has been reduced during the last fortnight to less than 10,000 qrs. per week. The quantity of imports may be considered to have stopped altogether, the quantity returned in the whole United Kingdom having been less than 1,000 qrs. in each of the last two weeks. The quantity of maize has increased to about 30,000 qrs. imported last week.

The British corn-trade has improved this week in tone, activity, and price, compared with the preceding se'nnight. Wheat, superior sorts, have been eagerly enquired after, at 1s. to 2s. per quarter over last week's prices, while inferior descriptions have been difficult to sell, without some concession. Flour is almost the same in value as last week. Barley and Oats are also mostly unaltered in price, notwithstanding the falling off in the imports. Maize has been in improved demand, at about 6d. per quarter over last week's prices. Beans and Peas are without material alteration in price—if anything, rather cheaper.

In Mark-lane to-day the attendance of the trade was small, and the tone very firm. Wheat—English, was in good demand, and last Monday's prices were firmly supported; foreign was inactive, at last Monday's rates. Flour—in fair demand, and tending upwards; Norfolk, 39s. to 40s. per 280 lbs. Barley—in moderate request, at fully last Monday's quotations. Oats—unaltered, at last Monday's prices. Beans and Peas are firm.

The half-yearly meeting of the South Yorkshire Railway Company is called for the 27th instant; that of the Wells and Fakenham Railway Company for the 28th instant; that of the Great Northern and Western of Ireland Railway Company for the 28th instant; and that of the Rhymney Railway Company for the 26th instant.

MANCHESTER AND SHEFFIELD AND SOUTH YORKSHIRE RAILWAYS.—Negotiations are proceeding between these companies, and are likely to have a successful termination, for a lease by the Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire of the South Yorkshire undertaking. In all probability the subject will be laid before the proprietors in the course of two or three weeks.

LANCASHIRE AND YORKSHIRE RAILWAY.—The half-yearly report of the directors states that the expenditure on capital account amounts to £251,542. The receipts of the company during the last half-year have amounted to £929,591, and the disbursements to £375,864. A considerable increase in the traffic receipts has taken place, which, if the severe weather had not interfered with the working, would have continued to show favourably to the present date, large quantities of traffic having been detained at the stations for want of the ability to move it. The net revenue applicable to the payment of dividend on the ordinary capital of the company is £384,815; and out of this the directors recommend the declaration of a dividend, at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, less Income-tax, carrying forward the balance, £22,007, to next half-year's account. The rolling stock of the company is in good order and condition. The estimate of capital expenditure for the past half-year, submitted to the last general meeting of proprietors, was £128,000. And £137,940 has been expended. The estimate of the requirements on capital account for the current half-year, is—for waggons, £16,000; carriages, £10,000; enlargement of stations and additional land, £80,000; engines, £26,000. The directors whilst applying to Parliament for other objects, have also thought it necessary to seek authority to enable the company to raise an additional capital of £500,000 beyond the cost of the new railways, for the enlargement of stations, increase of rolling stock, and the doubling of portions of the railway now worked as single lines.

COPIAPO EXTENSION RAILWAY.—On Wednesday the annual general meeting of the proprietors was held at the company's offices, New Broad-street; Mr. J. Labouchere in the chair. Mr. E. J. Cole (the secretary) read the advertisement convening the meeting, when the report was submitted, which stated that the balance-sheet exhibited a deficiency on capital account, arising from the outlay on plant and road, of £11,196, and the profit and loss account showed a profit on the traffic for the eleven months ending Nov. 30, of £1,130, from which had to be deducted the loss incurred to Dec. 31, 1859, of £922, leaving a balance of profit of £207. The traffic returns showed a gradual increase. It would thus be seen that a gradual increase had taken place in the quarterly returns, and according to recent advices from the managing director in Chile, a further important addition would be made to the present traffic immediately on the application of steam power instead of the haulage by mules. The first locomotive arrived at Caldera on Dec. 5, and the second locomotive was expected to reach Caldera about six weeks later. A general feeling having been expressed that it was exceedingly desirable proprietors should have the advantage of the presence of Mr. Wheelwright, the meeting was adjourned; previous to which a resolution was passed authorising the directors to issue debentures to the amount of £3,000, to bear an interest not exceeding seven per cent. A vote of thanks to the chairman was passed.

HEAD OFFICE.

21, Lombard-street, at present temporarily at the South Sea House, Threadneedle-street.

Report presented to the Shareholders of the London and County Bank, at the Half-Yearly Meeting, February 7, 1861.

WILLIAM NICOL, Esq., M.P., in the Chair.

Your Directors have the satisfaction to lay before the Proprietors of the Bank a statement of its affairs for the half-year ending the 31st of December last.

From the balance-sheet placed before you, which has been duly audited, it will be apparent that the net profit of the Bank for the half-year, after the several deductions of expenses (including Income-tax), rebate, interest to customers, and making the required provision for bad and doubtful debts, amounts to £48,728 14s. 11d., including the balance brought forward from the previous June of £8,708 19s. 7d.

From the above, the Directors recommend that a dividend be now declared of 6 per cent. for the last half-year, free of Income-tax, which, with 5 per cent. already paid, will make 11 per cent. for 1860. Your Directors propose a further addition of £15,000 to the reserve fund, and to place the remainder, £3,728 14s. 11d., to the credit of profit and loss new account.

In consequence of the lamented decease of James Andrew Durham, Esq., early in November last, your Directors have to announce that the vacancy thus occasioned has been filled by the election of Charles Salisbury Butler, Esq., M.P., to a seat at the Board.

The Directors retiring by rotation are—

John William Burmester, Esq.,
John Fleming, Esq., and William Champion Jones, Esq.,

all of whom are eligible for re-election, and offer themselves accordingly.

The dividend will be payable on and after the 16th instant.

Christopher Codrington, Esq. Jamaica.

The chief originators of this Company are persons who have long lived in the West Indies, and acquired great experience as to the capabilities of those colonies, especially Jamaica, to produce an abundant supply of good and cheap Cotton. Observation and experience convince them that, if the landed proprietors in that country, the capitalists in England, the manufacturers of Lancashire, and the friends of freedom generally, can be brought into harmonious co-operation, and their energies are directed to the growth of Cotton, first in Jamaica, and afterwards in Guiana, Trinidad, and Dominica, we shall soon be independent of the slave States of America, and obtain a sufficient supply of good Cotton by means of free labourers.

It is therefore intended to set on foot, without delay, an experiment in Jamaica, the extent, probable cost, and proceeds of which, together with a map of a Jamaica estate, and the opinions on the subject of many very distinguished statesmen, capitalists, and manufacturers, will be furnished to applicants, in a detailed prospectus, at 55, Charing-cross, London; at Messrs. Thomas Clegg, Clare, and Co.'s, 1, Mount-street, Manchester; or at Mr. W. Chater's, Lowestoft, Suffolk, to either of whom applications for Shares should be forthwith made.

The amount of Shares already subscribed is somewhat less than the sum necessary to insure the success of an experiment with only 500 acres of land (which will be £5,000); and, in case no more than this should be subscribed, the experiment will be commenced at once on this scale. Cotton to a considerable extent is now being sown in Jamaica, in anticipation of the operations of the Company, and it is believed that new cotton from thence will be in the market before the first of August next.

MINES, RAILWAYS, BANK, STEAM-SHIP, and INSURANCE SHARES BOUGHT, SOLD, or EXCHANGED.

Capitalists who seek safe and profitable investments, free from risk, should act only upon the soundest information; the market prices of the day are for the most part governed by the immediate supply and demand, together with the operations of speculators without reference to the bona fide merits of the property.

Mines afford a wider range for profit than any other public securities, and pay dividends bi-monthly, varying from 15 to 30 per cent. per annum. Instances frequently occur of young Mines rising in value 400 to 500 per cent. The undersigned devotes special attention to the above, and affords every information to capitalists, and effects purchases or sales upon the best possible terms.

President had sent despatches to the commander of the Brooklyn, ordering him not to enter Pensacola harbour, but to act strictly on the defensive, unless Fort Pickens should be attacked. The republicans had taken active measures for an adjustment on the basis of Mr. Crittenden's propositions. A large deputation of New York bankers and merchants had arrived at Washington, in order to endeavour to facilitate a compromise. The Texas Legislature was in favour of immediate secession. The stock market was steady. Money 7 per cent. Sterling bankers' bills 107.

Advices from New Zealand state that there had been no further aggressive movements. The arrival of the Robert Lowe had infused confidence. Trade at Melbourne is quiet. The Wallaroo copper mines have proved rich beyond all expectation.

The China mail reports no news of importance. The weather at Tien-tsin is intensely cold, but the condition of the troops is satisfactory. Lord Elgin is still at Shanghai. The rebels are quiet. The second instalment of the indemnity has been paid. Trade is generally very dull.

The rate of discount of the Bank of Belgium is reduced from 5 to 4 per cent.

FEB. 12.—A telegram, dated Gaeta, 6th Feb., states that a gunpowder magazine exploded. A general and fifty men were buried in the ruins. This explosion opened a breach at the extremity of the fortifications facing the sea. The Sardinians bombarded the city by land and by sea with great violence until midnight. Many houses have been burnt. General Ferrari and Duke Sangro are dead. Count Averspere and Majors Sangro and Sanseverino have had their legs amputated.

Another despatch, dated Gaeta, Feb. 9, says: The armistice expires at 10 o'clock to-day. Several persons remain buried in the ruins.

A despatch, dated Pesth, Feb. 13, says: The assembly of the Comitatus of Pesth has unanimously voted an address to the King, which says:—The royal rescript has destroyed the confidence which had been created by the imperial diploma of Oct. last. The law prohibits the payment of taxes until they have been voted by the Diet. Force alone could remove the citizens from the lawful ground they have taken up. An unreserved return to constitutional life alone can save the King and the country.

A despatch from Vienna states that the subscriptions to the new loan of 30,000,000 florins, amount altogether to 30,091,400 florins.

A despatch, dated Turin, Feb. 13, says: Gaeta has capitulated. To-morrow morning General Cialdini will occupy Mont Orlando and all the fortifications, and after the departure of the Royal family he will occupy the city. The garrison remain prisoners of war until Messina and Civitella del Tronto shall be surrendered. The King and the Queen, with their suite, will depart on board the French ship Mouette.

FEB. 15.—News from New York to Feb. 1. At Washington, on the 31st ult., Mr. Seward presented the New York petition favourable to the adoption of resolutions for an adjustment on the Border States plan. The impression gathered from Mr. Seward's speech was that the incoming administration had resolved upon a coercive policy towards the South should the endeavours for a peaceful settlement fail. Stocks dull and lower. Cotton dull. The Mint and Custom-house at New Orleans have been taken possession of by the Louisiana authorities.

A telegram from Berlin says: The conference on the affairs of Syria will be assembled about the 20th Feb., at Paris.

A telegram, dated Naples, Feb. 13, says: The Spanish Ambassador has sent to ask for a Spanish steamer, as he wishes to leave. Francis II. has sent the French Consul to ask for the means of leaving. Steamers go from here to Gaeta to-night. The enthusiasm is immense. The conditions of the surrender are not yet known.

The Bank of France Return, extending to yesterday, shows an increase of £1,600,000 in the bullion; a decrease of £1,720,000 in notes in circulation; and a decrease of £5,400,000 in the discounts.

THE BANK OF ENGLAND AND THE BANK OF FRANCE.

YESTERDAY (Friday) the Bank of England took the commercial public quite by surprise by raising the minimum rate of discount from 7 to 8 per cent. There appeared to be no cause at the moment for this fresh severity. On the Continent the value of money is far below that current here; it was known that the position of the Bank of France has greatly improved; the advance in the American Exchange, according to the last accounts from New York, is fairly supported; and Australian gold is flowing into the Bank of England. The only demand for specie for exportation just now is for India, which still requires silver. About £400,000 of the silver received by the Bank of England from the Bank of France was taken at the end of last week for shipment to the East. It is true that the bullion in the Bank is equally treasured upon, and the amount of currency in existence is equally curtailed, whether gold or silver be withdrawn. The silver drain, however, is not severe, nor of a character to warrant of itself a rise in the Bank charge to the exorbitant point now attained.

Although the feeling of surprise was general in the City, and is shown by the accounts since received to have been still more acute in the provinces, there has been the usual disposition to await the publication of the weekly return before passing judgment upon the Bank's action. That return is now before us, and we find in it no justification of the step just taken by the Bank. The figures will be found in the usual place. There is an increase of £793,988 in the "Other" Securities, an increase of £747,832 in the Deposits (Government and private), a decrease of £261,504 in the bullion, caused by the sale of silver referred to, and a decrease of only £73,235 in the reserve of notes. The policy of the Bank is unintelligible; and we are convinced that this will be the almost unanimous verdict of the commercial community. In the interest of trade, which has already too much to contend with, the matter deserves all the notice which it will receive.

It is said in quarters usually well informed that the Bank directors have been influenced by a feeling of timidity occasioned by the possibility of some further amounts of gold being shipped to America, in the event of the exchange not quickly advancing to a more satisfactory point. It certainly seems to us that, the coin and bullion in the Bank being still as much as £11,571,332, there is nothing in this contingency to warrant so severe a corrective as a rise to 8 per cent. It would have been time enough for the Bank to push measures of restriction further when the adverse movement actually sets in. Their policy ought to be regulated solely by their accounts; and in departing from this sound rule upon the present occasion the directors, if they have not committed a glaring error, have at least laid themselves open to severe criticism. For our own part, we cannot help tracing a connection between the Bank rule against the discount establishments and the present rise from 7 to 8 per cent. In other quarters, the amount of discount business carried on is much below the average. The bulk of the business of the market is consequently turned upon the Bank, and as the resources of that establishment are not sufficiently large to support so heavy a burden, the directors put up the rate in defence of their reserve. A rise in the Bank terms in order to check a drain of bullion is intelligible enough, but there is no such drain now.

The position taken up by the Bank of England becomes the more remarkable when contrasted with the great improvement which has taken place in the position of the Bank of France. The return of that establishment, extending to Thursday, the 14th inst., is stated in the telegrams just received to show the following changes:—

Increase in bullion	...	...	...	...	£1,710,000
Decrease in discounts	...	...	...	...	5,440,000
Decrease in notes in circulation	...	...	...	...	1,720,000

The rise in the rate of discount of the Bank of France to 7 per cent. seems to have been very efficacious. There has been a marked reflux of bullion, and, as a natural consequence, a cessation of the applications to the Bank for loans by the financial houses which transact the bullion business of the country. The remarkable decrease in the discounts is further promoted by the fact that accommodation can be obtained from the Paris bankers at a rate much below that of the Bank of France. Whilst the bullion has increased, the notes in circulation have diminished. The Return is encouraging at every point.

THE POSITION OF THE GREEK INTEREST.

THE public apprehensions as to the result of the ordeal to which the Greek interest has been subjected are beginning to subside. Nothing, indeed, can be more encouraging than the manner in which this interest has sustained its trials. The houses which have stopped payment during the last few weeks, though, for the most part, of respectable standing, have occupied only a third class rank as regards extent of business. It is worthy of remark, too, that in the majority of instances either large dividends are promised, or there is a hope of ultimate resumption of payment. The case of Messrs. Francis Ede, Son, and Co., makes no exception, for that is not a Greek house at all, but an English one, which has fallen into difficulty through attempting to force itself into a class of business which it would seem that the Greeks alone know how to conduct successfully. How the Greek community have managed to bear up under the suspicion and distrust of which they have been the object during the last two months is a matter of wonder to all who have the opportunity of intimate observation. At one time there was almost a kind of fortuitous combination amongst holders of money against the Greek houses. It was believed that the majority of them would succumb; and, accordingly, nearly every discounter began to reject Greek paper. The Bank of France took the lead, and its example was followed by many other bankers and money-lenders, both in France and England. This was a policy obviously calculated to produce the evil that was apprehended. If a body of traders have been in the habit of relying, and have even been encouraged by money-lenders to rely, upon liberal discount facilities, and are told suddenly that no more accommodation will be granted to them, so that they are required to take up at maturity all their running engagements without assistance of any kind, it stands to common sense that the step involves a great injustice and almost a breach of commercial faith. Any body of traders that are subjected without warning to so summary a treatment would probably find themselves compelled to stop payment en masse, though, perhaps, quite solvent. They have been accustomed to have capital provided for them. Cut off the supply, and they must stop, although their business may be of a remunerative character. We are not defending the over-issue of paper in the Greek trade: we are merely pointing to what must inevitably have been the result of the attitude recently assumed by the financial classes towards that trade, had it been persisted in. But the Greeks have found a great advantage in the very multiplicity of their engagements and in the magnitude of the amount for which bankers and discounters are virtually their creditors. It is easy for a banker to say to a firm which has had a large discount account open with him—"I do not like your paper, and I will discount no more of it: go elsewhere." But perhaps the customer may reply—"Very well; I cannot get accommodation elsewhere, for my trade is at present under a cloud; I shall stop payment to-morrow; you hold (say) £50,000 of my bills; my stoppage will bring down Messrs. So-and-so, and So-and-so; their fall will affect such and such others; how far their embarrassments will affect your bill-portfolio, you know best; my transactions, as I can prove to you, are legitimate and remunerative; but if you suddenly throw me overboard, you know the consequences." A discounter cannot be deaf to an appeal of this kind. He must be conscious of error himself, for, if the class of paper in question is unsafe, he ought not to have taken it so largely. To cast all such paper out rigorously for the future, is to cause the collapse which may with management be entirely averted. If the paper is intrinsically sound, he commits at once a blunder and an injustice if he forces his customer to stop and to sacrifice all his property. The true policy of the discounter, assuming that there is no fraud or glaring irregularity requiring instant denunciation, is to retrace his steps cautiously, to exercise a proper discrimination, to reduce his interest in the class of paper objected to, and thereby to check his customer's speculative tendencies, if he suspect such to exist.

It is understood that the Bank of France was not long in perceiving the ill effects of the proscription which it recently suddenly decided upon with regard to Greek paper. For the sake of the whole trade, and still more for its own sake, it has been compelled to adopt a course more in harmony with commercial practice. Greek paper, it is said, is no longer under a ban there. Other discounters have also discovered the imprudence of an over hasty policy. No doubt, the firmness with which the Greek houses have borne up under very adverse circumstances has had much to do with the change. Upon every ground this improvement in commercial feeling is to be regarded with satisfaction, for the Greek interest is identified with some of the most important branches of our trade, both foreign and in connection with the manufacturing districts; and any wide-spread embarrassment would be attended with very distressing effects, besides infusing distrust and gloom in every commercial circle.

We would point, too, to the downright hardship which has been inflicted upon the numerous Greek houses which have not mixed themselves up with the speculative financiering in fashion at Constantinople. Many of our Anglo-Greek firms have confined themselves to a legitimate commercial business in corn and other commodities, leaving the task of squeezing a fortune out of Turkish revenue-farming to the acute usurers on the spot. What can be a harder case than that of a steady-going commercial firm, which, simply because its partners happen to be Greeks, is abruptly refused all the usual banking facilities? Such a state of things is the result of mere prejudice, and in commercial affairs nothing is more pernicious than prejudice. It was this unworthy feeling which prompted half the press and commercial community of England a few years back to hoot at the whole Greek body on account of the memorable discovery that, at a time when the weather and the harvest were the prominent topics of anxiety, some mercantile cheat was found to have tampered, for a speculative purpose, with the barometer on the Liverpool Exchange. Whether the perpetrator of the act was Englishman, Greek, or Jew, what right have we to visit the offence of the individual upon the whole class to which he belongs? The act was publicly charged upon one or two Greeks, with what truth we cannot say. Had one or two Englishmen been found guilty of it, and justly pilloried, would it have been assumed that the culprit was a fair type of the mercantile class of Great Britain?

The question as to how far the embarrassments of the Greek interest, and the gradual reduction in the amount of floating Greek engagements in France and England will yet attract gold from Turkey and the Levant, has latterly been canvassed with much interest. A good deal of gold has come, and more will unquestionably follow; for as we showed upon a previous occasion, the Constantinople financiers have been really drawing from England and France a large portion of the capital which they have been lending at exorbitant rates of interest to the Sultan, the Government, and to Turkish dignitaries of every degree. But it must not be overlooked that what may be termed the indebtedness of Turkey, and of the Greeks in Turkey, to Western Europe, occasioned by these loan transactions, has been reduced to the extent to which M. Mirès has succeeded in getting his new loan taken in France. The result of that operation is generally believed to have been very indifferent, yet it has assisted to mitigate the pressure upon the Greek interest, both in Turkey and here. The extent to which the Turkish Government has drawn upon M. Mirès proves that by some means or other some amount has certainly been raised. There is a general and, we think, just impression, that the Porte will yet rue the day on which it committed itself to this transaction; and the parties who have embarked in the loan can scarcely fail on their part to incur severe ultimate loss, inasmuch as they have pandered to the immediate necessities of a spendthrift Government, without taking any guarantee for financial reform. The hopeless characteristics of the system upon which the Turkish finances are administered are best shown in the fact, not generally known, but to the truth of which we can testify, that already, even whilst M. Mirès' loan is incomplete and unpaid, an attempt has been made to raise a further large sum of money in Western Europe at a high rate of interest, upon the security of jewels of great value. The Porte is apparently determined to go on pawning its property and alienating its revenues as long as there is anything to dispose of, and a single bidder left.

THE FLUCTUATIONS IN THE BANK RATE OF DISCOUNT.

If the commercial community were polled, we believe they would be unanimous in declaring that no greater boon could be conferred on them than a steady rate of discount. And the reason is obvious, for a steady rate of discount implies in a great degree a steady trade and steady prices; whereas a varying rate of discount causes inflation at one time, and depression at another, and disturbs the standard by which the merchant ought to be guided in the price which he demands for any article he trades in. These premises being conceded, how do the mercantile community look on the fluctuations which have occurred during the last fourteen months in the Bank rate of discount, eventuating as they have in great difficulty in obtaining discount at all, save on terms which must seriously interfere with mercantile profits? Let us examine these fluctuations. In January, 1860, the Bank rate was raised from  $2\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. to 3; in February to 4; in April to 5; in May it was lowered to  $4\frac{1}{2}$ , and then to 4; in November it was again raised to  $4\frac{1}{2}$ , then to 5, next to 6; in December it was lowered to 5, then raised to 6, and finally to 7 per cent. It is now 8.

Now, we can hardly imagine a state of affairs more trying to the mercantile community than this, the more especially as one of the main benefits expected from the working of the Bank Act of 1844 was that it would bring about a steadiness in monetary transactions. In face of this, during the last fourteen months we have had no less than twelve changes in the value of money—a circumstance unprecedented since the establishment of the Bank of England.

It may be as well to state that from the time of the establishment of the Bank of England to the year 1824, when it was reduced to 4 per cent., the unvarying rate of discount charged by the Bank was 5 per cent. On the 13th December, 1825, it was raised from 4 per cent. to 5. Since that period the variations have been as follows:—From the 13th December, 1825, to 5th July, 1827, 5 per cent.; from 5th July, 1827, to 21st July, 1836, 4; from 21st July, 1836, to 1st September, 1836,  $4\frac{1}{2}$ ; from 1st September, 1836, to 15th February, 1838, 5; from 15th February, 1838, to 16th May, 1839, 4; from 16th May, 1839, to 20th June, 1839, 5; from 20th June, 1839, to 1st August, 1839,  $5\frac{1}{2}$ ; from 1st August, 1839, to 23rd January, 1840, 6; from 23rd January, 1840, to 7th April, 1842, 5; from 7th April, 1842, to 5th September, 1844, 4 per cent. Thus it will be seen that for nearly 150 years prior to 1844—the era of the new currency legislation—the Bank rate of discount was not changed more than ten times, and during that period the minimum rate was never below 4 per cent., nor the maximum above 5 per cent., with the solitary exception of the period between the 1st August, 1839, and the 23rd January, 1840, when the value of money ranged from  $5\frac{1}{2}$  to 6 per cent.

The question that will naturally suggest itself is—are these continual fluctuations necessary? The particulars which we have cited lend force to the question, and so does the experience of the Bank of France—an establishment which tides over critical periods with far more ease and with far less disturbance to trade than the Bank of England does. Our currency system is very far, indeed, from being perfect, and this is a conviction which each year's observation impresses more strongly upon the public mind.

MARINE INSURANCE.

MARINE Insurance, though partaking somewhat of the character of life assurance, is essentially different, inasmuch as the dropping of a life is an event which must happen. When? is the problem which is made the subject of mathematical calculation. On the contrary, the loss of a ship is an event which may never happen. Moreover, the premiums received on account of a life assurance are payable annually, and must be husbanded to pay the claim when the life drops; whereas the premiums on marine insurance are paid in full on effecting the policy and may be considered clear profit after the expiration of the time for forming an average.

For a long series of years no joint-stock company, unless a chartered corporation, was permitted to undertake marine risks; and it was not until the year 1824 that this absurd prohibition was removed. Previous to that period, all, or nearly all, marine insurances were undertaken by individuals, who were members of Lloyd's Coffee-house. Since the period when Marine Insurance Companies, established exclusively to transact this particular branch of insurance business, have been recognised by law, the transactions at Lloyd's, though still very great, have been much diminished. It was a long time, however, before such companies became in favour with the mercantile public, who preferred dealing with individuals. Yet, where a large number of capitalists are associated together to perform the functions of one, it is palpable that the security to the parties interested in the faithful discharge of those functions is increased in proportion; and when such capitalists combine for a specific object, it is equally clear that the extent of their operations must be much greater, and must cover a much larger surface, than when a similar object is undertaken by the aid of a single connection, or through limited means. The public are often slow in recognising such truisms; but when once the prejudice in favour of old systems is broken through, things undergo a great change. For instance, banking was carried on exclusively by private individuals for many years, to the exclusion of all public bodies as competitors; but great and important changes have taken place in this respect, and the public are now fully alive to the advantages of the joint-stock system of banking. In Scotland there is not throughout the whole country a single private banker left. So it has been with Marine Insurance. That business was, at a time when no other system of insurance was recognised, conducted by the leading bankers in Lombard-street. It is a curious circumstance, that, to this day, the marine policies at Lloyd's contain the following clause:—"And it is agreed by us, the assurers, that this writing or policy of assurance shall be of as much force and effect as the surest writing or policy of assurance heretofore made in Lombard-street."

The advantages of effecting marine risks with a joint-stock company as compared with individual insurers is, that the services of an insurance broker may be dispensed with. A merchant wishing to insure a cargo or vessel, has only to go to the manager of the company, state the particulars of the risk, and the amount to be insured against, and any other information that may be required of him, when the manager fixes the rate of premium. This rate is dependent upon a variety of contingent circumstances, such as the time of the year, the quality of the vessel, the nature of the cargo, and the known character of the captain. But the time occupied in underwriting a policy is frequently of such moment that merchants and shipowners are glad to employ a broker to transact this description of business for them. It is very possible that they gain, rather than lose, by doing so, for they get the advantage of his special experience.

The importance of insurance business in this country cannot be too highly estimated. It is a huge mistake on the part of our legislators to place obstacles, in the shape of duties, in the way of individuals desirous of protecting, by means of insurance, either their lives or property. Notwithstanding these drawbacks, the total amount insured against risk by fire is upwards of £1,000,000,000; against life risks, £230,000,000; and marine risks, £500,000,000. To show the present prosperity of the older marine insurance companies, and the confidence which the public repose in them, it is only necessary to quote the rates at which the shares of five of these companies stand on the Stock Exchange:—

The Alliance,	with	£25	0	0	paid	.....	is at	£60
The Indemnity	"	5	13	6	"	(increased by bonuses to £50)	"	148
The London	"	12	10	0	"	.....	"	49
The Marine	"	15	0	0	"	(increased by bonuses to £18)	"	97
The Royal Exchange	"	100	0	0	stock	.....	"	305

Considering the high prices of these shares, and the immense increase in modern commerce, the recent establishment of four new marine insurance companies is a very legitimate form of enterprise. Of these four the Ocean, which was established in December, 1859, is the only one which up to this date has held its annual meeting. It took place on the 5th inst. The success of this Company has been such that up to the 31st December last it had received £140,000 as premiums for undertaking marine risks to the extent of £10,000,000; and after paying all claims for losses, averages, and returns adjusted to 31st December, together with directors' remuneration, expenses, and salaries, amounting to £8,686, and, further, making provision for one-third of the preliminary expenses incurred in the formation of the company, there remained a surplus of £75,478. 4s. 7d. Of this sum the directors appropriated £10,000 as interest at the rate of 5s. per share, being 5 per cent. per annum on the paid-up capital of £200,000; and as the period for forming an average of the amount of profit of a marine insurance company cannot be less than three years, the remainder is to be treated as a fund to meet the outstanding risks and liabilities. In addition to this fund, the securities held by the Company consist of £210,000 Consols and Reduced Three per Cents., £20,000 Five per Cent. India Bonds, and £10,000 Canadian Bonds. These sums might have been laid out in securities affording a higher rate of interest, but in the infancy of a society like this it is essential that the bulk of the investments should be such as are convertible at the shortest possible notice, for, as it was remarked at the meeting, it is impossible to tell whether a time policy for twelve months, opened to-day, may not involve a loss of 50, 40, 30, or 20 per cent. Although the Ocean Marine Insurance Company has, during the past year, undertaken the large amount of risks above stated, the outstanding liabilities on the 31st of December last were reduced to about £2,700,000, and this amount, it appears, has, since that date, been considerably diminished.

We are justified in inferring from these and the other facts presented that the Ocean Marine is a well, because cautiously, managed institution. It has laid itself out for a steady business, as distinguished from what may be termed a "cutting" one. It is easy to gather to a new bank a large but unsafe business, by underbidding the older establishments, and by making advances upon bills or other securities which the experience of the others has taught them to avoid. It is easy to gather a large but unsafe business to a new marine insurance company by a similar disregard of caution. It is just the difference between quality and quantity. In no business is caution so requisite as in marine insurance, for, if recklessness be permitted to step in, the risks incurred become of a very fearful character. It is a kind of risk that might well deprive a shareholder of his sleep. If rumour is to be believed, one of the new companies has done anything but tread in the footsteps of the Ocean, having transacted already a startling amount of business, and accumulated a very large fund. Another of them is said to have made some heavy losses through its operations in the provinces. The forthcoming reports of the directors will show what degree of truth there is in these rumours. Meanwhile, we would strongly urge the shareholders to seize the approaching opportunity of denouncing any tendency to want of caution on the part of the management in any quarter. Let it not be forgotten that shares in a new establishment of this kind are not a property until a large fund of profit has been accumulated, and that events which would scarcely ruffle the prosperity of an old-established and well-secured company might precipitate a young one into the Vice-Chancellor's Court.

DISUNION: AND OUR TRADE WITH AMERICA.—A FIELD FOR THE GREAT EASTERN.

It is not surprising that renewed sensitiveness should manifest itself in the United States as the time for Mr. Lincoln's inauguration draws near, the American people being now about to be brought face to face with all the dangers which for months past their fertile imaginations have been conjuring up. We may, however, find room for hope that the worst is over, and that our Government, from the mere magnitude of the interests involved, if from nothing else, will watch the course of the new Administration very narrowly, and raise its voice in no uncertain manner should the attempt be made to exclude British vessels from intercourse with the Southern States. Mr. Lincoln and his friends must now be fully sensible of the fact that the days of American arrogance are over, and that a determined stand would be made by this country in the assertion of its undoubted rights. And if we can secure an uninterrupted supply of cotton from Charleston, Mobile, and New Orleans, and new markets (as they may be termed) for our manufactures, we shall have the more reason to bear with cheerfulness the present—let us hope—temporary check to our American trade.

There is another consideration of which we must not be unmindful. Although an American President may set public opinion at defiance during his whole term of office, the forms of Parliamentary Government must be observed. Mr. Lincoln's inaugural address will no doubt be very plain on the question of secession, and recommend coercive measures; but it is for Congress to vote the supplies, and to give the form of law to whatever propositions he may make. Under any circumstances, an American President does not possess a law-making power; what he can do without the formal sanction of Congress is only to employ the forces of the United States to repel invasion. The Constitution does not provide for rebellion, and with the rebellion he must deal, not in antagonism to, but in accord with Congress, which to coerce the South would be called upon to vote supplies of far greater magnitude than the North would be either able or willing to provide. By this time it must have occurred to the New York bankers and those New York merchants who are so largely interested in Southern trade, that the only means left for guarding their own interests is to let the South alone, and even to recognise its independent sovereignty, if that be necessary. And as these opinions will no doubt at once find expression in Congress on the accession of Mr. Lincoln, they can hardly fail to prove strong enough to keep both Mr. Seward's and Mr. Lincoln's fighting disposition down. The lives of the American people have been spent in untiring worship of the "almighty dollar," and the tender of a few thousand free State militia, who could return home at pleasure, will not relieve them from the expensive conditions of modern warfare.

Under these circumstances, a peaceful solution of existing complications is really to be hoped for. Assuming that the North must yield to the South, the latter will at once apply itself to the development of its unrivalled resources for trade with Europe. Within the last day or two the attention of those interested in the profitable employment of the Great Eastern during next summer is said to have been seriously occupied with the question whether the direct Southern trade is not the only one that gives promise of profitable employment to that noble vessel. To send her, or rather to keep her trading to and from New York, is manifestly to keep her trading at second hand, while to make voyages of call at New York to land and receive passengers, looking to the South for cotton, tobacco, rice, and sugar, is at once to provide permanent and profitable employment for the ship, and to give a start to independent Southern trade. During the past few years the Southern States have been quite as well opened up by railways as either the Western or the Eastern States, and no difficulty would stand in the way of giving to the Great Eastern a large portion of the cotton-carrying trade, a trade which hitherto has been all but monopolised by American vessels. The secession of the Southern States, it seems, does away with the difficulty of the American coasting trade, which before would have placed insuperable obstacles in the way of the Great Eastern delivering or receiving cargo at New York, as well as at Southern ports.

As we stated on a previous occasion, the great motive of the secession movement is to break off the present dependence of the Southern States upon the North. So long as the Union lasted, the Southern States were doomed to devote themselves exclusively to the comparatively few occupations for which slave labour is available, and the ultimate extinction of slavery was for ever hopeless; but with the severance of the Union, and the bringing of the Southern States into direct communication with Europe, other avenues for the employment of capital in those States will speedily present themselves for which slave labour will be unsuited. In the long run, the same considerations will be forced upon the attention of the Southern slaveholders as were before forced upon the attention of the Northern slaveholders, when the Northern States upheld the unnatural "institution." The most important of these is the question—Is the use of slaves the most profitable way in which capital can be employed? The answer returned formerly by the North will, no doubt, be ultimately acquiesced in by the South. Manufacturing establishments will spring up there; the fruitful fields of the South will invite the settlement of Europeans; and in the furtherance of this social revolution, slavery in the South may become, in the course of time, as unprofitable and as impossible as in the North and West.

COMING RAILWAY DIVIDENDS.

The dividend on Caledonian Railway stock was officially announced on Monday at the rate of  $5\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. per annum, with a surplus of £10,000, against 5 per cent. per annum at the corresponding period of last year; that on Blackwall Railway stock at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum against the same rate last year; and that on Dublin and Belfast Junction Railway stock at the rate of  $4\frac{1}{4}$  per cent. per annum against the same rate last year. The dividends proposed by the West Midland Railway directors are also announced. Full dividends will be paid on all preference stocks, both of the Oxford and Newport sections, with balances over for both sections: 1 per cent. per annum dividend will be paid on Hereford stock.

The dividend proposed by the directors of the London and North-Western Railway Company was officially announced on Wednesday evening. It is at the rate of  $5\frac{1}{4}$  per cent. per annum, with a surplus of about £27,000. The balance brought into the account was £12,808. For the corresponding period of 1859 the dividend paid was likewise at the rate of  $5\frac{1}{4}$  per cent. per annum, £10,871 being carried forward, and £9,237 brought in.

The Eastern Counties Railway dividend was officially announced today at the rate of  $2\frac{3}{4}$  per cent. per annum, with a surplus of about £5,000, against  $3\frac{3}{4}$  per cent. per annum at the corresponding period of last year, and the South Devon Railway dividend at the rate of 2 per cent. per annum, against £1. 13s. per cent. per annum last year.

CONFERENCE ON INDIAN AFFAIRS.—We understand that the following gentlemen have been appointed to represent the Manchester Chamber of Commerce at the adjourned conference on Indian affairs, to be held in London in the course of next week:—Messrs. Edmund Potter, president; Malrold Ross, vice-president; Henry Ashworth, John Cheetham, Andrew Cassel, Murray Gladstone, Thomas Mosley, John Pender, John Slagg, directors, and their secretary Mr. Hugh Fleming.

THE INVESTMENT OF FUNDS IN CHANCERY.

The following official notification was issued on the 8th inst. with regard to the investment of Chancery trust funds. It is a pity that the constellation of learned judges whose signatures are appended to the document did not take this opportunity of informing the public as to what is meant by the very ambiguous term "East India Stock." Does it signify, as most cautious persons believe, only the old Ten-and-a-half per Cent. Guaranteed India Stock, or is the Indian Five per Cent. Stock eligible the first issue of which took place in 1859, and a further issue of which is being made now? The legal mind seems to delight in keeping knotty questions open as long as possible. It will be noticed that Bank of England Stock is now enrolled amongst the securities in which funds in Chancery may be invested:—

General Orders and Rules of the High Court of Chancery, issued by the Lord High Chancellor.

Order of Court as to Investments, Friday, the 1st day of February, in the twenty-fourth year of the reign of her Majesty Queen Victoria, 1861.

The Right Honourable John Lord Campbell, Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain, by and with the advice and assistance of the Right Honourable Sir John Romilly (Master of the Rolls), the Right Honourable the Lord Justice Sir James Lewis Knight Bruce, the Right Honourable the Lord Justice Sir George James Turner, the Honourable the Vice-Chancellor Sir Richard Torin Kindersley, the Honourable the Vice-Chancellor Sir John Stuart, and the Honourable the Vice-Chancellor Sir William Page Wood, doth hereby, in pursuance and execution of the powers given by the statute 23 and 24 Vict., c. 33, and of all other powers and authorities enabling him in that behalf, order and direct in manner following:—

INVESTMENTS OF CASH UNDER THE CONTROL OF THE COURT.

Cash under the control of the Court may be invested in Bank Stock, East India Stock, Exchequer Bills, and £2. 10s. per Cent. Annuities, and upon mortgage of freehold and copyhold estates respectively in England and Wales, as well as in Consolidated £3 per Cent. Annuities, Reduced £3 per Cent. Annuities, and New £3 per Cent. Annuities.

SERVICE OF PETITION.

Every petition for the purpose of conversion of any £3 per Cent. Bank Annuities into any of the stocks, funds, or securities hereinbefore mentioned, shall be served upon the trustees, if any, of such Bank £3 per Cent. Annuities, and upon such other persons, if any, as the Court shall think fit.

The aggregate of the above is £2,891,800, and the lowest price for which bids were accepted in full is £98. 11s. 4d. There then remained a balance of £108,200 required to complete the £3,000,000 of stock, and as the aggregate of the tenders at £98. 11s. 3d. was no less than £681,000, they were accepted to the extent of £108,200, the balance (£572,800) at that price being rejected. Consequently, bidders at £98. 11s. 3d. have got nearly 16 per cent. of the amount applied for. All tenders below £98. 11s. 3d. were entirely rejected. Of the £1,032,500 of tenders accepted at  $98\frac{3}{4}$ , £950,000, as already mentioned, is for account of Messrs. Rothschild. It is believed that the lowest tender sent in was between 96 and 97, and that no less a sum than £5,000,000 ranged between 98 and  $98\frac{1}{4}$ , principally for account of the Stock Exchange. That establishment has obtained but little of the new loan. The aggregate of the tenders, both accepted and rejected, was, as already stated, £13,270,800. The letters of allotment were received on Monday.

The following statement shows the amount due yesterday (Friday) on the New Loan:—

£3,000,000 at the various prices accepted, produces in cash	£2,961,655	18	4
Deduct £80 per cent. to be paid on 2nd, 3rd, and 4th instalments	2,400,000	0	0
Leaves	£561,655	18	4
Less £2 per cent. deposit paid on handing in tenders	60,000	0	0

Amount of 1st instalment due 15th February ..... £501,655 18 4

The average price at which the entire loan has been taken is exactly £98. 14s.  $5\frac{1}{4}$ d., being only 4s.  $5\frac{1}{4}$ d. above the official minimum.

To such holders as paid the additional 80 per cent. on the Indian

Loan Scrip yesterday (Friday) the discount allowed by the Bank of England was 12s. 7½d. per £100 stock. The calculation of the bonus obtained by the subscribers to the New Loan will stand thus:—

Interest accumulated on £100, from Jan. 5 to Feb. 15, about	..	£0 11 3
Discount now obtainable, about	..	0 12 7½
		£1 3 10½

A subscriber at (say) £98. 15s., therefore really gets his stock at £97. 11s. 1½d. per cent. The new scrip, it will also be seen, ought to be quoted almost exactly ½ per cent. higher than the old stock.

THE LONDON JOINT-STOCK BANKS.

The half-yearly meetings of the several Joint-Stock Banks in London being now completed, the subjoined tables have been made up, exhibiting their position. The first table shows the period at which each bank was founded, together with its subscribed and paid-up capital; the second shows the amount of liabilities and rates of distribution for the past half-year; the third the liabilities, including paid-up capital, the assets, and net profits; and the fourth, the progress of the several establishments during the past eleven years. The current accounts and deposits held by these eight establishments (observes the Times) now amount to a total of £44,143,181, or £4,288,103 more than the total at the corresponding period of last year. The London and Westminster shows an increase of £1,368,757; the London Joint-Stock, £1,005,861; the Union of London, £1,034,312; the London and County, £357,585; the City, £245,584; and the Bank of London, £98,249. The Commercial and Unity both show a small decrease—the former, £17,690, and the latter, £4,555.

NEW YORK AND ERIE RAILWAY.

With reference to the position of the New York and Erie Railway Company, whose securities are largely held here, we find the following in the circular of Mr. E. F. Satterthwaite:—

On the 28th January, this railroad, with all things thereunto pertaining, was sold by auction; the sale was subject to the lien of all the mortgages and arrears of Fourth and Fifth Mortgage interest, and was bought by the trustees, Messrs. Gregory and Davis, under the reorganisation scheme, for 220,000 dols. Full payment of this amount to be made to the Court on or before the 31st December, 1861. Thus this most important matter is at length brought to a close. The road is still in the hands of the receiver appointed by the Court of Chancery, and will remain so until the amount above named be paid. It is important for such holders of unsecured bonds and shares as have not "assented" to the reorganisation scheme, to bear in mind that by this sale they are cut out from all interest in the new company, unless they assent within six months from the day of sale.

It is very gratifying to all those parties who, eighteen months ago, at the time the New York and Erie Railroad was in its greatest difficulty, by united and untiring exertions, have succeeded in rescuing this fine property from the ruin which was then impending. The disorganisation of the concern at that time was complete, even First Mortgage Coupons were in arrear, judgments were being obtained, and distraint made; while claimants of every character were seeking to obtain possession of the Company's funds.

It need hardly be stated that this state of things has been altogether changed under the judicious and careful management of Mr. Marsh, the receiver, assisted by the new Board of Directors and their legal advisers.

A very important feature, in contributing to this result, has been the unanimity with which English holders at once and without hesitation assented to the scheme for reorganisation; they did not hold aloof as so many parties did in America, where, even up to the very day of sale, unassented Stock and Bonds commanded a higher market value than assented ones. Had all parties acted on the laissez aller principle, it could not be expected that either the action of the Legislature of the State of New York, or the action of the Court of Chancery would have been brought about.

We cannot close these remarks without calling the recollection of parties holding Erie securities, to the meeting held at the London Tavern, in August, 1859, when Messrs. W. F. Splatt and William Evans consented to go to America as representatives of such meeting, at much personal inconvenience to themselves, where, on their arrival, they consented to be made directors of the company, and how, since that time, their efficient services have been continually employed on behalf of their constituents, and we are persuaded that holders of Erie securities must feel that their now improved position is very largely owing to the exertions of those gentlemen.

THE STATE OF TRADE.

(COMPILED FROM NUMEROUS LOCAL REPORTS.)

The accounts from Manchester report a very gloomy market, with falling prices. In cloths the amount of business has been very small. The sales that have been made are reported at a reduction of 1½d. to 3d. per piece in India shirtings, and at a proportionate decline on lighter fabrics for India. There is news from Calcutta to the 16th of January, bringing more unfavourable accounts from that market and from China. In printers and long-cloths there have been some fair sales in one or two quarters, at a reduction corresponding with that on India shirtings, but in the general market these goods are reported as quiet and very much neglected. Some fair sales are reported in domestics for the home trade, at steady prices. In yarns the general report is one of inactivity. Messrs. John Slagg and Co. report:—"Since our last report the demand for India and China shirtings has fallen off considerably, and prices have given way 1½d. per piece on the lighter and 3d. per piece on the heavier qualities. For most other descriptions there is also less inquiry, and prices of all kinds continue gradually to decline."

At Rochdale the markets have been fully as good as those of last week for both wool and flannel, but there was only a moderate amount of business. The manufacturers are fairly employed, and merchants are giving out orders for delivery about the middle of the year. Stocks upon the whole are in a moderate compass.

At Leeds there has been only a limited attendance of buyers in the cloth-halls, and a comparatively small amount of business was done. Prices are steady, and manufacturers, though not fully employed, are making to order as much as to stock.

At Huddersfield, the weather, having again set in cold, has helped a few sales in winter goods. There is also a little doing in spring and summer patterns, but the amount of business altogether is much below what is usually done at this season.

From Bradford the report dated Thursday states that there has been a rather improved demand for wool, and more sales have been effected. In worsted yarns the demand for both export and home consumption is still without change. The business done is reduced to a minimum. Much machinery is idle, and the working-classes are beginning to feel the effects of being without employment for so long a time. There was an improved inquiry in the piece market on Thursday morning, but the intelligence that the Bank has again raised the rate of discount had the result of checking the improved feeling. The American houses show more disposition to buy. Manufacturers complain much, and many looms are daily added to the list of the unemployed.

At Halifax some of the mills are running short time, and the staplers appear disposed to make concessions in price.

There has been an important strike of weavers at Blackburn. It appears that deputations from each mill waited on the masters to press upon them the adoption of short time in preference to a reduction of wages. The general result has been a refusal on the part of the masters to accede to the demands of their operatives. The notices for the five per cent. reduction are now expiring, and the operatives are now out. The feeling in the other mills, where the notices have not yet expired, is similar on the part of both masters and operatives. A general meeting of the trade was held on Wednesday afternoon, and was very numerous attended. There were present representatives of all the Blackburn firms, with very few exceptions, and also masters from Darwen, Accrington, Church, Enfield, Harewood, and the whole district. The feeling was unanimous as to the necessity of the reduction of five per cent., and equally unanimous as to the necessity of the masters resisting what they regard as dictation on the part of the operatives, in requiring them to work short time so long as the reduction continues. After the matter had been fully discussed, the following resolution was adopted, and signed by eighty firms, representing 44,000 looms:—"We, the undersigned, hereby agree to reduce the wages in the weaving department five per cent., and not to work short time until another rule of the trade admits that the operative dictation on this question is withdrawn."

At Nottingham there is but little more demand for any description of lace this week. The few buyers (both home and continental) who are in the market are purchasing in limited quantities. The spring is advancing, when there is usually a good trade, but at present the business doing is very much below an average of previous years. Manufacturers are finishing cautiously, and very little is being made except to order. A good deal of machinery is, therefore, standing, or working short time. There continues to be rather more doing in the hosiery trade; the hands are being better employed, and manufacturers are more sanguine as to the future.

At Leicester the hosiery trade remains rather quiet, and there is barely an average amount of business doing. Goods are made with caution, and for the most part limited to the demand. In the adjacent hosiery districts machinery is by no means fully employed. Stocks are kept as low as possible.

At Newcastle-on-Tyne, trade upon the whole is opening out for the spring satisfactorily. The black hardware trade, the fire-brick and retort trade, engine building, and some other branches are active.

The reports from Wolverhampton state that the manufacturing trades of the town and of the district generally have, for the first time this year, exhibited symptoms of returning animation. The exceptions to this are to be found chiefly in the jewellery and other fancy branches at Birmingham; but in other respects the staple trades are in a more prosperous state than for many weeks past. There is no approach to briskness, but orders have been more plentiful, and manufacturers more fully employed. A few orders for South America and for the Continent have been given out, but the improvement which has taken place is to be traced to a great extent to the home trade, a circumstance which is encouraging.

THE RECENT PASTURAL AND MINERAL DISCOVERIES IN AUSTRALIA.

On Monday evening, at the Royal Geographical Society, a paper communicated by Messrs. Chambers and Finke, upon the discoveries recently made by Mr. Macdonall Stuart in Central Australia, was read.

Lord ASHBURTON presided upon the occasion.

The discussion was opened by RODERICK MURCHISON, who stated that the communication just read had been sent to him by Messrs. Chambers and Finke, the two gentlemen of Australia who had originated the explorations referred to, and at whose sole expense they had been so far successfully prosecuted. Fortunately there was a gentleman present, a member of the Legislative Council of South Australia, the Hon. J. Baker, who, being a gentleman of great intelligence and influence, would give them much valuable information upon the subject.

The Hon. J. BAKER said, when he visited Lake Torrens, the natives described the country in the best way they could by impressing upon the sand with the palms of their hands, indicating that there was a depression somewhere in the neighbourhood of the spot now known as Lake Gregory, and made representations with their fingers that there was a drainage in each direction into the basin. They indicated, too, that there were fish; and from what could be understood by their representations, they supposed there were swans and several descriptions of water fowl. It was subsequently found that the whole plain was covered with wild fowl of every description, including the black swan. He had no doubt that, as supposed by Sir Roderick Murchison, there was a depression, and also a large body of water. In corroboration of that fact, he might state that when the Deputy Surveyor-General visited the neighbourhood he found what he thought to be an immense lake. Supposing an important discovery had been made, the Surveyor-General was dispatched with an iron boat for the purpose of navigating its waters; but, when he reached the place, to his great astonishment, there was no lake at all, but merely a water-washed plain. The water had altogether subsided, so that it was clear there must be a large reservoir to receive it, because there had not elapsed a sufficient space of time for it to have been cleared away either by absorption or evaporation; therefore, he was of opinion that it must have been drained off into a large reservoir further north. There was no doubt in his mind, judging from the descriptions which he had received in conversation with Mr. Stuart, and his second in command, Mr. Keke-wich, that there was an extremely good country to the westward of this depression. He did not intend to compare it with the Romney Marshes, or any other of the strong pasture or agricultural land of England; for the latter purpose it would probably be never available, but it was good for pastoral purposes—far superior, indeed, to much of that which was now occupied; and, therefore, to squatters it would be a good country, through which a line of communication to the north-west coast would be opened up, and be the means of establishing there a large and thriving colony. Its position would, at the same time, be very favourable for the supply of any such colony, or others which might be afterwards established on the north-west. Looking at the various points he was satisfied it would be a great pastoral country; for in Australia they always considered if they could find water for their cattle the cattle would find food for themselves, and he had never known an instance in which a country upon stocking had not rapidly improved, and turned out better than its original discoverer contemplated. It was beyond doubt there were large mineral deposits, and he had hoped they would have had an opportunity of hearing Sir Roderick's opinion upon them. Notwithstanding the statement that the country throughout was utterly worthless and arid, it possessed innumerable springs of a peculiar formation on each side of Mr. Eyre's brook to Mount Hopeless. In the immediate neighbourhood of that place many such springs were found, in some cases not more than five or six miles apart, and that would be sufficient to water any quantity of stock the country was capable of bearing. Relative to Mr. Finke, who was the original suggestor of the exploration, and at whose instigation Mr. Chambers agreed to share the cost, he (Mr. Baker) wished to take the opportunity of refuting the statement made in a paper which was some time since read before that society, which seemed to reflect upon the honour and integrity of Mr. Finke, who had made mineral discoveries known as Chambers and Finke's, situated north of Port Augusta, of as much importance to South Australia as were the explorations of Mr. Stuart in another point of view. The statements made in that paper with regard to Mr. Finke were altogether without foundation, and were most injurious to that gentleman; and, under those circumstances, he (Mr. Baker) trusted some honourable mention would be made of Mr. Finke in the proceedings of that society.

The CHAIRMAN felt confident that his hon. friend, Mr. Baker, must have been misinformed, for the name of Mr. Finke he had always regarded with honour and respect. He felt perfectly certain that no disparaging reflection had ever been cast upon Mr. Finke in any of the society's proceedings.

The Hon. J. BAKER: Although Mr. Finke's name was not mentioned, it was thought that such a reflection had been made, but, of course, if such were not the case there was no necessity for his observations.

After a few remarks from Col. GAWLER,

The CHAIRMAN said that, thanks to Mr. Stuart and his employers, Messrs. Chambers and Finke, they had at last obtained some idea of what Australia was made of. Although the Nile had been a problem for ages, yet, under the vigorous search and enterprise of Englishmen Australia would soon be conquered. He most heartily accorded with the view expressed by Sir Roderick Murchison, that Messrs. Finke and Chambers had a very great claim upon the gratitude of that society, and upon Englishmen generally; and he had no doubt that society would think fit to award them an acknowledgment which their exertions merited. In a short time the value of those explorations would be known, and then it was that they would put the crown upon their heads with the accumulated honours which their successful exertions merited. The subjoined letter explains the reason why the communication referred to by Sir Roderick was sent to him instead of through the South Australian Colonial Office:—

"North Adelaide, Dec. 25, 1860.—I send you sketches of the scenery, &c., made by Stuart, by this mail, for the best of reasons—I have none ready. I shall, doubtless, have some communication from Sir R. Murchison, and he may devise some plan for their safe transmission, and from his high position will not tamper with anything of value to others for his own personal benefit. You having known me well for the last twenty-two years, and being aware of the labour and money these minerals, sketches, &c., have cost us, and how we are now being used, will, I trust, fully explain to Sir Roderick Murchison, in a plain way, that he may not think we hold back anything that would be interesting to the British public, from any mercenary views. All we have is at his command for the British public, and would have been before it long ere this, had we had confidence in the Queen's representative here.

"Sir R. G. MacDonnell is in a great storm about Stuart's map (1858-9), which he travelled by, as he thinks it will all come out; and so will truth and justice yet be done to our great explorer by gentlemen of England, who will at once see from dates that Stuart has been pirated of his laurels as an explorer.

"The Duke of Newcastle will, I hope, fully vindicate our actions. I shall long for a letter from you, as that will put at rest our want of confidence, and we shall be too happy to have some one we can confide in to let the world know of any discoveries, and not to oblige to keep them locked up for fear they will be taken advantage of. Stuart is now off, and out of the boundary of this colony—God speed him. I am getting the men that were on the mines to state in writing how and what Sir R. G. MacDonnell did and saw on his visit to the mines.—JAMES CHAMBERS."

THE LONDON COAL TRADE.

13, Cornhill, E.C., February 14, 1861.

No article of household use is so much the subject of domestic interest and criticism, in point of both price and quality, as coal. And this is not to be wondered at when we consider how much of the comfort, the cheerfulness, and the health of our English homes, especially at this season, depends upon that important mineral.

Such, during the last two months, has been the state of the coal trade generally, that more than an ordinary degree of public attention must have been attracted to it.

The late excessively severe weather, which rendered the river almost unnavigable, and our canal wharves quite inaccessible, necessarily created an extraordinary, though but temporary, advance of price; but apart from this rapid fluctuation, our market has for some months ranged beyond its customary limits.

To this result several causes have contributed, besides the season.

Of these, the wet and cold summer of 1860 is one of the most marked, the consumption of coal during the entire year having been unprecedentedly large. The whole quantity brought into the London district was 5,073,707 tons, as against 4,509,945 tons in 1859, showing an excess of demand in 1860, in this district alone, of 563,762 tons, whilst a proportionate excess obtained throughout the whole country.

The increased exportation of coal has also been one of the disturbing influences upon our market. The Commercial Treaty with France, contrary to expectation, has not hitherto materially enlarged the demand for English coal in that country, though its consumption there is sure ultimately to extend; but the total quantity shipped to all foreign ports during 1860, as compared with 1859, shows a large increase,—the figures being, for 1860, 6,782,266 tons, and, for 1859, 6,408,640 tons,—an excess in 1860 of 373,576 tons, of which a large portion went to China.

This increased export-demand upon the coal resources of the kingdom—wrought last year, for all purposes, to the enormous extent of seventy-five millions of tons (total produce of the United Kingdom for 1858, 65,008,649 tons; do. for 1859, 71,979,765 tons)—affects the London market, not merely in its operation upon prices at the pit's mouth, but also in the enhanced rate of freights, as a consequence of the withdrawal of ships from the home to the foreign carrying trade.

Nor is this the only cause which has produced high freights: the terrible shipping disasters of last year, of which a large share fell to the lot of the Newcastle colliers, have had a like tendency, by diminishing that competition for freights which is the only guarantee of moderate rates. A recurrence of such disasters unhappily marks the present month. —(From the Circular of Messrs. Geo. J. Cocherell and Co.)

THE AUSTRIAN DEBT.—On the 30th of April, 1860, the whole debt of Austria was 2,846,151,781*li.*, bearing 5 per cent. interest. Dated the 14th day of February, 1861.

M. MARSHALL, Chief Cashier.

The above return, compared with that for the previous week, shows the following changes:—

Circulation Issue .. .. .	£25,226,005	..	Decrease	£262,310
Circulation Active.. .. .	19,690,160	..	Decrease	189,075

Government Securities in Banking Dept.	8,444,776	..	No change.
Other Securities in Banking Department ..	20,728,396	..	Increase	793,988
Coin and Bullion in both departments ..	11,571,332	..	Decrease	261,504

Total Reserve (Notes and Coin) in Banking Department .. .. .	6,356,172	..	Decrease	72,429

As the changes presented in this return are noticed in another part of our paper, it will suffice to remark here that, neither in the decrease of £72,429 in the reserve nor in the decrease of £261,504 in the bullion (the latter caused by a sale of silver for India) is there any sufficient explanation of the rise in the Bank rate of discount to 8 per cent.

THE MONEY MARKET.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 15.

The directors of the Bank of England, at their weekly court yesterday, raised the minimum rate of discount from 7 per cent., at which it was fixed on the 7th of January, to 8.

The movement, not being generally expected, excited considerable surprise in all circles. With the exception of a moderate drain to the East, there is no draught upon the Bank's specie reserves for exportation. During the last two or three days that establishment has even bought a considerable amount of Australian gold. It is presumed that the pressure at the discount office, which is aggravated by the Bank rule against other discounters, forms the main explanation of this week's action. It is also said that the Bank apprehended renewed shipments of gold to America.

The accounts received to-day from the provinces are unanimous in stating that the rise in the rate of discount has occasioned great surprise. It is generally considered that the Bank have been overhasty.

Prior to the rise in the rate at the Bank the best bills were discounted in Lombard-street at 7 per cent., and the supply of money was increasing. To-day, owing to the prevailing uncertainty, there was little disposition to do business below 8 per cent.

There was a meeting to-day of the representatives of the joint-stock banks and discount establishments, when it was decided to make no alteration in the rates allowed for loans.

In the Stock Exchange there has been considerable pressure for money. The rate for loans on Government securities to-day was 7 to 7½ per cent. per annum. The demand was increased by the payment of the first instalment on the New Indian Loan, due this day.

At the Bank of England the demand has been active throughout the week, and there was no abatement to-day.

A total of £197,000 in gold, mostly Australian, has been taken to the Bank this week. There were no bullion operations at that establishment to-day. The Teutonia, from New York, has brought £1,350 in specie. Since our last report, the America has sailed for the United States with £34,566, and the Edinburgh with £44,000.

The remittances of specie by the Massilia, which sailed on the 12th instant, show a large increase; the total was £528,705, of which £504,805 was silver, and £21,900 gold for Bombay, and £2,000 gold for Alexandria. The whole is on mercantile account. A large portion consists of silver bought from the Bank of England.

It appears that the bulk of the £504,805 in silver despatched by the Massilia to Bombay is sent not to buy cotton, but in consequence of the tightness of the Bombay money market, where the rate of discount is 10 per cent.

Subjoined is a list of the ships known to be on the way from Melbourne to England, with an aggregate of £621,500 in gold. The Clutha and Champion of the Seas have larger amounts than previously mentioned, additional parcels having been placed on board these vessels just prior to their departure. £220,000 is now due.

The shipments of gold from Melbourne to India and China may account in some measure for the falling off in the remittances to this country.

The Bank of Belgium, on Monday, reduced its rate of discount from 5 to 4 per cent.

THE BULLION MARKET.

With reference to the movements in bullion and in the Indian Government paper, Messrs. Pixley, Abell, and Langley, report as follows:—

GOLD.—The Strathdon, with £196,000, has arrived from Australia. There is not much demand, however, for gold bars for exportation. The Australian mail brings news of some additional gold-fields having been discovered, which were likely to prove very productive.

SILVER.—Since the departure of the Massilia to Bombay—which vessel took the large amount of £504,000—our market has been very quiet, and there being but little demand for the Calcutta and China mails, the price remains at 61½d. per ounce standard. The Atrato brings about £80,000 from the West Indies, and this will be deliverable in a few days' time.

MEXICAN DOLLARS.—The dollars brought by the Tasmanian have been sold at 4s. 11½d. per ounce, being a decline of 0½d. per ounce. The alteration in the Exchange from China renders it improbable that many dollars will now be sent; and at the price now mentioned, dollars can be melted into bar silver, at 61½d. per ounce standard.

EXCHANGE on India remains about the same for Bank sixty days' sight drafts on Bombay and Calcutta—viz., 2s. to 2s. 0½d. Bank drafts on Madras, sixty days' sight, 1s. 11½d. to 2s.

INDIA GOVERNMENT LOAN NOTES have taken a decided favourable turn since this day week, owing to the satisfactory nature of the applications for the late Sterling Loan of £3,000,000. Five-and-a-Half per Cents. have risen from par to 101½ to 102, and Five per Cents. from 94½ to 95½ to 96, as extreme quotations. Yesterday there was a slight reaction, which will probably be increased by the rather unlooked-for rise of the Bank rate to 8 per cent.

The report of Messrs. Haggard and Co., dated this day, observes:—

Since our last circular our market has been again rather active, our imports and exports having been on a large scale. Business has, however, again become quiet, owing to the sudden advance in the Bank rate, which has had the effect of stopping several orders for bar silver, &c. The imports include the Strathdon, from Melbourne, with £198,000; the Ethiope, from the West Coast of Africa, with £9,000; the Tagus, from Lisbon, with £7,235 silver; the Atrato, from the West Indies, with £80,500 silver, and £16,000 gold; and some small amounts of silver from the Continent. The exports comprise the Oneida, to the Brazils, with £14,000 silver and £1,270 gold; the Massilia, to Bombay, with £528,705, of which £506,805 is silver and £21,900 gold; the America, to Boston, with £34,566; the Edinburgh, to New York, with £44,000; and a moderate amount of gold to the Continent. The principal part of the gold by the Strathdon has been bought for refining. The amount sold to the Bank is £200,000. There is only a small demand for the Continent. Silver, which had risen to 5s. 1½d., has again become very dull, owing to the absence of demand caused by the sudden rise in the Bank rate. It is not expected that a large quantity will be sent to Calcutta by the steamer of the 20th. Mexican dollars have undergone a further important decline, a considerable amount having been sold at 4s. 11½d.

REDEMPTION OF THE DANISH FIVE PER CENT. LOAN.

The Danish financial agents announce the dividend due March 1 on the Five per Cent. Loan of 1850, and the repayment on the same day of the outstanding capital (£691,300). To such holders as may wish to leave their money still at the disposal of the Treasury, the Minister of Finance offers only 4 per cent. interest.

THE TURKISH LOAN OF 1858.

The dividend on the Turkish Six per Cent. Loan of 1858, due on the 1st of March, was advertised for payment this day.

THE FAILURE OF MESSRS. LEDGARD AND SONS.

The accounts from Poole state that a meeting of the creditors of Messrs. Ledgard and Sons, bankers, of that town, would be held in a day or two. It is still thought that the liquidation will turn out favourably. The Wilts and Dorset Banking Company have opened branches both at Poole and Ringwood. At the latter place the National Provincial Bank of England have likewise established an office.

THE NEW BANKRUPTCY BILL.

The Attorney-General's Bankruptcy Bill has been printed. It occupies 77 pages, and contains 256 clauses.

BANKING IN THE EAST.

The London and China Telegraph mentions that "the Comptoir d'Es-compte de Paris has issued a notification at Shanghai, by which it must be assumed that business has commenced."

AFFAIRS IN BUENOS AYRES.

The accounts from Buenos Ayres continue favourable to the prospects of peace and progress. A private letter, dated Parana, Nov. 20, says:—

General Derqui and General Mitie have just returned from a visit to General Urquiza, at San Jose, and they both came very well satisfied and pleased with the interview. They have no doubt of being able to continue, in the conduct of public business, respectively in the best harmony, for the consolidation of peace and union and the good of the country.

THE GALWAY PACKET LINE.

It is stated that the negotiation for a contract for the carriage of the French mails to America by the Galway Company's vessels are so far arranged, as to justify the expectation that a satisfactory conclusion will shortly be arrived at.

THE ENGLISH AND CONTINENTAL TRACTION ENGINE COMPANY (LIMITED).

The prospectus of an undertaking bearing this title has been in circulation during the last few days. The object is to purchase Messrs. Longstaff and Pullan's Patent Traction Engines; to let, sell, or work them on contract in this country, and to acquire a right to patent them in Spain. Great advantages are claimed for this invention, and the testimony borne to its value by scientific authorities is very satisfactory. The difficulties attendant upon the numerous experiments with the traction engines of other inventors appear now to have been overcome. The capital is limited to £10,000, and of this only a portion is to be issued at present.

RAILWAY TRAFFIC.

The Brighton railway traffic return shows this week an increase of £1,185; the South-Eastern an increase of £769; the London and North-Western, an increase of £1,629; the London and South-Western, an increase of £762; the Great Northern, an increase of £1,732; the Great Western, an increase of £2,145; the Midland, an increase of £4,247 (almost entirely in merchandise and minerals); the Lancashire and Yorkshire, an increase of £2,127; the Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire, an increase of £999; the North-Eastern, an increase of £2,348; the Eastern Counties, an increase of £531; and the Caledonian, an increase of £1,004.

The traffic receipts of the Great Western Railway of Canada for the week ending Jan. 25 were £8,991 sterling, being £2,825 more than in the corresponding week of last year.

RAILWAYS.

The half-yearly meeting of the Hull and Selby Railway Company was held at Hull on Monday. There was a balance of £33,558 in favour of the company, out of which the directors recommend the following dividend—£2. 10s. per £50, or whole share, and in like proportion on the half and quarter share. The report was adopted, and the dividend declared.

At the meeting of the Ceylon Railway Company on Thursday the shareholders present decided almost unanimously to accept unconditionally the offer made them by the colony, according to which they will receive the par value of their capital, together with interest. It appears, however, that there is still a prospect of the railway being constructed through the instrumentality of an English company, for the preliminary prospectus of the "Colombo and Kandy Railway Company" is in circulation.

An extraordinary meeting of the Pernambuco Railway Company is convened for the 6th of March, to confirm the resolution passed on the 30th January.

The adjourned general meeting of the Copiapo Extension Railway Company will be held on the 8th of March.

The half-yearly meeting of the Metropolitan Railway Company is called for the 27th inst.; that of the North and South Western Junction Railway Company, for the 25th inst.; that of the North London Railway Company, for the 26th inst.; that of the Wimbledon and Dorking Railway Company, for the 26th inst.; that of the Cork and Youghal Railway Company, for the 26th inst.; and the annual meeting of the East Lincolnshire Railway Company, for the 22nd inst.

The half-yearly meeting of the South-Eastern Railway Company is called for the 28th inst., and will be made special to authorise the working of the Charing-cross Railway by this company.

The half-yearly meeting of the London and North-Western Railway Company is called for the 22nd inst.

The half-yearly meeting of the Stockport, Disley, and Whaley Bridge Railway Company is called for the 28th inst., and will be made special to authorise the exercise of the borrowing powers to the extent of £10,000.

BANKS.

The report of the directors of the Bank of Egypt states that the accounts would have worn a very different aspect had credit been taken for the large amount of interest which has accrued on the debt of the late Prince El Hami Pacha. The directors state that they entertain no doubt that this debt and interest will be eventually paid in full, and they give a brief history of the entire transaction. It appears that the amount borrowed by the prince from the bank amounted to no less than £162,000, of which about £70,000 has now been repaid. Advances of such magnitude to one person, the directors point out, "were contrary to the direct instructions of the court, who, in this particular case, added an express prohibition, which was entirely disregarded by all the managers." It was proved that the securities held by the bank were amply sufficient to cover their claim, but the bills were not paid. Mr. Anstruther, the deputy-chairman, thereupon went out to Egypt, and arranged for the immediate resignation of Mr. Pasquali, and for the entire remodelling of the establishment in Egypt. Other irregularities have been investigated. It appears that "other advances injudiciously made, and entirely contrary to repeated instructions," amount to about £120,000. The directors state that, "though the directors do not expect that these advances, mainly secured on land taken as collateral security, can be realised without some loss, they have no doubt that the deficiency will be covered without encroachment on the capital of the bank." Through these transactions, the business of the bank in Egypt has been completely paralysed for several months. The result of the six months' operations is a loss of £5,286, of which £2,398 is met from the balance of profit left undivided on the 30th June last, whilst the rest (£2,887) is defrayed out of the reserve fund. The amount at credit of that fund is thereby reduced from £13,559 to £10,671. The board state, in conclusion, that the expenses in Egypt have been reduced by one-third, and that the business of the establishment has now been placed upon a sound basis.

OTHER PUBLIC COMPANIES.

At the half-yearly meeting to-day of the Peel River Land and Mineral Company, the directors' report (which was summarised in our last impression) was agreed to. This was not a dividend meeting.

At the meeting of the Red Sea and India Telegraph Company, held to-day, the directors' report was adopted. The chairman, Mr. Marshman, in referring to the recent decision of the law officers of the Crown, with regard to this undertaking, stated that he is confident that the result of the most searching inquiry in Parliament will be to render Red Sea Telegraph stock as valuable and as desirable as Consols. He added that only 50 shares had been sold under the influence of the recent panic. He also expressed a belief that ere long telegraphic communication with India will be resumed.

The annual meeting of the Oriental Inland Steam Company is called for the 20th inst.

A general meeting of the Great Ship Company is called for the 28th inst.

An extraordinary meeting of the Mercantile Discount Company (Limited) is called for the 25th inst., to confirm the resolution for a voluntary winding up.

THE STOCK AND SHARE MARKETS.

The English Funds have been remarkably well supported, especially if we consider the pressure for money, the competition of the New Indian Loan, and the adverse movement of the Bank. Consols, which closed on last Friday at 92 $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{1}{4}$  for the 7th of March, have ranged between 91 $\frac{7}{8}$  "buyers," and 92 $\frac{3}{4}$  to  $\frac{1}{2}$ . The closing price to-day was 92 $\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{1}{4}$ . For money the last price was 91 $\frac{3}{4}$  to  $\frac{1}{8}$ .

The official list of to-day's actual business in the English Funds, Exchequer Bills, and Indian Government Securities, is annexed:—

Three per Cent. Consols, for money,  $91\frac{3}{4}$ ,  $\frac{1}{2}$ ,  $\frac{3}{4}$ ,  $\frac{5}{8}$ ; ditto for account (March 7),  $92\frac{1}{8}$ ,  $\frac{1}{8}$ ; Three per Cents. Reduced,  $91\frac{3}{4}$ ,  $\frac{1}{4}$ ; New Three per Cents.,  $91\frac{3}{4}$ ,  $\frac{1}{2}$ ,  $\frac{3}{4}$ ,  $\frac{5}{8}$ ; New Two-and-a-Half per Cents.,  $75\frac{1}{2}$ ; Bank Stock, 237, 238; India Five per Cent. Stock, 100,  $\frac{1}{2}$ ,  $\frac{3}{4}$ , 100,  $\frac{3}{4}$ ; ditto for account, 100,  $\frac{3}{4}$ ,  $\frac{1}{2}$ ; ditto scrip, 100,  $\frac{1}{2}$ ; ditto Four per Cent. Debentures, 1858,  $95\frac{1}{2}$ ,  $\frac{1}{2}$ ; ditto Bonds, 22s. dis.; Five per Cent. "enfaced" Rupee Paper,  $95\frac{1}{4}$ ; and Exchequer Bills, 5s. dis., par.

Bank Stock is in demand, and has improved.

Exchequer Bills were steady to-day at 5s. dis. to par, notwithstanding the demand for money.

The scrip of the New Indian Loan closed to-day at  $100\frac{5}{8}$  to  $\frac{7}{8}$ , being almost the highest point of the week.

Mexican Bonds have been in great demand, owing to the encouraging character of Lord John Russell's remarks in the House of Commons. The price has touched  $24\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$ . The closing quotation to-day was  $24\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{1}{2}$ . Turkish Bonds are weaker. Foreign stocks generally are in better demand than for some time past, and there appears to be a prospect of a good business in these securities this year.

The Spanish Coupon Certificates have been much inquired for, and were last marked to-day  $6\frac{3}{4}$ . It is understood that negotiations for the settlement of these claims will be speedily resumed, under promising auspices.

British Railway Stocks have shown great strength, in spite of the state of the money market. In several instances prices are higher than last week. The traffic returns keep up well, notwithstanding the increasing dullness of trade. The fortnightly settlement in this department was completed yesterday.

The preparations for the settlement in British railway stocks on Tuesday and Wednesday showed a decidedly diminished supply of floating stock. The rates of "continuation" were consequently lower than at the last settlement, notwithstanding the tightness of the money market. Midland and Lancashire and Yorkshire were in especial request, and a "backwardation" was paid for the loan of them until the next account. It is evident, not only that holders have refrained from selling, as usual on the eve of the payment of the dividends, but that investments have been made during the last fortnight.

The following shows the closing prices of the principal British Railway Stocks to-day, and the result of the week's variations. The share list in detail will be found in another column:—

THE PARIS BOURSE.

At Paris to-day the Three per Cent. Rentes opened at 67.95, and closed at 68 for money and 68.05 for the account, being about 1-16 per cent. lower than yesterday, and  $\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. lower than on last Friday. The Bourse is prejudiced by the rise in the Bank of England rate of discount.

AMERICAN SECURITIES.

With reference to the market for American Securities, Messrs. D. Bell, Son, and Co. report as follows:—

During the past fortnight there has been much activity in the market for American Securities; and some large transactions have taken place, chiefly in City Stocks and the better description of Railroad Bonds.

The report of Mr. E. F. Satterthwaite, dated Wednesday evening, is subjoined:—

The market for American Securities in London continues very dull; the demand for Federal and States Stocks has almost ceased.

For Railroad Bonds there is only a very limited inquiry, which is confined to Illinois Constructions and Erie Third Mortgage.

A moderate business has been doing in Illinois and Erie shares, at somewhat improved rates, but they close flat at 28 discount and 30 per share respectively.

INTEREST AND DIVIDENDS.

The half-yearly interest is advertised on Panama Railroad Bonds.

THE EAST INDIA AND LONDON SHIPPING COMPANY.

We are requested to state that the share list of the East India and London Shipping Company (Limited) will be closed on Wednesday, the 20th inst.

The directors of the East India and London Shipping Company have intimated that the first steamer, the Indiana, will leave the Victoria Docks on or before the 10th of May.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Admiralty will receive tenders on the 21st inst. for the supply of 198 tons of sugar, and 50,000 lbs. of tea.

TURKISH FINANCE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "MONEY MARKET REVIEW."

SIR,—The notice of the condition of Turkish Finance, contained in your article on the failures amongst the Greek merchants, is calculated to cause anxiety in the minds of those interested in the loan of 1858. From an official report issued in 1859, it would appear that the mortgaged revenues are ample, if duly managed, to secure the dividends; and yet such is the prevalent distrust of Turkish management, rather than Turkish good faith, that their securities are sold to produce nearly 12 per cent. As England has (jointly with France) guaranteed the interest on the Four per Cent. Turkish Bonds, she has a right to insist on the proper management of the Ottoman revenues, to save herself from loss. Under ordinary circumstances such interference would be quite unwarrantable, but in this case it seems to be not merely justifiable, but necessary. The partition of the Turkish empire might prove beneficial to the bondholders, as the rulers of the territories would take them cum onere, and recognise these loans as charges on their newly-acquired possessions; but the collapse of Turkish credit will, probably, be the knell of the Ottoman empire, and, therefore, it is to be prevented if possible, as its fall renders vain the vast expenditure of lives and money in the Crimean war, and exposes us to the dangers to avert which such costly sacrifices were made.

In the interest of British tax-payers, the English Cabinet should insist on immediate financial reform at Constantinople, and thus inaugurate a new era of progress for the benefit of the Sultan's subjects, and, at the same time, remove one of the dangers to the peace of Europe.—I am, sir, yours, &c.,

COTTON FROM AUSTRALIA.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "MONEY MARKET REVIEW."

SIR,—Having, in the autumn of 1858, paid a visit to the cotton States of America, for the purpose of examining the soil, the climate, the cost of labour, and other circumstances attending the cultivation of cotton, with the view to an extensive cultivation of this plant in Australia, I should be glad to be allowed to make a few observations on this subject in the MONEY MARKET REVIEW, in the hope that I may, among others, be able to suggest a course of action for meeting a part of our present difficulties—not merely with reference to the imminent danger which now threatens the manufacturing interests of Europe, but with the aim of showing the advantages of establishing in our own colonies a cultivation which would, before many years, render us, to a very large extent, independent of the American monopoly. That immediate steps are necessary to increase the production of cotton in new countries to meet the continuously growing demands of England, by means of her extraordinary extension of machinery and mills in the north, is fully admitted by all those most interested, knowing as they do that the normal increase of production in the slave States will not keep pace with their wants, but on the contrary leave them constantly exposed to embarrassments of a very serious nature. Indeed, it is admitted by the cotton spinners of Manchester that the failure of only one third of the crop of the slave States would, for a time, paralyse Lancashire and produce a monetary crisis in England.

Without, however, attempting in this letter to deal with remote embarrassments, let us consider the possible consequences of the loss of the entire crop of cotton of this next season from internal war and slave insurrection, which the present aspect of things certainly threatens. The effects of such a loss on this country would be almost overwhelming, and could not fail to produce something very like universal bankruptcy and distress throughout Europe and America. In the presence, then, of such an alarming contingency, what ought to be done, and who ought to do it?

The policy of the Lancashire and Lancashire spinners has hitherto been to buy cotton suitable for their own purposes in the cheapest market, leaving the production of that material to the ordinary operations of trade, and it must be admitted as a general principle, that the supply of an article will in most cases keep pace with the demand. In the item of cotton, however, it has long been foreseen that the demand will outrun the supply. Notwithstanding, the millowners have systematically refused every invitation to assist in investing capital for its production, and have obstinately regarded any possible failure of supply as a thing with which they have no concern. Still, they are the people most immediately and most seriously interested; they have, according to Mr. Bazley's statement at the cotton meeting the other day, the enormous sum of two hundred millions invested in machinery, and upwards of four million souls depending thereon for bread. Their manufactures reach to the value of nearly eighty millions sterling, and our exports of cotton fabrics to nearly fifty millions. What, then, would be the result of the stoppage of such a stupendous mass of machinery from a cessation of supply of the raw material? Would it not entail certain ruin on the millowners and shipping interest, and desolation and misery unexampled in England on the operatives? Indeed, the effects of such an unparalleled calamity would be felt as far as English commerce extends—from Cape Horn to the northern ports of China—and no one possessing property in England would escape the searching results of so gigantic a disturbance.

The slave states of America have, up to the present time, been the chief source of supply of cotton for England; the quantities obtained from India, Egypt, Brazils, and other countries, constituting only about one-fifth of the whole imported. The Americans may therefore be said to possess a monopoly of supply, and in consequence of this monopoly the cotton spinners of England complain that they are compelled to pay for their cotton some ten millions sterling annually more than they should do if there were a wholesome competition of cotton of equal quality from other countries. Notwithstanding, they have patiently borne with this monopoly, and witnessed it augmenting every year, till it has reached its present startling amount, without making any serious effort to check it. And this is the most curious feature of the whole grievance, for it is perfectly unintelligible to men of ordinary understanding that people of such keen discrimination and such close calculating minds as the cotton spinners of Lancashire should continue to pay this prodigious sum in excess annually for the raw material, when one-tenth part of one year's excess only, judiciously invested, and employed in turning the eastern coast of Australia into a cotton field, would in three or four years not only check this monopoly, but would send into the English market an article that would commence to drive the American out of it. And I would say in passing, and with every respect to those whose aim is to check the growth of slavery in America, that that is the true and unerring channel of attack, in place of spending our two or three millions annually on the coast of Africa, in ineffectual efforts at its suppression.

There is no difference of opinion among the millowners of Manchester that the Australian soils and climate are capable of producing the finest cotton in the world, judging from the samples they have had; the only doubt of success seems the possible want of labour. Like all other things, where an excuse is wanted, there is no difficulty in finding one. The answer to that is, however, very simple. If cotton can be grown in Australia at the present price of labour there, so as to yield a profit of £21 sterling to the acre after shipment to this country (of which the latest returns furnish proof), then it will pay to import labour to that country to grow it. The hill coolies from India and the Chinese coolies can now be imported there by a voyage of six weeks from India and two months from China in any numbers that may be desired—their wages and rations together would cost about seven shillings a-week, and their passage down from seven to eight pounds. Cotton grown at this rate of wages would, of course, leave a much greater profit, but I entertain doubts whether in the end it would not be more profitable to send agricultural and other families from England, whose present condition would well bear this amelioration, than to introduce a hybrid population from India and China.

At the meeting of the Cotton Association of Manchester on the 22nd ultimo a resolution was passed—"That a capital of one million sterling should be raised to promote an increased cultivation of cotton by offering to purchase it in India, Australia, Africa, and other countries."

Now I would humbly inquire of the members of this projected company where they propose to buy their cotton, and what relief such a measure will afford to the impending crisis. At the present moment all the cotton that can be spared from India and worth exporting is already sent here, for the Cotton Association has made every effort for some years to effect this. The same may be said of the small quantity grown in Africa; but in Australia there is no cotton grown, except experimentally, at all. This projected company will therefore have but a very limited operation, and confer but a still more limited benefit on the millowners.

If, on the contrary, this company had embraced the cultivation of cotton in Australia, and if this were set about immediately and in earnest, I see nothing to prevent the labour being sent there either from China or India, in time to put in fifty thousand acres of cotton this year, and to send the crop, some hundred thousand bales, to England next year. Overseers and planters can be easily obtained from America, and the only thing necessary to carry out the cultivation is capital. I am supposing, of course, that the fifty thousand acres are lands fit for cultivation, which might be rented, almost virgin soils, on the alluvium of rivers, and requiring no manure whatever. Next year some two hundred thousand acres might be put under crop, and in five years I venture to say that with energy and capital a million acres might be put under cotton, yielding about two million bales, almost equal to our present consumption.

The cultivation of cotton requires a capital equal at least to £10 an acre, and it may extend to £13 or £14 before the cotton is cleaned and shipped. But the return from the crop is immediate, as it is from a crop of wheat in this country. The outlay, in round numbers, may be put down at £13 the acre, and the return crop at £35.

In Australia, among the Anglo-Saxon race, the cultivation of cotton, although most simple in itself, is not more understood than in this country, and the settlers cannot be induced to enter on a cultivation requiring so much outlay without some knowledge of their work. Indeed there is no cultivation in the world of which Englishmen as a body are more ignorant than the cotton plant; and there is certainly no plant on which the wealth, commerce, and prosperity of their country so completely depends. There is no trade in the world that has made the strides of advancement as the cotton factories of this country during the past half century, and no trade in which such magnificent fortunes have been so suddenly constructed. The rise of Manchester itself to its present gigantic proportions is simply emblematical of these results. From the cotton trade of England a new state of things has arisen—a new class of interests, and a new code of politics. Still, if we were to take the population of the United Kingdom, we should not find one man in every thousand who knows anything of the nature of the cotton plant, whether a tree or shrub, and much less of its actual cultivation.

Before, then, organising a company to purchase cotton in Australia, it seems only a natural course to grow the cotton first. I do not believe there is any country in the world where the cotton plant can be more advantageously cultivated than in Australia, because there you have a climate singularly suited to its nature, and it is the want of this character of climate which will ever prevent India from becoming the cotton field of England. It is a very common fallacy among all classes of people to speak of cotton as a tropical plant. There is no doubt an inferior quality of cotton will grow in the tropics, because we have ample evidence that it does. But in the slave states of America, where the finest qualities of cotton are produced, there is none whatever grown in the tropics, but in the temperate zone between the parallels of thirty and thirty-six degrees of north latitude. The countries next to the United States from which good cotton is obtained may be classed, Egypt in twenty-nine degrees, and Algeria in thirty-six north. I have myself imported a sample bale grown in thirty-two south, in Australia, which has been valued by the Liverpool brokers at one shilling and sixpence a pound, although the cotton was most carelessly cultivated. The advantages, however, which Australia possesses for cotton cultivation demand too much detail to enter on here; but I may venture to assert, from personal knowledge and observation, that she possesses immeasurable recommendations, both in soil and climate, over the Southern States of America, and that she must become at no very distant day the great cotton field of Europe. She has already rendered England independent of continental Europe for Merino wools, and I feel persuaded that cotton cultivation requires only to be once properly set going there to establish it as the national industry of the country.—I am, &c.,

EQUITY COURTS.—FEB. 8.

(Before Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood.)

HORN V. WIMSHURST'S PATENT METAL FOIL AND SHEET METAL COMPANY (LIMITED).

This was a motion on behalf of a shareholder in the above-mentioned company to restrain the directors from manufacturing and selling any sheet metal capsules, or metal foils, according to the processes comprised in Betts's patent, and to restrain the directors from guaranteeing, on behalf of the company, purchasers of such articles against proceedings by Betts in respect of such purchases. The motion also sought to restrain the defendants from taking any proceedings against Betts for the purpose of impeaching the validity of his patent, and from applying any part of the assets of the company for that purpose, and from incurring any liability on behalf of the company with reference to any such proceedings. The company, in which the plaintiff was a holder of fifty shares, was formed in 1859 for the purpose of acquiring, holding, and exercising a patent invention for improvements in manufacturing sheet metal, of which Henry William Wimshurst was the sole patentee in England, and for other purposes in connection therewith, which were detailed in the memorandum of association of the company, bearing date the 4th of July, 1859. The bill stated that the plaintiff had recently discovered that the directors had commenced the manufacture of metal foils and capsules, according to the patented process of, and without any license or authority from, William Betts, whose patent for the manufacture of capsules (for bottle stoppers) out of a combined material of lead and tin has been the subject of continual litigation both at law and in equity. Mr. Betts had served notice upon the company calling on them to desist from infringing his patent. The directors, however, at a general meeting of the shareholders, were authorised to prosecute the manufacture of capsules and metal foils, and to grant guarantees against any proceedings by Betts to the purchasers, and also, if they saw fit, to take proceedings by scire facias, or otherwise, to obtain a repeal of Betts's patent. In consequence of these resolutions the plaintiff, who was not present at the meeting, had filed his bill, and now moved for an injunction.

Mr. Willcock and Mr. W. Pearson appeared in support of the motion; Mr. Holt and Mr. Hadden contra.

The Vice-Chancellor said that the question was whether, having regard to the scope and objects of the company, the directors were at liberty to employ the funds entrusted to them in the manner contemplated. The objects of the company, as detailed in the articles of association, were the working, using, exercising, and vending Wimshurst's patent invention, obtaining improvements or additions to such invention, &c., and generally doing all such acts, &c., as might be necessary for the proper development of or in any way incidental to the carrying out all or any of such objects as aforesaid. It was not necessary in deciding the case to go a step beyond the proper development of Wimshurst's patent. The extent of that invention and its proper development must be guided by certain limits, but in the case of a trading company the court must not be astute to discover such limits. On the contrary, the court would rather strive to give the largest possible scope to the business. His Honour then proceeded to examine the evidence as to the proposed adoption of the process to making capsules, and pressing and rolling the sheets of lead and tin, and held that these were not improper or extraordinary methods of applying and developing the patent. It was not necessary to lay down any broad principles as to the right of the company to take proceedings for repealing Betts's patent by scire facias. Thus much, however, was before him, that Mr. Betts would not be able to obtain an injunction in respect of his patent. The company, believing bona fide that Betts's patent was bad, might well think it worth their while to contest it. No doubt the guarantee to purchasers went a step farther, but the company might adopt it as a means of increasing their business, upon being told by their travellers that the inventions would have a good sale if purchasers were not frightened away by the threats of Mr. Betts. If the directors thought that they were being harassed by this claim of Betts, and that it would be to their interest to get rid of it, he could not say that any proceedings for that purpose would be against the scope and objects of the company. With respect to acquiescence and knowledge, he did not consider that the plaintiff stood in a very favourable position. But, quite independently of any considerations upon that point, he held that the company were doing that which was within their power, and with which this court was not entitled to interfere. The motion must, therefore, be refused, with costs.

At the Mansion-house, on Monday, Mr. Robert Fraser North, of the firm of Nickoll and North, tallow brokers, was committed to Newgate for trial, on the charge of fraudulently obtaining tallow.

FOREIGN OFFICE, Feb. 12.—The Queen has been pleased to approve of Mr. Johann Philipp Schneider as consul at Calcutta for the Free Hanseatic City of Bremen. The Queen has also been pleased to approve of M. Edoardo Giovanni Leveson as consul at Penang for his Majesty the King of Sardinia.—Gazette.

Mines.

FRIDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 15.

THE Mining Market this week has been rather quiet. The principal features have been a fall in East Wheal Russell, and a rise in East Caradon shares.

In the mining market to-day, the feature which monopolised attention was the movement in East Caradon shares. This stock was in extraordinary demand, and rose to 14½, "buyers." Providence, Marke Valley, and Wheal Basset shares were also in demand, Stray Park steady, and Alfred Consols dull. The other transactions were chiefly in shares in North Basset, New Wheal Seton, Bedford United, and Wheal Agar.

The following prices are reported to us from the Stock Exchange this evening:—

Alfred Consols, 3½ to 4; Camborne Vean, 3 to ½; Cargoll, 17 to 19; East Basset, 105 to 110; East Caradon, 14½ to ¾; East Carn Brea, 7 to ½; East Russell, 6 to ½; Great Retallack, 35s. to 37s. 6d.; Great Wheal Fortune, 8 to 9; Herodsfoot, 33 to 34; Hingston Down, 2½ to ½; Marke Valley, 4½ to 5½; North Treskerby, 33 to 34; Providence Mines, 44 to 45; South Caradon, 300 to 305; South Frances, 185 to 195; South Tolgus, 50 to 51; Stray Park, 37½ to 38½; Wendron Consols, 20 to 21; West Caradon, 80 to 81; West Rose Down, 4 to ½; West Seton, 355 to 365; West Stray Park, 6 to 8; Wheal Basset, 105 to 110; Wheal Buller, 137½ to 142½; Wheal Clifford, 190 to 195; Wheal Ludcott, 3½ to ¾; Wheal Margaret, 52 to 54; Wheal Seton, 80 to 85; Wheal Trelawney, 10 to 12.

Foreign and colonial mining shares have been steady. St. John del Rey continue in request.

The shares of the Labuan Coal Company were quoted to-day 2½ to ¾ prem.

The directors of the English and Australian Copper Company have issued their tenth report, to be submitted at the meeting on the 21st inst. The most material passages are as follows:—

Annexed hereto are the accounts, duly signed by the auditors, by which the proprietors will perceive that the profit realised during the past year, after deducting all charges, amounts to the sum of £26,428. 17s. 8d., to which must be added the sum of £2,600. 16s. 1d., balance of profit remaining from last year, making together the sum of £29,029. 13s. 9d. now standing to the credit of the profit and loss account. Out of this sum a dividend was declared in August last of 2s. 6d. per share, amounting to £8,750, and 10 per cent. thereon was added to the reserve fund, making together the sum of £9,625, and which, deducted from the foregoing sum, will leave to the credit of the profit and loss account a balance of £19,404. 13s. 9d., out of which sum the shareholders can safely declare a dividend of 5s. per share, free of Income-tax, and appropriate 10 per cent. thereon to the reserve fund. The total standing to the credit of the reserve fund is £6,728. 4s. 11d. Consols, which will be further increased by the above appropriation of £1,750, thus making the total amount of this fund about £8,500 Consols. In conclusion the directors congratulate the proprietors on the present satisfactory state of affairs, which they believe will not only continue, but be attended with increasing prosperity, the operations of the company during the current year fully justifying the directors in looking forward with increased confidence to the future.

The following reports are from Australian Mining Companies, and were brought in by the mail, which was delivered this week:—

PORT PHILIP AND COLONIAL.

The directors have advices dated Melbourne, 24th of December. The quantity of quartz crushed during November was 2,932 tons, yielding 2,217 oz. of gold, being an increase of three dwts. of gold per ton. The amount received on Clunes account for six weeks was £3,816, and the expenditure £2,322, showing £1,595 profit. The machinery was all in good working order. In reference to the produce of the mine, Mr. Bland states "that there is a decided improvement in the yield of the quartz. The return for October gave 11 dwts. 7 grs. per ton; November 15 dwts. 3 grs.; while that for December will be quite 19 dwts. to the ton," which, he trusts, will remove any anxiety about the mine failing in depth. A remittance of £2,000 has been received by this mail.

ENGLISH AND AUSTRALIAN COPPER.

The directors have advices from their manager dated Adelaide, December 26; there were eight furnaces and one refinery at work; the amount of coal at the works on the 22nd of December was 2,610 tons, and wood 5,161 tons.

GREAT NORTHERN OF SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

The advices from the local committee are dated Adelaide, December 26th; they state, "We refer you to the reports as to the satisfactory continuance of operations at the mines; the prospects are more favourable than ever. The following is a return of ore on account of the company to this date:—Despatched from the mines since the 27th of June—viz., Ore shipped per Bielefeld, at Port Augusta, 38 tons; ditto, per Austral, at Port Augusta, 45 tons; ditto (engaged) Maria Johanna, 50 tons; ditto at Port Augusta, 67 tons. You will observe by Captain Pascoe's remarks that a much larger quantity could have been got ready with proper dressing machinery at the mine. The miners ex Ramilies and Schah Jehan have arrived at the mines and been set to work. The committee have not failed to represent to Mr. Finke the necessity of his accompanying Captain Pascoe to the Eastern mines, so as to enable him to give a full report of all the Company's properties; they will do all in their power to insure your having it by next mail." Captain J. B. Pascoe reports as follows, under date December 13:—"I have sent away 21 dry loads of ore since Wednesday last, and expect to send six more to-day, and can send away 50 tons any day. Our mine continues good; it is full of ore. I have advice from Mr. Tassie of 20 more drays being on the road up, which will keep us busy, and I hope that you will have at least from 120 to 150 tons shipped on board the next vessel, and how much more we shall be able to get down will of course entirely depend on the number of drays that arrive. I have issued notices for additional drays, and I believe we shall have as many, and perhaps more than we require, after the wool season and harvest. Fourteen fresh miners have arrived, and are all working. We cannot possibly go to the Eastern mines for another month."

NORTH RHINE.

The directors have advices dated the 26th of December. Captain Barker reports:—"The cross cut is now 23 fathoms east of Cope's shaft, the distance we have driven this month being 3 fathoms 2 feet 6 inches. Since my last we have cut through the large lode again; on the north side of the cut it is 3 feet 6 inches wide, and on the south side it is 5 feet 6 inches wide, composed of mundic, spar, and yellow ore. The lode has considerably improved in the 20 fathom level, but has not yet attained a sufficient depth to free it entirely from the mundic, and to have that mundic replaced by copper in remunerative quantities. That this change will doubtless take place is the universal opinion of all who have seen the ore from the 43-fathom level, though the copper is deeper than we expected. The south end is now 34 fathoms south of Cope's."

SCOTTISH AUSTRALIAN MINING.

The directors have a communication, dated the 21st of December, with the following report from the Cape of Good Hope Mine up to the 14th of that month:—"Dickson's Shaft is now down about 12½ fathoms, with an easy blue killas in the bottom. The shaft is divided and cased to this level. The ground, although it is worked with powder, requires partial timbering. A small quantity of water, which we believe to be permanent, appears in the shaft. The whim is nearly ready, and I trust the end of next week will see it in working order."

Mr. Morehead, the superintendent, is still actively engaged in maturing arrangements connected with the proposed lease of 2,560 acres of coal-bearing land mentioned in the last report of the directors. He has visited the property several times, and on each occasion has spent several days there.

Boring operations were being continued with very satisfactory results, and the mining engineer conducting them concludes his report in these terms:—"From the above facts and proofs I feel confident that the identity of the coal with the Wall's-end seam is now complete, and that the same exists under the whole of the 2,560 acres, with the possible exception of a very small triangular portion at the extreme north-east."

KAPUNDA.

The directors have advices to the 24th of December from their manager in Adelaide, who reports that during that month some crushes had occurred in one part of the mine, which had injured two of the shafts and some of the levels, and delayed the operations in progress to cut the main lode at the 60 fathoms level. These crushes would render necessary some alterations in the buildings and dressing floors at the surface. He also reports that the returns of ore continue to be satisfactory, with good prospects for the future. On weight and assay the October ores proved to be 330 tons of 19.820 per cent. average produce, equal to 65 tons of pure copper; and the yield for November is reported as 258 tons of similar average produce. Since the date of the last advices (26th of November) the shipment of 57½ tons of copper per Blackwall had been completed, and freight had been engaged, per Westburn, for about 60 tons, of which 36 had been shipped. The smelting works were in good order.

WORTHING.

The advices are dated the 22nd of December. A crosscut east has been commenced at the 33-fathom level; it is expected that some lodes will be met with here shortly. The 33-fathom level south is driven 9 fathoms, lode 3 feet wide, composed of quartz with black and yellow ore. It is believed that the main part of the lode is further west, and a crosscut is about to be put out to prove it. From the 33-fathom level north 30 tons of good yellow ore have been raised during the month. In the 23-fathom level south the stopes north and south of winze have been very productive; during the month above 100 tons of ore have been raised by eight men from this point. These stopes will turn out a large quantity of ore. In the stopes 23-fathom level south of Hocking's shaft they have raised a good pile of yellow and black ore. The water has been nearly all let down, and in another month the south part of the mine will be dry, and can be worked to advantage. The mine is looking well, and all the work is being carried on with economy. The crusher works well, and the new dressing machinery is a perfect success; the regulus will be of a better quality in future. Quantity of ore raised during the month, 150 tons of best, and 100 tons of seconds. 41½ tons of regulus of better quality have been shipped per Result.

BON ACCORD.

The directors have communications from Adelaide dated the 26th of December, with reports from the mine up to the 22nd. One of the works, viz., the driving of the 30-fathom level east from engine shaft, during the progress of which the ground improved, and from which the large influx of water recently came—has been continued sufficiently far to prove that ore is not to be found there at that depth. The operations at this point have therefore been discontinued, and the water effectually dammed out from the engine shaft, very greatly reducing the work of the engine. Since the previous report from the mine the whole of the workings have been thoroughly and carefully examined by a competent and independent mining captain. He describes the lodes as being "composed of brown iron and quartz strongly stained with copper, more likely to make ore in depth than any other place in the mine." As respects "Grainger's shaft," in which in the 18-fathom level, at a distance of 7 fathoms, a lode from 10 to 12 feet wide has been cut, split into two parts, he advises that a few fathoms be driven on each, and if not successful that the shaft be sunk to, and the lode cut at, the 40. Of Elder's shaft he reports that at 22 fathoms a level has been driven through a channel of ground consisting of "a kind of decomposed light blue clay slate, very much stained with copper and pryan, carrying its head to the south-west; so that, in my opinion, wherever it strikes the lode we shall find ore."

He likewise advises that "Jeffery's shaft," the most westerly of all the workings, be sunk deeper, as being, in his opinion, near the run of one of the Burra lodes.

The chairman of the committee writes:—"Having now got the water entirely under control, it is the intention of the committee to carry out the works they were engaged upon previous to the interruption caused by it. In addition they will prove Killcoat's workings, as advised by Captain Prisk, and also go on with the explorations at Jeffery's shaft. . . . Although I am disappointed at the result of the working just closed, I do not see that we need be discouraged as to the prospects in other parts of the mine. We will now be able to get to the 40 fathoms, and drive thence as originally intended."

DUN MOUNTAIN.

The directors have advices dated Nelson, New Zealand, December 8, viz.,—"This mail we hand you Mr. Doyne's estimate for the railway from the Dun Mountain Mines to the port of Nelson, and await your instructions to begin with the work. Mr. Doyne states that the railway will pay itself in time, independently of its necessity to carry the chrome from the mines, and he advises its immediate commencement. The London directors sent out directions in November last to begin the railway, and the Nelson committee would be in possession of their despatches by the February London mails."

MERCANTILE EMBARRASMENTS.

The stoppage was announced on Saturday of Messrs. O'Halloran and Co., of 2, New Broad-street, coffee growers. They are also connected with the oil and linseed trades. The house has occupied a respectable position. It is hoped that the liabilities will not exceed £20,000. The assets are said to show a surplus, but they consist of produce and estates, both situate in Ceylon. The books have been placed in the hands of Mr. Kemp, the accountant.

At the adjourned meeting, on Monday, of the creditors of Mr. Henry Bateman, timber merchant, it was announced that Sir Hugh Cairns and Sir Richard Bethell (the Attorney-General) have given their opinion that no partnership exists between Mr. Bateman and Mr. Browning. The previous meeting, it will be remembered, was adjourned on this question in deference to the wishes of the red-wood (Mr. Bateman's) creditors, who argued that the dealings of Mr. Browning with Mr. Bateman partook of the character of a partnership. The separate estate of the former, as representing transactions in white-wood, shows about 16s. 6d. in the pound, and that of the latter, representing dealings in red-wood, only about 7s. After considerable discussion, in the course of which some of the latter class of creditors adhered to their petition, it was agreed to invite Mr. Bateman to sign a declaration of insolvency previous to his estate being placed in the Court of Bankruptcy. This measure is not adopted in a hostile spirit towards him, but as the best course under the peculiar circumstances of the case. The white-wood creditors are expected eventually to receive 20s. in the pound.

A meeting also took place on Monday of the creditors of Messrs. Henry Smith and Son, contractors, of Birmingham, who stopped payment on the 19th ult. The balance-sheet, presented by Mr. Jay, the accountant, estimates the liabilities at £18,876, and the assets at £15,429, apart from a further sum of about £15,000, which is claimed by the firm from the Buenos Ayres and San Fernando Railway Company and the Amsterdam Crystal Palace Company, in connection with contracts with those undertakings. On the contract with the Buenos Ayres Railway Company £39,846 is stated to have been expended, against £34,488 received; and on that with the Amsterdam Crystal Palace Company, £12,780 has been expended, against £4,927 received. There would thus be an apparent surplus in favour of the estate of £13,211 from these contracts, besides £2,231 on 500 shares in the former company. The two companies seem willing to release Messrs. Smith and Son from the contracts, but dispute their claims. The capital of the insolvents in January, 1860, was £18,000, and in entering into the Buenos Ayres Railway contract they expected to realise a profit of at least £10,000, but the damage which occurred to this line some months ago is believed to have prejudiced their position. It was eventually determined that the estate shall be wound up under inspection.

At a meeting, held on Wednesday, of the creditors of Mr. S. P. Zizinius, Greek merchant, who stopped on the 26th ult., the liabilities were stated by Mr. Coleman, the accountant, at £66,036, and the assets at £10,254. The failure has arisen through the extent to which acceptances have been given for Mr. D. E. Rodocanachi, of Manchester, who recently failed, and the amount to be reclaimed upon that firm cannot yet be ascertained; the bills payable to be provided for amount to £59,843. The operations of Mr. Zizinius since 1851 show a profit of £39,860, while the trade expenses, bad debts, drawings, &c., have amounted to £24,669. It was pointed out that, as nothing is known respecting what Mr. Rodocanachi will pay, it was not expedient to determine now upon the mode of winding up the estate, and that the best plan would be an adjournment. It was accordingly resolved to adjourn to the 18th of April, and meanwhile a committee, which was appointed, is to take charge of the moneys and bills now in hand, &c.

A meeting also took place on Wednesday of the creditors of Messrs. P. C. Selvago and Co., Greek merchants, who failed on the 4th inst. The balance-sheet, presented by Mr. Coleman, the accountant, estimates the liabilities at £12,659, and the assets at £29,871, of which £26,010 is due from the branch houses at Constantinople, Berdianski, and Taganrog. Of the liabilities on bills receivable (£23,065) £12,380 will rank against the estate, through the failure of the following firms, viz.:—Messrs. D. E. Rodocanachi, S. P. Zizinius, J. P. Schilizzi, jun., and Schilizzi and Vuros. The capital of Mr. Selvago in 1858 was about £8,000. It was argued that as nearly the whole of the assets are due from the branch houses abroad, it would be best for Mr. Selvago to go out to assist in their realisation. This could be done with the assistance and under the inspection of parties there, to be nominated by three of the creditors, who could meanwhile act as a committee here. A resolution to this effect was adopted.

The Sydney advices report the failure of Messrs. Mitchell and Co., merchants and ship chandlers, with liabilities estimated at £40,000, and assets at £37,000.

Messrs. Gomidos, Panos, and Co., of Paris, Greek merchants, have suspended payment.

The American advices mention the stoppage of Messrs. Pierce Brothers and Flanders, dry goods jobbers, of Boston. Their liabilities are said to amount to nearly £160,000.

The accounts from Havannah allude to the sensation which has been produced there by the failure of Messrs. Stahmer and Co., combined with the discovery that false certificates, purporting to represent sugar in the warehouses, have been deposited by this firm with the Bank of Havannah.

Letters from Barcelona mention the failure of the mercantile house of M. Rosendo Noviega, in the Havannah trade, with liabilities for £140,000, and very unfavourable prospects of liquidation. Another house had also stopped—Messrs. Lopez and Lemonier—but with small engagements.

The Produce and other Markets.

COLONIAL PRODUCE.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, FEB. 15.

The Colonial markets remain quiet, yet the leading articles have not experienced any material alteration since the sudden advance of the Bank rate of discount yesterday to 8 per cent. There has been a more steady demand for Sugar at the recent decline, the liberal supplies of Mauritius and East India brought forward chiefly finding buyers. Low to middling qualities were, however, taken less readily to-day, and in some instances went rather cheaper. The public sales of Plantation Ceylon Coffee on Tuesday, passed off at an occasional slight advance for the parcels of the new crop submitted, but subsequently the extreme prices were not maintained. Rice is dull. No change of interest has occurred in Spice. Pimento barely supports its late value, but the increased supplies offered have mostly found buyers. A few contracts have been made in Bengal Saltpetre at 1s. to 2s. per cwt. reduction, at which the article continues inactive. The Tea Market is unaltered since the sales concluded, and the transactions by private contract have been moderate in extent. Rum is steady. No sales have been reported in Cotton this week. British sorts of Cocoa have further receded in value.

THE TALLOW TRADE.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 15.

The Tallow Market has continued in the same dull and unsatisfactory state, so far as relates to business for consumption, as for some time past, the weekly deliveries clearly indicating not only the general stagnation that exists, but also a gradual falling off in the demand. It could be wished that there was some prospect of an improvement on the present state of things, but so far as would appear to be the case there is but little hope for the market being placed in a natural position for some time hence.

The purchase of 1,500 to 2,000 tons Y.C. alluded to in our report of last week resulted in 60s. 3d. and 60s. 6d. being paid on Monday for delivery in February and March, doubtless with a view to cover outstanding engagements. Subsequently it was reported that there were sellers at 59s. 6d., which price was stated to have been also accepted for March alone. During the past two days, however, the course of speculation has tended to higher rates being current in all positions hence to the end of the year, present prices being about on a par with those ruling last Friday.

To-day much general dullness has prevailed, and the following are current quotations for Y.C., viz.:—60s. for fine tallow on the spot; 59s. 6d. to 59s. 9d. for delivery in February and March; 58s. 6d. for April to June; and 56s. 6d. to 56s. 9d. per cwt. for October to December.

The imports since Monday up to last evening have been 263 casks. The deliveries have been only 683 casks, and the present stock of all kinds is 71,585 casks, being a decrease of 681 casks when compared with the quantity on hand this day week.

Town Melted has been in fair request during the week, and 58s. net is the more general price reported paid. To-day "the Letter price" has been unaltered from 60s. 3d.—or say 57s. 9d. per cwt. net.

The public sales to-day resulted as follows:—

P. Y. C.—Of 11 casks 1st sort offered, only 6 casks fair quality were sold at 59s. 6d.; 20 casks unbracketed realised 56s. 9d. to 57s. per cwt. for middling to fair.

South American proved in very limited request. Of 259 casks and 85 boxes offered, only 19 casks, fine quality, were sold at 57s. per cwt., being 6d. lower than last week.

Australian was also much neglected, notwithstanding very moderate prices would have been accepted for some parcels. Of 196 casks submitted only about 50 casks found buyers in the room, as follows: Beef, fine to very fine, good body, 57s. 6d. to 57s. 9d.; fine, 57s.; and 56s. 6d. per cwt. for good quality, being about 3d. to 6l. lower than last week.

North American was held firmly, and the 62 casks submitted were all taken in.

East India continues to sell very slowly even at low comparative prices. Of 164 packages brought forward, only 25 cases very fine were sold at the sales at 58s. 3d. per cwt., being very cheap.

Leghorn.—The 15 casks submitted were sold at very moderate prices, as follows, viz.: good, 56s. 6d. to 57s.; rather dark, 56s.; dark, 54s. per cwt.

Corfu.—3 casks offered sold at 57s. for good, and 53s. per cwt. for rather dreggy, being also cheap.

Cocoa Nut Oil.—The market for both Cochin and Ceylon is very inanimate, and prices have still a downward tendency. Of 70 pipes of Colombo, Cochin kind, only 10 casks very fine were sold at 51s. 34 pipes Ceylon, also very fine, were part sold at 50s. 350 casks Sydney, on the contrary, all found buyers as follows: fine and extra fine, in hogsheads, 48s. 6d. to 49s.; fair to good, 47s. 6d. to 48s.; middling to fair, 45s. 3d. to 47s.;—large casks, fine, 48s. to 48s. 6d.; fair to good, 45s. 9d. to 47s. 6d.; middling to very dark, 43s. to 45s. 6d., and 35s. per cwt. for very inferior.

Palm Oil continues very difficult of sale; nevertheless, some holders are very firm at 4s. for fine Lagsos, at which price, 25 tons were reported sold privately yesterday. At auction to-day, however, fine to really fine was sold at 45s. 3d. to 46s.; middling to fair, 42s. 6d. to 43s. 6d.; 41s. to 41s. 3d. for rather weak, and 38s. per cwt. for rather ordinary and foul.

Palm Nut Oil declined fully 1s. per cwt. on last week's prices, but even at that concession only about 54 casks of 99 offered found buyers at 38s. 9d. to 39s. per cwt.; for fair to good, 38s. 6d. for repacked, and 35s. per cwt. for very inferior.

South American Horse Grease continues to be held firmly, and neglected at the price required; the 200 cases being all bought in at 40s. per cwt.—Furnished by Messrs. Culverwell, Brooks and Co., Brokers.

LIVERPOOL COTTON MARKET.

LIVERPOOL, FRIDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 15.

Owing to the advices from the United States, and to the rise in the value of money here, the cotton market has been very flat this week, and prices show a reduction of  $\frac{1}{4}$ d. to  $\frac{1}{2}$ d. per lb., compared with those current on Friday last. As regards American, ordinary and low middling qualities are  $\frac{1}{4}$ d. per lb. lower, while solid good middling and better qualities exhibit a fall of  $\frac{1}{4}$ d.

[BY ELECTRIC TELEGRAPH.]

LIVERPOOL, FRIDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 15.

The market has been very heavy to-day, and the sales have reached only 3,000 bales, including 500 on speculation and for exportation. There have been no imports to-day. The sales of the week comprise only 32,120 bales (against 48,790 bales last week), of which 2,670 were taken on speculation, and 8,730 for exportation, and the imports 34,758 bales. The stock now amounts to 725,561 bales, showing an increase of 6,061 bales, compared with that of last week.

The Corn Trade.

GENERAL REMARKS.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 15.

The unfavourable weather has again brought agricultural field-work to a stop. Fortunately, farmers have turned to best account the preceding three weeks of mild weather. A large surface of ground has been ploughed and sown with suitable kinds of grain, the soil being in excellent working order. The appearance of the autumn-sown wheat plants continues to be favourably reported of, but the later sown wheat is complained of as patchy, a large portion of the seed not having germinated; consequently a good many fields will have to be ploughed over and re-sown once more, or left fallow till next autumn.

The quantity of home-grown wheat brought to market this week shows a further falling off, compared with the weekly returns since the beginning of the year. Farmers have been so fully engaged with field work that thrashing out grain had to be laid aside for a more convenient time. The supply of barley has also been smaller than a week ago, but the delivery of oats shows a considerable increase upon preceding weekly returns this season.

The imports of wheat into the United Kingdom continue large, mostly from America, and a portion from South European ports, out of the recent fleet. Nearly the whole quantity of flour now imported is from the United States of America. The returns of barley, mostly inferior sorts from the Danube, show an increase upon preceding weeks. The Danish and Baltic ports having till recently been closed by ice, the arrivals of oats had almost come to a complete stop, but since last Monday a few thousand quarters have arrived. The imports of maize continue on a small scale.

The British corn trade has ruled firm in tone this week, but without much activity. Superior sorts of wheat continue sought after, and in several markets 1s. to 2s. per qr. more money than a week ago had to be paid, but inferior sorts, of which there is so much offering, the sale is slow, and prices are barely maintained. The English crop, though somewhat improved in quality by the late frost, is still so defective that the bulk is scarcely fit for bread-making. With large arrivals of American, the demand for flour has been quiet, at about last week's prices. Superior sorts of barley have been held for rather more money, but inferior have been a drug on the market. Oats have met with little inquiry, notwithstanding the almost total cessation of imports, and prices remain without material alteration. Maize meets with a quiet demand, and is unaltered, but firm in price. Beans are slightly dearer. Peas are unaltered in value.

In Mark-Lane to-day the attendance of the trade was moderate, and the tone very dull. Wheat—English was inactive and without change. Foreign quiet. Flour—dull, and unaltered—Norfolk, 39s. to 40s. per 280 lbs. Barley firm, at last Monday's quotations. Oats without change, at last Monday's prices. Beans and peas firm.

A meeting of the Electric and International Telegraph Company took place on Wednesday, the 6th inst., the Hon. R. Grimston in the chair, where the report was adopted, and a dividend declared for the past half-year of  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent., making a total of 7 per cent. for 1860. The receipts during that period show an advance of £3,165 over the corresponding six months of 1859. The Board have carefully examined their present tariff, and, although circumstances prevent any alteration now, will be ready at the proper time to bring forward some modification of their present charges. The renewal fund has been raised to £35,717, and a balance of undivided profit of £11,782 is carried forward.

At the annual meeting of the London Necropolis Company, held on Thursday, Mr. Alderman Dakin in the chair, the report was adopted. The share capital remains at £149,160, and eight acres of surplus land have been sold by auction at an average of £117 per acre.

PUBLIC INCOME AND EXPENDITURE.—Yesterday morning was issued to the House of Commons a return of the gross public income and expenditure in the year ended the 30th day of September, 1860, and also in the year ended the 31st day of December. The total revenue of the year ended the 30th of September was £70,809,976. 3s. 9d.; the total expenditure was £72,145,832. 5s. 8d.; showing an excess of expenditure over income of £1,335,856. 1s. 11d. In the year ended the 31st of December last, the total income was £71,967,494. 14s. 8d.; the total expenditure was £72,578,632. 6s. 6d.; showing an excess of expenditure over income of £611,137. 11s. 10d. The balances in the exchequer on the 31st of December were, at the Bank of England, £4,125,455. 11s. 10d.; at the Bank of Ireland, £1,124,935. 19s.

THE BANK OF ENGLAND.—In the report just laid before Parliament on the relations between the Government and the Bank of England, it is stated that the bank-note paper costs above £11,000 a-year. Upwards of ten millions of notes were paid in in the year 1859, which would be an average of above 32,000 a-day; the increase between 1841 and 1859 was 88 per cent. In another department of the Bank—the management of the public debt—it is very satisfactory to find that owing to improved measures adopted for preventing and detecting fraud, the annual loss under this head during the last ten years has been under £2,000. An average carried many years back would show a much greater loss; the net loss in the single year which included Fauntleroy's frauds, was £214,000. With regard to another department—the management of the public accounts—in which the Bank discharges simply the functions of banker of the Government, it is remarked that the item of "public deposits," the weekly balances whereof averaged £6,646,000 in 1860, does not include several accounts of magnitude which might be supposed to be covered by it, since they substantially consist of public moneys, though treated as private deposits in the Bank return—moneys held in trust by public functionaries under regulations laid down by Parliament, such as the Chancery and Bankrupt accounts. The rent or annual value of the Bank is estimated by the Bank architects at £60,000 a-year, and £10,000 more for the branches; in 1832 the valuation was £35,000 a-year, with £5,000 a-year for the use of fixtures.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY OF CANADA.—The petition to the Government of Canada is now in course of signature in London, Liverpool, Birmingham, Manchester, Glasgow, Edinburgh, Bristol, Dublin, and Leeds, and shareholders are urged to place their names to it immediately.

Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India having authorised the Directors of this Company to raise the sum of £1,000,000 on Debentures not convertible into Stock, the Directors are now prepared to comply with applications that extend for DEBENTURES at par, bearing interest at 5 per cent. per annum, payable by coupon, half-yearly, at the Union Bank of London.

The payment of the principal and interest is guaranteed by the Secretary of State for India in Council. The Debentures will be for five years, from the 1st of January, 1861, transferable by endorsement without stamp, and renewable at the option of the holder for a second term of five years, at the same rate of interest, upon notice being given by him twelve months previous to the expiry of the first term. Failing such notice, the Debentures will be paid off at the expiration of the first five years.

Debentures will not be issued for any less amount than £50.

The Directors will also receive applications for the limited amount, £194,000, which remains to be allotted of the previous Debenture Loan of £1,000,000 convertible into Stock of the Company. These Debentures are for five years, or four years, at 5 per cent. per annum, payable by coupons, half-yearly, at the Union Bank of London.

The payment of the principal and interest is guaranteed in like manner by the Secretary of State for India, and the holders of these Debentures have the option at the end of twelve months from their date, and thenceforward, upon giving notice at any time before the Debenture becomes payable, of converting it into Capital Stock of the Company, bearing 5 per cent. interest, guaranteed under the contract entered into with the East India Company.

Forms of application for either or both descriptions of Debentures may be obtained at the Offices of the Company.

interested in the Safety and Economy of Railway Wheels.

Accidents from the Breaking of Tyres effectually PREVENTED by the use of R. BROTHERHOOD'S PATENT FASTENINGS, by which the tyres are so firmly fixed to the wheel that, should they become broken, they cannot possibly fly from their proper position. This mode of fastening can be adapted to nearly every kind of wheel, whether new or old. Hundreds of those wheels have been run for some years on the Great Western, Wilts, and Somerset, and other Railways, and some have just returned to the Works, which have been working constantly for nearly seven years with heavy loads, and have run upwards of 115,000 miles with the tyres severed in two without failure, and are still in working order; and £1,000 will be paid to any party using these wheels should any tyre fly off from the effect of crystallisation or frost.

MR. PIKE'S ANNUAL CIRCULAR.

MR. JOHN ROBERT PIKE begs to tender his warmest thanks to the numerous patrons and friends who have favoured him with commissions during the year 1860. To many it has been a period of varied success in speculation, although, on the whole, a satisfactory balance of profit has been realised. Looking at the courses of other branches of speculative enterprise during the last twelve months, the comparative firmness which has characterised the Mine Share Market is highly encouraging. Usually speaking, the prices of mine shares fluctuate with the value of money and the necessary staples of consumption, affected at the same time by the soundness or otherwise of trade, conditions which, during the period under review, have been sensibly modified. We have had disasters in trade, complicated international politics, money dear almost to panic point, and convulsions rather than variations in other share markets; but, through all, the demand for British mines, both for investment and speculation, has been, all things considered, remarkably good. As a matter of course, copper shares have fluctuated with the variations in the standard, which is a principle unquestionably sound, and beneficial alike to the investor and speculator, apart altogether from the fluctuations in prices consequent on the usual accident of supply and demand.

In some quarters it might be construed as rudeness even to offer any advice to the investing public on the management of their own affairs, but speculation in mining property is of such an exceptional character as to warrant him, at the risk of displacing a few, in making his long experience in some measure available for the benefit of the many. He has addressed the public interested in mines, both through the medium of the newspaper press and in printed books on this subject. For years he has in this way been warning and advising, and now, at the commencement of another year, he would impress upon the minds of investors a few very ordinary, but in practice very valuable, truisms:—

1.—Never speculate without careful and diligent inquiry. The answer to this may be that no persons but those bereft of reason ever do; to which he would reply, assuming the correctness of the hypothesis, that a frightfully large number of the investing public must be in that lamentable mental condition.

2.—The prices at which shares may be negotiated on 'Change is no guide whatever to the intrinsic value of the mines represented. Then how comes it, says the sceptic, that men, confessedly knowing better, should every day of their lives give more for shares than they are really worth? To which he would answer, that there are both values fictitious and values real. By the former the members of a guild may be benefited, but the latter can alone satisfy the investor who specifically exchanges money for an equivalent value.

3.—Seek the assistance of a reliable agent, a course which is perfectly consistent with the full exercise of personal judgment. In negotiating the purchase or sale of mine shares, the services of a respectable and competent agent are indispensable. Any person of average intelligence, after a very slight acquaintance with the forms of the House, can properly conduct the business of a client in railway stock or Government securities; but to creditably conduct a negotiation in mine shares an amount of special knowledge on the part of the agent is necessary, which can only be acquired by long experience from actual observation in mining matters.

4.—Having selected an agent, be influenced by his advice until you discover it is no longer reliable. To neglect of this rule alone may be traced a large percentage of losses in mining transactions. Excessive acquisitiveness, when placed against the judgment of an agent, usually triumphs, and the result, in too many instances, is either gain deferred or serious loss. Apropos of this is the old saying, that "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush."

The reiteration of the foregoing, if productive of little good, cannot in any case do harm. Long experience has convinced him of their soundness, an opinion which he feels convinced the most respectable mine share agents will unhesitatingly endorse.

As regards local mining connection, he has much pleasure in announcing that this branch of his business has been greatly extended. His long residence as a sharebroker in Cornwall has enabled him to establish a network of correspondents, by whom he is kept well advised of any change of importance in the mines of Cornwall and Devon, as well as those in the northern districts. The information thus derived is now, as heretofore, at all times at the service of his clients.

To one new feature, however, he begs respectfully to direct public attention—viz., the selection "of a set of six mines, three dividend and three progressive, for speculation and investment in the year 1861." In this task he has been aided by some of the best practical miners in Cornwall. In the choice of these mines no expense nor labour has been spared, and so strong is his personal faith in the selection that, if called upon at the time of purchase so to do, he will unhesitatingly undertake a moiety of the risk, by paying or receiving one-half of either profit or loss on the transaction; whilst an uniform charge of one guinea will be made to the public on application, either by letter or personally, for the desired information.

Mr. PIKE continues to buy and sell for the fortnightly and monthly accounts, on receiving a remittance of 25 per cent. on the current market prices, as a deposit to cover risk. In conclusion, Mr. PIKE begs to assure his friends that all communications respecting business will meet with the same attention as heretofore, and to state that his facilities for negotiating shares in British, Foreign, and Colonial Mines remain unimpaired.

BRITISH MINE SHARES pay 25 per cent. per annum in dividends, and often advance 1,000 per cent. on outlay. (Thirteen Mines, on an outlay of £56,316, paid in dividends £3,747,035.) Capitalists should act only on sound advice and reliable information, which can be obtained of HY. GOULD SHARP, Share-dealer, 32, Poultry, London, E.C. N.B. The Capitalist's Guide and Share List gratis and post free.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN INVESTMENT.

MR. THOMAS SPARGO, of Nos. 224 and 225, GRESHAM HOUSE, OLD BROAD-STREET, LONDON, E.C., TRANSACTS every description of BUSINESS in the PURCHASE and SALE of SHARES in BANKS, CANALS, RAILWAYS, BRIDGES, INSURANCES, and all other BRITISH and FOREIGN STOCK.

MR. SPARGO has FOR SALE SHARES in ENGLISH MINES paying from 20 to 25 per cent. upon the present price in bi-monthly and quarterly Dividends, as also a number of Shares in good progressive Mines, some of which he specially recommends to the public as sound investments.

MR. SPARGO GIVES ADVICE and ACCURATE INFORMATION as to the position and prospects of all mining undertakings upon application, either personally or by letter, and has published the following, from which those unacquainted with mining can enlighten themselves thereon, viz.:—Statistics and Observations upon the Mines of Devon and Cornwall, for 1859, price 2s. 6d.; ditto for 1860, 2s. 6d.; Physical, Geological, and Parish Map of Cornwall, 10s. 6d.; Geological Maps of various Mining Districts of Cornwall, showing Boundary Lines of every Mine, with the Lodes, Cross-contrs, and Elvans traversing each, 2s. 6d. each; and a Relief Model Map of Cornwall, price £5. 5s.

Dividends received, Calls paid, and all orders negotiated on a Commission of 2½ per cent.

MINES, RAILWAYS, BANK, STEAM-SHIP, and INSURANCE SHARES BOUGHT, SOLD, or EXCHANGED.

Capitalists who seek safe and profitable investments, free from risk, should act only upon the soundest information; the market prices of the day are for the most part governed by the immediate supply and demand, together with the operations of speculators without reference to the bona fide merits of the property.

Mines afford a wider range for profit than any other public securities, and pay dividends bi-monthly, varying from 15 to 30 per cent. per annum. Instances frequently occur of young Mines rising in value 400 to 500 per cent. The undersigned devotes special attention to the above, and affords every information to capitalists, and effects purchases or sales upon the best possible terms.

THE PROSPERITY OF THE MANUFACTURING INTEREST—MANCHESTER AND HER RESOURCES.

A GOOD deal has been said lately about the probability of a decline in the prosperity of the manufacturing interest. It will not be contested that the uncertain condition of the money market, the extraordinarily high rate of interest, the partial paralysis of the Indian markets, and the present total dislocation of trade with America, must be felt adversely in the industrial districts. The great "lock-out" of weavers at Blackburn, where fifteen thousand persons are stated to be out of employment, forms one of a number of significant indications. We may reasonably infer that manufacturing activity has, for the time, passed its highest stage of development, and that, until monetary prospects become more propitious, business will be kept within a narrower compass. Some branches of trade may suffer considerably, particularly those which are the most intimately connected with the United States. But our immediate object is to call attention to a few points which show that the manufacturing trades, and especially the cotton interest, are in a very favourable condition for encountering the adverse circumstances of the time. One of the most encouraging features is the absence of heavy stocks of goods. Manufacturers have not committed the error of locking up their means in over-production. There has, indeed, been no opportunity for anything of the kind, for, until very recently, the demand has been active enough to consume manufacturers' produce as fast as it could be provided. There has always been a ready market for goods, and in the case of the great cotton interest—the most important of all our manufactures—orders for a long period forward have hitherto been held in hand, it being impossible to get them executed suddenly. Manufacturers have turned their wares into cash as fast as they could bring them forth. They have realised large, and, what is equally important, swift profits. Not being blocked up with stocks of goods, and having large profits to fall back upon, the manufacturing interest is, therefore, in a very sound condition. There are no weak points in its armour. Speculation has been repressed, and the current business for a long time past, besides being of a legitimate character, has been, to an unusually large extent, for ready money, or at short credit.

Any one who has opportunities of observing the financial features of the moment must have been struck with the prominent part which has been taken of late years by the men of the manufacturing districts, in the guidance of the enterprise of the nation, in directing its trade and its investments, and in influencing the money market. The evidences of the wealth of the midland and northern districts abound on every side, and are calculated to strike even the most indifferent observer. If the public prints record the purchase of a magnificent estate, which has slipped from the hands of some embarrassed patrician, it will probably be found on inquiry that it has passed into the possession of some unknown millionaire—unknown save in his own hitherto comparatively obscure circle. Ask how it happens that such a person has a couple of hundred thousand pounds to invest, and you will probably be told that he is a well-to-do manufacturer, who has made his fortune. He now retires from the active guidance of his business, consigning it to the sons whom he has put through a thorough apprenticeship, and has taught to tread in his footsteps. You are told of some large bona fide investment in the funds, or some well-judged purchase in other safe, yet perhaps depreciated securities; you hear of large amounts of Canadian, American, or Indian Government stocks changing hands; and inquiry shows again that the purchaser is from the manufacturing districts. Take the case of the market for British railway property. As every person acquainted with the Stock Exchange knows, it has for a long time been almost entirely governed by the impulse given by the provinces, and particularly by Manchester. Manchester has pulled the strings, and the great London market has instantly responded. The movement in railway stocks has, indeed, been of a character to deserve close attention. To the wonder of many superficial observers, Midland Railway stock rose steadily, with scarcely a check, beyond an occasional oscillation, until it passed 135. Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway stock advanced within a few months from a considerable discount to upwards of 120. Those who had accustomed themselves to regard British railway property as an investment which must for ever be disastrous to the holders, were ready to deride each successive advance. If any adverse feature arose in foreign politics, or in financial matters at home; if some minister, with his digestion not in perfect order, vented a few testy remarks in Parliament respecting the conduct of a foreign potentate, or if the Bank of France were found to have parted with a million of bullion; if, in fact, there were any piece of gossip astir which did not affect in any way the railway interest of the country, scores of London speculators would rush to make sales of Midland stock, simply because they thought the price looked high. They would do this at 5, or 10, or 15, or 20 per cent. premium, scouting all the while the preposterous notion of an English railway stock being maintained at any premium for long. They acted in just the same way with Lancashire and Yorkshire stock. We have seen what the result has been in each instance. Sight was entirely lost of the fact, that there are only a few millions of either stock in existence, and that no creation could be caused by an ambiguous expression in the French official paper, or by a withdrawal of gold from the Bank. These speculators did, in fact—what it is most unwise of any speculator to do—they ran directly counter to, instead of following the lead of, Manchester and the provinces. When the shrewdest firms in the manufacturing districts were known to be buyers of what may be termed their own railway stocks, was it not the height of folly for any ill-informed London speculator to attempt to stem the current? Who can possibly know so much about the merits of Midland, Lancashire and Yorkshire, and other northern railway securities, as the men whose business works in with the business of the railways, who virtually hold the reins of trade and of railway traffic in their hands, and who can ordinarily tell with almost unerring accuracy, not merely what trade and traffic are now, but what they will be for months forward? More than this: Amongst the supporters of, and investors in, the stocks of the lines in the midland districts, have been the directors of those lines and their connexions. Thousands upon thousands of pounds have been lost by southern speculators by selling what they are not possessed of—by endeavouring to resist the upward movement in priees when they were aware that the prominent buyers were the men who knew all about the conditions of such investments, and who were actually its financial administrators, charged with the task of allocating the respective charges to revenue and to capital, and of fixing the dividend.

We are not justifying, nor insinuating a charge of, directors "jobbing" in the market. This is, indeed, an accusation which it would be far easier to make than to prove. Shareholders are not likely to complain if they see the administrators of their property testify their faith by increasing their individual investments in it. It will not be contended that a director may not legitimately invest in the shares of his own company if he have a favourable opinion of it. Supposing, therefore, that directors of the trunk railways in the midland districts have either purchased such stocks, or induced their friends and connexions to do so, what does the result prove save the perfect accuracy of their judgment? It is very possible that, if the present check to trade check railway traffic, the railway share market may henceforward exhibit increased sensitiveness. We do not affirm—what would be indeed absurd—that railway property of any kind must be incessantly rising. We are merely drawing attention to the illustration afforded by the course of the railway share market during the last few years of the large resources, liberal investments, and sound judgment of the residents in the manufacturing districts. It is said that within the last few days there have been numerous realisations of railway stocks for account of the large holders in that quarter.

To show what Manchester can do when she puts her heart into an investment, reference need only be made to the Thames and Mersey Marine Insurance Company. This undertaking was established a twelve-month ago, and Manchester was invited to place a dozen of her prominent commercial men upon the board. Liverpool and London co-operated. The capital was rather large, being two millions, but the subscription list might as well have been closed within four-and-twenty hours, such was the rush to subscribe. After being at work for eight months the Company has published a record of the result of its business for the first six. This is of a nature to excite disappointment. It is said that some considerable losses have been incurred since the date (Dec. 31) to which the accounts are made up. The directors, though silent upon this point, significantly abstain from recommending the payment of any dividend or interest. A speculator would have assumed that the undertaking would be much prejudiced in the market. But depreciation in the shares could only arise from an over-supply, as compared with the demand, and Manchester does not lightly abandon any investment in which she has embarked. Such shares as have come to market have been steadily absorbed for that quarter, and the price is consequently maintained with firmness at a satisfactory premium. Manchester can readily, if need be, carry the whole of the capital herself.

The point which has been too much overlooked is the immense command of means possessed by the manufacturing interest. Large profits are made by it, and are saved. Manchester is unlike either London or Liverpool. There is little waste and no display. There is no community of equal wealth in the kingdom. An influential portion of the London press has long set the bad example of sneering at Manchester, and its "cotton lords." Nothing could be more unjust or in worse taste. The energy and assiduity which have raised the "merchant princes" of Manchester to their present position of commercial and financial influence are precisely the qualities which have carried the commercial flag of England into every sea, river, and creek upon the surface of the globe. We ought to recognise in the manufacturing interest the mainstay of the national power—the mainspring of the national wealth. To sneer at Manchester is to sneer at the commercial genius which has made Great Britain what she is. Fond of money the Manchester men may be, for they have good reason to know its power; but to allege that they are too fond of it to part with it is a libel. They will organise at their own cost an Art Exhibition which shall attract multitudes from every part of the kingdom. They will, in a few days, place a purse of £50,000 at the disposal of a public servant who, they think, has deserved well of his country. Manchester is most creditably distinguished for her public spirit, for her charities, for her untiring commercial energy, and for the uniform sagacity of her commercial views, and those who disparage her would do well to contrast her standard in these respects with the performance of other communities.

THE MONEY MARKET.—THE DECLINE IN THE AMERICAN EXCHANGE.

THE changes shown in last night's Bank Return (which will be found in its usual place), are of a favourable character, and tend to justify the general impression that the Directors were rather hasty in raising the rate of discount from 7 to 8 per cent. on the 14th instant. There are now presented an increase of £321,924 in the Coin and Bullion; an increase of £494,004 in the Reserve, and a decrease of £270,119 in the "Other Securities." It would be hazardous to affirm that events may not yet occur warranting a rise to 8 per cent., but the public, as yet, have been unable to discern any real justification of the measure in the Bank accounts—the criterion by which, as they have always imagined, the policy of the Bank is guided.

For the moment, the demand for specie for India and America excites chief attention. To neither quarter, however, is the drain severe, or of a character to press upon the Bank's resources, as the figures now published prove. The disquieting rumours which have been circulated pointing to an immediate efflux of silver upon an extensive scale to the East, have already died away, having no real foundation. The decline in the New York exchange to 105½ will undoubtedly carry more specie thither; but against this must be set the fact that nearly the whole of the Australian gold imported goes into the Bank, in consequence of the high range of the Continental exchanges. We confess, however, to being somewhat disappointed at the relapse in the American exchange, which has taken place in face of a fall in the rate of discount at New York to 7 per cent., and of a rapid accumulation of gold there. The adverse movement in the exchange is aggravated by the circumstance that produce is being hurried forward for shipment from the American ports in order to escape the increased duties which the North and the South, though divided upon other points, appear to concur in imposing upon the free movement of trade.

THE COTTON ALARM.

THE following statement, which we take from the latest circular of Messrs. Neill Brothers, of New York, will be found interesting at the present juncture, when much misapprehension prevails with regard both to the supply of cotton and to the prospective draught upon our money market for the means of payment. It will be seen from these figures, which show the shipments of cotton from the 1st September to the present date, that the total is considerably larger than in any of the previous five years, last year only excepted. The alarm expressed in some quarters with regard to the supply is, therefore, at least premature. And as the cotton sent to us has, of course, been drawn against in the usual way, it seems absurd for alarmists to exclaim that our money market will be severely taxed to provide the means of payment. We have paid already for a larger quantity of cotton than is usually settled for at this period, upon an average of several years' past:—

THE EARLY HISTORY OF THE COMMERCIAL BANK.

WHEN a public institution, such as a joint-stock bank, has existed for upwards of twenty years, and then is compelled suddenly to cease its operations and transfer its business to a more prosperous establishment, the occasion requires more than a passing remark, and the tracing of its origin with its subsequent progress may reasonably be considered of public interest. The Commercial Bank of London commenced business in January, 1840, at No. 3, Moorgate-street. It was founded by Mr. William Medley, who had previously been a banker at Uxbridge. If we may judge from the original printed proposal for the formation of the bank, it was intended that it should take very high ground. This document sets forth that the object in view was to amend the system of banking, by the introduction of a judicious and efficient system, "on the principle of neither opposing the Bank of England in its circulation, or running a race of injudicious rivalry of accommodation with the London bankers, to some of whom it is proposed to offer an adequate remuneration, if disposed to retire from business; the advantage will thus be secured of opening the concern, with a business already formed, and consequently free from the hazard of seeking connexions by the most dangerous of all methods in banking, viz., competition in accommodation."

This anticipated result was not, however, to be realised, notwithstanding the efforts made by the promoter, Mr. Medley, who, one occasion at Edinburgh, where he had gone to gain friends for the bank, stated that his friends in London were negotiating with one of the very first City bankers for the transfer of his business. Mr. Medley was to have had the appointment of manager, but for some unexplained cause he was superseded by Mr. Henry Sparkes, late banker at Exeter. Mr. Sparkes does not appear to have enjoyed his position more than twelve months; for at the first annual meeting held on the 19th July, 1841, Mr. Cutbill, who, on the opening of the bank had been appointed sub-manager (to Mr. Sparkes) signed the report as manager.

The bank was originally constituted with a nominal capital of £2,000,000, divided into 2,000 shares of £1,000 each, of which number 400 shares were subscribed for, and £200 per share paid by 146 shareholders, making the capital paid up £80,000.

On the failure of Messrs. Wright and Co., bankers, of Henrietta-street, Covent-garden, the directors of the Commercial Bank embraced the opportunity of opening a branch at the West-end by taking the premises previously occupied by Messrs. Wright and Co., and thus secured a portion of the business of the defunct bank. What is most remarkable, they have never since established any other branch, though frequently urged to do so. The Commercial Bank suffered by the Exchequer Bill fraud to a certain small extent; and the chairman of the bank stated to the shareholders, at a meeting on the 19th July, 1844, that an advance had been made upon a deposit of £10,000 of Exchequer Bills, part of which were afterwards proved to have been forged.

We have stated that the bank commenced business at No. 3, Moor-gate-street; but those premises having been found inconveniently small and quite inadequate for transacting the business of the company, then in the course of daily extension, the directors took a lease of the house in Lothbury, to which the business of the bank was removed in July, 1844.

The injurious effects of dividing the capital of a bank into shares of £1,000 each was continually being pressed upon the attention of the directors of the Commercial Bank. The small number of the shareholders (146), it was contended, was not likely to insure any very large accession of business, besides which the price of the shares became so much depressed that, according to the Bankers' Magazine for April, 1844, one share on which £200 had been paid fetched, on the Stock Exchange, only £135. Had a lower denomination of shares been issued, it would have had the effect of increasing the ability of the bank by extending the number of its shareholders. This state of things having attracted the attention of the directors, at a meeting of the shareholders on 22nd January, 1845, the report, inter alia, stated that "an extraordinary and profitable business having now been secured, the directors, with the full conviction that they shall be able to find employment for an additional amount of capital, have much satisfaction in announcing that they have made arrangements for such an increase in the number of their shares as will be sufficient to double the present paid-up capital of the bank, and at such a premium as will not only enable them to pay off the whole of the preliminary expenses, but also to make an addition to the amount of the reserved fund."

The arrangement alluded to was the reduction of the amount of the shares from £1,000, with £200 paid up, to £100, with £20 per share paid up. This arrangement, together with the issue of further shares of £100 each, fell far short of what was anticipated by the report, for it only increased the amount of the paid-up capital £20,000, which then stood at £100,000. From this period the capital was gradually increased until the year 1853, when, the shares of the bank having become in greater favour with the public, the bank issued 5,000 new shares, thereby increasing its subscribed capital to £1,500,000, and its paid-up capital to £300,000. At this point it now stands. By this last operation the directors, by selling the shares at £5 premium, realised £25,000, which they added to the reserved fund.

The rate of dividend paid by the bank for the first four years averaged  $4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. per annum; from 1844 to 1851 they paid 6 per cent.; in 1852 the dividend was 8 per cent.; in 1853, 1854, and 1855 it was 10 per cent.; and in 1856 11 per cent. In the autumn of that year the business, and, consequently, the profits of the bank became much reduced by a report that "a gentleman who had gone out of the direction had done as some of the directors of the Royal British Bank had done, viz., put his hand into the till." This and other injurious reports were brought under the notice of the proprietors in the following December, at a special general meeting, held to elect a director in the room of Mr. Oxenford, on which occasion the chairman explained that the retirement of Mr. Oxenford from the direction was owing to his engagements abroad on his own private business having prevented his attendance to the duties of the direction for the last twelve months. He subsequently stated, in answer to a question by a shareholder, that Mr. Oxenford's debt to the bank was about £3,000, nearly the whole of which it was expected would be realised.

By the balance-sheet made up to 30th June, 1857, it appears that the deposits in the bank had decreased from £1,500,000, at which they stood at the same period in the preceding year to £900,000, and the net profits from £38,000 to £26,000, notwithstanding which the reserved fund was increased from £70,800 to £73,200. The circumstances under which the recent loss at the Covent-garden branch has been sustained, and which has brought the affairs of the Bank into an unenviable notoriety, are recorded in another column.

HOW TO PREVENT FRAUDS IN BANKS AND OTHER PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS.

It is but natural that the discovery of systematic frauds in public institutions should somewhat disturb that confidence which is essential to their prosperity.

When in 1849 the failure of certain savings banks might have occasioned a run upon the rest, the Prince Consort, whose name stands at the head of the most important of those institutions, was advised by the Government of the day to procure a subjection of that bank "to an independent audit of the strictest and most searching kind," on the ground that "such a voluntary submission of their accounts upon the part of an institution standing so high as the St. Martin's Provident Institution would be a precedent of immense importance." The accountants nominated for that purpose by the governors of the bank, Baron Rothschild, Sir E. Autrobus (of Coutts and Co.), and Mr. Masterman, senior (M.P. for the City), were Messrs. J. E. Coleman and J. A. Franklin.

The bank had no less than 40,000 accounts, and the investigation was necessarily confined to the system and routine of the executive throughout its ramifications. Their report (published by H. Wright, Haymarket) proved the safety of the bank, and exhibited the admirable machinery whereby fraud is rendered almost impracticable, there having been no single instance of it on the part of any officer of the bank since its establishment in 1816.

The checks upon the ledger-keepers detailed in that report, if adopted in principle by the Commercial Bank, must have proved a corresponding safeguard. Subjoined is an adaptation of those checks to the requirements of ordinary banking:—

HOW TO CHECK BANKING LEDGERS.

The ledger-keeper surrenders his ledger to an independent examiner, who simply makes a numerical abstract of the then state, upon balance, of every open account. These abstracts are then tested:—1. As to their correspondence in the aggregate with other books and statements of account. 2. As to the details, the ledger-keeper calling out the balance shown upon each folio consecutively. 3. As to their correspondence with the pass-books of the customers and otherwise.

The methods of identifying the parties responsible for each process—of securing their independence both of interest and of action relatively—of preserving the abstracts from access by those upon whom they are designed as a check—and of testing the correspondence of the bank's accounts with the claims of its customers severally, are all matters unsuitable for publication, even if their routine were a fixed one, whereas their efficiency is increased by intelligently varying the routine without notice.

It must be obvious that the audit of a joint-stock bank can only be efficiently carried out, as a routine, by confidential officers being part of the establishment; but routine officers must become mechanical, and too often unconscious instruments, available to plausible rogues. Banks are complex machines, in which neither weight, pressure, nor strain is a constant element. Everything in its place and a place for everything, is a needful, but not always a sufficient prescription. Mechanical precision alone cannot secure against a break down. Just as, upon our railways, it no longer suffices to have trustworthy men in charge of a train, but machinery must be tested in the shed, and axles and tires sounded on the rail, so should the system and routine of a joint-stock bank be occasionally tested by consultative auditors not responsible for the mere routine.

We cite to the honour of the "Incorporated Society for the Propagation of the Gospel" the following passage from its last report. This, it will be remembered, was one of the great institutions whose balance-sheets and financial systems were impeached in the Times by the redoubtable "S. G. O."—

Long, however, before public attention was called to the balance-sheet of societies the expediency of employing a professional auditor had been under the consideration of the standing committee. No loss had indeed occurred, nor was there the slightest suspicion of any defalcation or even irregularity; but it was thought desirable to ascertain through the knowledge and experience of a practical accountant whether any new safeguard for the custody of the society's funds could be proposed or any improvement in its financial system suggested.

A professional accountant, well known in the City, J. A. Franklin, Esq., was accordingly called in, and the books and accounts were unreservedly submitted to his inspection. The result was, as might have been anticipated from the character of its treasurers and the officers engaged in their department, that not the minutest error or inaccuracy was discovered. Mr. Franklin, however, suggested several additional cautions. It can hardly be necessary to say that these recommendations were at once adopted by the society.

The safeguards which we have urged are merely what are absolutely required if the avenues to fraud are to be closed. The temptation to dishonesty, let it be remembered, is now vastly greater than it has ever been before, simply because we have now to deal with huge joint-stock capitals, compared with which the transactions of private establishments in the older times were small. If a rogue can find a means of dipping his hand without detection for years together into one of our joint-stock purses—and it has been done with alarming frequency of late—his operations are sure to reach a magnitude which in a less wealthy community would be regarded as a national blow. But, compared with the system of check which is insisted upon above, how puerile, how monstrously lax, does a system appear under which a ledger-keeper has had uncontrolled command of his own books, without real check, for ten or eleven years together!

BANKRUPTCY AND TRADE CUSTOMS.

THE progress of the Bankruptcy Bill through Parliament is suggestive of a brief notice of the views entertained on the subject of bankruptcy in the United States, and these views are in turn suggestive of some trade customs in that country, which are, perhaps, deserving of the consideration of our business-men at the present time.

Taking bankruptcy first, what are called the "advanced" commercial men in the United States go the length of asking that there should be an entire abrogation of the laws for the collection of what are known as open accounts—in other words, of accounts unrepresented by bills of exchange. This demand, it is alleged, is made in the interest of commerce, and in the still higher one of civilisation. Open accounts between buyer and seller, it is said, do not concern third parties; and, in the absence of fraud, if the law is to be invoked by the one, it should also be invoked by the other; and if one should be sent to prison, so should the other. To enact laws that the seller of a commodity may compel the buyer to make payment, is to hold out a premium to improper selling, and to render prudence, in the main, unnecessary on the seller's part. Goods are forced upon traders beyond their proper wants, given to those who are not traders beyond their means of payment, and for no other reason than that the law provides recourse, which is a sufficient guarantee that the average loss on business so conducted will be very trifling. This is said to be an essentially unsound system of trade, and, so long as it is legally recognised, business will be subject to more vicissitudes than it should be, and an incalculable amount of social misery will continue to be produced.

The use of bills or promissory notes, it is contended, gives a new character to dealings between buyers and sellers, inasmuch as the bills pass into the hands of third parties, who, under all circumstances, should as far as possible be made secure. Putting fraud again aside, what the law is asked to do is, to issue writs attaching property wherever it can be found, until principal and interest have been fully paid, without restriction as to time. This, it is held, would give greater safety to the holders of bills, and vastly improve the moral tone of trade. To buy, conditionally on an acceptance, which payment would alone cancel, would induce caution among traders; and accommodation bills would become a serious game of hazard. So long as unpaid acceptances were afloat, whether given for value or not, the acceptor would practically be disqualified from trading, and it is said that this would be a far more effectual and repressive punishment than imprisonment for a longer or shorter period, to be followed by what is called whitewashing in a court of bankruptcy.

Fraud in any form, even under the qualified name of false pretences, buying goods on representations which are untrue, or offering bills for discount not representative of bona fide value, it is recommended should not be dealt with under the statute of bankruptcy at all, but should be purely criminal, and dealt with as such, under laws made and provided for the special security of trade.

The bankruptcy law recommended is the type of that so long in force in Scotland. A fiat of bankruptcy is issued, either on the application of the trader unable to pay his way, or on the satisfactory proof of such failure by one or more creditors; and the whole body of creditors then step in and administer the estate themselves, prosecuting the bankrupt criminally if fraud can be made out against him, and recording the dividends in payment of bills of exchange upon the bills themselves, the unpaid balances being left to be accounted for afterwards. Open accounts, of course, are not recognised at all, and are not good in law.

We may well be excused in forbearing to pass judgment on a scheme so novel; but it is only just to say that some of the suggestions are really entitled to consideration. The present bill before Parliament proposes to add further to the costly and complicated machinery of Basinghall-street, while it is notorious that estates in bankruptcy are wound up not less satisfactorily in Scotland than in England, and far less expensively, while there is, properly, no bankrupt court at all. The suggestion made with respect to bills of exchange may or may not be the best calculated to put an end to the "kiting system," but some expedient must sooner or later be resorted to if our bankers are to cease to be the frequent victims of wholesale fleecing.

The trade customs which seem to have suggested these "advanced" opinions on the subject of bankruptcy in the United States scarcely admit of being copied, under our present trading system, which is so essentially different from that of the United States; but it is a question whether some modification of the course now pursued would not upon the whole be advantageous. In America, it appears, it is the exception and not the rule to send out travellers with samples throughout the country. Any one at all familiar with the extent to which "foreign" is carried on under this system among our country traders can scarcely wonder that fraudulent bankruptcies are so frequently brought to light. The representative of a London firm in the country must sell a certain amount of goods every journey, or he is discharged as inefficient by his employers. Is not such a practice pernicious in the highest degree, and calculated to undermine the morality of trade? A country trader may be in temporary difficulties from buying too freely on one occasion, and to extricate himself he buys still more freely, and sacrifices the goods in some quiet way to raise money. The American system is not open to any such objection. The American country buyer, although two thousand miles distant, must go personally to New York and make his purchases, and these purchases are usually made after a written declaration that he is unembarrassed, that the goods are wanted for the legitimate purposes of trade, and so on. On that understanding the goods are sold, and if the representation turns out to have been untrue he is indicted at once and punished. This prudential course is also often followed in the discounting of bills of exchange, a declaration, upon which an indictment may afterwards be founded, being attached to the bills offered to the banker.

THE ORIENTAL INLAND STEAM COMPANY.

SIMULTANEOUSLY with the demand for Indian cotton, and with the consequent strain on the existing means of internal transport, we have a practical demonstration of the efficiency of the steam trains constructed by the Oriental Inland Steam Company for navigating the rivers of the East, whereby large cargoes can be brought from the interior to the seaboard at less expense than has heretofore been incurred. The Jumna steam train has just been tested on the Clyde, and the testimony of Messrs. Penn and Napier, the eminent engineers, and Captains Smale and Eustice, who are familiar with steam navigation in the East, goes to show that this system of navigation is a decided success. If it be practically accomplishable little penetration is required to discover the special benefits which it holds out.

The train system of navigation consists in the use of a number of barges towed by a steamer, which answers as the locomotive of the train; and these barges are so articulated to the steamer and to one another, as only to offer a single bow to the water for the whole train, instead of a bow for each individual barge. The consequence of this arrangement is, that a moderate engine power will propel a very heavy load upward against the stream; while in descending it the barges are partly taken upon each side of the steamer, so as to diminish the length of the train. Although the resistance is thus increased, this circumstance on the downward voyage is of little importance, the only essential condition with reference to this point being that the resistance shall be small in ascending. The train has now been tested both in violent winds, in rough water, and among currents and sand-banks, and is said to fulfil completely its intended objects. It will carry at least four times the cargo that can be at present conveyed by an ordinary steamer, its measurement capacity for cargo under hatches being upwards of 3,000 tons. So powerful an instrument of transport when at work will afford important relief in getting cotton and other materials carried between the interior and the coast, and the profits of any particular vessel will vary according to her carrying power. There is no doubt that in other parts of the world the same system of navigation may be adopted. In China, Burmah, South America, and other countries, it is equally desirable as in India to carry large cargoes on a small draught of water with economy and safety. Our report of the proceedings at the meeting of this company will show that it has already established vessels on the Indus, and is doing so on the Ganges, for which river the steam train Jumna is intended. The profits heretofore made with ordinary vessels on the latter river have been very large. But they have been in some respects exceptional, and it is therefore necessary to contemplate a new state of things when such high rates of freight cannot be commanded, and when profits must be made rather by carrying large quantities than by obtaining high rates. Between the trains on land and the trains on water, the ordinary class of river steam-vessels heretofore used on the Ganges will probably be distanced. The railways will take the passengers and the finer articles of merchandise, while the trains of this company will take the coarser goods, which could not afford to pay for railway transport, and which will not so well remunerate a common river-steamer with small carrying power. It appears reasonable to infer that the Oriental Inland Steam Company have acted wisely in contemplating the advent of this new state of things, for had they expended their capital in vessels of the class heretofore common in India, anyone coming with an improved system could have overpowered them without difficulty. Now that cannot be done, and it is highly probable that so soon as their trains are regularly navigating the Ganges, they will obtain a control of its navigation, as they can afford to carry at lower rates than other companies.

COMING RAILWAY DIVIDENDS.

It was officially announced yesterday (Friday) morning, that the directors of the South Eastern Railway Company have resolved to recommend the proprietors at the ensuing half-yearly meeting, on the 28th inst., to order payment of a dividend of 18s. on each £30 stock, being at the rate of £6 per cent. per annum.

The report of the directors of the North Devon Railway and Dock Company recommends a dividend at the rate of 17s. 6d. per cent. on the ordinary stock, which will leave a balance of £106. 6s. 8d. to be carried forward to the next half-year.

It is announced that the directors of the Norfolk Railway Company intend to recommend their proprietors, at the meeting to be held on the 26th inst., to declare a dividend at the rate of £1. 17s. 6d. per cent. for the past half-year, ending December 31, being at the rate of £3. 15s. per cent. per annum.

THE BANK CHARTER ACT.—The Liverpool Chamber of Commerce, at their adjourned annual meeting on Thursday, on the motion of Mr. Macfie, passed a resolution requesting the new council to ask the legislature to revise and amend the bank and currency system in accordance with the lessons afforded by experience of its working.

THE STATE OF TRADE.

(COMPILED FROM NUMEROUS LOCAL REPORTS.)

The accounts from most of the manufacturing districts report dulness. Everyone is waiting the course of events before entering into lengthened engagements. The American crisis, political uncertainties on the Continent, the stringency of the money market, and the failures in the Levant trade, all have an unfavourable influence.

The accounts from Manchester state that the flatness of the cloth market is unrelieved by any improvement in the demand from any quarter, and buyers appear to be holding back to see how low prices will go. The depression applies to all classes of goods except T-cloths and long-cloths, which are comparatively firm. Prices are drooping for all other goods, and the heavier kind of India 40-inch shirtings have given way since last week fully 3d. per piece. The lighter makes are 1½d. cheaper, and printing cloths have declined to about the same extent. There have been some offers making during the last four or five days, but at rates too low for acceptance. They are taken as an indication of a desire to do business so soon as there is a probability of prices steadying. Under ordinary circumstances the stoppage of looms at Blackburn must have created a reaction at once in prices. There are 50,000 looms idle in that place. The total production of such a number of looms, if all engaged on 40-inch shirtings (the chief production of the place) would be between 300,000 and 400,000 pieces per week. Such a large amount of production taken suddenly out of the market might have been expected to have a great effect on the value of such goods, but the counteracting influences of high discount and bad markets in India and China outweigh for the present even this great check to the supply of goods. There seems to be some expectation among manufacturers that the operatives on strike will not be able to persist for any length of time. The wages they have been receiving exceeded £15,000 per week, and it is thought that no amount of assistance they will get from other towns will enable them long to continue a contest involving so much loss. Yarns are quite as inactive as cloths, and prices are down ½d. per lb. since last week. The only offers making are still lower, and spinners will not listen to them.

At Rochdale the wool and flannel markets have been fully as good as last week. Upon the whole, however, business continues rather quiet, and the bulk of the transactions are of a hand-to-mouth character. The manufacturers of flannels complain of slackness of orders, and stocks are now, as is often the case at the spring of the year, on the increase.

At Leeds, considering the depression which prevails in commercial and monetary circles, the cloth markets in the halls have been fully as good as could be expected. More business was done than last week, and there were more inquiries for new goods. Spring fabrics were in chief request.

The report from Bradford, dated Thursday, states that the wool market is still in an exceedingly dull state. There is but little abatement in the price. The stocks of consumers are very low—unprecedentedly so. There is little or no improvement in worsted yarns. It can hardly be worse, indeed, than it has been for some weeks past. Perhaps a little more has been done in yarns for export. Spinners complain greatly, much machinery is idle, and prices are lower than they were.

The manufacturing trades of Birmingham are generally dull; the slight reaction perceptible a fortnight ago has disappeared, and manufacturers and all those engaged in branches connected with the spring trade report that orders are without exception small. In the iron trade in this quarter there is very little stirring; some of the manufacturers of best brands of finished iron have an average supply of orders; but makers who are more dependent upon chance trade for an active demand for export, are complaining how little is doing in that direction, the advance of the rate of discount to 8 per cent. having had the effect of still further checking trade.

At Nottingham the lace trade is quiet; there is not much activity in any department; still manufacturers are anticipating that more will be done as the spring advances. The home buyers who have been in the market have not made heavy purchases, and there is not so much doing for export as there usually is at this period of the year. There is still much valuable machinery standing, and many lacemakers out of employ. The hosiery trade continues to improve. Buyers have purchased liberally, and the market generally is in a much more healthy state.

At Leicester the hosiery trade is by no means active. The high rate of discount operates prejudicially to speculation, and the greatest prudence is evinced by manufacturers in the production of goods. The same quiet state of things exists in the adjacent hosiery districts.

THE GOLD PRODUCTION IN VICTORIA.—The production of gold during the last quarter shows symptoms of improvement as compared with the first three quarters, though it is less than the production of the corresponding quarter of 1859. The quantity received by escort during the last thirteen weeks is 500,434 ounces, against 520,508 ounces in 1859. Thus the deficiency is only 20,000 ounces. But the total deficiency of the first three quarters was 180,000 ounces, or an average of 60,000 ounces a quarter, as compared with 1859. The total quantity received by escort this year is 1,970,817, to which about 40,000 ounces will have to be added for the last week of the year. The quantity last year was 2,171,865. The shipments are 2,056,939 this year, against 2,211,864 last year. But there will be two vessels sailing with gold during the week, so that the year's deficiency, as compared with last year, will not much exceed 100,000 ounces.—Letter from Melbourne.

MERCANTILE EMBARRASMENTS.

Numerous small failures in the Greek and Levant trades were announced on Saturday last. The following is a list of them:—1. Mr. G. P. Zolas, of Manchester. 2. Mr. S. M. Mavrogordato, of Manchester. 3. Messrs. A. M. Copchili and Co., of Manchester. 4. Messrs. Lutrari and Co., of London. 5. Messrs. F. Whittall, and Co., of London. 6. Messrs. Armstrong, Pelton, and Co., of London. The bills of Messrs. Henry Lenox and Co., of Liverpool, have also gone back. The liabilities of Mr. S. Mavrogordato are estimated at £40,000, and it is believed that his assets will ultimately yield double that amount. The engagements of Messrs. Whittall and Co. may amount to £20,000, and in this instance also a considerable surplus is promised. In each of the other cases alluded to it is thought that the liabilities will range from £10,000 to £20,000. They are all reckoned respectable houses, with limited transactions. Messrs. Armstrong, Pelton, and Co. have very recently embarked in the Levant fruit trade.

The stoppage is announced of Messrs. Johnson and Hanson, hop merchants, &c., a respectable house. The amount of their liabilities is believed to be limited.

A small house of long standing (Messrs. I. and I. Brown) in the stuff trade at Bradford, has stopped payment. The cause is unknown.

Allusion was made recently to the embarrassed state of a firm largely engaged in Bristol in the oil and tallow trade, and it was stated that a satisfactory arrangement had been effected. It now appears that the house in question, that of Messrs. Cox and Shaw, has been unable to complete the proposed plan of liquidation, and a meeting of creditors has been held, at which a statement, showing a surplus of between £11,000 and £12,000, was submitted. It was resolved to wind up the affairs of the firm under inspection.

Meetings of the creditors of Messrs. W. B. Westall and Co., of Blackburn, and of Messrs. Thwaites, Westall, and Co., of Manchester and Blackburn (both firms in the cotton trade), were held at Manchester on Monday. The liabilities of the former amount to £11,304, and the assets to £13,438, leaving a surplus of £2,134, against which there may be considerable liabilities upon bills arising out of cross transactions with Thwaites, Westall, and Co. The gross liabilities of the latter firm are computed at nearly £80,000, and the available assets at £22,000. It is believed, however, that the creditors will be paid in full, the private estate of Mr. Thwaites being large. It was finally resolved:—"That the various actions and proceedings should be stayed until the next meeting of creditors, which will be held on Monday, the 4th of March, and that, in the meantime, Messrs. Broome, Child, Murray, and Co., be requested to prepare a statement of affairs, and collect all accounts due to either concern."

A meeting took place on Wednesday of the creditors of Mr. D. Navone, Greek merchant, who failed on the 26th ult. The balance sheet presented by Mr. Moates, the accountant, estimates the liabilities at £31,228, and the assets at £4,458, irrespective, however, of a claim of £13,355 on Mr. P. Ananian, of Constantinople, and of £10,616 on Messrs. D. Parodi and Son, of Smyrna, making together £23,971. This sum now represents Mr. Navone's liabilities on acceptances. The advices from the two firms abroad mention that they hope to pay in full, and to meet their drafts, but that they cannot decide anything before the middle of April. As the liquidation of this estate is almost entirely dependent upon the position of the two houses in question, it was resolved to adjourn until the 25th of April.

At a meeting of the creditors of Mr. D. E. Rodocanachi, in the Levant trade, held at Manchester on Wednesday, the balance sheet presented showed liabilities of £274,882, and assets of £194,091. It was resolved that the estate be wound up under inspection, and a desire was expressed that Mr. Rodocanachi shall go to Constantinople to realise the assets there.

A meeting of the creditors of Messrs. C. W. Ede and Co., in the Levant trade, who suspended payment on the 25th ult., will be held on Tuesday next. A belief on the part of the partners that they would be able to resume payment accounts for the delay in convening the meeting. A meeting of the creditors of Mr. E. Vitalis, in the same trade, is also called for Wednesday next; and of the creditors of Messrs. O'Halloran and Co., Ceylon merchants, for Monday next.

At a meeting of the creditors of Messrs. Ledgard and Sons, bankers, of Poole and Ringwood, held on Monday last, a balance-sheet was presented, showing liabilities amounting to £92,687, and assets to £61,067, irrespective of a surplus of £10,000 expected from the estates of Messrs. George and Richard Ledgard. It was resolved to agree to the proposal of the Wilts and Dorset Banking Company, to pay 10s. in the pound upon the estate being legally placed in their possession, and a further dividend when it is realised, if the property will allow it.

In the Bankruptcy Court on Tuesday there was a dividend sitting in the case of Messrs. Davies and Troughton, bankers, of Shoreditch. The amount of dividend about to be declared is expected to be from 5s. to 7s. 6d. in the pound. There were also some further proceedings in the case of Mr. Ryder, merchant, of Leadenhall-street.

In the Bankruptcy Court on Thursday there were some proceedings in the case of Mr. Joseph Hooper, leather dealer, of Bermondsey.

In the Birmingham Bankruptcy Court on the 14th inst., Messrs. G. H. and A. Hickman, ironmasters, who failed last year with liabilities exceeding in amount £78,000, came up on their application for certificates. Mr. Motteram opposed on the part of the assignees, on the ground that the bankrupts had been mixed up in accommodation bill transactions. The Commissioner deferred his judgment.

Messrs. Gomidos, Panos, and Co., Greek merchants, of Paris, whose suspension was announced last week, have resumed payment.

Several failures are stated to have occurred at Marseilles in connection with the recent suspensions among the Greek firms of Manchester and London.

BANKING AUDIT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "MONEY MARKET REVIEW."

SIR,—The Times leader this week, in re the Commercial Bank, has set Lombard-street giggling. It opens by asserting that the bank ledgers are made up from the pass-books—whereas a pass-book may never be posted for many months; and, on the other hand, a porter carrying £100 to a bank with a pass-book may have the credit entered therein at the counter, and take the book back as a voucher to his master.

I am sorry to see the Times City column belaud a new ledger which pretends to dispense with "callings over." Now, callings over are no sufficient reliance, but they are necessary. New devices may be useful to supplement—not to supersede—callings over. As well dispense with padlocks because they can be picked.

GREAT FRAUD ON THE COMMERCIAL BANK OF LONDON.

It has transpired that another Metropolitan Joint-Stock Bank has been made the victim of a great fraud, extending over a series of years. It was intimated in the morning journals of Monday, that arrangements had been made for the transfer of the business of the Commercial Bank of London to the London and Westminster Bank, and that the former now virtually only exists as a branch office of the latter. The following is the circular issued upon the occasion by the Commercial Bank to its customers and depositors:—

"The Commercial Bank of London, 6, Lothbury, London, E.C., Feb. 16, 1861.

"I beg to inform you that arrangements have been made for the transfer of the business of this bank to the London and Westminster Bank, who will, for the present, continue the business at our banking-houses in Lothbury and Henrietta-street, Covent-garden.

"The directors of the Commercial Bank, therefore, equally with myself, will feel personally obliged by your transferring your account to the London and Westminster Bank, or any of its branches which may suit your convenience, and they will be ready to afford you every banking facility.—I am, &c.,

"ALFRED R. CUTBILL, Manager."

—The cause which has made the transfer necessary is the discovery that a person named Durden, one of the ledger-clerks at the only branch possessed by the Commercial Bank, namely that in Henrietta-street, Covent garden, has defrauded it to the extent of about £67,000. Durden has been many years in the bank's service, and during nearly the whole time has acted as ledger-keeper. It is believed that he has been robbing his employers during nearly the entire period. It is a remarkable fact that, like Pullinger, he was most assiduous in the performance of his duties, and that during a period of eleven years he had not a single holiday. On Thursday week he was seized with a paralytic fit, and when his duties were temporarily entrusted to another officer of the bank, it was at once discovered that the sum possessed by the bank was £67,000 less than it purported to be by the books.

As soon as the fact reached their knowledge, it was seen at once by the directors of the Commercial Bank that its publication would probably cause alarm, a run upon the establishment, and, perhaps, a disastrous stoppage. They therefore promptly addressed themselves to the directors of the London and Westminster Bank, who met them in an equally prompt spirit. An agreement for the transfer of the Commercial Bank's business and liabilities was quickly arranged, and the whole of the latter are now covered with the powerful guarantee of the Westminster Bank, into which the Commercial is entirely merged. It is to the credit of the management of the Commercial Bank, that their first impulse was to make their depositors and other customers perfectly secure, leaving the onus to fall, as it ought, upon the shareholders. There is reason to hope, however, that the position of the latter will not prove disastrous, for, assuming that the amount of the fraud does not exceed the sum already mentioned, it will be entirely covered by the reserve fund, which was stated in the last report at £75,000. The realisation of the assets, with time, ought not to involve much loss. Although the Westminster Bank takes the business, there is no merging of the capital of the Commercial into its own. The Commercial Bank is now defunct, and the shareholders will receive back their capital, wholly or in part, as the realisation of the assets proceeds. The transaction will of course redound to the advantage of the Westminster Bank. The Commercial Bank, like the Union, had no auditors.

It is satisfactory to perceive that upwards of £20,000 is expected to be recovered from the large amount of house property which Durden, the delinquent, has got into his possession, his mania having apparently been for building speculations. There is thus a prospect of the ultimate loss by the affair being reduced from £66,000 or £68,000, to £46,000, or less. There has been no run upon the deposits in the Commercial Bank, their perfect safety being, of course, ensured, but a number of the customers have changed their accounts to the London and County Bank of London, and other establishments. The bulk of them will, doubtless, be transferred quietly to the London and Westminster.

The fraud is believed to have been carried on, by Durden's simply retaining a portion of the funds paid in by customers, who were duly credited for such amounts, which were afterwards, however, written off to the credit of a fictitious account, said to have been opened in the name of a confederate.

MARINE LIFE AND CASUALTY MUTUAL ASSURANCE SOCIETY.

The ninth annual meeting of this Society was held at the offices, 60, Fenchurch-street, on Wednesday last; P. D. HADOW, Esq., chairman of the society, in the chair.

The Secretary having read the notice convening the meeting, the following report was submitted:—

"Your directors, in presenting the balance-sheet for 1860, have the gratification of reporting the continued prosperity of the society.

"When they submitted their last annual statement, the society had completed its seventh year, and the time had arrived for the first valuation of its liabilities. Your directors were then enabled to announce a progressive improvement in its business from its formation to the close of that period, the tabular statement embodied in their report showing an increase in new premiums from £2,358 in 1854 to £9,000 in 1859, while the income from renewal premiums had also proportionately increased. The operations of the past year have been no less successful. The new premiums have amounted to £9,056; the gross income to £32,800, while the accumulated premiums have reached nearly £80,000.

"On the other hand the claims have amounted to £10,608, a sum less than had been calculated on looking at the increased number and duration of the society's policies.

"These results, as regards new business are the more encouraging, seeing that in consequence of the depressed state of the shipping interest of late, mariners have been less able to provide the means of availing themselves of the advantages of life assurance.

"Your directors stated in their last report, that the requisite data for the valuation of the society's liabilities had been placed in the hands of Mr. Ansell, the well-known actuary, and that on receiving his report they would call the members together. This has been done, and they have had the satisfaction of declaring an addition to the participating policies of a reversionary bonus of one and a-half per cent. for each years premium paid. It is gratifying to find that a result so favourable has been fully appreciated by the members, and regarded as a convincing proof of the society's prosperity.

"Your directors would, in order to prevent misapprehension, avail themselves of the opportunity of stating that the next valuation of the society's liabilities will be made in 1865; and that all policies for the whole term of life in force on the 31st December, 1864, and on which three full years' premiums shall then have been paid, will be entitled to participate in profits.

"Your directors cannot conclude their report without remarking, that a large portion of the society's past success is owing to the continued support of those companies with which they are, for the most part, connected. There must, however, be a limit to that support. Your directors have not ceased to exert their individual influence in extending the operations of the society; but as it is the direct interest of every member to increase its business, they would impress on each the importance of making known its sound position, and the advantages it presents to insurers."

The CHAIRMAN, in moving the adoption of the report, observed that he did so with much pleasure, as he considered it a very satisfactory one. The balance sheet, which had been in the hands of the members for some days, required no lengthened remarks from him; but it would not, perhaps, be uninteresting to compare it in one or two particulars with that of the preceding year. The new premiums in each were nearly the same. The renewal premiums in 1859 amounted to £18,796, as compared with £21,024 in 1860, and the accumulated fund in the former year to £63,635, as compared with £79,523 last year. Last year was notable as the period of the first valuation of the society's liabilities. That had been made with great care by Mr. Ansell, who had remarked that he had never met with a society better conducted or more prosperous for the time it had been in existence. If, however, the members desired to see it properly maintained, they must exert themselves to extend its operations. The two great companies connected with it had brought it a large amount of business, but that could not be expected to increase as it had done. Two or three suggestions had been submitted to the directors with respect to the apportionment of bonuses; but after looking at the matter most carefully, and consulting Mr. Ansell, they had come to the conclusion that, although the mode laid down in the deed of settlement might not operate with equal advantage in all cases, yet it was the most beneficial for the majority of the policy holders, and that until they had a longer experience of its operation it would be unwise to disturb it—an opinion in which the meeting appeared to agree.

Resolutions were passed, adopting the report and balance sheet, and re-electing the retiring directors and auditor; and votes of thanks to the chairman, directors, and managers, concluded the proceedings.

The Moniteur of February 15th contains a decree, according to which raw tissues of cotton, destined to be printed in France for re-exportation, will be temporarily admitted free of duty.

The tendency of the Bank accounts is decidedly more favourable, as may easily be gathered from the increase in the bullion and reserve, and the decrease in the advances on private securities. The Treasury deposits have been largely added to by the payments on account of the new Indian Loan.

THE MONEY MARKET.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 22.

The discount market this week has been tight. There has been no absolute pressure, but the supply of money in all quarters is scanty, apart from the large reserves which bankers and other money-dealers consider it absolutely requisite to keep unemployed in the present uncertain condition of the market. The contraction of the circulation shown by the Bank Return serves of itself to explain the tightness of the market. The best bills were not taken to-day below 8 per cent. It is evident that any special demand that may arise will be flung upon the Bank of England.

In the Stock Exchange there has been a very unusual pressure for money. It continued without any abatement to-day, heavy sales of English Three per Cents. for money causing loans to be much sought after at the high rate of 7 to 8 per cent.

A number of payments in advance on account of the New Indian Loan continue to be made from day to day.

The Champion of the Seas, Lincolnshire, Clutha, Essex, and Moravian have arrived this week from Melbourne, with a total of £340,500 in gold, of which £49,000 was taken to the Bank to-day; and the bulk, if not the whole, of the rest is expected to follow. Twenty thousand pounds in gold was also bought by that establishment on Wednesday, and £16,000 on Thursday. On the other hand, 50,000 sovereigns were withdrawn yesterday for exportation by to-morrow's packet to the United States, which is expected to take a further sum. Since our last report, the Australasian has left for New York with £11,000, and the City of Manchester with £51,000.

Subjoined is a list of the gold-ships known to be still at sea, viz.:—Hebe, £29,000; Thames, £47,000; Ydale, £23,000; Monarch, £90,000; and Ocean Chief, £92,000.

The relapse announced in the New York Exchange to 105½, adjourns the prospect of a reflux of gold, and even renders it likely that some further, though probably limited amounts, may be sent from this country.

The exchange quotations from India by the mail, which was delivered yesterday, show no alteration at Bombay, and a movement of a half per cent. in favour of this country at Calcutta.

The Pera, which sailed on Wednesday, took only £71,969 in specie for the East, of which £14,992 is gold and the residue silver. The amount for Alexandria is £2,000; Ceylon, £4,000; Madras, £29,114; Calcutta, £20,000; Hong Kong, £5,370; Foo-choo-Foo, £250; and for Shanghai, £11,235.

The Greek interest received on Wednesday with satisfaction the news that £120,000 in specie has arrived at Marseilles on their account from Constantinople.

THE BULLION MARKET.

Owing to the inactivity of the demand for Bombay, a decline of ¼d. per ounce has taken place to-day in the price of bar silver, the supply by the last West India packet having been sold at 5s. 1d. per ounce. The aggregate by the next steamer from Bombay is expected to be about £150,000 or £200,000, against £526,705 by that of the 12th inst. Less would have been sent but for the fall in price recorded above.

With reference to the movements in bullion and in the Indian Government paper, Messrs. Pixley, Abell, and Langley, report as follows:—

GOLD.—The remainder of the gold ex Strathdon has been sent into the Bank, and we have now to report the arrival of five vessels:—Champion of the Seas, Lincolnshire, Clutha, Moravian, and Essex, bringing together about £350,000. As there is not any demand for bar gold for export, the whole of this amount is likely to be sent into the Bank. The Teutonia has brought £1,350 from New York; and the Australasian has taken £11,000, and the City of Manchester £51,000 to New York; and the steamer on Saturday will probably take a larger amount.

SILVER.—The silver ex Atrato has not yet been sold, and the stringency of the money market will doubtless stop any large amount being sent to Bombay by the outgoing steamer. We quote the price as 61½d. per ounce standard, and a quiet market. The Tasmanian has taken £10,000 to the West Indies.

MEXICAN DOLLARS.—The market is very quiet. We quote the price at 4s. 11½d. per ounce, but quiet nominal.

EXCHANGE on India for Bank 60 days' sight drafts is unchanged—viz., 2s. to 2s. 0½d. Bills with documents, 1s. 11½d. to 1s. 11½d. Drafts on Madras by Banks, 1s. 11½d. to 2s., 60 days' sight.

INDIA GOVERNMENT LOAN NOTES are quite nominal, although prices, under the present pressure for money, have been wonderfully steady. We quote prices 100½ to 101½ for Five-and-a-Half per Cents., and 94½ to 95½ for Five per Cents.

The report of Messrs. Haggard and Co., dated this day, observes:—

Since the date of our last, our market has been rather quiet, neither imports nor exports having been on a very large scale. The gold by the Australian ships is not yet in hand, but the larger portion will no doubt be sold to the Bank. It is considered that further amounts of gold will be sent to America, owing to the fall in the exchange; the steamer of the 23rd is expected to take at least £100,000. The demand for the Continent has for the moment ceased and it is considered probable that gold may soon be shipped to this country from France and Hamburg. The amount sold to the Bank is £36,000. Silver is very dull, notwithstanding the rise in the value of money at Bombay; the steamer of the 26th to Bombay is not expected to take a very large amount. Dollars are perfectly stagnant, there being no demand whatever for China.

THE EXCHANGES.

The advices from the Continent state that, owing to our high rate of discount, bills on London are in great demand at all the principal cities.

The Foreign Exchanges this week, under the force of our high rate of discount, have been firmly supported at the satisfactory point lately attained. Subjoined is our usual list:—

THE RISE IN THE VALUE OF MONEY AT BOMBAY.

The advices received on Thursday from Bombay observe:—"The demand for money, noticed in our last, continues unabated. The bank's rate has again been raised 1 per cent., making 11 per cent. on Government, and 13 per cent. on private paper. Relief will, however, be felt on the arrival of the next China steamer, conveying about 40 lacs of treasure for the different banks here from Calcutta. The monetary crisis is owing chiefly to late large opium speculations, and the drain of specie for the interior, where rates of exchange are disadvantageous to remitters."

AFFAIRS IN AMERICA.

The advices from America state that all producers, both in the North and South, are shipping goods to Europe as fast as possible. In the North the motive probably is to anticipate the probability of communications being interrupted in case the crisis should end in hostilities; while in the South, in addition to the same reason, there is the stimulus to escape the suggested export tax on cotton, which, according to some accounts, is threatened as high as a cent (one halfpenny sterling) per lb.

THE POSITION OF THE GREEK INTEREST.

A statement published on Thursday morning that £280,000 of Constantinople bills fell due on M. Mirès on that or the following day, and would be dishonoured, is, fortunately, quite incorrect. No bills whatever drawn from that quarter upon M. Mirès become due until the 12th March. Between that date and the 26th of the same month, there will arrive at maturity 11,666,000f. (£466,000 of bills at three months' sight, which were drawn on the 12th and 26th November upon M. Mirès by his agents at Constantinople, Messrs. Arland Court and Co., to order of the Turkish Government, and which were on account of the first instalment on M. Mirès' Turkish Loan. Of this amount 10,000,000f. (£400,000) have already been discounted by the Société de Crédit Industriel of Paris, who had been provided by M. Mirès with securities by way of cover. The balance is too small to admit of a doubt of its being provided for. In the beginning of February there were also drawn upon M. Mirès from Constantinople bills to a further amount of 11,666,000f., at 45 days' date, which fall due on the 15th of March. Of this amount 4,000,000f. have already been discounted, it is believed, by M. Mirès himself, through the intervention of the Turkish Minister in London, and the proceeds (£160,000) have come into the hands of the agents of the London Loan of 1858, and will be applied to the dividend due the 1st March on that stock. There thus remain between 7,000,000f. and 8,000,000f. (say (£300,000) of bills on M. Mirès, due the 15th March, for which no provision has yet apparently been made, but which are fully expected to be met in due course. They are on account of the second instalment of the Loan, and all bear the endorsement of the Turkish Government. There is, therefore, no instant cause of anxiety. Meanwhile the Greek interest continues to manifest an unexpected degree of strength under the existing critical circumstances. A loose statement has been published, upon the authority of the Levant Herald, to the effect that the whole of the Galata houses were expected to stop payment. This statement is dated the 16th inst. News by telegraph has, however, been received to the 20th, when the Greek houses, instead of stopping payment, had just shipped a further large amount of gold—computed at about £100,000—for Marseilles.

THE COMMERCIAL BANK OF LONDON.

A special general meeting of the shareholders of the Commercial Bank of London is called for the 19th of March, to confirm the "agreement entered into by the board with the London and Westminster Bank for an advance by the London and Westminster to this bank, and for the transfer of the business."

MORE FRAUDS.

Some malversations are reported to have been discovered on the part of one of the officials of the East and West India Docks, but they are believed to refer to past transactions, which will not alter the present or future pecuniary position of the company.

RUMOURED FRAUD AT THE BANK OF ENGLAND.

A rumour which met with a good deal of circulation on Thursday afternoon, to the effect that a fraud has been discovered at the Bank of England, has no other foundation than the fact that three or four clerks in that establishment who have been found to have dabbled in bill transactions, have been dismissed.

FALSE RUMOURS.

Idle, not to say malicious, rumours have been circulated, according to which some eminent City firms are involved in M. Mirès's engagements. Such reports are totally unfounded.

FRENCH FINANCE.

The letters from Paris mention that the French Government are understood to have just borrowed a sum equal to £1,000,000 from the Bank of France on Treasury Bonds.

THE ARREST OF M. MIRE.

A good deal of attention has been excited by the announcement from Paris that M. Mirès has been thrown into prison upon a criminal charge, and that the liquidation of the affairs of his Caisse will be administered through the hands of the Count de Germiny, the Governor of the Bank of France. It is stated that the whole of the claims of the Turkish Government upon M. Mirès will be liquidated in due course. His incarceration may perhaps be only temporary. In addition to M. Mirès, MM. Solar and Avond, two financiers associated with him, are said to have been arrested. It is also said that one nobleman has cut his throat, and that two more have fled. These are the fruits of the gigantic system of Bourse jobbing which has extended into the highest circles, and which has long compromised the French Government in the eyes of Europe.

THE INDIAN GOVERNMENT TEA PLANTATIONS.

The Indian Government invite tenders for the purchase of various Government tea plantations and factories. The official notification will be found in our advertisement columns.

BUENOS AYRES BONDS.

With regard to the proposed conversion of the £500 Buenos Ayres Six per Cent. Bonds into an equivalent amount of Bonds of £100 each, Messrs. Baring Brothers and Co. have issued the following notification:—

Messrs. Baring Brothers and Co., beg to acquaint the holders of Buenos Ayres Six per Cent. Bonds, that in conformity with the annexed memorial addressed to the Government of Buenos Ayres, and the instructions of the Government in reply to the same, they will be prepared, on and after the 18th inst., to receive such of the Buenos Ayres Six per Cent. Bonds of £500 as may be presented for the purpose of exchanging them for an equivalent amount of Bonds of £100 each. The coupons falling due 12th July next must be detached from the bonds presented for exchange, and the new bonds of £100 each will be issued with coupons from that date, the first falling due on 12th January, 1862. As the new bonds of £100 cannot be executed by the Government of Buenos Ayres until due notice has been received of the deposit of the original bonds in the Bank of England six months from this date, Messrs. Baring are prepared to issue provisional receipts, to be held until the new bonds are ready for delivery. The charge attending the exchange of bonds will be  $\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. commission, and  $\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. the estimated cost of printing, advertising, and other incidental expenses, together  $\frac{1}{2}$ ths, or 7s. 6d. per cent.; and no further claim will be made on the bondholders if the amount of such expenses should exceed this estimate. The option of exchanging the bonds is limited to six months from this date, and will cease on the 6th of August next.

MEXICAN BONDS.

The following memorandum is from the committee of Mexican bondholders:—

The committee of Mexican bondholders have received a letter, via the United States, from Mr. Whitehead, dated Mexico, the 18th ult. Señor Juarez made his entry into the capital on the 11th ult., and a few days later passports were sent to the Spanish Ambassador, the Pope's Nuncio, and the Ministers of Guatemala and Ecuador, on the general charge of having favoured the other party. The French Minister appears to have resented this on behalf of the Pope; and, though he had not recognised the present Government, and had therefore no diplomatic status, it is said he had given asylum to a number of individuals of the other party. A good deal of difference prevailed on this and other matters, and the resignation of the ministry was talked of. Miramon had so far avoided capture. Mr. Mathew, who remained at Jalapa, had reminded the Government of the British claims on that personage, and a judge had been appointed to inquire into the robbery of the 660,000 dols., and bring all concerned to punishment. Vicario at Iquila, and Mejia at St. Luis, continued at the head of reactionary bands, and some considered that there was as great need of foreign intervention as ever. Nothing had been decided as yet about a conducta to Vera Cruz.

THE SCINDE RAILWAY.

The following memoranda, relating to the Scinde Railway, the Indus Steam Flotilla, and Punjab Railway, are from an official source:—

SCINDE RAILWAY.—The agent of this company reports that the last arch of the Bahrum Viaduct, the principal engineering work on the line, had been fairly keyed in on Christmas-eve; that the roadway was to have been completed before the night of Dec. 31; and that by the middle of March they would be in a position to commence traffic. It is understood that the bridges and other works have been highly approved by the officers appointed by Government to inspect the line.

INDUS STEAM FLOTILLA.—The model passenger steamer Stanley, which was publicly tried upon the Thames with such satisfactory results, has recently arrived at Mooltan in the Punjab, after a successful trial trip from Kotree, occupying little more than half the time taken by the large Government steamers. The Stanley went through the Sukkur Pass, where the current is the strongest, with ease and steadiness. Her cabin arrangements have been highly approved of. It is expected that the Stanley, and other passenger steamers of the flotilla plying between Mooltan and Kotree, will, with the assistance of the Scinde Railway (which will be opened in March) make Kurrachee accessible to the Punjab in little more than a week, instead of a month, the time now occupied.

PUNJAB RAILWAY.—By recent advices the engineering works along the whole course of the line were rapidly progressing towards completion, the embankments were also in a very forward state, the cost of which, ready for the reception of the permanent way, continues to average under £200 per mile. Large quantities of rails, chairs, and other materials have been deposited along the line at a moderate rate of charge. The rolling stock is also in course of delivery. Above 36,000 tons of permanent way material and rolling stock have left the country, while about 5,000 tons remain to be forwarded, for the completion and stock of the line. No rise has taken place in the price of labour in the Punjab, and there appears good reason to believe that this line will cost less per mile than any railway constructed in India.

RAILWAY TRAFFIC.

The Brighton railway traffic return shows this week an increase of £1,213; the South-Eastern, an increase of £465; the Lancashire and Yorkshire, an increase of £1,345; the Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire, an increase of £198; the Midland, an increase of £1,102; the North-Eastern, an increase of £2,734; the Eastern Counties, an increase of £672; the London and North-Western, an increase of £1,540; the Great Western, an increase of £1,578; the Great Northern, an increase of £580; the London and South-Western, an increase of £1,550; and the Caledonian, an increase of £902.

The traffic receipts of the Great Western Railway of Canada for the week ending Feb. 1 were £8,070 sterling, being £2,262 more than in the corresponding week of last year.

RAILWAYS.

The report long expected from the committee of investigation of the Great Western Railway Company of Canada has at last been issued. It is in many respects a very remarkable document. The transactions detailed by the committee are in some instances of so questionable a nature that it is recommended that "the best legal advice be at once had as to the proper proceedings to be instituted against the persons concerned." Amongst the persons whose conduct is seriously impugned is Mr. Samuel Laing, late secretary to the Treasury. The committee refer to the "extraordinary fact," admitted by Mr. Laing himself, that, upon the occasion of the issuing of the prospectus of the Hamilton and Toronto Railway, in 1852, that gentleman, whilst acting as one of the trustees, had a partnership agreement with Mr. Wythes, the contractor, by which the profit or loss upon the contract was to be shared between them. It is only fair to mention that Mr. Laing states that he afterwards relinquished all share in the contract, and that he never took any profit from Mr. Wythes. It is mentioned that the shareholders have expended £90,672 over and above the contract price of £328,000, for which Mr. Wythes had undertaken to complete the line. With regard to the bond issue in 1856 of the Detroit and Milwaukee Railway, the report alleges, as another "extraordinary" revelation, that that company itself took the contract off Mr. Wythes' hands, and became his sub-contractors, leaving him a large profit for the mere use of his name, he doing not "one shilling's worth of work under the contract." The amount of shares handed to Mr. Wythes, upon arranging the account, is stated at £365,450 dols. The committee express their "severest reprehension" of the conduct of the Great Western Railway directors in not subsequently exposing this transaction. With regard to the issue of freeland shares by the Detroit and Milwaukee Company through the agency of the Great Western directors, the report states that the subscribers to the shares have been "grossly deceived" by the Detroit Company, "the land promised never having been legally at the disposal of the company." With regard to the loans of £150,000 and £100,000 made by the Great Western Company to the Detroit and Milwaukee, the committee express in strong terms their opinion of the conduct of the Great Western directors. The committee then go back to the origin of the company, in 1845, when a "corresponding committee" was formed in London, consisting of the eleven following gentlemen:—W. J. Chaplin, C. Devaux, H. J. Enthoven, A. L. Gower, G. Hudson, S. Laing, J. Masterman, jun., John Moss, Thomas Smith, M. Uzielli, and G. S. Walters. After detailing various transactions in the market, the committee state that "392 paid-up shares, equal to £8,000 sterling, were handed to Messrs. Laing and Masterman, on behalf of the corresponding committee, in consideration of their active co-operation and assistance in disposing of the stock and bonds of the company." Hereupon the committee observe:—"The committee are of opinion that the total amount of premiums, together with the £8,000, the value of the 392 shares, with interest on both sums up to the present time, should be recovered from such of the eleven members of the 'corresponding committee' as may now be found in a condition to make good the amount." It appears that the total cost of the main line has been £2,637,776. 3s., exceeding the estimates by about £1,000,000, and of this outlay the amount expended before the opening of the 241 miles was £1,359,628. 5s. 9d.; and since the opening there has been expended the enormous sum of £1,278,147. 17s. 3d. The committee state that they had intended to have prepared a statement in detail of all the sums of money which have been either misappropriated or wasted. But "time will not permit; it would be a long catalogue, and would probably amount to a million sterling." An estimate is put forward that, taking the future yearly traffic at £500,000 (the average of four years to July 31, 1860, being £463,600), the net profit can hardly be more than 2.33 per cent. on a share capital of £3,500,000.

The report of the directors of the Stockport, Disley, and Whaley Bridge Railway Company recommends a dividend at the rate of  $2\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. per annum.

The half-yearly report of the directors of the Salisbury and Yeovil Railway recommends the payment of a dividend at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum.

A general meeting of the Oude Railway Company is convened for the 7th of March, and will be made special to consider of a return of "the whole or a portion" of the capital.

BANKS.

The directors of the Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London, and China have declared a half-yearly dividend of 5 per cent., free of Income-tax.

The annual meeting of proprietors of the Bank of Australasia is called for the 18th March.

ASSURANCE COMPANIES.

At the annual meeting of the Mutual Life Assurance Society on Thursday, Mr. F. L. Price in the chair, the report stated that the new policies during 1860 had been 260, assuring £144,905, and yielding in premiums £4,598. The bonuses on the claims paid in the year averaged 31 per cent. on the sums assured. The accumulated fund is £371,711, and the assurances in force £1,548,258, yielding £50,348 in annual premiums.

The first report of the directors of the Thames and Mersey Marine Insurance Company has been issued. Its substance is as follows:—

Considering the recent formation of the company, the shareholders will not expect from the directors on the present occasion a lengthened statement of their affairs. The accounts and balance-sheet annexed have, in conformity with the deed of settlement, been made up to 31st December, 1860. These accounts, showing the balance of premiums received and due to the close of the year 1860, to be £94,365. 16s., your directors have (keeping in view the pending liabilities of the company) felt justified in writing off the whole of the preliminary expenses, amounting to £7,816. 1s. 3d. The securities held by the company have been valued at the market price on the 31st December, 1860. This exhibits them under an unfavourable aspect, inasmuch as there is an apparent loss of £2,654. 10s. 8d., but, being upon a valuation merely, this does not indicate a loss either actual or anticipated. The company having been established only six months from the date of the accounts now rendered, the directors do not recommend the payment of any dividend, but they are happy to be able to say that the business of the company is steadily extending, and affords good ground of hope that the prospects with which it started will be amply realised.

Surprise is expressed at the silence observed in this document with regard to the losses which are understood to have been incurred, particularly in the Liverpool branch, since the date to which it is made up. It is said that unanimity has not prevailed at the Board upon the question of the publication of the report in its present form. Apart from the £7,816 which figures as preliminary expenses, exception is also taken to the heavy sum—£11,587—which has been consumed in six months in the cost of management, including directors' remuneration, at London, Liverpool, and Manchester.

The first general meeting of the Universal Marine Insurance Company is called for the 7th of March.

OTHER PUBLIC COMPANIES.

The following communication, dated Kotree, January 19th, has been received by the chairman from the agent of the Indus Steam Flotilla:—

You will have learnt by my last letter that the trial of the Stanley steamer up river had been a successful one. I have now the honour to report that the down trip was remarkably successful also. The assertion comes from so many resources, and on so many different accounts, that the river has not been known to be so low for at least 17 years as it is this year, that I feel able to report it as fact. Certainly the channels were very small and shallow in many places. There is no doubt that we have had as severe a test of the fitness of the Stanley for duty on this river, both as to draught and speed, as could be desired, and I have the greatest gratification in assuring you that you may be entirely satisfied with her performances.

On the journey down river we had an excellent comparative test for the Stanley in the fact that a large steamer with flat in tow, the Outram, had left the day before us, and the Indus, a small or short steamer with passengers, had left two days before us. We passed the Outram at the end of the first day, and sighted the Indus on the second day, passing her on the fourth day, and reaching Kotree  $1\frac{1}{2}$  days before her.

I decided on the necessity of this trial trip over the whole ground, under great anxiety as to what the Stanley would do under the various conditions to which she would be exposed.

The result of the journey has fully convinced me that it was properly undertaken, and that no less trial of the steamer would have enabled me to be at all confident in my report as to her capabilities. In addition to this I have been able to obtain information as to the traffic on the rivers which I never could have obtained so fully otherwise.

At the meeting on Monday of the Thames Haven Dock Company, the directors' report, which stated that they have introduced into Parliament a Bill to authorise the abandonment of the undertaking and the dissolution of the company, was agreed to.

The adjourned meeting of the Acadian Charcoal Iron Company, held on Tuesday, was again adjourned to Tuesday, the 12th March, in consequence of the receipt of a proposal from the solicitors to the Commercial Bank for the amicable settlement of the litigation between the Acadian Company and Messrs. Hunter and Chowne, the bank's trustees. Messrs. Bridge, Mellor, Smethurst, and Chubb were re-appointed as a committee to confer with the directors thereon.

At the half-yearly meeting on Wednesday of the Southampton Dock Company, the directors' report was adopted. The net revenue for the half-year ending December was £5,027, which was increased to £5,738 by the addition of the surplus from the previous half-year. From this balance a dividend for the half-year of £1. 10s. per cent. was declared, leaving £333 to be carried over. The falling off in the earnings is attributed to the reduction in some of the dock rates and charges, while the cost of labour remains undiminished.

A meeting of the Submarine Telegraph Company was held on Thursday, Sir J. Carmichael in the chair, when the report was adopted and a dividend declared at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, leaving £655 to be carried to the current account. The business during the past six months has been very satisfactory, showing an increase over the previous half year of 15,353 messages and of £2,628 in the revenue. By virtue of their right of preference the company have claimed the construction of the line to Dieppe proposed by the Electric and International, and a convention has been executed with the French Government for the purpose. The reduced tariff came into operation on the 1st inst., and has been followed by a large augmentation in the business.

A meeting of the General Iron Screw Collier Company was held this week, when the report was received and a dividend declared at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum. A bonus of £1 per share was also ordered. During the past half-year the ships of the company have worked to advantage the disposable profits amounting to £7,593. The steamer Black Prince has been lost through a collision, and a suit has been instituted by the company and the underwriters of the ship and cargo to recover damages. The legal points arising from the action of the brokers for loss of commission on the interrupted sale of December, 1859, have been decided by the judges in favour of the board. The question arising on the suit of the Sophie has also been satisfactorily adjusted, and no other claims are now pending. The directors have likewise finally disposed of the matters in suspense at the time of issuing several former accounts. The balance-sheet shows assets valued at £113,002, estimating the ships to be worth £80,000 and the stores £1,457, while the total liabilities, including proprietor's capital, are £87,834 only. The resolution passed at the special meeting in March, 1858, for the sale of the ships of the company was rescinded.

A meeting of the English and Australian Copper Company took place on Thursday afternoon, Mr. H. W. Schneider presiding, when the report was agreed to, and a dividend declared of 5s. per share, free of Income tax. It was stated that the net profits of the past year have been £26,428, but that, allowing for a fall in the price of copper, outlay for cartage, &c., they would actually represent £40,000. The works have proceeded steadily, except during a strike for six weeks, and from the stock-taking being held nearly a month earlier than usual, the dryness of the season preventing the transport of a sufficient supply of fuel for the works. The railway was opened to Kapunda last March, and is expected in the current year to effect a considerable reduction in the cost of carriage. The lease of the land on which the company's works at Koringa are erected has been executed for ninety-nine years, at a pepper-corn rent. An extension of Napier's patent, the only process for smelting carbonate ores, has also been granted for five years. In the five months ending in November 6,687 tons of ore have been received, 4,284 smelted, 3,288 shipped, and 1,106 tons of copper have been made. In the current year it is expected that 3,000 tons of copper will be made, or 700 more than in any previous period. It is anticipated also that the company will in future be able to extend considerably their smelting operations, which form the most profitable part of their business. The price of copper in India has recovered from the late decline. In answer to questions it was mentioned that the company have eleven furnaces complete and three refineries, of which eight of the former and two of the latter are now at work. The directors are unanimous in the desirableness of registering under limited liability, but before that can be done some difficulties will have to be removed.

At the annual meeting on Thursday week of the Berlin Waterworks Company, the directors' report, recommending a dividend of 1s. per share, free of Income-tax, was adopted, a resolution in favour of increasing the dividend to 1s. 4d. being lost. The undertaking was described as continuing to make progress.

The fourth and final call of £2. 10s. is to be paid on the shares in the London and Mediterranean Steam Navigation Company by the 13th of April.

THE BRIGHTON HOTEL COMPANY.

The Directors of the Brighton Hotel Company (Limited), whose prospectus is now in circulation, announce that, having obtained from the Government a contract of sale of the freehold land now occupied for the battery and premises in the King's-road, they will proceed to carry into effect with expedition the object for which the company was established, namely, the erection of a capacious and elegant hotel of the first class.

THE "BANK OF THE PEOPLE."

A new financial establishment has recently been established at the west-end, under the title of the "Bank of the People." Its object is described to be to popularise banking amongst the masses; to attract the accounts of small traders which are wrongly considered to be scarcely worthy of the notice of large banking establishments; and to afford banking facilities to a large class of small customers. Lord Henry Gordon is chairman. If caution and prudence be observed by the management, and legitimate banking practice be duly adhered to, there is no reason at all why an establishment of this kind should not be largely useful and remunerative.

THE PARIS BOURSE.

At Paris to-day the Three per Cent. Rentes opened at 67.95, and closed at 68.20 for money and 68.15 for the account, being  $\frac{1}{4}$  per cent. higher than yesterday, and nearly  $\frac{1}{4}$  per cent. higher than on last Friday.

EXCHEQUER BILLS.

Exchequer Bills have experienced a fall of 2s., closing at 7s. to 2s. dis. The official notification relating to the renewal of the March bills is daily looked for. It seems probable that Government will be compelled to raise the rate of interest, which now is only  $1\frac{1}{2}$ d. per £100 per day, or £2. 5s. 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. per cent. per annum.

THE STOCK AND SHARE MARKETS.

The English Funds this week have sympathised to some extent with the tightness of the Money Market. Consols, which closed on Friday last at 92 $\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{1}{4}$  for the 7th of March, were quoted yesterday as low as 91 $\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$ . The closing price to-day was 91 $\frac{3}{4}$  to  $\frac{7}{8}$ , being  $\frac{3}{8}$  lower than on last Friday. For money the final quotation was 91 $\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{5}{8}$ .

The official list of to-day's actual business in the English Funds, Exchequer Bills, and Indian Government Securities, is annexed:—

Three per Cent. Consols, for money, 91 $\frac{3}{4}$ ,  $\frac{1}{2}$ ,  $\frac{1}{4}$ ,  $\frac{3}{8}$ ; ditto for account (March 7), 91 $\frac{3}{4}$ ,  $\frac{5}{8}$ ,  $\frac{3}{4}$ ; Three per Cents. Reduced, 91 $\frac{3}{4}$ ,  $\frac{1}{2}$ ,  $\frac{1}{4}$ ; New Three per

The Scrip of the New Indian Loan has been weaker during the last few days. The closing quotation this afternoon was 100 to  $\frac{1}{4}$ .

Wednesday was settling day in the scrip of the New Indian Loan. High rates—in some instances 8 to 12 per cent. per annum and upwards—were paid for carrying over purchases to the next settlement.

The late rise in Bank Stock has led to a few sales. The last transactions to-day were at 235.

The Five Per Cent. Rupee Paper was quoted to-day 94 to 95, and the Five-and-a-Half per Cent., 100 to 101.

Turkish Bonds have been decidedly heavy this week, the public appearing to have quite lost faith in them. The Loan of 1858 has suffered especially, and has fallen nearly 2 per cent. The Loan of 1854 has declined only  $\frac{1}{4}$  per cent. Spanish and Peruvian Bonds are very firm. Mexican are decidedly weaker: the closing quotation to-day was 23 $\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$ , being fully 1 per cent. lower than on last Friday.

The closing quotations for shares in new undertakings to-day were as follow:—Ocean Marine Insurance, 2 $\frac{3}{4}$  to 3 prem. ex int.; Thames and Mersey Marine,  $\frac{7}{8}$  to 1 prem.; Universal Marine Insurance, 1 9-16 to 11-16 prem.; London and Provincial Marine, par to  $\frac{1}{4}$  prem.; East India Irrigation,  $\frac{3}{8}$  to  $\frac{1}{2}$  dis.; East India and London Shipping, par to  $\frac{1}{4}$  prem.; and India Cotton, par to  $\frac{1}{4}$  prem.

The market for British Railway Stocks has exhibited a decided drooping tendency, sellers still predominating, although the decline in the traffic is very gradual. Some of the realisations have been of a bona fide character. Lancashire and Yorkshire stock has been particularly heavy, and has fallen 2 $\frac{1}{2}$  per cent., it being assumed that the effect of the check to industry in the manufacturing districts must soon show itself. To-day undiminished heaviness prevailed, and the sales were of a good character.

The following shows the closing prices of the principal British Railway Stocks to-day, and the result of the week's variations. The share list in detail will be found in another column:—

AMERICAN SECURITIES.

The position of the markets for American securities is noticed as follows by Messrs. D. Bell, Son, and Co.:—

The business in American securities during the past week has been almost entirely suspended. Some of the Southern State Stocks have been offered for sale more freely at lower prices, but purchasers do not come forward at present.

The United States' Bonds are much out of favour, and a sale to any extent, with the present feeling of distrust, could not be effected in the London market.

The report of Mr. E. F. Satterthwaite is annexed:—

The market in London for American securities remains dull, and transactions are few and unimportant. For Federal and State Stocks there is literally no demand. A few first-class Railroad Bonds are taken for investment; no transactions have been recorded during the past week in New York Central Shares. Erie Shares have been done in small lots from 28 to 29. Illinois Shares have been wanted from 29 to 28 discount, but the supply has been fully equal to the demand.

With regard to the progress of American politics, the same authority says:—

Political affairs seem to get worse and worse; there is such a strong determination on the part of the Southern States to secede, that it is doubtful if any compromise would now be accepted. The result of the Convention sitting at Washington, composed of the Border and some of the Northern States, is awaited with anxiety; the decision it may arrive at is likely to exercise an important influence on the future course of events.

Messrs. Robert Benson and Co. draw the attention of the holders of bonds of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne, and Chicago, Ohio and Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana, and Fort Wayne and Chicago Railways to the plan for the reorganisation of these undertakings, to which their assent is now required.

The London agents of the Illinois Central Railway Company on Monday received the following report from the chairman of the executive committee at New York:—

Office of the Illinois Central Railroad Company,
New York, Feb. 5, 1861.

Gentlemen,—Upon the delivery of the Arabia's letters on Saturday, large orders to sell Illinois Central shares at the first Board made their appearance, and the quotation of 36 per cent. discount in London, and reported panic in American securities there, quite unsettled our market. Until it is ascertained whether many shares will be offered here, buyers for investment will not come forward, but at some rate or other all the shares sent here will be taken up.

Our returns from Illinois are so unexpectedly favourable, and the promise of the land sale so encouraging, that the company's affairs are attracting unusual attention. The January business was:—

	1861.	1860.	Gain.
Sales of land ..	$181,635.91	$39,386.61	$142,249.30
Collections ..	72,273.54	50,054.22	22,219.32
Traffic ..	326,862.80	158,257.00	141,608.80
	$580,772.25	$274,697.83	$306,074.42

The effect of our advertisement of the lands is appreciable in the Land Office—the correspondence is growing daily, and letters are received from all parts of the country. Wet weather at New Orleans last week caused an accumulation on the levee of upwards of 500,000 bushels of corn, yet the market held firm at 55c. to 60c. and orders were executed at Chicago on Thursday for New Orleans account at 33c. per bushel. The weather has been cold and clear in Illinois, so that corn has been delivered at the stations very freely, and Mr. Arthur writes that he is very hopeful of a large traffic this month.

Thus far the political troubles have caused no injury to our interests in the west, and if they continue we can only repeat our belief that an increased emigration to Illinois and our lands will take place; the more complicated the troubles, the greater anxiety will be manifested to escape from the east to the comparative quiet of the Western States, of which Illinois most prominently figures in the public mind.—Yours respectfully,

(Signed) THOMAS E. WALKER,
Chairman Ex. Committee.

Messrs. Robert Benson and Co., London.

Mines.

FRIDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 22.

THE Mining Market this week has not been characterised by much animation, except as regards East Caradon shares, which, after attaining a fresh rise, have relapsed.

The amount of business in the mining market to-day was only moderate. In two or three instances, including East Caradon shares, a decline occurred. The principal inquiries were for Treloweth, Wheal Seton, South Caradon, North Treskerby, Great Retallack, Wheal Moyle, Bryn Gwiog, Wheal Grenville, Marke Valley, and East Wheal Russell.

The following prices are reported to us from the Stock Exchange this evening:—

Alfred Consols, 3½ to 4; Camborne Vean, 3 to ¼; Cargoll, 18 to 19; Copper Hill, 90 to 95; Devon Great Consols, 340 to 360; East Basset, 100 to 105; East Caradon, 14½ to ¾; East Russell, 6 to ¼; Grambler and St. Aubyn, 20 to 22; Herodsfoot, 35 to 36; Hingston Down, 2 to ¼; Marke Valley, 5¾ to 6½; North Treskerby, 32 to 33; Providence Mines, 44 to 45; Rosewarne United, 22 to 23; South Caradon, 305 to 310; South Frances, 180 to 190; South Tolgus, 50 to 51; Silver Vein, ¾ to ¾ prem.; St. Ives Consols, 40 to 42½; Stray Park, 37 to 37½; Treloweth, 2½ to 3½; West Caradon, 80½ to 81½; West Rose Down, 4¾ to 5½; Wheal Basset, 100 to 105; Wheal Buller, 140 to 145; Wheal Grenville, 3 to ¼; Wheal Margaret, 50 to 52½; Wheal Mary Ann, 19 to 20; Wheal Seton, 87½ to 92½.

The shares of the Labuan Coal Company were quoted to-day 2¼ to ¾ prem.

St. John del Rey Mining shares have been in less demand, and have experienced to-day a decline of £1. There have been many inquiries for Nerbudda Coal and Iron, which were marked to-day 4½ and 4¾, showing a rise since last week. Colonial Mining shares are quiet.

The directors of the St. John del Rey Mining Company (Limited) have received the following report, dated Morro Velho, January:—"Produce for December, 40,202 oitavas; cost for ditto, £9,063; profit for ditto, £6,093. Produce, nine days of January, 9,917 oitavas."

The Nerbudda Coal and Iron Company have received advices from their managing agent to the following effect:—

The branch railway to the colliery has been marked out by Mr. Preston, local engineer of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway Company; it is a straight line, 11 miles long, and almost a dead level. Mr. Preston states no ground could be more favourable for the construction of a line. I have about 100 men at work, nearly all at 6 pice or 2½d. per day, so that the expense is not very formidable. I have nearly completed a large bungalow, and am drawing a level on the ten-foot seam of coal, of which the quality appears very good; I have been able to trace the outcrop of the coal a good deal further than when I was here before, and my opinion of its quality and extent is fully confirmed. I hope almost immediately to be in a position to ask the Great Indian Peninsula Railway for a contract for coal.

The certificates for shares in the Moseley Green Coal and Coke Company are ready for delivery in exchange for the bankers' receipts.

The Austral has arrived from Augusta, South Australia, with about 45 tons of copper ore, on account of the Great Northern Copper Mining Company. The Bielefeld and Johanna are likewise due, each with a like quantity. The estimated aggregate value of the consignment by the three vessels is about £5,000.

A general meeting of shareholders in St. Ives Wheal Allen was held on Wednesday. Captain T. Richards, the manager, who was present, gave a satisfactory report. The position and prospects of the mine are considered favourable. The operations were begun twelve months ago, and the whole outlay, including the present balance against the mine, and after paying for the two steam engines, was only equal to £4. 10s. per 1,024th share. The accounts showed a balance of £1,392. 19s. 2d. against the mine, to meet which a call of 30s. per share was made. Captain Richards stated that he considered that another call in June (not exceeding £1 per share) would be all that would be required to bring the mine into a dividend state. He expected the stamping and hauling engine would be ready to work within the next three months.

Penhale Moor Mine on Monday made a call of 10s. per share.

The North Basset Mine accounts, presented at the meeting on Wednesday, showed a debit balance of £690. 0s. 6d. A call of 4s. per share was made.

At Dolcoath Mine meeting on the 11th inst., the accounts showed a credit balance of £3,669. 9s. 11d. A dividend of £9 per share (£3,222) was declared, leaving £447. 9s. 11d. to the next account.

Great Caradon Mine, on the 15th inst., made a call of 2s. per share.

The Wheal Grenville accounts, presented at the meeting on the 14th inst., showed a credit balance of £157. 1s. 3d.; and a balance of liabilities over assets of £2,310. 19s. 11d. A call of 8s. per share was made.

At North Lacey Mine (adjourned) meeting, on the 14th inst., the accounts showed available assets amounting to £906.

The West Wheal Seton accounts, presented at the meeting on the 12th inst., showed a credit balance of £4,772. 12s. 4d. The profit on the two months' working was £3,983. 4s. A dividend of £10 per share (£4,000) was declared, leaving £772. 12s. 4d. to the next account.

At Trevenen and Tremenheere Mine meeting on the 15th inst., the accounts showed a debit balance of £1,091. A call of 4s. per share was made.

At a meeting of the adventurers in Wheal Prospidnick, held on Wednesday, the accounts presented showed a balance of liabilities over assets of £764. 7s. 11d. A call of 8s. per share was made.

At a sale of copper ore held at Swansea on the 19th inst., 1,181 tons were sold for £20,414. 16s. 6d. The following amounts were realised by the different mines:—

	Tons.	Amount.

At Redruth, on the 28th inst., 2,883 tons of copper ore will be offered for sale, viz.:—Great Wheal Busy, 505 tons; United Mines, 457; South Caradon, 445; Fowey Consols, 348; West Damsel, 320; South Crinnis, 160; New Treleigh, 140; Craddock Moor, 130; North Grambler, 119; Gonamena, 78; Grambler and St. Aubyn, 64; Great Crinnis, 55; Creggbrowse, 16; East Wheal Tolgus, 16; North Busy, 15; and Falmouth and Sperris, 15 tons.

CLARENDON CONSOLIDATED MINING COMPANY OF JAMAICA.

Yesterday the half-yearly meeting of the shareholders of this company was held at the offices of the company; JOHN WHITE CATER, Esq., in the Chair.

J. H. KOCH, Esq., read the notice convening the meeting, when the report of the directors was submitted which stated that depth in the mine was all that was required, and that at the date of the last advices the lode was worth for copper ore two tons per fathom—such a lode had never been seen in Stamford Hill Mine before, and should the lode at the 82 continue as productive as at present, Capt. Martin (the Agent) thought they would not be long before they sent home at least enough ore to cover the present cost of the mine. The report further stated that a letter had been received from Captain Martin by the secretary to the effect "that in the cross-cut at the 82 the lode was worth £40 per fathom."

The CHAIRMAN, upon moving the adoption of the report and accounts, referred to the important fact that the lode continued to improve as depth was attained; and there was reason to hope that when the 100 fathom level was reached a permanent and productive lode would be found, which corroborated the opinion their consulting engineer, Mr. H. Tregoning, had always entertained.

Mr. TREGONING observed that copper ore of 8 per cent. would pay for all expenses. It was satisfactory to find that the lode continued to meet the anticipations he had entertained.

The report and accounts having been received and adopted the retiring directors were re-elected.

Votes of thanks to the chairman and directors brought the proceedings to a close.

A YEAR'S ACCOUNTS.—For the year 1860 the public income of the United Kingdom amounted to £71,967,494, of which sum the Customs and Excise Duties supplied £42,101,394, and stamps and taxes, £24,313,074, the property-tax alone bringing in not less than £12,901,816. The expenditure of the year amounted to £72,578,632. The interest of the National Debt took £26,833,470, the military expenditure £30,462,242, the civil expenditure £10,489,518, the collection of the revenue £4,509,402. The total is completed by a payment of £284,000 for drawback on wine in stock when the Act of last Session was passed.

ARMY ESTIMATES.—The army estimates for the year ending March 31, 1862, show a net decrease of £185,795, and this, notwithstanding that the number of the land forces, 146,044, is an increase of 775 over the previous year. The total sum required for the effective and non-effective services is £14,606,751, against £14,792,546 voted last year.

NAVY ESTIMATES.—The Navy Estimates for the year 1861-2 have been issued. They show a net decrease of £806,625. The grand total is £12,029,475.

ORIENTAL INLAND STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY.

The fifth annual general meeting of proprietors was held at the London Tavern, on Wednesday; Colonel GRIMES in the chair. The notice convening the meeting having been read, the report of the directors was taken as read.

The CHAIRMAN, in moving the adoption of the report, said, so short a time had elapsed since the last meeting that they had naturally very little to report on this occasion. That little, however, embraced a subject of the greatest interest to the company in general, which was the trial on the Clyde of the steamer and barges. That was the only incident of note that had occurred in the interval. He was exceedingly sorry to find that so few shareholders attended that trial. The weather was certainly most unpropitious. The day of the trial was kept a matter of doubt and uncertainty up to the very last. This was no fault of theirs, but was necessitated from the circumstance of Mr. Penn and the committee having to select the day; they had, besides that, their own avocations to attend to. After they had once fixed a day the river became so impracticable from ice that it was obliged to be postponed again. As soon as they knew that Mr. Penn had fixed his time the tickets that had been applied for were sent to the shareholders, and on the same day they were sent to the directors, so that no partiality was shown in that respect. He mentioned this because many gentlemen might imagine that they gave them a shorter time than they might have done if they had wished to go and see the trial on the Clyde. He wished they could all have been present. There were only a few shareholders present, and he did not know if any of those who were there were among the number. He could only say, much as he had heard about the train, he only saw it tried once before this company was inaugurated, and that it exceeded his expectations more than he could describe. There was she, a vessel of 930 feet long, under the most complete control. The weather, as one of the committee observed to him at the time, was not picked. "You have no picked day here, sir," was the remark made to him by one of the committee. It was blowing a gale of wind, but nothing could be more satisfactory than the conduct of the train under those circumstances. As far as he could judge, both from her power and from her manageability on that occasion, she is perfectly adapted for the purposes for which she is intended. No doubt, in the rivers of India there are things in certain respects different from the rivers in this country. But where a vessel is found generally manageable, he thought a little management easily adapted them for peculiar circumstances, and that he hoped would be found to be the case as regards the Jumna and her train. The report of the engineers who were good enough to undertake the trial of the vessel, they had before them, and he thought it most satisfactory. The performances of the Sutelej, since they last met, they had nothing more to tell them of. Her last voyage, of which they had accounts, was a very favourable one: her freight was upwards of £1,200, and they expected about £700 profit from the trip of that vessel. (Hear, hear.) The subsequent voyage is not likely to be so favourable in consequence of the stagnation of trade, which affected Kurrachee, as well as other ports, but they had every reason to believe that the Sutelej will continue to ply satisfactorily and profitably. As soon as they could get another vessel to aid her in the river it would be more satisfactory, but he believed the Sutelej itself would pay all the expenses at Kurrachee. Gentlemen, at Calcutta the barges sent out for the unfortunate Ganges are in progress of erection. Two of them are putting up; they have taken a piece of ground there very well adapted for a yard, and everything is in train. The barges will be ready by the time the steamer which is to draw them gets out. At the last meeting, and at the previous one, he mentioned that they were in negotiation with the Government of India for the transfer of vessels on the Indus. They had hoped to be able to obtain some vessels from them, which though not perfectly adapted to their wants, would still be useful, until they could get out other vessels. He regretted to say they had not been successful. The price asked for these vessels is so enormous, that for the oldest of them it would appear they must have not only asked her original price, but have added all the repairs to it, and when they submitted to the Secretary of State for India the proposal that they should take these vessels over at a valuation, it was declined. Under these circumstances they felt bound to give up those vessels, and altogether it would never do to purchase them, when, by the mere delay of a few months they could send out much better vessels than they are. He regretted to say that the Rothsays Castle, despatched to India, had again put back from inability, as the captain says, to make the voyage. The weather during the last year has been most unfavourable, particularly for vessels of her description, and each time she has gone out she has encountered such weather as obliged the captain to put back. They had now decided to take the vessel to pieces and send her out in pieces, instead of sailing her out. The contractors had been so unfortunate that he thought that was the best plan they could adopt. With these few remarks he begged to propose the adoption of the report.

General ALEXANDER begged to second the adoption of the report. As a member of the steam committee of the Board, he had been present on several occasions at the trial of the train, not only on the last occasion, at the Clyde, but previously, where the trial was with a common steamer, the train being veered astern by hawsers. He must confess that at first, although he was nearly convinced that the principle of the train was accurate theoretically, he had some doubts as to whether practically it was manageable, and could be worked, but even under disadvantageous circumstances, that is to say the train being dragged by a steamer in the common way, he saw that it was so manageable, and he saw that their difficulties, such as did exist, were so trivial that when the train was attached to the steamer as it should be, right up to her stern, it must be so manageable that it would succeed. He was not at all surprised when on the trial at the Clyde he found that that long train was as manageable as a wherry. He believed it might now be safely asserted that the train system is a complete success; it only requires, he thought, honest and intelligent servants abroad to carry it out, and common sense in their parlour at home to guide their affairs. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. COX said he was in hopes that some gentleman more conversant with the rivers of India than himself would have got up to speak upon the subject. As there appeared to be a pause he thought he might just as well name a few things that struck him. In the first place, one of the most important things was that those who suggested that the train system was tangible should be judges, if he might use the expression, or at all events parties who were conversant with the management of steamboats on the rivers of India. He had had a good deal of conversation with a gentleman more conversant with the subject than himself—in fact, he never was in India—and he found there was a difference in what would answer on the Clyde, and what would answer there. He found certain gentlemen named at the commencement of the report; however respectable they may be, however clever, as he had never seen them, he could have no feeling toward them. He would admit if they liked, they were the first in their profession, be they engineers or what they would but by what appeared in their report he considered they were quite inefficient persons to be placed there as the judges of the trial. He understood an opinion was entertained that it would be found when the train reached India it would prove impracticable—in fact, he had understood that the train system was given over altogether. There had appeared to be a large amount of expense incurred—the trial trips having amounted to £3,000. He thought it was highly necessary some opinion should be given of the practicability of the system by some person acquainted with the Indus, the more especially as Mr. Wood had declared from his knowledge of Indian rivers that their system would prove to be totally impracticable.

The CHAIRMAN said that the persons to whom the trial had been left had not been selected by the Board, but were suggested by an official person high in authority, and totally unconnected with the company. The Board were aware, before Mr. Penn's report, that none of the gentlemen from the committee had been in India, and that they were unable to judge of the difficulties of Indian rivers. They, therefore, applied to a gentleman who did know them perfectly, and had been on the Indus for a length of time, and the hon. gentleman who spoke last forgot to mention that a letter from Captain Eustace, which was set out in the report, said that he considered the train system undeniably adapted for the navigation of the Indus, which he had navigated for two years. The Board had no object but to get the most disinterested parties to give an opinion upon this trial, and that, he hoped, they had carried out. With regard to the expense of the trial trips, they amounted to £3,000, and this had reference only to the trials in India; but, at the same time, it was to be remembered that it was impossible for the Board, or rather their accountant, to decide what the trial trips had actually cost. If Mr. Bolton was in the room, he would be able to say that the accounts of Mr. Wood, which came home, were so confused, all sorts of things being put into the trial trips which had no business to be there, that he was obliged to lump the whole as trial trips of the Indus, rather than alter or separate Mr. Wood's account. Mr. Bolton, if present, would be kind enough to tell the meeting whether the statement he had made was correct.

Mr. BOLTON said the statement was perfectly correct; up to June, 1859, he was unable to find any vouchers for the accounts that had been rendered. He was, therefore, compelled to adopt Mr. Wood's figures, and so classify them as nearly as possible under Mr. Wood's headings. He had caused to be appended to this statement the memorandum that the expenses were made to include all the preliminary expenses at Kurrachee. Those expenses, of course, must have been large, but he was unable to state the precise amount chargeable to each head.

Mr. TAYLOR said that, although the directors appeared to be thoroughly satisfied that the trial had been a success, he would reserve his own opinion. He expressed great surprise to hear the Chairman state that he was satisfied with the earnings of the Sutlej, when she had earned only £3,985, her working expenses having been for the same period £4,378. He also complained of the report being sent out so late; and wished to know if the train went seven knots with the stream or against the stream, and with the wind or against the wind.

The CHAIRMAN, in answer to questions, stated that the Board regretted the lateness at which the report had been delivered, as much as the shareholders did, but it was not possible to have issued it earlier; and had the general meeting been deferred beyond that day, it would have been illegal, being contrary to the provisions contained in their Articles of Association. He did not feel himself so competent to judge of the merits of the result of the trial on the Clyde as Mr. Bourne, and therefore should leave that gentleman to reply to that point, yet he must confess that he was much surprised at her performances in such weather. The earnings of the Sutlej had not been fairly stated by the hon. proprietor, which would be proved upon a reference to the report, it being there stated that her earnings had been progressive. It was true the first two voyages had resulted in a loss, but the third voyage was an improving one, and the fourth profitable, and they hoped she would, in future, work to profit. It was unreasonable to expect that one profitable voyage would pay the loss of three losing voyages. The last return had been profitable, and they had every reason to expect it would be so for the future.

Admiral BEST made some inquiries as to the speed of the train, and stated that Mr. Jackson, who stood for re-election, was Mr. Bourne's nominee.

Mr. BOURNE said there were two questions put to him, one by Mr. Taylor, the other by Admiral Best, which he thought he could answer satisfactorily. The first was, what was the speed of the train, whether it was with the wind or against the wind, and whether the speed was accomplished against the current or with the current? The vessel, he might state, was tried with the current and against the current. The speed given was the average speed. He was astonished that Mr. Taylor, who professed to be a nautical man, should be ignorant of that. It was perfectly obvious to any one who did know, or professed to know, anything about those matters, that if the current ran two miles an hour, there must be subtracted two miles from the speed of the vessel in order to get her speed over the ground. If a vessel was going up a river which was running three miles an hour, and if the vessel achieved a speed of seven miles an hour, the difference would be the actual speed over the ground. That was so well known, it was so elementary a thing in all naval affairs, that he was astonished at Mr. Taylor's ignorance of it. The speed stated by Messrs. Penn and Napier—and he imagined they supposed that every one who read the report would know such to be the case—was the speed given through the water, taking the speed both with the current and against it. Admiral Best had said the speed sometimes was only five knots. It might be, as it would be, nothing at all, if the engines were stopped.

Admiral BEST observed he had not said so—Mr. Penn said so.

Mr. BOURNE.—Sometimes it was five knots. In some cases the steam had gone down. Mr. Penn mentioned also that the vessel was tried by persons picked up promiscuously, and not with a regular crew on board. Therefore, the steam was not kept at a regular pressure. But when the speed a vessel was able to accomplish was spoken of, the maximum speed, of course, was meant. Mr. Penn said seven knots. With regard to the representation that Mr. Jackson was Mr. Bourne's nominee, all he had to state was that Mr. Jackson was a member of the committee, chosen by the shareholders. In the appointment of that committee he, Mr. Bourne, had nothing whatever to do. The report of that committee was received and adopted by the shareholders generally, and he must say if Admiral Best's other remarks were to be measured in their accuracy by that one, they could not form a very high opinion of them.

Admiral BEST did not think Mr. Jackson would be offended, because he (Admiral Best) was likewise Mr. Bourne's nominee.

Mr. BOURNE said that he had asked Admiral Best to join the Board simply because he had been desired to do so.

In answer to further questions, Mr. BOURNE stated that there was not much difference between the speed of the Jumna with her train or without it; nor did the loading of the barges much affect the speed of the train.

Mr. JACKSON, in reply to Admiral Best, said the observation he had thought fit to make was certainly most offensive to any gentleman.

Admiral BEST did not intend to say anything offensively to anybody.

The CHAIRMAN thought nothing could be more distinct than these remarks of Admiral Best.

Mr. JACKSON indignantly denied that he was the nominee of Mr. Bourne.

Several questions with respect to some of the items in the account having been explained, Mr. Taylor proposed an amendment, which was seconded by Mr. Wood, that the meeting be adjourned for a fortnight; but being put, was declared to be lost, only three hands being held up in its favour.

The resolution receiving and adopting the report, was then carried unanimously. Messrs. Jackson and Bourne, the retiring directors, were then re-elected, and Captain Surtees was also elected director, in the room of Sir John Logen, resigned. Mr. Tilby was re-appointed auditor.

A vote of thanks to the chairman and directors terminated the proceedings.

The Produce and other Markets.

COLONIAL PRODUCE.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, FEB. 22.

Transactions in the Colonial Produce Markets have been restricted owing to the continued high value of money, and prices generally show a downward tendency. Further large public sales of Mauritius sugar were held on Tuesday and to-day, when the common qualities ruled about 6d. cheaper, but the shippers purchased several parcels of low brown kinds. West India barely supports its late value, and white Benares has declined. With moderate supplies of Plantation Ceylon Coffee offering, the rates of last week are maintained. The fine sorts of East India have sold upon lower terms; also three floating cargoes of foreign. There is no improvement in the demand for Rice. White Bengal by auction to-day sold at about 6d. per cwt. reduction. Spice remains without any material change, excepting for Cassia Lignea, which has receded 1s. to 2s., and Jamaica Ginger is down 2s. to 3s. per cwt. Saltpetre has been disposed of at lower rates. The Tea sales yesterday and to-day passed off without alteration, excepting for the lower grades of Assam, which went at prices in favour of the buyers. Colonial descriptions of Cocoa are drooping, and foreign meets with only a limited amount of business.

THE TALLOW TRADE.

LONDON, FRIDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 22.

We have very little alteration to report in the state of the tallow market during the present week. In fact, no transaction of any great importance has taken place since the purchase, early in the month, of the large parcel of Y. C. tallow, stated by some as nearly 2,000 tons, on speculative account, which we have alluded to in previous circulars; but the improved tone which this operation gave to the market was not of long duration, although some continued steadiness was of course imparted to the market by so large a quantity being appropriated in a way which secured it from having a disturbing influence on prices. Great caution has since been exhibited both by buyers and sellers, this particularly with respect to speculative operations, the dangerous character of which has been made specially evident lately, and in one instance so notoriously (as recently reported in columns of the press not usually devoted to commercial matters,) that the usual moderate and legitimate transactions for future delivery have lately been very small, and difficult to effect.

The market to-day has continued without alteration, prices ruling as follows:—Y. C., for ready delivery, 59s. 9d.; February to March, 59s. 6d.; April to June, 58s. 6d.; October to December, 56s. per cwt.

The arrivals for the week have been light, 715 casks; delivery, 1,308 casks. Stock this day of all kinds is 70,992 casks, being a decrease of 593 casks when compared with the quantity on hand this day week.

Town Tallow has met with a good demand, which the melters, however, have shown no disposition to anticipate. This evening it is again quoted 60s. 3d., or net cash, 57s. 9d. per cwt.

At auction to-day the prices of the sorts and qualities specified were as under:—

Y. C.—66 casks, 40 unbracketed. 15 casks sold at 56s. 6d. 26 casks dark dreg tallow taken in at 50s. per cwt.

Odessa.—100 casks sheep, 83 casks ox, all taken in, sheep at 59s.; ox at 58s. per cwt.

South American.—35 casks, 25 sold, good quality, 57s.; yellow kind, 56s. 3d. to 56s. per cwt.

Australian.—88 casks, 3 casks sheep sold at 58s. 9d. per cwt. for good quality, the rest withdrawn.

North American.—260 casks offered taken out, no bidders.

Cocoa Nut Oil.—400 casks Cochín. A fair proportion sold, fine quality, 51s. 6d.; fair, 50s. to 51s. Ceylon, 350 casks, 60 casks sold at 50s., good quality. Sydney, 117 casks, all sold, fine, 48s. to 49s.; fair, 46s. 3d. to 47s. 3d. per cwt.

Palm Oil.—300 casks, mostly bought in—good quality at 46s. to 46s. 6d.; inferior, a few sold at 39s. 9d. to 44s. 9d. per cwt.

Horse Grease.—200 cases and 51 casks offered; cases withdrawn. Casks all sold at 39s., except 4 casks at 38s. 6d. per cwt.—Furnished by Messrs. Culverwell, Brooks and Co., Brokers.

LIVERPOOL COTTON MARKET.

LIVERPOOL, FRIDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 22.

The market has been very heavy this week, and prices, compared with those current on Friday last, show a reduction of  $\frac{1}{4}$ d. to  $\frac{1}{2}$ d. per lb. The high value of money here, combined with the advices from the United States, continue to have a depressing effect upon this market.

[BY ELECTRIC TELEGRAPH.]

LIVERPOOL, FRIDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 22.

A better feeling has prevailed to-day, although no change has occurred in prices. The sales amount to 7,000 bales, including 2,000 on speculation and for exportation, and the imports to 22,775. The sales of the week represent only 25,900 bales (against 32,120 bales last week), of which 1,970 were taken on speculation, and 3,810 for exportation, and the imports 98,086. The stock now stands at 791,300 bales.

INSTITUTE OF ACTUARIES.—At the last ordinary meeting of this institute, a paper by Mr. Tucker was read, on the subject of the returns made by the assurance companies, to persons assured with them. The paper gave rise to an animated discussion, in consequence of its showing that under ordinary circumstances there was very little correspondence between the payments made and the surplus returned; and that in some cases the former were wholly insufficient to enable the company to perform the promises held out. The opinion was very generally expressed by the members present that these promises were frequently of an inordinate character, and that it was not possible for any assurance company to continue to meet them for any long series of years.

BOARD OF TRADE, WHITEHALL, Feb. 18.—The Right Hon. the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade hereby give notice that the French Moniteur of the 16th inst. contains an Imperial decree permitting the importation, free of duty, under the conditions specified by Article 5 of the law of the 5th July, 1836, of unbleached tissues of cotton in the piece, intended to be printed in France for re-exportation only. The re-exportation of the tissues, when printed, must take place within a period in no case exceeding six months.—Gazette.
